Constitutionalist and New All-Student Parties Ready For Campaign Predicted To Be Hottest In SGA History

Candidates For President Discuss Campaign Issues

Political fireworks blazed this week as the Constitutionalists and the members of the new All-Student party squared off in preparation for the SGA election Tuesday. From all indications, the forthcoming battle should be one of the hottest UK has seen in years.

The Constitutionalists entered the fight with a vengeance through the release of their slate of candidates and their party platform. The All-Student party fired the opening shot in the campaign two weeks ago with the publication of their platform in the Kernel. Tuesday, they too released the names of their candidates.

A spirited exchange of ideas over campaign issues by the respective presidential candidates of both parties was a feature of the election campaign. Jerry Jones, All-Student candidate for president, and Bruce Ferguson, Constitutional candidate, both aired political views in Kernel interviews this week.

Candidates Query

Jones led off with a double-barreled blast concerning attendance on the Athletic Committee of the University by the last two SGA presidents and appropriation of student funds. He also raised questions as to the charges. Jones said "One of the duties of the Constitutionalists is to fill a slate on the Athletic Committee of the University. To my knowledge, the last two presidents, Johnny Crockett in 1948, and Bob Williams in 1949, failed to do this. I am sure the Constitutionalists intend taking some interest in representing the student in athletic matters."

In reply, Bruce Ferguson said: "I seriously doubt the accuracy of Jerry Jones' information. At several SGA meetings last year I myself heard Bob Williams speak about the athletic situation, and of seeing the Athletic Committee in regard to the athletic situation. I am sure that the student is well informed as to the Georgia game, everyone knows that the trouble was corrected almost immediately. As for the Georgia game, everyone knows that the trouble was corrected almost immediately. As for the Georgia game, everyone knows that the trouble was corrected almost immediately." (Note: This text is partially obscured and repetitive in the original scan.)

SGA Appropriations
The All-Student leader, Jones, had another charge that he felt should be answered by the Constitutionalists. In Jones' words, it was this: "In the last two years the SGA budget was completely gone. I think this money appropriated to benefit students? I doubt if any of the present members of the Constitutionalists can tell me that. Or, for that matter, anyone else. By benefiting students, I don't mean Service."

Constitutionalist Platform

- 1. A suggestion box will be placed in the SUB and the suggestions will be acted upon at each SGA meeting with the results published each week in the Kernel.
- 2. To eliminate needless expense for the benefit of the student body.
- 3. To express student opinions of administration mismanagement in anticipation of correcting the faults.
- 4. To subject to student vote the possibility of accepting a newly-designed class ring.
- 5. To enforce the SGA absentee rule.
- 6. To assist in the formation of a student used book exchange.
- 7. Identification cards to be issued instead of ticket books, allowing all students admission to University functions.

Music Award Winner Named

Mary Caroline Carver, music major, was presented the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia award at a dinner held recently at the SUB. The award is annually presented to the outstanding senior student of music department. Miss Carver, a piano major, is a member of Phi Beta.

The local chapter recently elected Nathaniel Baggerly as president. Other officers elected for the convention are Edward Artis, vice president; Bob Johnson, secretary; Jack Steers, treasurer; Robert Link, warden; Kent Campbell, national coordinator; James Nelson, national chairman; and James Eversole, social chairman.

Candidates Are Named For SGA

By Janet Anderson

The slate of candidates for the SGA spring elections to be held Tuesday have been announced by the Registrar's Office. The All-Student Party has the most complete slate of independent candidates offered in recent elections. On the slate four students running on an independent ticket were elected.

Students of the College of Arts and Sciences and the Graduate School will vote in the Student Government election. The slate of candidates will be in White Hall, Agriculture Building, room 101, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. The All-Student Party is running Jerry Jones for president, Bob Deen for vice-president, Constitutional candidate for president, Bruce Ferguson for vice-president, Carol Chambers.

A series of night classes in being offered this semester in nine widely scattered Kentucky cities. Five classes are being offered at Danville, Barboursville, Newcastles, Hindman, Adolphus, and one each at Danville, Barboursville, Newcastles, Hindman, Adolphus, and the Lexington Sign Dept.

Four courses in education and one in library science have attracted 100 enrollees to the Louisville extension. At Frankfort, 49 state employees are enrolled in classes in elementary Spanish, history of Kentucky, accounting, business law and short-hand. Education courses held at Danville, Barboursville and Newcastles have drawn class enrollment of 28, 27, and 32 respectively, and a physical education class at Hindman had a total of 52 students.

Rounding out the cross-state schedule are a sociology class at Paducah, an anthropology class being offered for employees at the Lexington Sign Dept., 21 students at Paducah, an education class at Paducah with a combined enrollment of 22.

In addition to a 40 enrolled in these nine cities, the University has approximately 1600 students enrolled in other off-campus and home study courses.

UK Program Allows Study Off-Campus

A total of 340 University students are attending regular classes with out ever setting foot on the Lexington campus as a part of the University's over-all policy of making its services readily available to all Kentuckians.

This number, which is exclusive of the students enrolled at the College of Pharmacy in Louisville and the Northern Extension in Covington, is made possible through the Department of University Extension headed by Prof. Louis Clifton.

Several appointments, resignations, and other staff changes have been approved by the Board of Trustees. The major ones are:

College of Arts and Sciences—appointments: John W. Worrell, assistant professor of music; Carl G. Hendrickson, assistant professor of biology; Joseph A. Williams, director of the Bureau of School Services in addition to his duties as professor and chairman of the Division of Educational Administration.

College of Agriculture and Home Economics—appointments: Benson Quisenberry, assistant entomologist; Martin J. Patten, field agent in agricultural engineering; Paul A. Thornton, secretary-treasurer.

Leave of absence: John H. Ubben, assistant professor of German.

Resignation: Margaret Hansel, home demonstration agent, Lincoln County.

Other staff changes include clerical workers and graduate assistants. Present for the meeting of the Board of Trustees were Harper C. Ganton, Madisonville; R. P. Hoback, Louisville; John C. Everett, Mayville; H. D. Polmore, Frankfort; President H. L. Donovan, and Frank O. Peterson, secretary-treasurer.

After All The Darkness, Lots Of Light

The revival of the two-party system in campus politics has not aroused the interest many desired because the parties themselves have been tardy in launching their campaigns.

The All-Student party, in organizing for the election, could have given the Kernel a story. They informed the Kernel of the move, but preferred no publicity until the platform was announced a week later. Not until the present issue were the Constitutionalists ready to report their platform, and both slates of candidates were withheld until now.

Granted, neither party can expect a lather of excitement from a student body which is chronically indifferent to the election of its representatives. But on the outside hope that the interested few would be enlightened, the parties should have conducted vigorous campaigns over a longer period.

A careful analysis of the situation would seem to point to an unusual but possible effective political philosophy on the part of both groups. Neither of them seemed to want much publicity. Perhaps both believed that more was to be gained by behind-the-scenes work with "precinct heeblers" and acquaintances. Such personal-contact work may well pay off when such a small segment of the voters can be expected at the polls.

Michigan State Sophomore Does More Than Duz Does

Grant A. Kersten, a Michigan State phy-ed sophomore, is claimed to be the cleanest student at the school by the MICHIGAN STATE NEWS. In order to work at a summer camp after this June, Grant had to take fifteen hours of phy-ed courses this quarter. Following the rules, he takes a shower after every hour of exercise—15 a week. But worse still, he must take 15 hours of swimming courses next quarter, and that requires a shower before and after each hour in the pool. We'll grant him the honor.

The University of Georgia laundry reports THE RED AND BLACK is back on a full schedule after some labor troubles. Laundry is being delivered three or four days late. From Mississippi State's REFLECTOR: "State College students are the most polite people in the world! They even knock on the hen house door before entering." Shades of Emily Post! There's nothing strange about that. One must always knock before entering a boudoir. Ladies expect it. "All birds are nervous creatures," explained Dr. Arthur T. Ringrose, head of the poultry department here, "and the 1400 hens we keep are by no means an exception." If one invades a hen's privacy while she is laying, she is apt to fly into hysterics and injure herself in some way, or she might lay a soft-shelled egg. Dr. Ringrose said.

Says the NEWS RECORD: "It would be safe to say that in no other library are students so 'brilliantly' urged to find wisdom."

Campus Confabs

A very encouraging sign at the University is the number of national and regional conferences and conventions which are being held here. The recent Tau Kappa Alpha convention and the ODK province conference and state high school press conference coming soon are indications of the University's worth to other college students and high schools of the state.

In addition to being a very effective way in which to place the school in the eye of a widespread audience, the success of such functions proves that our students are voluntarily donating a great deal of time and effort in order to bring more prestige to their University.

By adding these student meetings to many others already established for adults, the University can more actively keep itself in the academic limelight.

dent Government Association election March 28? Do you know that the All-Student Party has been formed to fight the one-party system that has controlled SGA for so long? Do you know why SGA has been such a pitiful, impotent organization even though its members have been some of the most able students on the campus? It is difficult for a completely impartial paper like the Kernel to tell the whole story behind the Constitutional Party control of SGA. SGA does NOT represent the students of this campus. This is the key to the whole problem of a weak, do-nothing SGA. Clique (a coalition of all fraternities and societies) has control of all nominations for SGA on the Constitutional ticket. Many times in the past few years this has been the ONLY ticket. When an upstart would occasionally oppose a Clique man, the Constitutionalist would depend upon the complete lack of interest among the Independents to beat his opponent.

There are nearly five thousand students here who are NOT represented in actuality on SGA. It is understandable that good leaders are hard to find among the non-affiliated groups. Each time they have offered their unselfish services they have been completely crushed by the lack of interest among those they wish to serve. Now is the time for action. Good representative leaders (non-affiliates and Greeks alike) have flocked to the ALL-STUDENT PARTY platform and are pledged to fight for your needs and desires. They WILL succeed if only YOU will CARE. This could be the best fight this campus has ever seen. Let's start some tradition on this campus. Every creeping, crawling creature must VOTE on MARCH 28. DON ROGERS

Intramurals Editor, The Kernel Dear Sir: The members of our department read Dick Macke's editorial concerning intramural sports in the March 19th issue with interest and concern. We were delighted that the author realized the difficulty of scheduling intramural sports when our facilities are constantly being utilized by "outsiders." It is hoped that with the opening of the Coliseum that we will no longer find our University students deprived of the use of their rightful facilities.

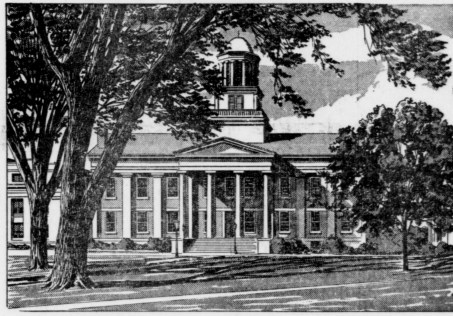

In answer to Macke's suggestion that basketball start the first semester we wish to explain that this is more complicated than one would think. If started then, there would be so many changes in personnel between semesters that it would not be practical. On the other hand, if

"What a weekend, Kitten! Talk about dancing your shoes off—um, do my feet hurt. Or maybe that sudden burst of spring we had ONE day makes them itch to touch Bluegrass. What I was getting around to tell you about was the big highlight of last weekend—the Military Ball thrown by Scabbard and Blade. What a formal, and what a beauty of a queen reigned, Louisa Wilson is really a true queen. And the Cadets met really proud of the good-looking girls they had as sponsors. Man, what I wouldn't give just to be a jester in Louisa's court!" "Well, J.C., Joe College I thought Louisa and John Pedigo really made a handsome pair walking under those arched swords. And another thing I noticed was that there is something about a man in uniform. A girl really takes notice when she sees a man in uniform." "Guess you noticed those decorations?" "The crossed swords above the throne and nothing like candles on the table to give it that well-known romantic atmosphere, uh, Kitten?" "There's just one thing though, J.C. can you imagine anything more romantic than floating down on a crescent moon to be crowned as the Phi Sig 'Moonlight Girl'?" "Well, that's just what happened to Betty White. After floating from the balcony to the floor she was escorted to an archway made of red and white carnations. Betty received congratulations from three of the former moonlight girls. What a dream of a way to get a crown." "Kitten, I think Betty should be called the girl-who-would-not-like-to-sit-in-the-moonlight-with-B.U.T. the dance didn't have a thing on the Sig-Ep-Sigma Nu combination party from all reports. The dance floor was really packed, and every one had a great time." "Here's the song, J.C. and be sure to give a listen to Vaughn Monroe Saturday night. He's going to sing 'Wonderful Sig-Ep Girl' in honor of the Sig Eps." "As for me, Kitten, I think the Chi O's Cinderella formal needs looking into. For who knows, I might find a real true-to-life Cinderella there. See you there, my little chickadee!"

SGA Election

The time-worn appropriations on every budget, such as funds for a Student Directory, I think this, for one, could be drastically reduced, and the money put to better use.

When asked to reply to the foregoing question about spending of funds, Bruce Ferguson said, "I cannot answer that question accurately because I'm not the treasurer of the SGA. I'm sure if you ask him, he can give the complete story about management of SGA funds." Walter Cooper, treasurer for the SGA, and a Constitutional trustee was asked about the matter. He replied, "I can't give you all the detailed appropriations, because I don't have my records with me, but our largest spending goes for those things which are more or less considered traditional here—a student directory for which we spend $3000, a $300 contribution to vocational guidance of the girls at the University, a memorial service and dance for the seniors, and a Kentuckian appropriation of approximately $800. This year, also, we have obtained a secretary for the handling of parking permits to whom we pay $1500 a year. These are necessary expenditures, and I believe all of them are for the student's welfare. As I said, many of the things we support are tradition, such as the student directory. We didn't publish one this year because of the change in telephone numbers, but I will continue to publish it because so many of the students like it, and expect it."

Party Support Asked

In conclusion, both candidates denied the claims of the opposite party and voiced a plea for support in these statements:

Bruce Ferguson: "The new party is a fine idea. A good SGA needs two parties. However, they are so unorganized they don't know who is running on their own ticket. They are relying on deals to swing the election. They have deserted the idealistic attitude they had at the beginning of the campaign. The All-Student party should be run by independents. Why then, do they pick fraternity men to represent them in the election? They are using malcontent fraternities men to pull votes. If the students vote on the merits of the men in the election, three-fourths of the Constitutional candidates are bound to get in. I think criticisms of the recent SGA set-up can be adjusted by our party satisfactorily."

Jerry Jones: "The clique has controlled the Constitutional party so long it has become hide-bound and apathetic. Their candidates are afraid to speak out for student welfare, especially if they run into a little opposition from the faculty. All the Constitutionalists have in organization. That's the crux of the matter. They are such a tightly knit little group, that they have no idea of what the mass of students outside of fraternities and societies want. If the All-Student candidates are elected, we promise faithful to keep an ear to the ground to

Week's Theater Bill Offers Comedy, Drama, And Music

By Bob Cox

A real fun-fest in which Donald O'Connor does not sing or dance is presented in "Francis" which opened Wednesday at the Kentucky Theater. This is certainly a departure from O'Connor's usual style for not only does he throw off his usual song-and-dance routine, but he does not get the pretty leading lady, Patricia Medina. Instead he gets a talking G. I. music named Francis. The story unfolds as Francis, the male carries Donald, an army lieutenant, to safety after the young officer gets lost from his command and is wounded in the Burma jungle. Francis helps O'Connor to become a hero by tipping him off to the plans, however, he is tossed into a psycho ward.

How O'Connor escapes the wiles of pretty Miss Medina, who is an Axis spy, and ends up living happily-ever-after with Francis makes a very hilarious tale and lives up to its advance billing of one of the funniest comedies in years.

The Red Shoes
"The Red Shoes," opening March 21 at the Kentucky Theater, is a triple Academy Award winner which has received the accolades of reviewers and critics all over the nation. Many of them rate it with the greatest movies of all time. Filled in technicolor, it is a very dramatic movie lightened by beautiful ballet selections. The story is the typical one of a girl who must choose between her lover and her art. The plot is tense and stirring, and ends in a wild frenzy of tragedy. The story is well-handled and Anton Walbrook, Moira Shearer, and Marius Goring performed well with the aid of a well-selected supporting cast.

Young Man With A Horn
"Young Man With A Horn," opening Sundays at the Ben All Theater, is the story of a jazz trumpeter who rises to the peak of his profession only to topple when riches and a beautiful gal nearly prove his undoing. The plot is a bit unbelievable but satisfying for those seeking a couple of hours of light relaxation. To help take your mind off the story, the film offers lucid Doris Day with some good vocals. If you need more of the kind, there's satanic Lauren Bacall sulking around sexily enough to catch your eyeballs over once lightly. Kirk Douglas is the young trumpeter with the horn, and whether he blew the trumpet himself or not is moot. It's really good jazz. Honey Carmichael is his usual likeable self, and as Douglas' self-sacrificing buddy he makes for some real sentiment. Doris Day is The Young Man's pal too, and her sacrifices for him are a bit too thinly veiled. The cast works hard, however, and has a good time. As a musical drama it should rate near the top of the list for the year.

WBKY To Broadcast Three New Programs

Three new shows have been added to the schedule of WBKY, the University frequency modulation station, according to Lewis Swain, program director.

"Your State Government," produced by Bill Gordon, is now being broadcast every Thursday night at 8:45 p.m. by both WBKY and WLEX. The program relates the work of one department of Kentucky state government each week and features interviews and discussions with members of the departments.

Nita Powers produces and writes another program, "This Is You, Town," which is broadcast every Friday at 8 p.m. by WBKY and on Sundays at 9:30 by WLAP. The program describes the activities of one community chest agency each week.

"The Music of Richard Rodgers," written and produced by Nancy Brewer, is now being carried by WBKY every Tuesday at 8 p.m. Arrangements are being made for a local station to carry the program also.

Other changes in the WBKY schedule include the return of Mr. Thomas A. Ruesch's "Understanding the News," Wednesday at 8:45 p.m. over WBKY and WLEX, and the changing of the time of the Dick Piggan Show from Thursday at 8:45 p.m. to Tuesday at 8:45 p.m. The Piggan show can be heard over WLEX as well as WBKY.

CONN-COX 'UNS

By Earl Conn and Bob Cox

That Joe Miller of the Far East, Confucius, once said, "House with-out bathroom uncanny." It's awful corny but at least the poor guy was trying and besides he was corked at the time. The only reason we mentioned it is that it reminds us of this week's column—or does it?

She was only an insurance salesman's daughter, but I certainly liked her policy.

Foelish Frosh: I'll never marry a man who sneezes.

Mother: Yes, but be careful how you find out.

Sympathy is what one girl offers another in exchange for details.

DDD: Sir, I'll have you know that I intend to marry a University of Tennessee man and a gentleman.

SK: You can't. That's bigamy.

The little Alpha Gam groped her way into the house at 10:30 and the house president noticed that one of her shoes was muddy.

"What makes your right shoe muddy and not your left?" she asked.

"I changed my mind."

ZTA: Did that course in English help your boyfriend any?

DG: No. He still ends every sentence in a proposition.

Father: You know (she) what? You're the homeliest woman I ever saw.

Mother: Well, you're the drunkest man I ever saw.

Father: I know, but I won't be in the morning.

"Is she a nice girl?"

"Morales."

"This said that girl doesn't have to watch the speedometer to know what a guy is driving at."

DTD: Did you get to send that little girl digger to jail.

KG: What for?

DTD: Using the mallet to defraud.

College is like a laundry—you get out of it just what you put into it—only you'd never recognize it.

He: Are you free tonight?

She: No, but I'm inexpensive.

Chi O Active: Come on and get cleaned up and I'll get you a date.

Chi O Pledge: Yeh, and then suppose you don't get me a date.

"If anyone knows any reason why this man should not marry this lady, let him speak now, or forever hold his peace."

Voice-from-the-rear: "That's no lady. That's my wife."

A Virginia hillbilly, back from a bar bazaar' trip, reported that he was attacked by a huge bar. "He stood on his hind legs, put his paws around me an' began to rassle me," he said. "I fought him the best I could, but he finally took my shotgun away from me."

"Did he shoot you with the shotgun?" someone asked.

"No. He made me marry his daughter."

ADVICE: Be a go-getter! If you find a worm in your apple, have fish for dinner.

Give an athlete an inch and he'll take a foot. But let him have it. Who wants athlete's foot?

They sat on the moonlit porch for half an hour and not a word was spoken. Finally she said, "Suppose you had some money." "What would you do?"

He smiled wanly and gazed into her eyes. "I'd travel," he murmured.

He felt her warm hand slide into his and he closed his eyes peacefully. When he opened them she was gone—in his hand was a nickel!

"Henry" puffed the fat old lady as her husband failed to assist her onto the street car. "You ain't as gallant as when I was a girl."

"Yeh," bragged Henry, "and you ain't as brunt as when I was a boy."

She: Would you help a girl in trouble?

Illinois Library Head Speaks

Dr. Robert B. Downs, director of the University of Illinois Library, spoke on the subject, "National Bibliographical Control," last Thursday in the Laboratory Theater of the Fine Arts Building.

Dr. Downs, recognized by librarians and bibliographers as one of the top leaders in his field, has served as president of the Association of College and Reference Librarians and as chairman of the Board on Resources of American Libraries.

The author of several books on library science, Dr. Downs was awarded honorary doctor's degrees by Colby College and the University of North Carolina in acknowledgment of his contributions in this field.

Library Shows Bird Exhibition

An exhibit of bird paintings and books is now on display in the first-floor foyer of the Maxwell I. King Library. Highlighting the exhibition are original paintings by the cowboy artist, Howard Rollin, done especially for Mr. Victor K. Dodie, retired businessman and amateur ornithologist here in Lexington.

Mr. Dodie has long been associated with the Audubon Society here. He has also placed his copy of John Gould's "Birds of Great Britain," Volume 1 in the exhibit.

Also included in the display is a book by Alexander Wilson entitled "American Ornithology," reproductions of some of John James Audubon's works; books illustrated by Louis Agassiz Puget, former professor at Cornell; and many other well-known bird books. Included in these is "Birds of Kentucky" by J. D. Flaggins, former professor at the University.

Porter's Poll

Will Two Parties Aid SGA? Student Opinions Are Divided

Question of the week: With the formation of the All-Student political party, do you think the students are more interested in S.G.A. than they have been in the past few elections?

BARBARA WAYMAN: "The only people more interested are the people who are organizing the new party."

DAN RAWLINGS: "No, because the trouble is that SGA is controlled too much by the faculty instead of the students, regardless of the students' interest."

CARL NAPP: "Yes, the Constitutionalists are promoting more interest."

ROBERT THURMAN: "No, because so far we haven't heard enough about the two parties putting up the struggle."

MERRY JO CUNDIFF: "Yes, because until this week I never heard of SGA."

FREDEN HAAGENSEN: "Yes, due to the interest being shown by both parties pertaining to the welfare of SGA, more students have been contacted."

SONNY McCATLEY: "Yes, competition is sure to create more interest."

CHAZZ SEAMAN: "No more interest is being shown this time than before."

BRICK McCOLLUM: "Have heard a little more talk than usual, but there seems to be no more interest."

JOY ATRITION: "No, because you never hear anyone say anything about either party."

MARY BRIGHT: "I really don't think so, there will always be a small group who work hard for SGA, and the majority of the students just drift along."

DOT SEATH: "Yes, more people are always involved in a two or three party deal. A lot of people are interested in the fight that might ensue."

EVE WALSH: "It will take action from SGA, rather than just having two strong parties to get the students interested."

JIM DARST: "Definitely no, the students have no authority in SGA, and no funds, so who cares about being interested?"

WILL MOORE: "If there were a little publicity, and the students understood what was going on, then there might be a little more interest than there is now."

RAY SCHLACHTER: "Yes, with the advent of a new and vigorous opposition there will be more interest aroused in this election."

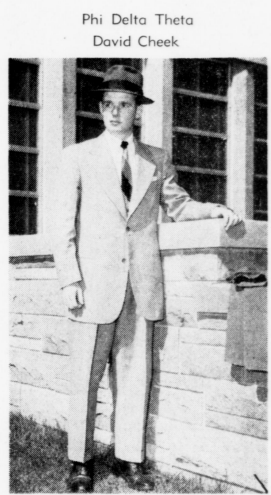

CHES HOLLMAN: "No more interest than usual."

JUNIE ALBRECHT: "Student's just don't care anymore. They don't get to run their own SGA anyway."

JOE REID: "Competition is the basis of everything."

PHYLLIS OLIVER: "I don't think there are any more students interested. From campus gossip it seems that the original party has split, and is fighting against itself."

Line Named Most Valuable Cager; Hirsch Voted Captain For '50-51

Jim Line, senior forward from Akron, Ohio, was awarded the Jerry Lederer trophy last Monday night at the annual basketball banquet as a result of being voted the Most Valuable Player of the 1949-50 season by his teammates.

Another Ohioan, 20-year-old Walt Hirsch, a junior, was voted by the Wildcats squad to captain the team during the 1950-51 year. Hirsch, a forward, comes from Dayton, Ohio, and has already won three letters here in basketball.

Walt Hirsch

Besides Line and Hirsch, other players who were awarded letters for the past campaign were retiring Captain Dale Barnstable, Bill Spry, Bob Watson, Lucian (Skippy) Whitaker, Shelby Little, Len Pearson, Guy Strick, and Gerhard Speer-Townes.

Freshmen nominees were given to the following: Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey, Dick Pirkone, Dwight Price, Lemmie Candler, Lou Stropoulos, and Chesley Riddle.

Varsity letters were also awarded to Team Managers Bobby Moore and Bob Vittitor, Bill Pollitt, freshman manager, were given numerals.

When we first played basketball teams—in the Sugar Bowl at the same time.

Line in the Sugar Bowl, continued Cornewart, "back in 1935, it was a financial bust. The paid attendance was only 700. Last year we had capacity crowds at all sessions and people there were offering two football tickets for one basketball ticket."

Dr. Donovan, in commenting on Rupp's recent selection by the New York sportswriters as "Coach of the Year," that he "had been Coach of the Year in my book for the past nine years."

Dr. Donovan also spoke on the conduct of the students during the past season. "There is no doubt some justification for criticism of the students this year," he said.

"Sportsmanship has declined all over the country during the past decade. But I hope that we will go into the new Coleman and demonstrate to the whole world the fine quality of good sportsmanship of the Kentucky students. There is nothing I would enjoy more than this — better sportsmanship. We will call upon the SGA, the Kernel, SuKs, the fraternities, the societies and other organizations to get response on this."

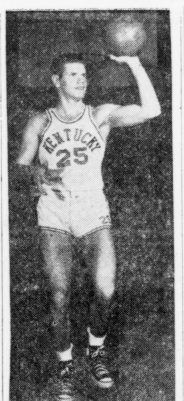

Shelby Toastmaster Athletic Director Bernie Shively served as the toastmaster. Capt. Dale Barnstable gave the invocation and later made a brief talk thanking those who helped contribute to the success of the season and wished the returning players the best of luck for the 1950-51 year.

Pirkone, Melrose Entertainer The crowd was entertained by Richard (Herm) Pirkone, stellar freshman guard from Chicago, who sang two numbers, "There's No Tomorrow" and "Again" and the Mel-tones, a singing group composed of University students.

Miss Helen King, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, presented the three departing seniors, Capt. Dale Barnstable, Jim Line and Spec Townes, with gifts in behalf of the Alumni Association.

Earlier, Barnstable had presented for the three seniors a gift to Coach Rupp as a token of appreciation.

The banquet, in charge of Miss King, was one of the most enjoyable ever held here.

Intramural Sports

Two spring sports are scheduled to open this month, with two others beginning near the first of April. Badminton singles begins March 29; doubles begin April 3. Tennis studies and doubles start March 29. Golf play opens April 2, followed by softball April 11.

Handball season begins April 24. Latest to start will be track which commences competition May 18, 19. On all sports the entry deadline is 5 p.m. on the Friday preceding the season opener except softball, which has its entry deadline April 5, and track — May 5.

Between 20 and 30 teams are expected to enter into softball competition. Intramural Director Bill McCubben said. Play will be conducted in the same order as basketball, beginning with round-robin play (each team plays every other team in its division one time) and ending with a single elimination tournament to determine the champion.

Breck Hall will be the winner of last year's trophy.

WAA News

The WAA sponsored intramurals are well into their spring sports.

The badminton tournament, with 10 organizations, is in full swing. Connie Weidner, who is WAA Badminton chief, keeps things moving right along. This elimination tournament plays one round every day. The final playoffs will come next week.

The trip UK WAA made to Cincinnati really proved to be great fun for all who went. The Play Day is one of the largest gatherings of college women for this purpose in this section of the country. Three states, Ohio, Illinois, and Kentucky, were represented by a number of colleges. U.C. did a terrific job of organization. The entire day's activity was well planned and executed down to the last table tennis ball.

Due to the fact that it was possible to make contacts with so many different people and become a part of such a varied program, the trip paid off in many ways to all UK WAA members who went.

With the pleasant memory of the huge DC Play Day, UK WAA is hard at work trying to get the plans set up for the High School Play Day scheduled for Saturday, March 25. There are several committees with definite work to work out; some of these are reception and registration, group leaders, equipment, and officials.

Three gyms are to be used for the coming full of activities: they are Women's Gym, Alumni Gym and University High School Gym. A number of schools have requested permission to bring more than 15 girls mentioned in the invitation and they have been granted this wish.

Rupp Awarded Coach Of Year Trophy By New York Writers

By Tom Dickinson

Bear Mountain, N. Y., Sunday, March 19.—The swanky Bear Mountain Inn, located some 20 miles north of New York City, was the scene of the annual dinner of the Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association held here tonight.

Kentucky's Adolph Rupp received the Coach of the Year award from the New York sports scribes.

LIU's lanky colored star, Sherman White, was given the Hagerst Award after being voted into Outstanding Player in the Metropolitan New York area.

The Gold Star Award, symbol of the Outstanding Visiting Player for the season, went to Hal Hirsch, star of Hamline University. The five previous winners include UK's ex-coach Ralph Beard. In 1949 Vince Borjia (Denver U.) was nominated for this, in 1948 Ed Mauer, St. Joseph's; 1947 UK's Ralph Beard received the honor; in 1946 it was DePaul's George Mikan; and in 1945, the first year, Penn's Howie Dallmar was voted the award.

The first annual Sam Davis Memorial Award for the Outstanding Professional Player of the year was given to George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers.

Previous Coach of the Year honors went to Benny Carmichael (Navy) in 1947; Howard Cann (NYU) in 1948; and Hank Iba (Oklahoma A & M) last season.

Why should I become flustered and stammer just because they call me names? Sooner or later they'll recognize genius. Put up my puss in the game's Hat of Fame.

To all I'll be nice And I'll hand out advice: Fall in love, fall in love, fall in love, fall in love.

Fall in love with a wonderful guy. Coach Rupp made one of the best speeches of the evening before the group. He said that he "was tremendously pleased to receive an award such as this. It is a great honor."

Later he commented that basketball has grown rapidly in the past years. "My first competitive game was back in 1910. I have watched this sport grow to a point where now a four and one-half million dollar

Adolph Rupp
Coach of the Year structure will soon be completed down at the University of Kentucky. There is no doubt about the growth of this game... it offers a great future."

Resigned Last May
"This year at Kentucky we had a new bunch of kids come in. Earlier, on March 18th of last year, I had resigned as coach at Kentucky. I had had enough. My team had won many honors, and I lost 31 pounds during the season. But the University officials asked me to remain there. I did and this year I gained 17 pounds. I'd have settled for 12 losses at the start of this season. But we managed to win 25 of 30 games."

Master of ceremonies was Everett Morris, of the N. Y. Herald Tribune.

Four Pitchers Added To Cats' Hurling Staff

By Kent Hollingsworth

Cold weather and light rains forced the baseball team inside this week and Coach Neil Moseley's boys, already pushed for time as the opening four-game series is only 10 days off, had to be content with playing catch in Alumni Gym.

With the close of the basketball season, the baseball roster received a welcomed boost. Besides returning veteran Walt Hirsch, C. M. Newton, Guy Strong, and Roger Layne joined the pitching staff.

Hirsch, regular first baseman for the last two years and occasional pitcher, is due to start off this season on the mound. Big Roger Layne, "T" reserve pitcher on Coach Stupp's team, will fill in at first base when Hirsch assumes his mound duties, and will also take a turn on the pitching rubber.

Newton looks like the number one pitcher. He has a real good break on his curve, a nice fast ball, change of pace, and a splendid high school and semi-pro record behind him.

Strong, who was a standout for Irvine in the Kentucky high school tournament two years ago, isn't throwing hard yet, but should round into form quickly.

Uniforms were issued to 15 members of the squad last Wednesday: Buddy Cheng, Jay Cummins, Bob Hatchett, Walt Hirsch, Roger Layne, Al MacLeod, C. M. Newton, Jim Ryan, Bill Smithers, John Stough, Guy Strong, Frank Tucci, Roy Turner, Lefty Wiseman, and Humey Yreson.

Relays Set April 28th

The second annual Spiked Shoe Relays will be held at the University of Kentucky, Friday, April 28.

Feature attraction of the program will be the appearance of Bob Richards, one of the world's top pole vaulters, who will put on an exhibition. Richards has topped 15 feet in his leaps several times.

Last year's guest star was Harrison Dillard, world's champion hurdler and sprinter.

Many improvements are being planned for this year's event. In addition to the usual relay events, some fields events are to be held. The track will be in better shape, and the crowd is expected to exceed 10,000. Last year's relays drew 8,000 spectators.

Ten team trophies and 48 individual awards will be presented to participants in the following track events: 440-yard relay; distance medley; 880-yard relay; shuttle hurdle relay; sprint medley; and mile relay.

Field event preliminaries will be held in the afternoon and the finals

Sports Review

— By Tom Diskin, Sports Editor —

There isn't much left to say about the CCNY "catastrophe," as it has been called, except that the upset will be remembered for a long, long time by Kentuckians.

Few students, if any, expected the Wildcats to be clipped by this team by one point much less. Two different students this week who we talked to remarked that they had never heard of CCNY until the tournament. More than a couple doubtlessly did not know that the letters stood for City College of New York. At any rate the defeat was a terrific jolt.

We'll be the first to admit that CCNY completely surprised us. It wasn't until we reached New York the day before the game that we started to wonder if the Cats would get past the quarter-finals.

As Earl Conn, of the Kernel sports staff, said this week "We should have seen the light by checking CCNY's record. Early in January, that team stepped St. John's 12-game winning streak and followed it up with a 18-point win over Loyola of Chicago." CCNY had a great team but few realized it until late this season as it improved rapidly and hit its peak against us in the NIT.

However, things aren't too dark. We believe that our sophomores are potentially better than those on CCNY. Kentucky will be stronger next season, thanks to the experience gained this year and the upcoming freshmen players.

Many other teams around the nation will also be stronger next winter. But we can't help but see the Wildcats back at Madison Square Garden next March and it is possible that they might then "reverse the score" as Coach Adolph Rupp promised in his speech at the banquet last Monday. Don't sell the Wildcats basketballers short. They'll be mighty tough next season.

Many thanks to Earl Conn, assistant sports editor of The Kernel, who look over last week while we were up in New York for the Tournament. . . . Ken Kuhn, UK sports publicist, contacted a poll of the varsity basketballers on the All-Opponent team for the past season.

named on the question by at least a unanimous vote were Pau Arino, Villanova, and Kevin O'Shea of Notre Dame University. . . . the others were Vanderbilt's Billy Joe Adcock, CCNY's Ed Warner, and Gene Melchiorre, of Bradley University.

Last year's Kentucky All-Opponent team was made up of Adcock, Holy Cross, Bob Cousy, St. Louis, Ed Macaulay, Chuck Share, of Bowling Green and Paul Walther of the Tennessee Yoks. . . .

Coach Adolph Rupp left Wednesday for Amarillo, Texas, and Denver, Colorado. He will make a series of speeches there. . . .

For a while Monday afternoon it looked like Coach Rupp, Sam Cornsweat and your sports editor would not make it back to Lexington in time for the basketball banquet that evening. . . . flying back from New York City our plane hit bad weather around Charleston, W. Va., and almost had to land at an alternate airport. . . . fortunately the low ceiling and visibility improved enough for us to land at Charleston and Lexington about on schedule. . . .

Some sportswriters figured that the City College hit 42.9 percent of their field goal attempts against the Cats; others said 46 percent; in our story we used 48 percent which was calculated by the statistician for The New York Times. . . . but what ever the figure was, it was too damn high for us as we were concerned.

Those CCNY Beavers hit 27 percent of their shots for the entire tournament. . . . in the championship tilt, Demetrius Warner, Roman and Layne combined to hit 21 out of 46 attempts.

Collier's sports editor, Bill Fay was in town this week. . . . he is gathering material now for a story on Coach Paul Bryant and the Wildcats footballers which will appear early this fall. . . .

Contrary to what most of the Kentucky sportswriters have claimed, the loss to CCNY was not the worst since 1929. . . . it was in 1929 when Wabash beat UK, 57-11, a margin of 46 points. . . . worst that the 50-point defeat by CCNY. . . . however, when Centre College trimmed us, 67-19, back 1929, it was the most lopsided in UK history. . . .

More "hardware" for trophy case. Coach Adolph Rupp looks over some of the prize "hardware" as he calls it, earned during the 1949-50 season. On the left is the Sugar Bowl basketball championship trophy, next is the huge Southeastern Conference winners' trophy, then the silver pitcher is the Coach of the Year award. Coach Rupp is looking over a program presented to him by the New Orleans Sugar Bowl committee "in sincere appreciation of his splendid contribution in years past to its calendar of sports."

Coach Rupp is looking over a program presented to him by the New Orleans Sugar Bowl committee "in sincere appreciation of his splendid contribution in years past to its calendar of sports."

Considerable comment was heard from UK sports scribes on the 1949-50 Seton Hall College freshmen basketball team which won 29 of 40 games this past season.

The only loss suffered was to the Villanova yearlings and that came in the final seconds of the tilt after Seton Hall threw a big lead.

Pacester for this small school which is located in South Orange, New Jersey, is a 6-foot 10 1/2-inch colored lad from Rochester, N. Y., named Wali Dukes. According to reports, he is "tremendously fast and may be another George Mikan in the making."

Dukes is believed to be one of the greatest players ever developed in the State of New York. One Gotham newspaper wrote that Dukes finished 1-3 or 3 in everyone of Seton Hall's fresh cross country meets last fall.

We asked several about Murray Tannenbaum, Long Island University's 7-foot, two-inch freshman center. In every case the sports writer was none too impressed with him. They liked another of Clair Bee's reshaped players, He is 6-10 Ray Felix and will probably be starting ahead of Tannenbaum next season. Felix is a negro and comes from New York City. If both of these giants develop, LU might be very tough in the next three seasons.

The following editorial appeared in a recent issue of The Mississippi, school paper of Ole Miss.

Titled "Let's Beat Kentucky" it read:

"At the annual Red-Bud game in Hemingway stadium next week there will be one thought uppermost in the minds of coaches, players and students—Kentucky."

"This has been the theme of football practice all spring. This is natural, since it is the first conference game on the schedule. There is also the matter of last season's game to be considered."

"Plans are being made for a 'Beat Kentucky' pep rally before the game. Students will be asked to co-operate with the S&SB on this and should be willing to co-operate. Join in the pep rally, get behind the team, be prepared to help 'Beat Kentucky.'"

Judging from this, the Ole Miss' students and football team are eager to get revenge for last season's 47-0 whipping handed them by our Wildcats. Two weeks before that, UK trimmed Ole Miss' little brother, Mississippi Southern, 71-7, so the name Kentucky is too popular in the very football-conscious State of Mississippi. The game with

Fencing Facts

Three of the University fencers set a 320-mile trip to the NCAA fencing meet in Detroit. For the first time since fencing started here at UK, Kentucky will have representatives in the championship tourney. Fencers from all over the United States will participate in this two-day round-robin meet.

Captain Alan Solomon, foil man; Jim Ryan, epee man; and Dick Wohlstein, sabre man, will be accompanied by Coach Scott D. Breckinridge on their trip to Wayne University where the meet will take place.

This will be the first time that either Ryan or Wohlstein have ever participated in such a tourney. Captain Solomon took third place in the Kentucky State Fencing Championships, in foil, last year. All three men have a year of eligibility left after the close of this season.

Next week will find the fencing team playing host to the University of Cincinnati here. The Cincinnati fencers beat Kentucky on March 11 there, 14-12. The return meet should be as close. Charles "Tiger"

REQUIREMENTS FOR OPTOMETRY

Five years of college work are required for the degree, Doctor of Optometry.

The first year must be completed in an accredited college of arts and sciences.

The second year also may be completed in such an institution, or may be taken at Chicago College of Optometry.

The third, fourth and fifth years are devoted to professional courses which must be completed in an accredited college of optometry.

Fall registration is now open at Chicago College of Optometry, 230 N. Clark St., Chicago 14, Ill. Dormitory accommodations available on the campus. The college is approved for veterans. (Adv.)

Le Gette will direct the meet which will start at 2:30 in the gym.

The fencing record is four victories against four losses. Three teams are to be met before the bladesmen hang up their weapons for the season. Cincinnati and Louisville here with the final contest finding the fencers traveling to Nashville, where they finish out the season against Vanderbilt.

John Ford and George Christen, two UK fencers who were recently declared ineligible, have been asked to help organize a Lexington fencing club to represent the city against other fencing clubs.

The race horse Morvich won the 1922 Kentucky Derby but never won another race.

We started and concluded a league of play the first semester we would have to omit some other sports. We believe it unwise to make basketball any more top-heavy than it is, especially with the existing facilities. Possibly with the opening of the Coliseum such a plan would be feasible.

The Department of Physical Education and Intramurals welcomes such constructive criticism as Macke presented and we hope to continue to improve the intramural program in every way possible.

Respectfully,
Don Cash Seaton, Head Physical Education Dept.
