Let sorrows serve only to sweeten present joy; keep alive and communicate this spiritual flame, for when it touches your neighbor it will redouble upon you, and the brighter his lamp the more brilliant will be yours.

Carter Godwin Woodson

After handicaps which have retarded us, failures which have hurt us, and sorrows which have all but broken us, hope, springing exultingly on triumphant wing, will quicken our pace toward glorious achievement in the faith that in Him we shall develop that silent power which grows irresistible with time and conquers in the fight.

Carter Godwin Woodson

Plymouth Settlement House

THE STORY OF

FORTH

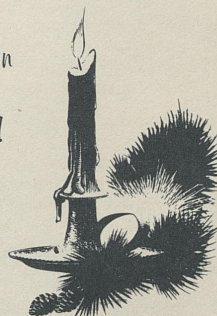

Plymouth Settlement House at 1626 West Chestnut Street, Louisville, Kentucky was started in 1917 to serve the Negro population of the west end of Louisville. It was built and supported originally by private funds, and sponsored by Plymouth Congregational Church. A small paid staff, consisting of the Church's Pastor as the Executive Director and many volunteers led an extensive recreational geared program for adults and youth.

In 1956 Plymouth Settlement House changed from a solely Church sponsored Agency to a city-wide, Community Chest and Church sponsored Agency . . . becoming incorporated and establishing a Board of Directors as its policy making body.

Today, 50 years later, the Settlement, a member of the United Church of Christ family, is still a vital force . . . helping the community to improve itself through joining forces with others in society who can make their actions effective and meaningful. Eight services (Family Counseling, Child Development, Neighborhood Youth Corps for High School Drop Outs, Youth Organization, Sports and Recreation, Children's Division, Adult Division and Senior Citizens) are provided through six (6) paid staff members, committed to the Christian precepts of love and charity. Plymouth is administering a ministry geared toward the goal of increasing perception, opportunity, and desire so that each person touched knows what it is to be a "Child of God."

May Happiness, Good Health, Prosperity and Peace be with You throughout this Holiday Season and the New Year!
