has good

my dearest Helen;

How I wish I could be with you to-night - just to be able to sit by you and feel your presence would be enough. At least I can think of you and even converse with you in dreams. I had a funny one the other night.
I dreamed that it was the night of the wedding in fact only forty minutes or less before the hour set, and I was trudging thru the town
loaded down with
