Wildcats To Meet Alabama On Homecoming Day

Kentucky Defeats Tennessee

It was three years ago on Thanksgiving day that the Wildcats scored their first victory over the Vols in a decade. The Turkey-day game this season will be played in Knoxville. Kentucky's biggest home game this year will be with Alabama, October 29, on Homecoming day.

The Kentucky Wildcats — 1938 edition — will meet the Crimson Tide of Alabama on Stoll field Saturday, October 29, the annual homecoming day for all Kentucky alumni.

Pep and enthusiasm on that day will be running riot not only on the campus but all over town. Sorority and fraternity houses will be uniquely decorated and all Lexington will be welcoming the old grads back to a great homecoming.

Registration booths for alumni will be in the main downtown hotels and in the Alumni Office of the Student Union building Saturday morning where complete information about the days activities will be given to the alumni.

The Kentucky-Alabama game is scheduled for 2:00 p. m. This will be the first opportunity for many alumni to see the Wildcats perform in 1938. It will be their first opportunity to see the first Wildcat eleven as being developed under the new setup in athletics at the University. Kentucky lost a hard fought game to Alabama on the homecoming day in 1936 by a score of 14 to 0.

Kentucky fans admit that Alabama is much too strong for the Wildcats, however down deep in each fan's heart there is that feeling that with a good fighting Wildcat team "anything may happen."

President and Mrs. McVey will be at home to alumni and friends immediately following the game. As usual the tea will be informal and all are invited to attend. The tea at Maxwell place has come to be an integral part of every homecoming.

Homecoming will be climaxed by the annual homecoming dance which will be given in the large ball room of the Student Union building. During the course of the dance SuKy will award trophies to the sorority and fraternity having the best decorated houses.

Good music will be furnished by a prominent orchestra, and old friends and grads will be gathered there and will have a chance to congratulate the Wildcats and enjoy a good dance.

Your Alumni Office will be glad to help you secure tickets, hotel reservations, or the like.

So mark Saturday, October 29, as a red letter day on your calendar and see the Wildcats give Alabama a battle royal.

Wildcat Boosters' Clubs Are Organized In Twelve Towns

Wildcat Boosters' Clubs that have been organized throughout the state by Bernie Shively, Ab Kirwan and other members of the University of Kentucky athletic staff now number 12.

In order to get a clear picture of the purpose of the Boosters' Clubs it is necessary to review for a moment Kentucky's football history for the past few years. Kentucky fans have for a long time known that the best of the state's football material has always been lost to other schools for the reason that other schools have been able to offer better financial inducements to the players.

In order to help check the flow of talent to out of state schools the University of Kentucky began the offering of scholarships to the prospective football players.

Lexington merchants also tried a plan of giving the players jobs. But this was not satisfactory either to the merchant or the player as the work periods between studying and football practice were too irregular.

Athletes must have an income of some kind to supplement the small amount they receive on the granted scholarship. Where was this spending money to come from? That was the question.

The answer to this question was the Boosters' Clubs whereby it was made possible that football players could earn extra spending money legitimately as is required by conference rules.

Members of the Boosters' Clubs pay a membership fee of $10. The money from the various clubs over the state is turned over to the business office of the University of Kentucky where an employment fund for football players and other athletes is set up.

Athletes participating in this fund must work and are paid according to the work they do. Every job held by an athlete will be un-

Sports Writers View Wildcats' Outlook For 1938

By NEVILLE DUNN
Lexington Herald Sports Editor

It is no easy matter to try to visualize the kind of football team the University of Kentucky Wildcats will put on the field against the Southeastern Conference opponents this year.

The Wildcats will be hardpressed for adequate reserves.

The Wildcats will be lighter than usual but not speedier than usual.

The Wildcats must put great dependence on sophomore material.

The schedule is as tough as any team in the Southeastern Conference should desire to tackle.

Those points are facts. Now we come to the theories, or rather we should say, the theory.

This is—

The Wildcats this year will be the fightingest, the scrappingest, the dawgonest toughest outfit that ever wore Kentucky's blue and spit in the face of the mighty behemoths of Alabama.

There is nothing that the world loves more than a fighter.

And a fighting ball club is what University of Kentucky fans have pined for all these years.

The Wildcats don't have to win all their games—that's impossible, this year anyway.

They don't have to beat Alabama or Georgia Tech or Tennessee.

No one expects them to.

But what they should do—and what Kirwan says they will do—is to put up a fight against those clubs. Fight 'em until they'll be glad to hear the final whistle. Fight 'em until the sweat rolls down into eyes and they start wondering where those Wildcats will hit them next.

"No one will ever make me believe; I won't even let them try to make me believe that Kentucky boys can't outfight boys from any other state in the Union," Kirwan said.

Determination to keep only those boys who showed ability and spirit in spring football practice caused the coaches to shave their spud down to less than 45 men. Of these, no less than 26 are sophomores. Only 4 are seniors.

Thus, if the Wildcats are to make any kind of a showing more hard work from coaches and players alike will be necessary than in any recent year.

All high school students will be admitted to the Oglethorpe, Clemson, and Washington and Lee football games for 25c. Students will be given a free program at the Washington and Lee game.

The Wildcats play nine games this fall and will be extremely fortunate if they win a bare majority. They will meet four Southeastern Conference foes and only the rank-est optimist would give them a meager chance of winning any one of these games. Although they can't do any worse than last season, when they failed to score a point against a Conference opponent, they will be facing fearful odds against Vanderbilt, Alabama, Georgia Tech, and Tennessee.

They should defeat Maryville and Oglethorpe with ease. They should top Washington and Lee despite reports that the Generals will be more potent than last year. Certainly there was room for more potency on the Lexington, Virginia, team. The Wildcat games with Xavier and Clemson look like toss-ups from this distance. It is not at all improbable that both Xavier and Clemson will take the Kentuckians into camp this year, although neither ever has been able to do it before. Those Wildcat wins over Xavier and Clemson in the past few years have been too close for comfort.

There is no good reason to expect the Wildcats to be any stronger this season than last. They have a new coach, who hasn't had time to learn all about his players, and they have lost a flock of regulars from the 1937 squad.

Still, the irrespressible Kirwan smiles and says, "You never can tell; we always have a chance to beat any team we play. We will take them as they come and fight the best we know how. I am not admitting defeat to any of them until they beat us."

First player to show up for practice on Stoll field was Sherman Hinkebein, captain. He is probably the best center in the South. He reported in top condition and tipped the scales at 208 pounds. He spent the summer swimming, also tried golf but admitted it was a tough game.

Ab Kirwan doesn't have an idea that Kentucky will have a Rose Bowl football team this season.

But Kirwan, who isn't the type to sit around and mope when there are things to be done, does have a conviction that he will send a fighting Wildcat eleven out onto the gridiron this fall, one that will play good hard football and reflect credit on the school even if it ends up with a deficit on the win and loss sheet.

Football at Kentucky this year is definitely in the way of being a noble experiment. Thus, in a manner of speaking, will be Kirwan's first venture in so-called big league football.

Yet Kirwan, first Kentucky graduate to become chief gridiron guide at his alma mater since White Guyn had a fling at the job back about 1908, is a keen student of football as well as an inspiring leader of boys.

Since graduation he has attended coaching schools every summer except this one, when he was busy laying a foundation for better grid clubs of Kentucky, and studied the game under such teachers as the late Knute Rockne, Dick Hanley, Bo McMillin, Lou Little and Dana Bible. In all he has received instruction from more than a dozen of the country's leading coaches.

Returning this year are only 13 lettermen from what at best last year was only a fair team, and with sophomores slated for duty in a number of first and second-string berths, Kirwan is to make his bow in collegiate circles with a young and inexperienced outfit, one that will have to rely much on coaching and spirit to carry it through.

The picture, however, is not altogether dark. Other schools have lost stars from their squads, and Kentucky has, as have the others some sophomores of promise. Some of these boys may even exceed expectations. If they do, it will be just that much of a help to Kirwan and his assistants, Bernie Shively, Frank Mosely, Gene Meyers, and Joe Rupert, in their efforts to start Kentucky on the road back.

Only eight of the eleven players on the all-Kentucky high school football team last year were seniors. Of these eight, five reported for practice at Stoll field. These were Billy Black, back, of Paducah; Harry Marcum, guard, Sturgis; William Mitchell, back, of Madisonville; Alex Zachella, back, of Newport; and Bob Scholtz, end, of Louisville.

Athlete Loses Leg

William S. King, ex-student, 319 Clay, Lexington, a Wildcat basketball star in 1921 is recovering after the amputation of his right leg after having suffered from a blocked artery for over a month.

King scored the deciding point that won the first Southern Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association tournament for Kentucky in 1921.

In the final game of the tournament, Kentucky and Georgia were tied at 19-all when the regular playing time ended. However, a Kentucky player was fouled just before the gun was fired. King who was selected to try for the point made it good and Kentucky won the game.

Smokestack Is Torn Down

The old ivy-covered smokestack, 85 feet high, which had towered over the campus since 1882 has been torn down by WPA workmen. Pictures in past Kentuckians bore mute testimony to its beauty as almost every issue of the yearbook featured photographs of the old stack—in late spring when the ivy leaves made it one mass of green—in winter when patches of snow hung on its vines.

The heating plant served as the central plant for seven school buildings until it was replaced last October by the new plant that now serves the entire campus.

The structure housing the machinery of the old plant will also be razed and the ground where the plant stood will be converted into a lawn.

There are hundreds of jobs on the campus that can be performed by the athletes, such as cutting lawns, keeping the football field clean, washing windows and other such jobs.

The size of the Boosters' Club fund determines just how many athletes may participate in the fund. Thus the larger the fund the more of state's athletic talent will be attracted to the University, and the larger the athletic squads will be.

Each member of the Boosters' Club receives a Wildcat Boosters' Club membership card and button. They are also the only guests at a picture show held in the gymnasium during the week following each game in which the Wildcats participate. These movies will be of the

Numerous Changes Have Been Made On Campus Since June

Numerous changes have taken place on the University of Kentucky campus since last June.

The Alumni Office has moved from the lower level of the Administration building to its new suite of rooms in the Student Union building.

One of the largest departmental moves has been that of the botany department which formerly occupied the first floor of White hall, and is now located in the second floor of Norwood hall. Norwood hall was formerly the home of the Department of Mining Engineering which now occupies the west wing of the new engineering quadrangle. The College of Commerce now has use of the entire White hall.

Civil engineering has been moved from Pence hall to the south wing of the new engineering quadrangle, and the University Commons, heretofore housed on the third floor of McVey hall, now occupies the lower floor of the new Student Union. The University radio studios, at present housed in the east wing of the art center on Euclid avenue, will be moved to the space formerly occupied by the Commons, as soon as adjustments are made in the floor space.

The basement floor of McVey hall is being remodeled to accommodate the offices of the Kentucky Kernel. The new Kernel press, purchased last year, has been placed in what was the old boiler room in McVey hall. The faculty club rooms, formerly on the third floor of McVey, will be moved to the old Patterson residence on the campus, until recently used as a woman's building, but abandoned with the completion of the Student Union, which now houses all student activities.

"4" and "9" Will Return on 50th Anniversary

From Abroad

Dean W. S. Taylor has returned from a year's study of educational methods in England. He has resumed his duties as dean of the College of Education.

Reunion exercises in June of 1939 for classes ending in "4" and "9" will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the Alumni Association. It was on the afternoon of June 4, 1889 that sixteen graduates of the state college of Kentucky met and organized an Alumni Association by adopting a constitution and electing officers.

The first president of the Association was Dr. A. M. Peter, a graduate of 1880. Dr. Peter is connected with the Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington.

Besides Dr. Peter, there are two other officers living who were elected for service during the first year of the Association. These are G. T. Gess, '85, and C. S. Graves, '84, all of whom served on the Executive Committee.

Class lists for reunion classes of "4" and "9" will be compiled very shortly and these will be sent to respective class members. Class secretaries will soon begin to correspond with class members giving news notes about the classes and telling of developments regarding their reunion.

"Fifty Alumni Clubs by the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Association" is the slogan of the Association for this year. To date there are twenty alumni clubs in organization in Kentucky, Alabama, Georgia, New York, Illinois, Ohio, Kansas, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D. C.

The Alumni Office will be glad to offer full cooperation in organizing alumni clubs. Correspondence in regard to same is invited.

A complete list of University of Kentucky Alumni Clubs with their presidents appears on page four.

University Changes

The Department of Hygiene and Public Health, which for many years has occupied the first floor of Neville hall, has been moved into the building which at one time was the home of the chemistry department, and which, in later years, has been occupied by the College of Law. This building was vacated with the completion of the new law building and has been under the process of reconstruction for the use of the hygiene department. Dr. Lyle Croft, assistant to the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, has moved from the 4th floor of the library to the lower level of the Administration building.

With the completion of the Student Union in the spring, the University Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. moved to that building, the Y. M. C. A. vacating the second floor of Barker hall, which building also contains the Department of Military Science, thus leaving additional space for the military department. This department now occupies the whole building including the additional wing being constructed on the east end of Buell armory.

Death Claims

Merry L. Pence

Merry Lewis Pence, age 84, and professor emeritus of the University of Kentucky since 1929, died at his home at 635 Maxwellton Court, Lexington, September 13.

Professor Pence was the sole member of the graduating class of 1881 and the last person to be graduated from the old university whose buildings were located in the present Woodland park. He served as head of the physics department from 1894 until 1914.

Professor Pence was recently honored when the University Board of Trustees approved the name of "Pence hall" for the physics building.

Following his retirement July 1, 1929, he compiled a history of the University which he completed just one week before his final illness. He had been ill for four weeks prior to his death.

He is survived by his wife, the former Belle Kelly, three sons, four daughters, and two sisters.

Bob Scholtz, freshman end, is a son of Louisville's Mayor Joe Scholtz and a brother of "Ticky" Scholtz who was a member of the varsity squad for two years.
