SUMMER SCHOOL TO OPEN CLASSES JUNE 23.

The Summer School of the University of Kentucky will be in session June 23 to August 2, a period of six weeks. The work of the summer session is designed for teachers, students and persons seeking information and training. With the instruction are to be given a number of special features during the six weeks of the session. From the program of studies it will be possible to make up plan of work suitable for teachers and workers in many fields.

The entire plant of the University is available for use, including laboratories, libraries and buildings. The faculty of the University of Kentucky for the summer session of 1919 has been greatly enlarged. Work will be offered to satisfy the demands of teachers in every field of educational activity.

It is no longer necessary for the high school teachers of the State, the city superintendents and members of college faculties to leave the State for University work during the summer. The University of Kentucky is meeting the needs of the State in Agriculture, engineering and all the arts and sciences. The multiplication and standardization of the high schools, enlarged curricula of secondary schools and new aims in education demand teachers qualified in many subjects and trained in theory and practice of modern education. The summer school of the University is organized largely to supply this demand.

UNIVERSITY'S WARRIORS TO BE HIGHLY HONORED.

The committee on memorials to those who have lost their lives in the great war made a report to the Executive Committee at its last meeting stating that inquiries had been made and that a plan would be announced later. If the University of Kentucky lost any men in the Spanish-American war the records do not show it.

President McVey stated to the committee that several proposals had been made for a memorial to those who had lost their lives in the great war; that the senior class had presented a proposal to share in the memorial, and that it had already been proposed that a memorial building be erected on the campus, the building to be used for student purposes and the fund to be raised by subscription by members of the alumni and friends of the institution. He said also that it had been suggested that a campaign for raising such funds be launched in the near future.

The committee received the matter favorably and asked the president to present a detailed plan to the Board of Trustees at its next meeting. The only development in the consideration which came out at the April 1 meeting was the suggestion that the memorial be made a building, cost not estimated, for the honoring of the men of the State who fell on the field of battle, on sea or in the air, during the war.

PATTERSON GIVES $100 TO THE LIBRARY FUND.

Books for the library of the University of Kentucky will be purchased with the $100 given the institution by Dr. James K. Patterson, president emeritus of the University. The annual appropriation for the library is appointed by the library committee into varying sums for the general library fund and the various departments.

The apportionment for the present year has already been made, and it is thought that Dr. Patterson's gift will be added to the general fund. The library committee is composed of Dr. F. E. Tuttle, Dr. Glenville Terrell, Dr. J. E. Tuthill, Professor John J. Hooper, and Dr. W. S. Anderson.

OVERSEAS SERVICE MEN TO TRAIN STUDENTS.

Three army sergeants just returned from France have arrived at the University of Kentucky to assist Major Byars at R. O. T. C. headquarters in Buell Armory. Their official titles will be assistant instructors of military tactics, but some of their work will be clerical, though they will instruct the companies in more advanced military training, a work for which they were especially fitted by their experiences in France.

The three men—Charles K. Lunt, Jesse Stone and Clarence Kinney—had two years' service in France. Before enlisting Sergeant Lunt lived in Massachusetts; Sergeant Stone in Georgia and Sergeant Kinney in Indiana.

KENTUCKY HEROES ARE HONORED AT UNIVERSITY.

On Sunday, April 6, the second anniversary of the United States in the world war in which more than 2,500 Kentucky boys gave up their lives, Lexington and Fayette county by planting trees on the University of Kentucky campus paid public tribute to their sons who have joined the immortals. More than 3,000 persons including many soldiers, sailors and aviators in uniform were present.

Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill delivered the memorial address at the exercises, which were held in the afternoon at the University.

The trees, with the exception of one in honor of Colonel Roosevelt, were planted Friday in a grove about the brook which crosses the campus near Stoll Field, and are ash, elm, maple and oak, given by H. F. Hillenmeyer from his nursery. Only fifty-two were planted, but three more will be added as the names of three men not included in the list of heroes read were handed in at the close of the exercises.

A speakers' stand was erected on a knoll above the brook, and the Roosevelt oak planted directly in front of it by General Roger Williams, while Wood G. Dulap read the roll of honor of fifty-two men who made the supreme sacrifice in action or died of disease while in the service. Captain J. W. Throckmorton, a personal friend and follower of Colonel Roosevelt, made a short talk in which he paid tribute to the man and the statesman.

Chapel Overflowed.

The program began at 3 o'clock in the University chapel, which was unable to accommodate the large crowd, several hundred remaining in the corridors outside. Relatives and friends of men who will not return were present in large numbers. The Lexington Oratorio Society, formed some weeks ago as a community chorus made its first public appearance, giving the Song of the Vikings, Inflammatus, from Stabat Mater, and the Hallelujah Chorus from the Messiah, under the direction of Professor C. A. Lambert, who made a short appeal to all singers to join the society. The University band led the march to the site of the newly planted grove, where Wood Dulap, chairman of the committee on arrangements, introduced Congressman Cantrill. After his address, buglers played taps for the fallen, and the crowd dispersed.

In opening his address Congressman Cantrill said:

"As time grows on and these trees grow into splendid specimens of the forest, so will grow the fame of our heroes whom we honor here. Years will not dim the glory of their deeds. Future generations will marvel at their greatness and forever call them blessed. The Eternal God will bless them in their sleep, and their graves will be forever kept green by those who enjoy liberty through their supreme sacrifice."

In conclusion the speaker said:

"Today, while we do honor to our noble dead, let us dedicate ourselves anew to the principles of the Stars and Stripes, whose stars shine brighter than ever because of the great deeds of American boys in Europe. Let us resolve that in the future all citizens shall have a voice in our government. Let us declare today that a government of the people, for the people, by the people, shall not be a myth, but a reality. Let us pledge, one to the other, that the great deeds done by the American army and navy shall not be in vain. Let us send a prayer to our God that, as citizens of this glorious Republic, we may be as brave and as worthy as were our sons and daughters who put on the uniform of our nation and of the Salvation Army and of the great Red Cross and other wonderful organizations which brought honor and glory to our fair land and for all time gained the praise and love of mankind. Let us pray that the nations of President McVey reported to the board that the matter of a school of pharmacy discussed at a previous meeting had been under consideration and advisement and that he wished to defer definite recommendation until next year, when he would know better the financial situation and know further details of the part the institution will play in health matters in the State.

TWENTY-SEVEN PRACTICAL MINERS ENTER COURSE.

Twenty-seven practical miners have matriculated at the department of Mines and Metallurgy, College of Engineering, University of Kentucky, for the short course which opened April 1 and will continue until May 24.

Dean F. Paul Anderson of the College of Engineering has received a letter from the board of vocational education requesting the opening of a similar course for the fall. The matter will be considered and very probably the course will be offered twice a year in the future.

Miners preparing to take the mine foreman examination will find the course quite helpful in improving knowledge of technical qualifications required for mine foreman. Each man who takes the course will receive a certificate showing the subjects he has taken and the time spent in the University.

the earth will decree that there shall be no future wars.

"Then to our children, there shall be no handing

Of fates so vain, of passions so abhorred.

But peace—the peace which passes understanding

Not in our time, but in their time, Oh Lord."

"Let us not complain, but hope, work and pray for the highest and noblest ideals.

"Every voice that now complains, yet this truth shall tell, He who doeth all things, doeth all things well."
