Honors Students Have 3.38 Overall

The University Honors Program is now in its third year of operation, with a cumulative grade point average of 3.38 for 51 participating students.

Cumulative standing for participating freshmen is 3.10; sophomores, 3.47; and juniors, 3.55. Since 1961 only four honor students have had semester standings below the required 2.0, while 81 have achieved a 3.5 or better.

There are 31 women and 20 men in the Honors Program. Sixty-six are enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences, 10 in Engineering, 3 in Commerce, and 2 in Education. The most popular fields of study among the honor students are English, chemistry, electrical engineering, history, and physics.

Nearly two-thirds of the students entered the honors program at the beginning of their freshman year. Most are from Kentucky, only 13 are out-of-state students.

Some of the problems facing the Honors Program Committee are:

- How to attract more of the best Kentucky high school graduates to the program.

- How to select incoming freshmen more effectively.

- How to liberate good students from some of the stifling requirements which are generally but erroneously considered necessary.

- What to do about good, serious-minded, and perhaps brilliant students who are not good test-takers or who do not get superior grades.

- How to provide scholarships (as distinguished from grants-in-aid) based on academic achievement without regard to financial need.

The committee also recommended to the University faculty that students who have satisfied the requirements of the Honors Program have stated on their official transcripts: "Graduated in the Honors Program."

Pusheart Derby Queen Candidates

Reception To Honor Ogden Nash

Junior Panhellenic is honoring Ogden Nash with a reception in the main lounge of Kesselhof Hall following his appearance here tonight. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. Nash, a famous writer of light verse, will present a program at 8:15 p.m. in Memorial Coliseum as a part of the Central Kentucky Concert and Lecture Series. Students will be admitted by ID cards.

The program will include a recitation of a number of his verses and a comment on the turn of events in his life that caused their creation.

Mr. Nash has been making nationwide lecture tours for the past several seasons.

LKD Qualifications

Qualification tests for the Little Kentucky Derby will be held at 4 p.m. today at the Sports Center track. All teams must be present and an entrance fee of $10 for each team must be paid at this time.

University Planning New Parking System

A parking system providing eight surface lots and seven parking structures for the University community is now in planning stages. The lots and ramps will be able to accommodate 700 to 800 cars each.

Lorraine Coleman, planning commissioner for the campus, emphasized that the system is part of long range plans for the University. "The lots and the parking structures will be built as they are needed, so to have the system completely in operation will take from 15 to 20 years."

The first portions of the plan to go into effect will be some of the parking structures. Of the sites being given primary consideration, the first to be used will probably be on Rose Street across from the men's quadrangle at parking area R.

Coleman added that the second structure will most likely be built east of the Student Union Building adjoining Stoll Field. The network will function to ease the parking problem of the academic area and housing units.

The series of parking areas will be constructed to keep pace with the growth of the University. "The plan under way now is for the complete system to be geared to the needs of 20,000 students and 6,000 staff and faculty members, should the University ever reach that size," Coleman said.

Presently there is space for 2,600 cars in campus parking lots and in the service drives, such as the one circling in front of the Administration Building and the one behind White Hall. The planning commissioner said as new facilities are made available, many of the congested parking areas now being used will be taken out.

Dr. Sharp To Revisit University

Dr. Paul Sharp, president of Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio, will be in Lexington this weekend at the request of the presidential screening committee.

Dr. Sharp is one of the "five or six men still being considered" to replace resigned University President Frank G. Dickey, according to Judge James A. Sutherland, screening committee spokesman.

Interviews with other candidates will continue through May 5.

"The work of the screening committee should be completed by May 15," Judge Sutherland said.

Breathittites Accuse 'Happy' Chandler Of Ducking Debate

Campus supporters of Edward T. "Ned" Breathitt yesterday accused their A. B. "Happy" Chandler counterparts of shielding the former governor's disinclination to engage in a public TV debate with Breathitt.

Jerry Anderson, campus coordinator, UK Students for Breathitt, issued the following statement last night:

"Events of the last several days clearly establish that every action of the small student group supporting A. B. Chandler has been an effort to cover and camouflage Mr. Chandler's obvious fear of facing Ned Breathitt in a face-to-face telecast debate of the issues of the governor's primacy.

"First, we issued a debate challenge to Mr. Bill Kenton, who as Chandler's State Director of College Planning and Activities, is the top-ranking Chandler supporter on this campus. Bill Kenton declined this challenge, referring it to Jim Shuffett.

"Shuffett then issued a statement on behalf of certain, but as yet nameless, law students. Mr. Shuffett is not himself a law student, but he is a fraternity brother of Bill Kenton. It seems to us that law students should be able to speak for themselves, as should candidates.

"Next, the Chandler supporters asked the presidents of the Young Democrats to forward to us a request that a student debate be taped for telecast. This

Football Player Still Listed As Critical

By RICHARD STEVENSON, Kernel Daily Sports Editor

Giles Smith, 20, Lexington, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Giles Smith, a sophomore football player injured April 5, has made no general condition change as of yesterday, according to Dr. O. B. Murphy, team physician.

He remains unconscious and on the critical list at the University Hospital.

Smith was injured in a game-type scrimmage on April 5. He underwent surgery that night at the University Hospital.

Dr. Harvey Chenault, the attending physician, said Smith "suffered a cerebral contusion and laceration. Craniial surgery was performed with subsequent improvement noted."

Dr. O. B. Murphy, the team physician, was on the sidelines during the scrimmage. "Smith was injured in a routine game scrimmage," Dr. Murphy said. "It was noted by Coach Bradshaw that the boy was shaken up and Smith was sent to the sideline.

"At this time, he was in full control of his faculties. He was examined immediately by me on the sideline and complained of a headache. Increasing evidence of an acute head injury prompted him to be transported immediately to the emergency room of the hospital where necessary procedures were carried out."

Smith was redshirted last season and will be a sophomore, eligibility wise, next fall. During the scrimmage he was listed as the No. 2 left end.

Architects, Journalists To Meet Together

Two professions—architecture and journalism—will come face to face in a unique working conference at the University this weekend.

The Department of Architecture and the School of Journalism, through the auspices of the American Institute of Architects, have invited newspaper editors and reporters to study the role of architecture in designing and redesigning urban areas and consider how the press may relay to the public the need for planned urban renewal and development.

The opening session will begin at 9 a.m. today at Carnahan House, UK conference center. Speakers and their subjects will include Grady Clay, real estate editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, "The City and Its Crisis," Richard A. Miller, assistant dean of the College of Architecture, Columbia University, "Hard Facts of Urban Growth and Construction," Walter Shouse, director of the Kentucky State Planning and Zoning Commission, "The Impact of Control and Regulations," Jasper A. Ward, Louisville architect.

and John W. Hill, UK associate professor of architecture, "Quality Environment."

Later today, the visiting newsmen will tour sections of the UK campus and Lexington to view various types of architecture and urban and industrial development.

The Kentucky Press Association will be host for a reception at Spindletop Hall at 5 p.m. today, and a dinner meeting will be held there at 6 p.m. John Murphy, Kansas City, Mo., chairman of the AIA National Committee on Public Relations, will be the speaker.

The conferees will return to Carnahan House at 8 p.m. to prepare papers from notes made on the tour. A presentation and critique of field reports will be presented Saturday morning.

Dr. Harper Air Force To Attend To Present Honors Day

Dr. Kenneth Harper, acting dean of men, will attend the National Association of Foreign Student Advisers convention to be held April 23-26 in Pasadena, Calif.

The convention will bring together foreign student and Fullbright Program advisers from college and university campuses across the nation, as well as representatives from government departments and officers from foreign embassies.

"Cultural Dimensions of International Education" is the theme of the convention. Discussion and conferences will be held on everyday educational activities.

The purpose of the convention is to explore the behavior of the foreign student and to anticipate and to predict their attitudes.

The Honors Day review of the University Air Force ROTC Wing will be held at 8 a.m. Saturday with awards being presented to cadets who have distinguished themselves during the school year.

The event will be held on the parade field in front of the Administration Building. A reception for the honored cadets members of their family, and guests will be held in the Student Union Building after the ceremonies.

Social Whirl

By NANCY LONG

Don't you find it difficult to study these days? I know the sight of the pink dogwoods lining the walks of this lovely campus send me off into an aesthetic fit of appreciation. Consequently, all I've been doing lately is appreciating. Doesn't do a thing for the grades, does it?

This weekend appears to be quite taken up with social activities and if you really can afford to spend the time partying it should be a blast. But remember those Sunday morning guilt feelings which are likely to occur, one last weekend, not a book touched.

Spring formals are of course the most appropriate way to spend an evening lately. Of all the affairs which occur throughout the year, I would say without hesitation that the spring formal is truly the freshman woman's big time. She is in her glory, obsessed with only one thought—the collection of many, many formal favors. There lined up on her dresser are mugs of various shapes and sizes, colors and textures. On them profusely written KA, SAE, Phi Delta, or Kappa Sig. Her room glows because lamps have entered her domain with invitations to the Pike dance, the Delt Weekend or the Sigma Nu films.

As each bid for dances comes in she must be careful not to schedule two dates on the same night.

And weekend bids must be carefully thought out, as she may miss the opportunity to be at two instead of simply one.

Sororities have formals too, and they are just as enticing to the male populous. Delta Delta Delta will don flirty dresses and extravagant hairdos to make the scene at the Spring Valley Country Club tonight. Before the dance they will have dinner and then the Monarchs from Louisville will begin the evening's festivities.

The Lambda Chi Pushcart Derby begins tomorrow morning and will last up into the afternoon, with parades, pushcart races, beautiful coeds riding atop convertibles, and one popular miss selected to reign as Pushcart Derby Queen.

Kappa Kappa Gamma will be escorted in style to the Gold Room of the Lafayette Hotel, to celebrate the evening of their annual spring formal. The Monarchs from Louisville will be there to set the tempo for a grand ball.

The Army and the Air Force are merging Saturday night and forgetting competition squabbles as they travel out to Cardinal Valley Reserve Center for their annual Military Ball.

MEETINGS

Philosophy Club

The Philosophy Club will meet at 4 p.m. Friday in Room 201 of Frazier Hall. Miss Evangeline Barrett will speak on Indian Mysticism.

Cosmopolitan Club

Cosmopolitan Club will hold a meeting at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Wesley Foundation Center. All members are urged to attend.

Mortar Board

Mortar Board will have an initiation ceremony for the newly selected members at 8 a.m. Sunday. An initiation breakfast will be held at the Mural Room of the Kentuckian Hotel following the ceremony.

Westminster Fellowship

Westminster Fellowship is having a retreat this weekend at Marcumberland Presbyterian Camp. Transportation will be provided from the Center at 4 p.m. today and noon tomorrow. The retreat will last until late Sunday morning. The Wesley Foundation and Westminster Fellowship are sponsoring a picnic from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday at Bluegrass Park.

Pre-Pharmacy

A meeting of the pre-pharmacy chapter of the A. Ph. A. will be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Pharmacy Building. Officers for the coming year will be elected.

NOW YOU CAN BE YOUNGER THAN SHE IS

It is a scientific fact that girls reach emotional maturity earlier than boys. For this reason freshman girls are reluctant to make romantic alliances with freshman boys, but instead choose men from the upper classes.

Thus the freshman boys are left dateless, and many is the night the entire freshman dorm sobs itself to sleep. An equally moist situation exists among upper-class girls. With upper-class men being snapped up by freshman girls, the poor ladies of the upper class are reduced to dreary, manless evenings of Monopoly and home permanents.

It pleases me to report there is a solution for this morbid situation—indeed, a very simple solution. Why don't the two great have-not groups—the freshman boys and the upper-class girls—find solace with each other?

True, there is something of an age differential, but that need not matter. Take, for example, the case of Albert Payson Sigafos and Eustacia Vye.

Albert Payson, a freshman in sand and gravel at Vanderbilt University, was walking across the campus one day, weeping softly in his loneliness. Blinded by tears, he stumbled upon the supine form of Eustacia Vye, a senior in wicker and raffia, who was collapsed in a wretched heap on the turf.

We could build a Snowman...

"Why don't you watch where you're going, you minor youth?" said Eustacia peevishly.

"I'm sorry, lady," said Albert Payson and started to move on. But suddenly he stopped, struck by an inspiration. "Lady," he said, tugging his forelock, "don't think me forward, but I know why you're miserable. It's because you can't get a date. Well, neither can I. So why don't we date each other?"

"Surely you jest!" cried Eustacia, looking with scorn upon his tiny head and body.

"Oh, I know I'm younger than you are," said Albert Payson, "but that doesn't mean we can't find lots of fun things to do together."

"Like what?" she asked.

"Well," said Albert Payson, "we could build a Snowman."

"Bah!" said Eustacia, grinding her teeth.

"All right then," said Albert Payson, "we could go down to the pond and catch some frogs."

"Fah!" said Eustacia, snuffering her entire length.

"How about some Run-Shen-Run?" suggested Albert Payson.

"You are callow, green, and immature," said Eustacia, "and I will thank you to remove your underaged presence from mine eyes."

Sighing, Albert Payson lighted a cigarette and started away.

"Stay!" cried Eustacia.

He stayed.

"Was that a Marlboro Cigarette you just lighted?" she asked.

"What else?" said Albert Payson.

"Then you are not immature!" she exclaimed, clasping him to her clavicle. "For to smoke Marlboros is the very essence of wisdom, the height of American know-how, the incontrovertible proof that you can tell gold from brass, right from wrong, fine aged tobaccos from pale, pathetic substitutes. Albert Payson, if you will still have me, I am yours!"

"I will," he said, and did, and today they are married and run the second biggest wicker and raffia establishment in Duluth, Minnesota.

Freshman, sophomore, junior, senior—all classes, ages, types, and conditions—will enjoy mild, rich, filter-tip Marlboro—available in pack or box in every one of our fifty states.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Endorses Albright

To The Editor:

It seems to me that the Screening Committee is taking an unduly long time in their selection of a man to fill the position of President soon to be vacated by Dr. Dickey.

The Committee has instituted a wide-ranging search but, in my opinion, they have failed to examine completely the resources at hand. It seems to me they have overlooked Dr. Arnold Albright, Executive vice president of the university. This man has been in contact with the problems and needs of the University complex and knows first-hand what decisions are going to have to be made in the immediate future.

It seems unfair to the University to solicit the services of a man not acquainted with the situation. This man would not be able to step into the position and immediately take up the reins of leadership. This would only be bringing someone into a strange situation, educating him as to the problems of the University, and further delaying long needed decisions.

It doesn't speak too well of a major university that must go outside of its boundaries to find a successor to its president. If the University doesn't have anyone on its own administrative staff capable of handling the job, then what type of staff does it have? Very few major businesses have to look elsewhere for a presidential replacement, so why should the University of Kentucky have to do this?

The University needs a president immediately and needs a man who is acquainted with the University and its problems. I believe the Screening Committee will be making a grave mistake if they fail to find Dr. Dickey's replacement on their own staff.

To The Editor:

There was an error in the story by Tita White on Student Congress in the April 3 issue of the Kernel.

I did not have a year off to write the book on world politics. Moreover, in addition to myself the following members of the University faculty contributed one or more chapters:

Daniel Claster, Thomas R. Ford, Robert M. Rodes, K. M. George, Herbert N. Drennon, Max J. Wasserman, Charles W. Hultman, Leon Zolondek, and William A. Withington. I served as editor.

U.S. Expects Violence In Rhodesia

By STANLEY MEISLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials believe violence will erupt soon in the British colony of Southern Rhodesia, but they don't expect another Algeria.

All signs, officials say, point to trouble for the colony now controlled by 220,000 white settlers living among 3.6 million Africans.

The white settlers, self-governing since 1923, have demanded independence from Britain. Africans oppose independence unless control of the government is put in their hands.

"If Britain gives Southern Rhodesia independence or if the white settlers declare themselves independent," African nationalist leader Ntshabangwe Sithole said in a Washington speech last week, "then we have no alternative than to declare ourselves independent. This would mean a full-scale war."

Officials here expect African Nationalists, particularly the younger Nationalists, to use a limited number of guns, Molotov Cocktails, and plastic bombs in their fight for control of Southern Rhodesia. The state department also has received unconfirmed reports of Nationalists studying techniques of Guerrilla warfare in Tanganyika, Ghana, and Czechoslovakia.

But, for three reasons, officials say, they don't expect the full-scale war that Sithole predicted:

- The African Nationalists, more moderate than Nationalists elsewhere on the continent, have no stomach for an Algerian-type civil war.

- Power lies with the white settlers, who could use 35,000 police and reserves, and a 14,000-man army to quell an uprising.

- African Nationalists could not count on a flow of arms across Southern Rhodesia's borders: The colony is bounded by South Africa, Portuguese Mozambique, British Bechuanaland—all sure to oppose any African Nationalist uprising — and Northern Rhodesia.

Kenneth Kaunda, an advocate of non-violent resistance, is the probable first prime minister of independence-bound Northern Rhodesia. Even if he changed his views about violence, he probably would not risk antagonizing Britain during negotiations for independence.

Nevertheless, officials call the situation a dangerous one. G. Menmen Williams, Assistant Secretary of State for African affairs, reportedly now spends more time on this problem than any other one.

The problem reached a head recently when Britain, in effect, approved the breakup of the federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland. This federation comprises Southern Rhodesia, Northern Rhodesia, and Nyasaland, and African Nationalists long have opposed it, seeing it as no more than a device to put all three British territories under the control of Southern Rhodesia's white settlers.

Africans now control the politics of Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia and have won the promise of independence. Once independent, they have pledged, they will secede from the federation.

The whites in Southern Rhodesia have countered by demanding independence themselves if Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland leave the federation. The whites picture themselves as no different from the American colonists who declared their independence from Britain in 1776.

Officials here say the United States is trying to convince Britain to use all its resources—moral influence, financial pressure, nominal control over defense—to make sure that Southern Rhodesia does not gain independence without iron-clad guarantees that there will be eventual African control of the government.

In addition, officials say, the United States is encouraging both Britain and the Southern Rhodesian white settlers to use the good offices of U.N. Secretary General U Thant in ironing out the problem.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"OH, THE GORRA GOONS ARE ALWAYS ON TIME — BUT SOMETIMES THEY SEEM A LITTLE TOO EAGER."

To Future Angry Men

Male students working toward a bachelor of science degree in education should sit up and take notice of an article entitled "The Angry Young Men In Teaching" in the February issue of the NEA Journal. The article, which deals with the financial difficulties of the men teachers in America is enough to cause serious doubts in the minds of young men who intend to support their families on the salaries they will earn as public school teachers.

However, the aim of the article was not to scare prospective young male teachers away from the profession, but to show the need for improving the financial situation of teachers so that the men of the profession will not be forced to leave it in favor of better paying jobs.

According to the article, almost 50 percent of the male teachers in America are forced to have part-time jobs in order to provide their families with the necessities of food, clothing and modest housing. The article showed the predicament of the male teacher by quoting several young teachers that were struggling with the problem of supporting a family on their limited salary.

One teacher said, "Let me get down to the miserable facts. I earn $5,575 on paper. This glorious figure boils down to $320 take-home pay per month. This is a little less than $75 per week.

It could be argued that $320 isn't too bad a salary for 9 months work and that many make much less. However, consider the investment that a professional teacher has made in himself and the frustration that would develop because he sees those with less education or no more education getting paid higher salaries.

The STAR heartily agrees with the article in the NEA Journal, but feels that it does not belong in a professional magazine of the teaching profession, but belongs before the general public. It is the general public that will have to be reached before improvement can be made in the teacher's salary. Until then it is obvious there will continue to be angry young men in teaching.

Chamber Music Group To Present Quartet

The University Chamber Music Society will present the LaSalle Quartet Monday at 8:15 p.m. in Memorial Hall.

The concert is as follows: Quartet in D Minor, K. 421—Mozart. Quartet, Opus No. 3—Alban Berg. Quartet in B-flat Major, Opus 67—Brahms.

The concert is open to the public and there is no admission charge to University students.

'Center Day' Planned On Campus

All sophomores at Ashland Center who intend to continue their schooling on the main campus of UK next fall may participate in "Center Day" activities on the Lexington campus during the weekend of April 20.

The purpose of this event is to orientate students from the seven UK extensions to the main campus and its activities in anticipation of their entering campus life next fall.

The weekend will be held during the Little Kentucky Derby Weekend. Activities for the visiting students will include an orientation program Friday evening, a dance, concert, all-star basketball game, and the derby's bicycle races Saturday afternoon.

'The Apothecary' Closes Season

Students To Give Opera

The University of Kentucky Opera Workshop will present "The Apothecary" by Haydn tonight and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Laboratory Theatre of the Fine Arts Building.

"The Apothecary," a comic opera, deals with Sempronio, the elderly apothecary, anxious to marry his pretty young ward, Grilletta. She is in love with Mengone, Volpino, also in love with Grilletta, conceals a fantastic plot to get Sempronio out of the way. In the end, both Sempronio and Volpino are foiled and Grilletta and Mengone are happily united.

The cast for the opera, directed by Phyllis Jenness, assistant professor of music, is as follows: Sempronio, an apothecary, Wayland Rogers; Grilletta, his ward, Dianne Davidson; Mengone, apprentice to Sempronio, Mike Sells; Volpino, a rich young dandy, Celia Butler; and pianists, Nancy Dodson for tonight's performance and Alice Ebenbaur for Saturday's performance.

This will be the last Opera Workshop presentation of the season. The public is invited and there is no admission charge.

Spindletop Elects Officers

All present officers of Spindletop Hall, University faculty-staff-alumni club, were re-elected Wednesday by the board of directors for the coming year.

They are: Dr. Frank D. Peterson, president; Dr. Morris Scheraga, vice president; R. W. Wild, secretary; and Clay Maupin, treasurer.

The board also authorized construction of two additional tennis courts, lights for the parking lot, and employment of a recreation supervisor for the summer.

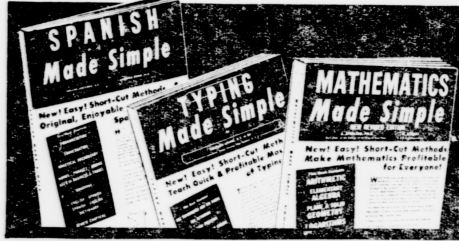

Three resignations and 56 applications for membership were accepted. Membership was closed at 1,363 and a new waiting list will be started.

Textile Speech

Dr. Louisa Bellinger, curator of the Textile Museum in Washington, D.C., will speak on "The Bible as a Source Book for the Study of Textiles" at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Laboratory Theatre of the Fine Arts Building. The public is invited to attend.

TIPS ON TOGS
By "LINK"

TIME — To simmer down — the wing-ding in Florida is over and the market on "Alka-Seltzer" took a sharp rise. Welcome back, and I hope you had a real blast!

SPRING — Brings not only flowers, rain and soft winds, but spring also brings various formal affairs. When you receive your first formal invitation of the season, will you be prepared with the correct attire and accessories? Remember, there is no substitute for formal wear. Either you are correctly dressed for the occasion, or you are not. Haxe just received a fresh supply of those little pamphlets by "After Six" entitled "Going Formal?", which answers a lot of questions on the subject. If you desire one of these pamphlets, just contact me at the store by mail, phone or in person. They are free and I will be happy to help or service. If you are planning a wedding one of these will be a great help if you are planning a wedding you will need help!

TIED — Of looking just like every one else at a formal dance? Then try one of the new designs, jackets of pastel shades by "After Six," or one of the richly elegant "Batik" patterns. They will dispel your good taste, and at the same time set you apart from the herd.

SOCIAL NOTE — "Red Eye" is back in town!

ANSWER — To a phone call from P.S.D. — The proper shoe for formal wear is of course the plain black formal shoe, however if you do not have a pair, and do not feel like putting out the bread for a pair — wear the plainest black you have. No Bass — Strictly out! Plain black loafers are now accepted (highly polished, of course).

BIG COLOR — In dress shirt — "Banana" — Easy to wear with so many other shades. I think you will like — I know I do.

SEER SUCKER — Sport coats are refreshingly new, and are very comfortable in warm weather plus being darn good-looking.

NEW BELT — Treatment — Wide belts are the IN belts with them on the fashion or trend Merry-Go-Round. These belts can be found in solid leather or Madras with leather trim. Also in Seer-sucker with or without leather trim and don't forget the horsehair buckle!

WANT — A pair of sharp dress pants that really fit? — OK. Ask for "Slim Trim" the new conception in design — Low rise, tapered legs.

WHO — Made the "Steve Allen" show on T.V. wearing a U. of U. sweat shirt at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.?

2 NFL Stars Suspended For Betting

National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle has cracked down on betting by NFL players. Louisville's Paul Hornung, of the champion Green Bay Packers, and Alex Karras, of Chicago's Bears, drew indefinite suspensions and five others were fined $2,000.

"I made a terrible mistake," Hornung said in a written statement in Louisville Wednesday.

The two suspended players appear to be taking the suspensions differently, Hornung. "I am truly sorry, what else is there to say?"

Karras, meanwhile, said, "I haven't done anything I'm ashamed of and I am not guilty of anything." Asked if he planned any protest, he said, "I sure do."

Hornung, when asked about appealing, said, "I do not plan to appeal (the commissioner's decision). I have told Mr. Rozelle the truth. His decision is something I must accept. . . ."

"Football meant so much to me, and I guess I let a lot of people down. But I'm glad I told the truth. I feel very sorry for a lot of people who supported me—the people, the players, coach. I let a lot of people down."

"I made strictly sporting wagers, maybe four bets one season, 10 another, at $100 or $200."

The 220-pound, 6-foot-2½ Hornung said he doesn't know what his future plans are right now.

"I'm still wondering what to do. I'll wait, let the clouds clear, and see what happens. . . . I can only hope and pray that next year the suspension will be lifted."

Karras was suspended for betting from $50 to $100 on games and for associating with people described by Detroit police as "known hoodlums."

Detroit players fined for placing $50 bets were guard John Gordy, defensive back Gary Lowe, middle linebacker Joe Schmidt, linebacker Wayne Walker, and defensive end Sam Williams.

They bet on Green Bay to beat the New York Giants last December in the championship game. The Packers won.

The Detroit club was fined because coach George Wilson failed to forward to proper authorities reports by Detroit police "of certain associations by members of the Detroit team" and because unauthorized individuals were permitted to sit on the Lions' bench.

No evidence was found, said

Rozelle, that any of the players suspended or fined bet against their own teams, sold information to gamblers, shaved points, or ever gave less than his best in playing any game.

However, he added, his long investigation provided clear evidence that some of the players knowingly associated with undesirable, bet on their own teams to win, and were too free in giving information about their teams to friends.

Their conduct and attitude "will have a bearing on the matter if I choose to consider lifting their suspensions after the 1963 season," he said.

The American Football League and the Canadian Football League announced they will honor the action taken by the NFL and not attempt to sign Hornung or Karras.

Hornung said he didn't think he'd take the chance of playing in those leagues if he could because "I want to play with the Packers in the National Football League."

"They (the players) were aware that they were violating their contracts. They all acknowledge it. Each year I visit all of the 14 clubs and talk to the players. A key point in my talk is about gambling and undesirable associates."

"The suspensions were indefinite, instead of specific, because I did not think it was in the best interests of the league to set any positive period."

Track Squad To Host Vanderbilt Saturday UK Golf Team Wins Pair; Remains Undefeated At Home

The University of Kentucky track thimble play host to the Vanderbilt University here Saturday in a duel meet.

The meet will mark the first SEC duel meet of the new track campaign for the Cats. Coach Bob Johnson will send a force of only twelve participants against a much larger Vandy squad that figures to outpoint the Cats.

Coach Johnson said that the only hope of winning the meet would be to capture every first place, and that is virtually impossible.

Although the Cats are weak in personnel, their main strengths lie in the middle distance events, which include the 440 yard dash and the 880 yard run. Handling these chores are Dick Hodgetts and John Cox in the 440, and John Knapp in the 880.

Against Vandy, UK will be without a hurdler and a pole vaulter. Kentucky frosh will be competing in the vaulting event but their points will not count.

All seems dim at the present for the Wildcat harriers but a bright future appears predictable in assistant coach Press Whelan's freshmen team. The University grabbed off three of the best school boy stars in the state in Jim Gallagher, Bill Authur, and John Sears. All three will compete in the up and coming Open Federation meet at Ohio State.

Gallagher has thus far turned in a time of 1:53.8 for the 880 indoors, and after recovering from the flu has negotiated the same distance, outdoors, in 1:58.8.

Authur will compete in the 880 run at Ohio State but is a 440 runner by trade. So far he has turned in a respectable time of 49.8 for the 440.

Sears, the much talked about barefoot runner, will attempt to better his 4:21 mile mark when he competes at Ohio State.

Next year the Cats will insert a new policy as far as track is concerned. Due to the lack in number of participants, UK will compete only in major meets. In major meets it is meant that only the top individuals will participate. Some of these meets will have as many as 20 teams competing. In a meet of this type it will be quality, not quantity, that counts. This will virtually go away with the duel meets in which the Cats were being beaten, not because they didn't have top flight athletes, but because they were being outnumbered.

This does not mean that the student body and the state of Kentucky will not be seeing as Kentucky's golf team downed Western Michigan and Aquinas in simultaneous dual meets Wednesday at Tates Creek Country Club.

Dave Butler's golfers downed Aquinas, 10-8, and stopped Western Michigan, 11 1/2-3 1/2.

Don Heilman was low scorer many track meets. It means that they will be seeing some of the top track athletes in the nation in as many meets as before.

Next year in the month of May alone track fans will be able to see the Regional High School Championships, SEC Outdoor Championships, State High School Championships, and Outdoor Federation Championships. Preceding this will be the Kentucky Relays, with such track powers as Purdue, Ohio University, Pittsburgh, Indiana, Western Michigan, Bowling Green University, and Central State competing.

Coach Johnson said his harriers will "hit the circuit" next season when they participate in such top notch meets as the Federation Indoor Championships, Milwaukee Journal Relays, Boston Garden Relays, Chicago Daily News Relays, and Cleveland Relays.

But until next season rolls around Coach Johnson and Coach Whelan just hope they can hold on and turn in a respectable campaign.

DON HEILMAN

for Kentucky with a 73. Juddy Knight shot a 73. Chuck Kirk and Don Rogers fired 77s, and Smitty Hoskins and Johnny Anderson recorded 79s.

Kentucky played six individual three-point matches with Aquinas. With Aquinas tied with UK, 8-8, Johnny Anderson, as number six golfer, won the back nine and the 18-hole totals to give UK the victory, 10-8.

UK and Western Michigan only played five golfers and the Blue and White finished on top, 11 1/2-3 1/2.

Work in Europe

MORE TRAVEL GRANTS

April 19, 1963—The American Student Information Service, the only authorized placement service for American students seeking summer jobs in Europe, has increased from 1500 to 2000 the number of travel grants it will award students applying for positions in Europe.

Job openings now available in Europe include positions at factories, resorts, hospitals, farms, summer camps and in offices. Applications are received until May 31.

Interested students may write (naming your school) to Dtp. H. ASIS, 22 de la Liberté, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, for a 20-page prospectus, a complete job selection and application. Send $1 for the prospectus, handling and an airmail reply.

The first 5000 inquiries receive a $1 premium for the new student travel book, Earn, Learn and Travel in Europe.

Nursing Dean To Serve On Defense Committee

Dr. Marcia A. Duke, dean of the College of Nursing, is serving a three year appointment to a Defense Department advisory committee.

Dr. Duke was appointed to the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services (DACOWITS) by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara in March. "I don't know why they chose me or even how they got my name," said Dr. Duke.

Dr. Duke explained that the committee would investigate the best methods of employing armed service women in the strength and defense of our nation. DACOWITS is a 50 woman committee that advises the Department of Defense.

"Each woman on the committee will serve as an individual apart from their professional interests," said Dr. Duke. She said that her subcommittee assignments were in medical services and professional education.

Sunday Dr. Duke will attend the first committee meeting this year. DACOWITS will have a two day meeting at the United States Women Army Corps at Ft. McClean, Ala. Dr. Duke said the committee would be investigating problems applicable to all branches of the armed services.

The advisory committee is composed of 50 women chosen for outstanding contributions to professional and civic activities. An important function of the committee is to publicize the need for women in the service.

DACOWITS meets twice yearly to investigate, discuss and suggest improvements in the role of women in the armed services. "I consider membership on the committee an important responsibility and the role of women in the strength and defense of the nation a vital concern," said Dr. Duke.

Breathittites Accuse Chandler

was an obvious effort by Chandler state headquarters to find a substitute for Mr. Chandler debating Mr. Breathitt on the issues.

"When the presidents of the student body invited both candidates to engage each other in a televised debate, Mr. Breathitt readily accepted the invitation. Yet Mr. Chandler has for three days been 'unavailable for comment," despite the fact the students' telegrams requested the courtesy of an early reply.

"Finally, the two co-chairmen of the Chandler group sent a telegram to Mr. Breathitt asking of him certain questions in a thinly-veiled attempt to divert attention from their own candidates evasion of a debate on all questions.

"If the Chandler students really want a free and open discussion and debate of the issues—if they really want to receive answers to many questions in the students' minds, then let them urge their candidate to come out of hiding and face the public in a televised debate with his willing opponent.

"We have heard from Mr. Breathitt. We shall continue to await, not some diversionary tactic by students, but a reply from Mr. Chandler himself."
