ANNUAL INSPECTION OF R. O. T. C. UNIT TODAY

MANY CONTESTS AND BIG DANCE MAKE "AG" DAY

Annual Affair Has Its Greatest Success in History

PROGRAM IS GOOD

Maysville Girl Milking Champ; Succeeds M. Williams

The annual Ag Day, staged by students in the Agricultural and Home Economics department, Friday afternoon of last week, beginning at the sixth hour and ending with an invitation dance in the basketball building, which hundreds of people, including many off the campus folk, attended. Stewart Drabon was master of ceremonies, which place he has filled since the society decided many weeks ago to stage this event, and with assistance of the several chairmen and committeemen a most creditable program was carried out.

Events ranging all the way from fortune telling, in charge of Sarah Walker, for we do have Gypsies engaged in Ag since they are mule pulling contests, engaged the attention of the crowds. These events consisted of sheep steering, mule race, pulling contest for mules, fortune telling, milking contest for Home Ec. girls only, and a soy bean guessing contest that lasted the entire afternoon for which a large box of candy made by the girls of the department, was offered as a prize.

In addition to the contests, a style show in charge of Lena Marline Coates, was an outstanding feature. Dresses made by the girls were displayed by them upon a small stage constructed by them and with the help of draperies and an elaborate shawl, made an exhibit of more than passing interest. The dietetics exhibit in charge of Ritchie Stevenson, biscuit making by Virginia Newman, furniture by Eleanor Smith, table service by Emma Forkner, and nutrition, by Elizabeth Galloway, were of the greatest interest.

The work in dietetics was very elaborate and was done by the girls

FORMER U. OF K. MAN TESTS NEW EVOLUTION LAW

John T. Scopes Arrested And Held to Grand Jury

GRADUATED IN '24

Is Head of Science Department in Tenn. Hi School

Professor John T. Scopes, head of the department of science at Dayton and Rhea high schools, in Tennessee, and a member of the class of '24 of the University of Kentucky, was arrested and held over to the action of the grand jury on a charge of violating Tennessee's new law which prohibits the teaching of evolution in public schools.

Professor Scopes was brought before Magistrates C. H. Benton, Walter C. Green and W. S. Sanborn. He did not deny that he taught from a textbook which refers to evolution, but insisted that the new state law is unconstitutional. The defendant was released on bond of $1,000.

Mr. Scopes entered the University of Kentucky in the fall of 1920 as a sophomore, having entered the University of Illinois during his freshman year. While at the University of Kentucky, he majored in the science department. He also had courses in the department of Zoology and probably took the course in the evolution of animal life which was formerly taught by the joint lectures of the zoology, botany, and geology departments, which dealt strictly with the evolution of the lower forms of animal life from the single cell.

SPEAKERS' CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Brown and Simpson to Succeed Porter and Tuggle

At a regular meeting on Tuesday of this week, the members of the Student Speakers' Bureau of the university elected the following officers for the ensuing year: J. Y. Brown, president; William Simpson, vice-president and secretary. These men succeeded C. M. C. Porter as president and Kenneth Tuggle as vice-president, who will be graduated in June.

The Speakers' Bureau was organized on the campus a few years ago as a speaking agency of the university, with a primary purpose of carrying before the people of the state the work of its institution, its present demands and needs. Numerous addresses have been made before civic clubs of the various Kentucky cities this year, and a more extensive program has been planned for the coming year. The bureau hopes to be of invaluable aid to the university in promoting its interest before the convening of the 1926 legislature.

FORMER GRIDIRON STAR LEADS THE CO-EDS AT FANCY DRESS BALL

Birkett Lee Pribble Wins Prize at S. A. E. Dance For Being the Best Looking Girl on the Floor

An old man, shattered and torn by many seasons of hard work on the gridiron, made his appearance on the campus last Saturday night in a new role. Although firmly established in business, he surprised the social world as appearing as a shy young debutante. It all happened at the successful costume party, given by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, that the once great leader of men on the field tried to lead the shy young things on the dance floor. That he succeeded in this, to some extent, was evidenced by the fact that he was awarded the first prize for being the best looking girl on the floor.

While his costume was not in keeping with the rest of the party, it might be said here that it was of an ultra-fashionable type used by several of the most successful debutantes in Washington. His hose wore of the thinnest silk, which showed to good advantage his shapely calves. His dress was made of black silk lace which fitted his wonderful form like only the wildest dreams of an opium smoker could picture. His hair was really remarkable. It was patterned after the style of Venus de Milo but the Venetian used by him failed to rule the waves as it was intended to do. The hair was of a golden shade. On the whole, Mr. Zeifield himself could never hope to meet a type more pleasing to a male audience.

It can very well be said that this old Wildcat is the most versatile man who has ever been on the University of Kentucky campus. It was only last week that he took the part of "Big Fat Kleagle" on the S. O. C. float. He was commended by a great many eye-witnesses for the way in which he handled those wild savages.

His latest success is truly a case of putting into practice the principles one learns in college. If it had never been that he was in intimate contact with the co-eds, he could never have accomplished such a feat.

The Kernel congratulates you, Birkett Lee Pribble, third son of George, and hopes that your success continues.

SENIOR EXAMS TO BE MAY 18 AND 19

Does Not Conclude Attendance Upon Classes

Senior examinations take place May 18 and 19. This arrangement however does not conclude the attendance of seniors upon classes in which they are registered. Seniors must continue their attendance upon classes until May 28.

The reason for this is the registration of seniors in classes that are not composed wholly of seniors and for the further reason that the work of such classes is not completed on the date given above.

Instructors are asked to stress the importance of this notice, for students who fail to comply should know that their grades may be either lowered or cancelled.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY TO ELECT OFFICERS

Meeting Will Be in Kastle Hall on May 20

The one hundred and fourth annual meeting of the Lexington section of American Chemical Society will be held in the Chemistry lecture room at Kastle Hall at 3:45 o'clock on Wednesday, May 20.

The annual election of officers will also be held at this meeting and a program consisting of a paper on "Gels," by Dr. R. M. Maxson, and a paper on "Some Reaction in Gels" by Mr. J. K. Roberts of the graduating class.

KERNEL WILL HAVE A COMPLETE PRINTING DEPARTMENT NEXT FALL

Paper Will be Published on Its Own Press Which Will be Installed by August 15; All Equipment New

Beginning with its first issue next fall, the Kernel will be printed on its own press which will be installed in the basement of the Science building by August 15. This is the first time in the history of the paper that it has ever been printed on the campus by its own press. The decision to purchase the press was made at a recent meeting of the Kernel staff, when it decided to accept the bid made by the American Type Founders Company of Cincinnati, for the installation of a Lee press.

The Kernel owns a linotype machine of the most modern design, which was purchased last August and which is now more than half paid for. The new press and other equipment will be in the same room with the linotype machine, and the office will be laid off by an efficiency expert.

HAZARD STARTS AN ALUMNI CLUB

P. H. Neblett '09, is Elected President of Club

At last, after much talk, and many plans the alumni and former students of the University of Kentucky who live in Hazard and Perry county have been welded into the University of Kentucky Alumni Club of Hazard, Kentucky.

At 6:30 p. m. on the evening of May 9 in the main dining room of the Combs Hotel a banquet was spread. A few moments before the appointed time, old familiar faces began to put in their appearance and old acquaintances were renewed about the banquet table. There were some of the old timers from as far back as '92 and there were members of classes of the classes of the following years even to one of the class of '28. They met on common ground, the young and the old, for one purpose, to serve our Alma Mater.

The following officers were elected President, P. H. Neblett '09; Vice-President, Mrs. Mary Belle Pence Wolf '13; Treasurer, Mrs. Kathleen Osborne Roan ex-15; Secretary, C. S. Carter '23.

A list of the members follows: Denny P. Smith '33, Alice Wayne Wooten ex., P. H. Neblett '09, H. C. Faulkner, Jr. '10, Alma Faulkner '12, J. E. Wilson '13, Mrs. Mary Belle Pence Wolf '13, Mrs. Katherine Osborne Roan ex-15, Vernon Faulkner ex-15, Rogers T. Moore ex-19, Mildred Summerville '21, Minnie Jameson ex-20, M. K. Ehlen '21, J. R. Pepper '22, W. G. Bobbitt '22, Lyod Fitzgerald '22, R. L. Porter '22, C. S. Carter '23, W. H. Roll '23, Sarah Morris '24, J. F. Snyder ex-26, Marian Jefferson ex-28.

The guests of honor of the evening were the University of Kentucky Glee Club led by Professor Carl Lampert. It was just another case where Professor led his boys to victory, for without exception their concert was the best musical program that has been presented in Hazard this year. The house was filled and the Club was encored time after time. Hazard appreciates good things and we hope the Club will visit us each year.

After the concert a dance was given in the ballroom of the Combs Hotel and a chance was given the singers to get better acquainted and give the girls a treat.

Secretary Wilson of the Alumni Association was present and gave us news of other alumni clubs and an interesting talk on the progress of the University. Many of us have not yet seen the new basketball building and stadium, but we hope to witness some of these games in them this year.

Among the out of town visitors was Emory Frazer, ex-20. "Frisky" of Strother fame, is now living in Whitesburg and is mayor of his town. In an humorous talk he told among other reminiscences that he went to the University when hair cutting was legal and did not have to be bootlegged, and that he was the greenest freshman who ever stepped upon the campus. Denny P. Smith did not agree with this last statement and brought to light the fact that when he was sixteen years old his father and some neighbors had to chase him across several farms in order to catch him and put a shirt on him.

U. K. LIBRARIAN TWICE HONORED

Chosen to Mortar Board and is Library As. Official

GRADUATE TESTS EVOLUTION ACT

John T. Scopes '24 Held to Grand Jury in Tennessee

John T. Scopes '24, head of the department of science at Dayton and Rhea central high schools, was bound over to action of the grand jury May 9 on a charge of violating Tennessee's new law which prohibits the teaching of evolution in public school.

Professor Scopes was given a hearing in the courthouse at Dayton before Magistrates C. H. Benton, Walter C. Green and W. S. Sanborn. The defendant did not deny he had taught from a textbook which makes references to evolution, but insisted that the new state law is unconstitutional. He was released on bond of $1,000.

While he was a student at the University he majored in the science departments, taking advanced courses in physics, chemistry, and mathematics. He also had several courses in the department of zoology, of which Dr. W. B. Foshomer is head, and probably took the course in the evolution of animal life which was formerly taught by the joint lectures of the departments of zoology, botany and geology. This course did not teach the evolution of man, dealing strictly with the advance of the lower forms of animal and plant life from the single cell as told by the story of the rocks and the characteristics of the various phyla which indicate a common source.

In an item from the Lexington Herald, the following appears: "The work of Coopes in the physics department was so good that he was for a time a student laboratory assistant. Scopes was a regular church attendant while at the University. He was generally well liked by the faculty and student body for his honesty and sincerity in the class room and on the campus, according to a former university student said last night that he was in a number of classes with him at the University."

Particulars may be obtained from Dr. Bernard Provoost, Trinity College, Dublin, who is to visit the leading American colleges this summer in connection with the project. This will be the first summer school in the British Isles which will be organized on the American plan and for which a number of American colleges and universities have already agreed to give credit to their students.

The date for the marriage of Miss Katherine Lee Goodright to Mr. Daniel Morse, of Chester, Pa., has been set for June 4. The wedding is planned to be a quiet event and will take place at the home of Miss Goodright's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William A. McDowell, on East Main street. Only members of the two families and the most intimate friends will witness the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. George Durrett White Goodloe, of Richmond, Ky., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Dillingham Chenualt, to Mr. William Nelson Fant, of Flemingsburg. The date of the wedding has been set for June 4.

Huge bags of confetti and gay balloons which were attached overhead were showered upon the dancers during the no-breaks. Vari-colored lighting effects added to the beauty of the occasion.

Costumes of every kind and hue were in evidence. Dignified colonial dames danced to jazzy tunes with carefree dominos. Spanish señoritas tripped with Uncle Sam's sailors. Awards were made, each for the best girl's and for the best boy's costumes. Miss Margaret Hunter received the S. A. E. cost of arms as the prize for the girl, and Birkett Lee Pribble was given a Kentucky banner for the boy's. The programs, which were carried out in the fraternity colors of purple and gold, were in the shape of frolicsome clowns.

INDIANA TRIMS CATS--BRADY IS HIGH POINT MAN

Hughes Sets Record in Winning the Broad Jump

DAVIS WINS A HEAT

Kentucky's Showing, in Spite of Handicap, is Lauded

Three Indiana field records were broken last Saturday afternoon when Kentucky engaged with the University of Indiana in a dual track and field meet at Bloomington.

Brady, of Kentucky, took two first places, winning the 220 yard dash and the low hurdles for the same distance.

Davis, a Wildcat, won the 110 yard dash and two members of the Kentucky team ran two-three.

The Blue and White forfeited five points to the Indiana team by not having an entry in the mile relay.

The Hoosiers have a great quarter-miler in Captain Wallace, who ran the distance in 5:02 seconds.

Coach Applegren's track men deserve credit for the great work they did against the Western Conference school.

100 yard dash--Davis K; Hughes K; Brady K. Time :10.2. Pole vault: Woolf K; Fisher I; Anglin K. Height: 11 feet, 9 inches.

Those elected were: Elizabeth Hefferman, president; Helen Keiffer, vice-president; Mabel Hill, secretary; and Grace England, treasurer.

At this meeting they also decided to hold a track meet on Friday, May 15, in which the following events will be contested: 250 yard relay; 50 yard dash; 75 yard dash; running broad jump; standing broad jump; running high jump; a baseball game and a horse shoe pitching contest.

The first prize will be a bar pin, and second prize a silver pencil. A silver loving cup will be awarded also to the sorority or dormitory scoring the greatest number of points.

The members of the association are planning to camp at Swallows Nest on the Kentucky river the week end of May 23.

Y. M. WILL HOLD CAMP ON RIVER

"MESSIAH" CHORUS TO ORGANIZE SOON

Chorus to Meet at the Phoenix at 7:30 Monday

Persons who sang in the chorus of "The Messiah," presented April 30 in the men's gymnasium of the university, have been requested by Robert L. Brown, acting secretary, to meet in the ball room of the Phoenix hotel Monday evening, May 18, at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of forming a permanent Messiah organization.

As yet no definite plans for the organization have been made, but it is hoped that in this way the group of singers may be held together so that in the future other musicals can be given by the group.

Professor Carl Lampert, head of the department of Music, urges that all students who took part in "The Messiah" be present at this meeting and become members of the permanent organization.

FIRST CURVED BALL WAS THROWN BY W. & L. GENERAL HURLER IN 1878

Interesting Account of Victory Over Cavaliers by 12-0 Score Described in Southern Collegian of That Year

From the faded columns of the "Southern Collegian," the official newspaper of Washington and Lee in the year 1878, the following account of the annual game with the University of Virginia is found.

"Sunday we all went to church." is one of the few quotations that are worth repeating found in the article. The remainder of the day was spent in admiring the "calico," which in those days, as well as now, was the thing of most interest to students.

The introduction of curve ball pitching was made in this game by Sykes, of Washington and Lee, and so he-terized the Cavalier batsmen that they were unable to score against the Generals' fighting nine.

The following is the comment of the "Southern Collegian" upon this innovation: "The university nine played well, but the Sykes curve" was too much for them.

FRESHMAN TEAM HIKES TO "CINCY"

Tennis Artists Walk 80 Miles to Lose Net Contest

Not to be daunted by a little thing like the lack of funds, the members of the freshman tennis team hiked to Cincinnati Friday to fill an engagement with the Fort Thomas Athletic Club.

The players who headed the "call of the open road," or rather the "call of the wild," are Henry Mortimer, Carl Edberg, O. L. Steele and Irving Cohen.

LINE COACH WILL BE NAMED SOON

Negotiations Under Way For Experienced Mentor

No coach has as yet been selected to fill the position which will be vacated by C. O. Applegren, who is leaving at the expiration of the current semester, according to S. A. (Daddy) Boles, athletic director.

However, negotiations are on with a number of experienced and able coaches, and the Kernel hopes in an early issue to give some definite information as to who will be head coach Murphy's chief assistant in molding our varsity material into championship teams next year.

STROLLERS HAVE A GOOD SEASON

Students Voted to Receive Pins for Their Work

At a meeting of the Stroller staff held last Saturday in the Stroller rooms, the following were voted pins for the faithful work they have done for the Strollers: William Burks, Bob Williams, C. M. Wheeler, Dow Caldwell, Ed Munich, Henry Lee Woods, Lewis Clark, Leroy Miles, William Brock, A. J. Griffin, Willy King, Sterling Towles, Frances Kane, Elizabeth Glascock, Cecil Charles, Karl Rohs, Lloyd Terrell and Joe Hays.

This was the last meeting under the present officers and this year in Stroller circles has been a very successful one. The play has been taken to more places than formerly and the financial status of the organization is very encouraging indeed.

The purpose of this tournament is to arouse interest in golf among the students, in an effort to have golf a minor sport in a few years. At most big universities this sport is already very popular and letters are awarded to the members of the team.

All students wishing to enter the tournament will see Daddy Boles before Saturday and pay the entrance fee. Watch the bulletin boards for further announcements.

Will Discuss Placing a Tonnage Tax on Coal

The Lafferty Law Society, recently organized successor to the Henry Clay Law Society, will hold its last meeting of the year today at 7:00.

For the past few meetings the society has been resolved into a senate for the purpose of discussing, in the form of bills and resolutions, current state problems. By a very narrow vote the senate refused to pass a bill making pari-mutuel betting in the state illegal.

At the last meeting a bill for placing a tonnage tax on all coal mined within the state was up for passage. By a close vote a substitute bill was rejected, and the proponents of the bill were able to postpone a vote on the original bill until an adjournment was secured.

That bill will thus be the first in the calendar when the body convenes today. Officers recently elected for the coming year are: W. J. Moore, Manchester, president; William F. Simpson, Dry Ridge, vice-president; J. T. Simms, Mt. Olivet, treasurer; L. E. Laignart, Lexington, clerk; H. F. White, Williamsburg, sergeant at arms.

ALABAMA TAKES TWO CONTESTS FROM WILDCATS

Kentucky Loses First Game 5-4, and Second, 8-2

DERRICK IS STAR

Play University of Mississippi at Oxford Today

The Wildcat baseball team has had rough going so far on their southern trip, having lost their first two contests to Alabama at Tusculoosa by the scores of 5 to 4 and 8 to 2.

The 'cats started on their southern jaunt last Friday night, and arrived in Knoxville Saturday morning, where they went to play the University of Tennessee on the same afternoon.

But rain prevented the playing of this contest. From Knoxville they continued their journey to Tusculoosa, the home of the University of Alabama.

The first game with Alabama on Monday should have been stopped in the third or fourth inning because of rain and darkness. Kentucky led up until the ninth inning when Alabama scored two runs.

In the second game Chancellor pitched in fine style with the exception of the third and seventh innings. He received very little support from his teammates, they contributed four errors to the box score.

Pete Derrick relieved Henry in the fourth inning and he was the idol of the whole crowd. He had more pep than both teams put together, and besides catching a good game he made a nice hit.

On Wednesday and Thursday the Wildcats played Mississippi A. & M. at Starkville, Miss., and today and tomorrow they will play a two game series with the University of Mississippi at Oxford.

The men who made the trip are Coach Murphy, Captain Miller, Manager Ballantine, Henry, Derrick, Smith, Alberts, Croft, Hughes, Riffe, Vosmeyer, Chancellor, Jess Riffe, and Gregg.

First game--score by innings: Alabama ... 000 110 002 01-5 13 2 Kentucky ... 003 000 001 00-4 8 1 Batteries--Tubbs, Hutto and Chambers; Riffe and Henry.

Second game--score by innings: Alabama ... 402 000 20x-8 8 2 Kentucky ... 101 000 000-2 6 4 Batteries--Lewis and Chambers; Chancellor and Henry, Derrick.

Whee! Whee!

The Kernel is unable to restrain itself from indulging in a little patting of its own back in celebration of the considerable portion which it has just decided to contribute toward the development of the university. It is a source of much pleasure that the Kernel will have been the agency in this pronounced improvement in instruction which the department of Journalism will soon be able to give to its students.

The subject of this disquisition is the fact that at a meeting of the Kernel staff last Monday, it was decided to install, in time for use next fall, a brand new Lee flat-bed press, with a capacity of 2,000 copies an hour, along with whatever other equipment is needed to make the mechanical department of the Kernel complete, so that the paper may be published each week on the campus, and under the eyes of the students of the department of Journalism.

That is the fact, mind you, of which we write. But on top of that fact is superimposed a structure of visionary design and ethereal architecture, and it is from this superstructure that most of our pleasure in the achievement is derived. Look upon this fact, will you, and then imagine for yourself a temple above it. We have already built our imaginary castle. It is an entrancing design, as richly wrought and as stately as a Gothic cathedral, with a gargoye that laughs and laughs. And every nave in our high-vaulted fane is another achievement for the glory of the university and of the state, and every spire is an aspiration for yet more glory. Go on, now, build yourself one like that.

Honorable Conduct

This is neither a brief for an educational Utopia nor a figment of optimistic invention, woven during a vagrant wandering in the pleasant realms of Fancy. On the contrary it is a candid acceptance of a condition that is, under any analysis, deplorable; and one that is still more intolerable because it is avowedly here and now to exist.

Too often an evil is aggravated because of the existence of an attitude that continually makes excuses for it, that half-heartedly justifies its being, and completely condones its machinations. Such an evil is the condition in a school, a university erected to impart everlasting verities, that should teach manhood and honor with equal vigilance, where cheating in examinations prevails.

It is a mere truism to say that the usage of such illicit knowledge is dishonorable. It is worse than carrying coals of fire to acknowledge that a similar state of affairs has festered in Kentucky's cloisters, and has polluted the very fountains, from which the student must of necessity, drink in knowledge.

It is not the purpose of this editorial to cast the situation in its most sombre and awful colors. It is not contended that this mean, thieving, trickery is the practice of a large number of students. But just as half a score of drunken guests at a dance can give impressions that the dance is a ceremony of Bacchanalian rites, so can a few who practice cheating, bring untold disgrace and dishonor.

Before another month has elapsed, examinations will be with us again. Then, as in the past, there will be those who resort to chicanery and cheating to pass, and who barricade for themselves the road to honor and knowledge. They but live in the pallor of reflected manhood. That this condition is allowed to continue year in and year out, is indeed lamentable, but true. But it there is but one palliative. And that is the adoption of the Honor System. We are coming to it, certainly; but slow-footed time dogs our footsteps and removes the sure culmination afar. To attain it, and make the chances of cheating remote, if not impossible, the irritable tide of student opinion and student sentiment must bring it to us.

Z. T. A. HAS A TWO DAY CONVENTION

Alpha Chi Chapter is Hostess at Buffet Supper

The first convention of Delta province of Zeta Tau Alpha fraternity closed its two-day session Saturday night with a buffet supper given by Alpha Chi of the University of Kentucky, hostess chapter, to the visiting delegates and alumnae.

Every chapter in the province, which comprises the states of Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, was represented at the convention. The officers of the fraternity declared the meeting here to be a most auspicious beginning for Delta province, which has been organized only a year. At the final business session Saturday afternoon at the Phoenix hotel, the invitation of Alpha Theta chapter, of Ohio State University, to hold the next convention in 1927 there, was accepted.

Following the meeting Saturday afternoon, those attending the convention were entertained at tea by President and Mrs. McVey, at Maxwell Place.

The convention banquet was held Friday night in the palm room of the Phoenix hotel with Mrs. W. E. Davis, province president, acting as toast-mistress. The banquet table was in the form of a "Z" and a greeting in electric lights. "Alpha Chi welcomes Zeta Tau Alpha," shone from above the fireplace. Toasts to the guests were made by members of Alpha Chi chapter. The orchestra played the fraternity songs.

Y. M. AND Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The members of the Y. M. and Y. W. entertained with a delightful hay ride Monday night. The party of about fifty young people was chartered by Mr. and Mrs. Bart Peak and Dean Sarah Blanding and all enjoyed the evening spent in riding, singing, roasting winners and the other activities that go with a regular hay ride.

A vesper service was held by the Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening on the lawn in front of Patterson Hall in honor of the mothers who attend the special Mothers' Day celebration on the campus. The senior women of the university were especially invited to attend this service.

A special program was arranged and tea was served at the conclusion of the service.

The newly elected officers and cabinet of the Y. M. C. A. for the ensuing year were installed in office on Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the cabinet at 7 o'clock in the "Y" rooms.

"TO THE CO-EDS"

(Apologies to Kipling)
I've taken my fun where I've found it;
I've squirreled and I've danced in my time.
I've chased all around for a sweet-heart,
Now I'm broke, 'out even a dime.
My first was a college widow,
Next a little co-ed;
The third a good looking ledge sister,
Just like the rest, to be fed.

Now, I didn't know much about ladies,
For I hadn't been out very long;
When I caught the big freight, to Ole 'ucky State.
To find out about "Women and Song,"
Many times have I thought I'd succeeded,
Many times I was surely not right;
But from what I can gather, from most of their chatter
Beware boys,—don't take a wife.

I lassoed a young Chi Omega,
Shy as I was to begin;
Scarcely had I thrown my "blue cap"
from my dome,
Than she'd made me for my diamond
pay,
And I learned about women from her.

Next fell for a fair Kappa Delta,
A Venus with dresses so thin;
Displaying unalarm, her wonderful charms,
Believe me, she was clever as sin.

Too many men were the trouble,
Vain and unfaithful she were,
'Woud make, she would swear—
drink all she could bear.
And I learned about women from her.

Next ventured to the halls of Kappa,
A stately miss of eighteen,
She drained from my flask, every drop to the last;
Smoked everything down to long green.

She fed me a line, 'till I had to unwind
A system of Alemit she were
But disregarding her oil, she stuck entirely to Hoyle,
And I learned about women from her.

Then fell for a blue eyed maiden,
Wore the pin of Alpha Gam;
She had on her line, four more at the time,
But her lips,—made me not give a damn.

Taught me the new way of neckin';
A red hot mamma she were,
For she bit me one night, 'aft I'd turned out the light,
And I learned about women from her.

I've taken my fun where I've found it,
But now I feel that I'm done;
I've learned them from Alpha to Omega,
And I'm sure I'd never marry one.
So I'll neck 'em, pe 'em and kid 'em,
Just like they try to do me.
But 'neath the altar, I'll kiss, an old-fashioned miss,
'Twill never be a co-ed for me.

GO TO SLEEP, THE SANDMAN IS COMING

(A Springtime Lullaby)
(Copyright, 1925)

Go to sleep, my little darling;
It is night—you cannot play;
And the Sandman tells the Starlight,
And the Starlight tells the Firefly,
And the Firefly gives the signal
Lighting Sandman on his way.

He is no bigger than a twinkle;
Yet, he has two bags of dreams:
On a nice girl spreads he sweet dreams,
On the naughty spreads he bad dreams;
Then he stakes his tent to eyebrows,
Lays him down and dreams new dreams.

Now sleep, go sleep, for Sandman's coming—
Ah, he loves a little girl;
For he tells Starlight give twinkle
So the Fireflies may besprinkle
Gleams of light in brakes and bushes
So he'll not mistake our work!"

I WONDER

I wonder if there are any more
Whose spirits within them expand
and soar,
Whose minds are filled with greater things
And yet that spirit is given no wings.

There is no outlet to the soul,
No means of reaching to the goal,
Except in loving each beautiful thing
Which the path of life doth bring.

MOTHERS' DAY IS A GREAT SUCCESS

150 Guests From All Over the State Attend

The celebration of Mothers' Day, an innovation on the campus, was a decided success, mothers from all over the state attending, thoroughly enjoying the festivities prepared in their honor, and becoming better acquainted with the university and its aims.

A drive through the Blue Grass Saturday afternoon, followed by a visit to the Roman Theatre, the Art department, the Engineering college, the Home Economics department, the Practice House, and the Experiment Station and Farm opened the program. Later in the afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock, President and Mrs. McVey entertained the mothers and daughters with a tea at their home, Maxwell Place. In keeping with the spirit of Mothers' Day, Mrs. McVey's mother, Mrs. Asa Jewell, presided at the tea table. About 150 guests were present, including many out of town mothers. Saturday night from 8 to 10, the mothers and daughters were present at a reception at Patterson Hall to meet the faculty members. Sunday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, the Young Women's Christian Association of the university held a vesper service at Patterson Hall at which time Mrs. Frank L. McVey addressed the mothers and daughters present and the girls' glee club gave a group of songs. Following the service, tea was served by the Y. W. Miss Frances Lee, president of the Y. W., presiding.

The committee in charge, to whom much credit should be given for the success of the celebration, was composed of Miss Sarah Blanding, chairman, Mrs. F. L. McVey, Mrs. E. M. Giles, Mrs. Charles J. Smith, Mrs. P. P. Boyd, Mrs. W. L. Heizer, Mrs. James Carey, Misses Marguerite McLaughlin, Mary Dillake, Hopkins, Kenedy, Norma Carter, Virginia Kelley, Minnie Collins, Eugenia O'Hara, Pearl Martin, Lorena Weber, Frances Lee.

Virginia Newman "knocked 'em cold" with her biscuits and Miss Hopkins, head of Home Economics, explained that the reason they were so delicious was because Virginia accurately weighed her ingredients.

Entries for the mule race were: Midnight, Clark Walls up; Wild Streak, Holly Forkner up; Sky Rocket, Joe Taylor up; Buck Jump, Flourine Even up. Midnight came in first on the quarter mile race in 1 minute 15 seconds. In justice to Mr. Walls, it must be said that he was still astride his mount.

The mule pulling contest attracted a great deal of interest and was quite a lot of amusement. Even was en-

The dresses and clothing were designed and made by the girls of dress making and tailoring classes. Miss Gard, in charge of these courses, said this work was planned and executed solely by the girls. During the afternoon cider and doughnuts were served, in addition to Miss Newman's delicious buttered biscuits.

The sheep shearing contest had 4 entries and the result was: first, Clark Walls, 19 minutes to shear and 20 minutes to shear and tie; second, B. J. Griffin, 16 minutes to shear and 17 to shear and tie; Holly Forkner, third, 20 minutes to shear and 21 to shear and tie. Griffith was scored to seeond place because of cuts inflicted on his animals.

The milking contest was won by Miss Ritchie Stevenson, Mayville, first; M. VanCleave, Cave City, 2nd; Mary Graham Williams, Paris, third. The award was made upon 4 points: time, form, method, and amount of milk.

Miss Stevenson wrested the championship title from Miss Williams and will enjoy that distinction for a year.

F. ARMENTROUT SERIOUSLY HURT

Car Driven by Carl Hiker, Hits a Bridge Abutment

Miss Flo Armentrout, formerly of the university, was seriously injured in an automobile accident Sunday, on the Harrodsburg pike, four miles north of Danville.

Miss Armentrout was driving to Harrodsburg with Miss Hortense Lewis, Elmer Rabenstein and Carl Hiker, the latter two of Centre College, to attend church, where the father of one of Hiker's schoolmates was preaching. They were in a new Lincoln touring car belonging to Hiker.

Hiker's car struck a small car on a turn leading to a concrete bridge and glancing off struck the abutment of the bridge. Two automobiles were following Hiker's car closely and all three piled up on the bridge. The car immediately behind Hiker struck him and threw Rabenstein and Miss Lewis out on the road and then the other car struck the car behind Hiker and skidded. Rabenstein managed to land on his feet and snatched Miss Lewis out of the way of the skidding machine, saving her from serious injury.

Miss Armentrout was the only one seriously injured. She was taken to the Boyle county hospital at Danville and was found to be suffering from a deep cut on the neck and several lacerations and bruises from flying glass. Her condition Wednesday was considered improved. The other members of the party suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Miss Armentrout is the daughter of Mrs. Vance Armentrout of Frankfort. She is a graduate of the preparatory department of the Kentucky College for Women at Danville and attended the university for one year. She is a member of the Chi Omega Sorority and was very popular. She has recently been attending the University of Chicago.

Such Popularity Must Be Deserved

Sailing West to India

SINCE the days of Christopher Columbus men have felt the call to "sail due west to find India." In an organization like Westinghouse, such pioneering spirits find happy haven as research engineers. Their every thought is a question—every energy bent to discover new and more effective answers to baffling problems.

Immediately Westinghouse began to build alternating current machines of high voltages, for example, the problem of insulation became acute. For thirty-five years high voltages and insulation have formed an endless chain of problems. As voltages have been increased, improved insulation has been demanded. As insulation has been bettered, voltages have been still further increased.

One striking contribution of Westinghouse research engineers has been the perfection of an entirely new insulation material—Micarta. Possessing many of the qualities of metal, paper, fiber, mica, gum, rubber, Micarta differs in radical respect from all of these.

It serves industry indirectly as improved insulation material, and also directly because of superiorities when used for gears, propeller blades, and the like.

Only the imagination can set a limit on the field for the research engineer—or for an organization that centers around him.

SQUIRREL FOOD

The chief informs me that there is only one more issue of the Kernel. Too, too bad. For I have eighty-nine unprinted verses of doggerel and the chief insists on this column containing some prose. There is the one about the football hero and the farmer's daughter, the translation of "What Stranger, Ain't You Ne'er Heard Tell?" the one that begins "I'm quite fond of this one" "Downcast my lady sits, with eyes of flame," and so ad infinitum.

What is the use of talking? The colyum cries hungrily for prose and I must hasten.

To be accused of plagiarism is no slight thing, and that is what has happened to the Kelschief club. From one angle, it may be taken as a compliment—the idea that any of these impromptu sayings are good enough to have been published—but on the whole, we are properly insulted. The only remedy is to make Squirrel Food so dull that anyone will hesitate to accuse any living writer of having beaten us to it. So here we go.

Have I, like Frankenstein, created a monster that will eventually destroy me? Only yesterday the stranger and the chief demanded dues. Dues for the Kelschief club! After nursing it through melancholia; reading Baudelaire to it when it was temperamental; soothing it with Highland lullabies when it longed for its mountain home; placing in its library my only copy of Schreiner's Dreams—what the heck am I talking about anyway? And what is "it"? I have quite forgotten. After all this, I say, the stranger and the chief have the temerity to ask for dues.

Let them beware! Wise cracks are procurable other places than the club-room. My monograph "The Mustache—Its Erection, Organization and Demolition," would fill next week's colyum. Did that not suffice, there is yet the little treatise: "Hamburgers—400 Ways of Ordering them." To mention only one, "Name me a hamburger and christen it with meat."

As you will have perceived by this time, the club was in an unstable condition last week. There were several causes.

One of these causes was, perhaps, the house cleaning incident.

The stranger, the chief, and myself, occupy a room together in a certain house. Strange as it may seem, this house has other rooms and other young gentlemen reside therein. In their flare for the outre and bizarre, these other gallants decided to clean house. Disposing of the debris and litter that cluttered up the place bothered them for awhile, until some ingenious mind hit upon the simple expedient of piling the accumulation in our closet. (Need I say, we were out of town?) Four days later, faint murmurings were heard in the room. We hastily sank a shaft and found a freshman, pinioned under tons of clothes hangers. Fortunately, we were in time to save him. While we are on the subject, we wish to deny the report that the bones, physiologically speaking, of some member of the class of '99 were dug up. Please let's hear no more of that.

All of this house-cleaning, this tunneling, this sounding of brass and tinkling of cymbals, unnerved us. Added to that, the stranger fell in love. His affair de coeur, furthermore, had a name impossible to rhyme. Relations between the stranger and the chief were not helped any when the chief crudely asked, "Why don't you call her Slapstick Sal?" and followed the question with these two stanzas:

Slapstick Sal

Slapstick Sal was a he-man's gal,
More than six feet high,
She loved to crunch, for her daily lunch,
Limburg cheese on rye.

Onions all, both great and small,
Were grist for her molars' mill,
Now, sad to state, she has found no mate.
Do you think she ever will?

They patched up a truce a few days later when the stranger abruptly fell out of love. The reason why was because the stranger bought this record "Let Me Linger Longer in Your Arms," and took it down to his girl. He put the record on the phonograph, started it, and said, "I'm playing this for you." The girl stopped the machine, turned the record over, started to play the other side, and pointedly remarked, while gazing at the door, "I'm playing this for you." The other side is called, "That's All There Is, There Ain't No More."

The truce lasted one day. During this brief period of harmony we agreed to nominate for most deserving senior, J. Van Listerine Heppelwhite.

Because, finally, he has not asked the Kelschief club to write offhand some scintillating bon mot in his Kentuckian.

There is nothing I like better than writing by request. To my great joy, a young lady, an alumna of this institution, has requested me to publish the definite bit of hokum that she calls "11:38." Her reason for calling it "11:38," I suppose, is the fact that she was wont to hear it about that time every evening. I, myself, prefer to call it "Adventures in Imagery," or, if Elinor Glyn does not mind,
