

Sororities Release Fall Rush Order

500 Girls Expected Dean Haselden Says; TAP Goes National

"About 500 women will be out for sororities when rushing begins September 20," Miss Jane Haselden, assistant dean of women and Women's Panhellenic Association adviser, stated yesterday.

Rush lists will be divided alphabetically and each sorority will have two general teas instead of the usual one, she said, in order that sorority houses will not be crowded.

No new sororities will be installed on the campus this fall, Miss Haselden said. It had been rumored that at least one and perhaps two sororities would colonize here at that time.

TAP National

Miss Haselden also announced that Tau Alpha Phi, local sorority for girls of the Jewish faith, affiliated with Sigma Delta Tau, national Jewish sorority. The chapter will be installed at the beginning of the fall quarter.

Kappas May Rush in SUB

Members of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority have been given permission to hold rushing parties in the Carnegie music room if they do not obtain possession of their own building by September, Miss Haselden said. Possession of only two pediments in the newly purchased house at 232 East Maxwell street, is assured by that time, she said.

Other sororities will entertain rushers at their respective houses. The rush schedule as released by the Panhellenic association follows:

'I'm Pinned' Means Anything From Engagement To Hobby

From the Bee Gee News, Bowling Green, Ohio.

Your Name In News? Public Relations Men Probably Responsible

Man: a dog's best friend.

Life: We go happily about our own business and everyone else's here on the campus but many of us never stop to think how our little jokes may be taken by the frank amount of townpeople.

Being "pinned" is one of the most thrilling experiences in a college woman's life. If we are to accept the myth which every pinned couple would eventually marry and "live happily ever after."

When you see your name in the home-town paper and have no idea how it got there, you would probably be right in deciding that the University Department of Public Relations was on the job.

Always remember that your neighbors watch you closely, and that your neighbors are very particular.

It's a long and tiring journey, said an Englishman to a Scotsman as the London to Aberdeen express neared its destination.

Dr. Funkhouser Tells Another
Dr. Funkhouser told this one to his zoology class the other day, illustrating his assertion that time does not fly as fast as we think it does.

Public relations keeps in close working contact with dean and departments of the college, assisting them in the publication of articles about the activities which go on here and the writing of all stories concerning worthy achievements of students.

There is nothing in kissing once it's the second time that counts.

All joking aside, that type of female probably has a twelve room house, no husband, and a poah little daughter who has only three boys.

When an important event occurs at the University, the department is helped by many of our local and near-by metropolitan storywriters who are required to do get the story in a form to the department for a prepared copy.

The child's point of view was aptly expressed in a recent scene by a boy. "The world," he wrote "is full of people who keep on saying 'I was a boy myself once' but who never show any signs of it."

The SEA SAE was awake, probably trying to keep the campus cops from getting into trouble, and had more interesting news than I know which I think are gossip.

By J. Brown

Did you ever, in a spell of childish fancy, give vent to the notion that when you grow up you wanted to be a policeman?

If you did and you live to carry out your wish, you are in for a very interesting time, of both the good and bad variety.

So thinks Luther D. Heist, a campus "cop" for the past nine years, though he can't recall ever having uttered any childhood preference for the occupation.

Life From The Front Row "Although campus policing is a little different from duty on the regular city force, you still get to observe life from a front row seat and are in a position to do a little something about it," he observed.

Heist, one of five regular policemen who patrol the campus, two by day and three by night, believes that the student body is a better-behaved bunch than it was when he donned the blue uniform and silver star nine years ago.

Parking Is Main Problem "The main problem he has to contend with is the parking problem. This is in the form of persons parking in the summer quarters without proper stickers, parking with their stickers not showing, parking on red lines, and blocking driveways.

These are the main violations for which tickets are given. During the summer quarter, however, the issuance of tickets for parking in restricted areas without the appropriate sticker has been curtailed to some extent in favor of giving the offender warning. This has been done because summer school students were not required to buy parking stickers for their automobiles.

Stickers Not Correctly Displayed "Most of the trouble comes from people not having their stickers displayed prominently on the rear view mirror where they are supposed to be. They are invariably carried in purses or the glove compartment," Heist said.

For the information of the uninformed, the receipt of a ticket for any of these violations is merely an invitation to visit the office of Dean Jones for the purpose of paying company with one dollar.

Another violation which occurs regularly is the use of the one-way drive, which passes in front of the Administration building as a two-way thoroughfare.

"Drivers feign all sorts of innocence as well as ignorance when informed that they are going in the forbidden direction," laughed Murphy.

"Almost to a man, their reply is the same. 'How do I get out of here; when all the time it's plain as the nose on your face that they've been on the campus many times before.'"

Softball Play Resumes After Two-Day Delay

The second term of summer intramurals which includes softball only is moving along again after a dark horse named "rain clouds" entered the tournament the first two days of this week and took possession of the play. The grounds were dry enough Wednesday afternoon to continue with the round-robin tournament, and to give the players and umpire a chance to get back into arguments.

Coach Bill McCubbin has been a busy man with tennis tournaments and intramurals, and having to contend with the weather. However, he expressed the desire that "rain clouds" stay out of the contest. "By playing hard and keeping on the ball we can still get the elimination tournament played off before school is out," Coach McCubbin implied.

Although there really hasn't been enough play as yet for the spectators and prognosticators to venture predictions as to who will win, some of the teams have been showing up well and are beginning to catch the fans' attention. The games played after the two day lay-off have featured a lot of controversy between players and umpire. Hottest on the list seems to be the question of stolen bases and taking another base after an overthrow. But as usual the players found it was no use to argue with the officials.

McCubbin hopes to have the round-robin play completed by the end of next week, so the drawing can be made and elimination play started by August 19. Even then he anticipates difficulties in getting the play-off between the 11 teams in the tournament completed in one week.

TIME OUT!

The suspense is over, the decision is made, the news is out, Jimmy Jordan, twice all-American, will play basketball for the Kentucky Wildcats this fall. Jimmy, who has made all-American the last two years while playing for North Carolina sent Coach Rupp a letter stating that he planned to enter the University this fall as a freshman.

Since he was attending North Carolina as a Navy R.O.T.C. student, the demon of the hard wood is eligible for four years of college ball at the University of his choosing. Jimmy visited many schools including Kentucky and gave the matter considerable thought before making his decision.

The boy who made all-American as a guard but is rumored to be equally as good at a forward position, visited Kentucky about two weeks ago. At that time he talked with Coach Rupp and other members of the Athletic department, and even took time out to workout in the gym one day.

After seeing him work out on the court, officials knew that all they had heard about him was true. His accuracy on shot and his skill at handling the ball is uncanny. However, at that time he was still undecided, and even the news of his being here was withheld from the papers.

But the decision has been made, the suspense is over, and the news is still reverberating throughout the camp's of Kentucky's opponents as well as the nation. The nation's top basketball coaches had already picked the Wildcats to be the No. 1 team in the U.S. next year, and now there can be no doubt.

With Beard, Jones, Tingle, Campbell, Holland, Parker, and Davis returning from last year's National Invitational Championship team, and Kentucky's greats like Alex Groza, Bob Brannum, Kenny Rollins, Cliff Barker, and Rudy Yessin re-entering school to play under the guiding genius of the greatest coach in the nation, Adolph Rupp, the Wildcats are going to be hard to beat even with a 35 game schedule.

North Carolina played in the NCAA tournament in Madison Square Garden last year, and Jordan was termed one of the outstanding players of the tournament. In addition to offers from nearly every college in the country, Jimmy received several bids, but decided to further his career by playing more college ball.

Wednesday was a big day for the University in the field of sports. Besides Jordan's decision to attend Kentucky, Charlie Bill Walker, former Wildcat center, decided to turn down offers to play pro football and return to school.

Charlie Bill who stands about 6 foot two inches tall and weighs at least 200 pounds, played center on the Kentucky team in 1942. He comes from Corbin, Kentucky.

The Kentucky squad will be well supplied at center with Rhodeneyer and Kazmerski already on the roster. However, rumors have it that Coach Bryant may shift one of the three to a tackle position to help fill up this weak spot. At any rate you can bet Bryant will make the best of the opportunity.

By O. C. HALYARD

Arrangements have been made by the Athletic Association to put student books on sale to the upperclassmen who will not have registered for school in time for the first football game. The game will be with Mississippi and will be played Saturday night, September 21 before upperclassmen register for the fall quarter.

Those who want to see the game may obtain a ticket from the ticket office in Alumni gym. A deposit of $3.00 will be made by the student at the time he receives his ticket. However, he will be given a refund on sale Monday, September 16, and will be sold throughout the week. Seats will be in the regular student section. Advance student tickets will go on sale Monday, September 16, and will be sold throughout the week. Seats will be in the regular student section. Married veterans attending the University may purchase ticket books good for all home games for their wives. Books will be sold for the wives at the regular price to faculty members of $6.00. They will also be able to get tickets for the opening game.

It will be necessary, however, Mr. Coleman Smith, ticket manager, said, for them to obtain a certificate from the personnel office stating that they are married and that their wife lives in Lexington and are entitled to tickets to the game.

Those ticket books sold for veterans' wives will be paid for in full when purchased. If they are obtained in advance of the Cincinnati game, the full $6.00 must be paid at that time. The veteran will be given a receipt showing that he had paid for two books and after he has registered will be given two books in addition to his refund.

Finals In Blue Grass Tournament Scheduled For Saturday Afternoon

Quarter Finals To Be Played Today

By Hal Yard

With quarter-final and semi-finals scheduled for today's play in the first annual Blue Grass Tennis Tournament, tomorrow's action should wind up affairs. In spite of the rain, play though delayed the first part of the week, was speeded up and tournament officials still hope to complete the tourney on schedule.

Coach Bill McCubbin, tournament manager, said the co-operation of the players in trying to take care of the courts, for getting them back into shape as soon as possible after the rains. "He did a swell job of coming over early and rolling and lining the courts. All it still in the East overcast so we could keep right on playing," McCubbin added.

One of the outstanding features thus far in the tournament was the father and son exhibition match played Wednesday morning. It pitted Wilson Evans, Berea college tennis coach, and his 13 year old son, Billy, against Captain Emil Johnson and his 13 year old son, Allen, in a first rate doubles match.

The Evans combine won in straight sets of 6-0 and 6-4, but the Johnsons compelled them to play hard for every point. One of the major differences in the two teams was the fine play of little Billy Evans. The lad who seems to be following in his father's footsteps, displayed one of the smoothest and easiest strokes of anyone in the tournament.

Captain Johnson, who left at 4:30 p. m. that same afternoon for Germany, and his son jumped to an early 6-0 game lead in the first set. But the Evanses battled hard and soon had it tied up at 5 games each, then went ahead 6-5. The Johnson team, which was the challenger, quickly tied it up again at 6-6, only to have their opponents take the next two and the set at 8-6.

Both groups turned in some nice shots but Wilson and Billy got off to a 2-0 lead in the second set, and except for a 3-2 count stayed ahead to win the set and match 6-4.

Kentucky's 1946 tennis team was well represented in the tourney. The entire team with the exception of Al Reynolds, participated. Al is still in the East recovering from a strained ligament suffered while representing the Wildcats in the Eastern Intercollegiate tournament last month.

Billy Hedges drew a bye in the first round of play and overcame his opponent Gene Griffy in straight love sets in the second round. John Meyershol also won his first round match in straight love sets, and went on to defeat Charles Rankin in the second round 6-4, and 6-3. Dick Meadows ran into some tough competition in the second set until finally Johnson won who had only about 45 minutes to catch the train got the advantage and had Asbury match point. Then the captain, a true sportsman, knowing that he would be unable to continue in the tournament, walked off the court and defaulted to Asbury.

Bill Sullivan and Tom McKinley, a couple of prospective Wildcat players met in the second round and turned in some good tennis for the spectators. Sullivan fought hard and took the first set at 10-8, and continued to roll to take the next by a 6-0 count.

In the third round play Meyerholz met Asbury in a match that went three grueling sets. Asbury took the first 7-5, but dropped the next two and the match to Meyerholz by a 9-7 and a 6-4 count.

Hedges overcame his opponent, Boone, in straight sets, 6-3, and 6-1, while Sullivan advanced to the quarter-finals by defeating Buddy

Adams 6-2, and 6-1.

The quarter finals are scheduled for 10 a. m. today and will feature four matches in the Men's singles. L. J. Peterson, seeded number one in the tournament, will meet D. Beardsley; Meyerholz will play Sullivan; D. Houch is scheduled against Dan Waters; and Hedges is pitted against Wilson Evans. Berea College tennis coach, Semi-finals are scheduled for this afternoon and tomorrow morning with finals planned for Saturday afternoon.

The University of Kentucky awarded its first athletic letters in 1905.
