

JH3

Feb 23 1960

Dear Victor.

In this game of spiritual tennis I am returning the ball promptly. I have taken advantage of your kindness to make a few changes in the text which, I hope, will not be at all troublesome - ^{they} & will help, I think. Would it not be better to have no name on the title page, just a solitary title. And if need be the author's name could go in a colophon.

Bob Grioux of Farrar Straus & Giroux is here today & I will ask him about the copyright & let you know. The copyright line must be either on the title page or the reverse of the title page. Will you please ask Carolyn if the library has a book called The Secret Country - edited by John Pease Bishop, published by Macmillan in 1950? I would like it if possible -

Plans up as ever - hope it with warm up + that Spring weather will bring you here!

Faithfully in Christ

L. M. Lewis

+
3rd Last line, or 2nd last line

intelligence - change to discursive thought.