U-K WILDCATS ARE WILD WITH JOY!
They Are Equipped With
Smith Smart Football Shoes

Smith Smart Shoes for Sports—for Musti

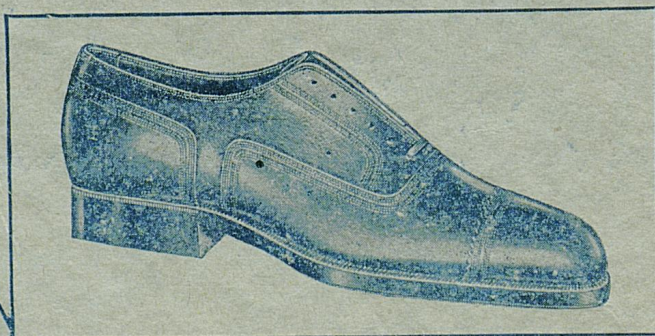

SMITH Smart Football Shoes were in use last season on the gridiron squads of more than one hundred leading colleges. Why? Because they give greater speed and surefootedness with maximum comfort and service.

SMITH Smart Shoes for street and dress are built to the same exacting standards. They are the choice of thousands of collegians because they are styled to suit discriminating taste and because they invariably stay smart.

Ask the leading dealer in town—or write us.

On, on, U. of K.,
We are right for the fight today.
Hold that ball and hit that line,
Every Wildcat star will shine,
We'll fight, fight, fight for the Blue and White.
We will roll to that goal, Varsity,
And will kick, roll and run
Till the battle is won,
And we'll bring home the victory.

PRINCIPAL CHANGES IN THE FOOTBALL RULES FOR 1926.

Change 1. What have heretofore been known as "Ground Rules" have been made to apply at the exact boundaries of the playing field.

This means that the ball becomes dead automatically (and no further play can result) whenever it crosses the side line, the side line extended, or the end line.

Change 2. A penalty of five yards (in addition to the loss of a down) is now imposed in each instance where a team makes more than one incomplete forward pass during the same series of four downs (Rule XVII, Section 4, Penalty).

Change 3. A team which has scored a safety will now put the ball in play by a kick from its own 20-yard line (Rule XIII, Section 12).

Change 4. The definition of "Crawling" (Rule VI, Section 17) has been clarified and the rule against "Piling Up" (Rule XXI, Section 3) has been strengthened so that there can be no possible excuse for further violation of either of these rules.

Change 5. Rule XXI, Section 1, has been broadened and now prohibits players on defense from striking an opponent in the face with the heel, back or side of the hand.

PENALTIES COMMONLY INFLICTED

And Ever the Twain Shall Meet Neither East nor West

NO—"There is neither East nor West, Border, nor breed, nor birth, when two strong men stand face to face tho they come from the ends of the earth;" so it is when the uncaged Kentucky Wildcat claws at the vitals of the stalwart Centre Colonel, neither geographical limitation, circumstance, nor heritage, can ever make them quit. There are too many noble traditions of unyielding spirit, too many heroic memories that inflame the imagination, to ever allow wavering to the slightest extent. For thirty years the Wildcat and the Colonel have struggled and for thirty years, quarter has been neither asked nor given.

Today's conflict is in the lap of the Gods. Old Lady Dope may rule as mistress in other realms, but today she seeks the cool sequestered vales, where blossom the forget-me-nots, each whispering one to the other from the knowledge garnered from memories storehouse, that, tho the falling of the crystal snowflake may be foretold and the seasoned flight of the winged creature of the air be certain, yet no wisdom of man can place the laurels of victory today, before the final whistle blows. The records of past conflicts teach followers of both standards that the race is not necessarily to the swift nor the battle to the strong, but that time and chance play a part today.

Down there on the green are the embattled hosts of two great Institutions, urged on by the mingled cries and exhortations of their frenzied followers. Yea Verily, they are men; Men made strong with right living and straight thinking; men who would give if they could, more than life, for their Alma Maters; men who know no baffling circumstance and acknowledge no hereditary limitation, for nothing else matters now—the fight is on. Down there, there is no past, there is no future, but there is a —NOW— with ten yards to go and four downs to make it, and then another chance for the coveted goal. There are eleven hearts beating with a common impulse, eleven minds inflamed with a common purpose, and eleven spirits blended in a common cause.

Former heroes look on today, serene and confident that those to whom they handed the torch will not break faith. The mystic screen that shades the present from the past cannot prevent the flitting form of Bo McMillan from cavorting about the field, nor stop the flaming figure of Red Doc Rhodes or the phantom face of Black Doc as it streaks past the white chalk lines. The Centre mind harks back to the massive power of a Roberts or the frenzied fury of a Weaver, while lingers in the memory of Kentucky lasting brilliance of a Tracy and a Kirwan.

The day will soon be done, it won't be long now, the Classic Combat will soon be closed, the sun will go down in the crimson West, and with it the hopes of the one, while flaunting aloft in spotless victory, will be the banners of the other. Which-ever side wins, one thing is certain, today's is a relentless struggle, where nothing left from hell to sky can ever make them quit. All honor to the men who play the game, making their heart and nerve and sinew serve their turn long after they are gone, both on the gridiron and in life's broad arena, forgetting not; that,

"When the one great scorer
Comes to write against your name,
He marks not that you won or lost,
But how you played the game."

OLD CENTRE SONG

Old Centre marches ever on,
On to victory and to glory
Loud cheers ring out, Huzzahs resound
To proclaim the same old story,
Ever bold, as of old, guard her honor,
On the field, never yield; win her Fame.

(Chorus)

For Centre, now be bold;
The Gold and White unfold,
Our heads we bare, our pledge we renew,
Old Centre, we'll be true.
Our hearts hold true, our muscle tense
When the foe's stern charges thwart her.
Outshine before us days of old
And our lives for her we'd barter,
O'er the field gleams her shield as a beacon;
From the crowd comes the loud, loyal cheer:
