Old Grads Will Roam the Campus Again During Commencement Week

By BETTY HULETT, '30

The class reunions at the University of Kentucky this year promise to be the best yet. A very attractive program has been arranged by the committee and a copy was sent to each member of the classes that hold their reunions in June.

The festivities begin with the senior ball on Tuesday night, June 2, at 9:30. This event will be held in the men's gym and is always a delightful affair. Last year many alumni returned in time to entertain the returning alumni with a dance at 10:30 at the LaFayette hotel. Here you will meet your old friends, dance with your old flames or crushes, and have a general get-together and good time.

Thursday morning at 9:00 o'clock, registration will be held in the Administration building. All of you remember the old main building. There will be no trouble such as we encountered last year attend the ball and pronounced it a great success.

Headed by Ex-president G. Davis Buckner, these alumni marched down the hill in last year's Commencement parade—We hope many more will return for this year's exercises and join old grads in another march.

Wednesday night at 8:00 o'clock, the Guignol theatre will present a play. The Guignol productions have met with very favorable criticism in Lexington and the university theatre is the scene of constant activity and enjoyment. This play is being given principally for the returning alumni, so that they, too, may enjoy the dramatic abilities and talents of the students.

After the play, the Lexington Alumni club will when we had the registration in the new McVey hall. (Man alums never found their way over to it.)

After registration, you will be free to make a tour of the campus and note the many changes, visit your professors in their various buildings, or do just as you please for an hour. At 10:30, you will attend the class day exercises in beautiful new Memorial hall.

Noon and recess will find you pairing off into the old groups you had in college. You may have either small group luncheons or class luncheons. Some of the classes are planning to meet in a body and have lunch together. I think this is a very delightful plan.

At 4 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, President and Mrs. McVey will entertain the alumni with a tea at Maxwell Place. These teas have been a part of the reunion plan for several years and have always been one of the highlights of the program.

Seven o'clock will find us at the Lafayette hotel again where we will have our Alumni class banquets in the ball room. There will be speeches by members of the various classes. We are keeping the names of the speakers a secret so that you may have a surprise. (Perhaps some of the wives will be surprised, too, at the secrets that may be revealed).

of Trustees of the university to the alumni, the guests of the university, and the members of the graduating class, at the University Commons in McVey hall. Tickets must be reserved by June 1, 1931. If you have not returned the slip enclosed in the last letter sent out from this office, please do so as soon as possible so that we may reserve your ticket.

After luncheon there will be a short business meeting of the Alumni Association.

This will conclude the program for the 1931 class reunion. We have planned every detail with your pleasure utmost in our minds and we are sure that our efforts will meet with your approval.

We are waiting to greet you and give you a hearty welcome when you return in June. Please do not disappoint us.

Alumni who gathered at Doctor and Mrs. McVey's tea during 1930 Class Reunion. The president and his wife will be our hostesses again this year. N1805-A Friday morning at 9:30 the alumni will meet in front of the president's home to take part in the commencement procession. The first year of class reunions saw only two alumni in this procession. Last year we had nearly five hundred. This year we are expecting many more. Space has been allotted for 800 graduates and we are sure that we will need all of that space. We will march to the university gymnasium where we will attend the Commencement exercises of the 1931 class.

At 12:30 o'clock, you will be expected to go to the complimentary luncheon given by the Board

GREATER CINCINNATI CLUB

The Greater Cincinnati club was host to the junior engineers on their recent tour of inspection while they were in Cincinnati.

Following a delightful banquet at the Cincinnati club, at which was L. K. Frankel, president of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association was the principal speaker, a dance was held. Seniors from the six high schools close to Cincinnati were guests. E. E. Elsey, secretary of the Cincinnati club, acted as toastmaster and introduced the speaker and several members of the Cincinnati club.

EDITORIALS

TIME, MONEY, AND ATHLETICS

DO ALL football men in all colleges have to work their way through school? If so, why are they not allowed to really work rather than make a farce of the idea? Stop calling on alumni and alumni organizations over the country to finance "positions" for the athletes, while others who have a purpose in school are struggling to make their expenses in really hard work.

If it is necessary that athletes work in order to attend school then it should be necessary that they do a reasonable amount of scholastic work and if they are not capable of doing all three things, that is, athletics, work, and class preparation, then some provision where athletic contests can be played for the sport of the affair and not as a business engaged in by boys who give all their time to the game and then are given jobs in name only, must be made.

We all love the sports in which college teams engage, and there we find true, yet clean rivalry, and we want every effort made to turn out teams that will represent the school in a credible manner. However, we do feel that alumni who support the teams in rooting and buying tickets should be spared the embarrassment and financial responsibility of giving money to help boys, who if they were allowed the time they were not engaged in the preparation of class material and on the athletic court, to help themselves, would be able to help themselves, our college sports would get less of the unkindly criticism that has been cast at them of late.

Athletics have become a principal factor in college curriculums, but is it so important a factor that those participating have to give all of their time to them, and so important that interested citizens and alumni have to furnish cash to supply "positions for those who neglect the main purpose of attending college?

Furthermore, the work in all cases is not justly or evenly distributed, and many who are really deserving and who do give a great deal of their time and energy to athletics are neglected to the benefit of some more highly touted high school athlete who, in many cases, do not need assistance of any kind to get a college education.

If merchants are asked to furnish jobs, alumni money, and the athletes to neglect their own opportunities in favor of strenuous practice sessions the entire year around, then justice in distributing of these places should be established, and all needed information obtained before these boys enter school so that the mistake of getting men to college for athletic purposes and promising this and that, and finally finding out that they are not capable and usurp a place that a very valuable man should have, can be stopped.

Again, play when it is time to play, study to obtain all the information possible, and really work to help yourself and not depend on some interested one to send you to school. Can athletes not do this and are not the athletic authorities willing to help rather than hinder the chances of the college man?

COMMENCEMENT

THE whole of the campus is taking on its coat of green, shrubs and flowers are throwing out their gayest colors, giving the old school a welcoming attitude. Not only is the campus making arrangements for the spring exercises, commencement and class reunions, but the faculty and local alumni are planning many interesting minutes for the returning grads.

Two years ago when the system of class reunions was first inaugurated, over four hundred alumni attended the commencement program. This year the third year of our get-togethers, we hope that many more of our ever swelling ranks will return to renew old acquaintances and make new ones.

It is to be hoped that the class of 1931 will have a large delegation of alumni on June the fifth to welcome them into this association of ours. We can do much for the school to which we owe allegiance, and, one thing that will do much for it as well as give you no end of pleasure, is to be on hand when degrees are conferred this year.

ANOTHER BAD POLICY

WE ARE so encouraged by the response to the editorials we have written in the past in regard to football and its place in the college curriculum that we dare still another in this very issue.

Word is out on the campus as to who will play football at the university next fall, for the invitations to the various men who are wanted are out. These men have worked hard for the opportunity of trying to make the football team of next year, many of them spending as long as seven or eight months in their training. Congratulations to the lucky ones who have been invited to give more of their time and energy to the trying-out for the gridiron team.

To the ones that were not invited back for the great opportunity of next fall, all we can say is that we are sorry that you will not be given the chance even though you are out just for the love of the sport. The time will come, we hope, when you can come out and play for the sport even though you won't get to be a regular. It is not probable that college sports will remain so commercialized as to have to be invited to play.

KENTUCKY ALUMNUS

UNIVERSITY TO OFFER 247 SUMMER COURSES

The six colleges of the University of Kentucky and the graduate school will offer a total of 247 courses for the first term of the 1931 summer session which opens June 15.

The courses in each department are numbered in the university catalogue which may be obtained by writing to the director of the summer session at the university.

The university residence halls will be open for the summer session and rooms in both boys' and girls' dormitories may be obtained by writing to the dean of men and the dean of women for reservations.

The first term of the University of Kentucky summer session will close July 18 and the second term will open July 20 and continue through August 22. Approximately 176 courses will be given during the second term following which the second summer school commencement in the history of the university will be held.

The first hour for classes will open at 7 o'clock during the summer session and the fifth hour, which immediately follows the lunch hour, will begin at 1:30. Each period will be one hour and 15 minutes in duration, and classes will be held six days a week.

August 21 is the day set for the summer school commencement, at which time students who have become candidates for degrees at the close of either term of the summer session will be included in the graduating class.

PLANS ARE MADE FOR PATERSON MEMORIAL

Plans are being formulated for the erection of a monument to James K. Patterson, who for many years was president of the university, according to C. N. Manning, president of the Security Trust company. The memorial will be placed on the university campus, although the exact site has not been determined.

No plans have been made concerning the type of monument to be used or the sculptor to be employed. The personnel of the committee in charge of plans is as follows: Dr. Frank L. McVey, Miss H. Pollitt, instructor in Eastern State Teachers' College; Walter K. Patterson; Rodman Wiley, Alexander Bonnyman of Knoxville, Tenn., an alumnus of this school, and C. N. Manning of Lexington.

Although no steps have been taken by the committee concerning the sculptor to be employed, Charles Henry Niehans has been suggested. His works are well known to Lexington people, since he is the sculptor of the Goebel monument at Frankfort, as well as the statues of Henry Clay and Dr. Ephrim McDowell in Statuary hall. The latter two statues were finished two years ago by the sculptor. According to Mr. Manning, work on the plans has been temporarily postponed due to the fact that the chairman of the committee in charge is now in Europe.

HISTORY CLUB HEARS ADDRESS BY ROTHERT

An address by Otto A. Rothert on sources of materials for the writing of a history of any Kentucky country was the principal feature of the April meeting of the History club, in the old Education building. William Trott, president of the club, presided.

Mr. Rothert, is secretary of the Filson club, an organization for the collection and preservation of documents and relics relating to the history of Kentucky, with headquarters at Louisville. He is the author of a history of Muhlenberg county and of other historical works. In addition to his discussion of sources of materials for histories, Mr. Rothert gave personal advice to members of the History club who are planning to write histories of their native counties.

ALICE BRUNER ELECTED MAY QUEEN

Following a week of campus politics, high-pressure salesmanship, bill posting and ballyhoo, Miss Alice Bruner, Louisville, Delta Delta Delta, yesterday was elected Queen of the May for the annual exercises which were held Friday afternoon, May 1. Miss Numia Lee Fouts was chosen Maid of Honor, and Misses Ruth Wehle, Virginia Young, Katherine Drury, and Mary Adair were selected as attendants.

Men students of the university cast 728 votes in the election, which was conducted by SuKy circle, student pep organization of the university. Ballot boxes were placed in the Administration building and in Dicker hall with three members of the organization acting as election officers at each polling place.—Kentucky Kernel.

LANG AND EWING RECEIVE AWARDS

Miss Alice Lang, Delta Delta Delta sorority, Lexington, and Miss Elizabeth Ann Ewing, Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, of Louisville, were awarded the outstanding freshman and junior awards at the annual co-ed banquet given at the Phoenix hotel by the Women's Administration council of the university.

The Women's Student Government Association prize of $100 for the most outstanding junior woman on the campus was awarded to Miss Ewing and the Alpha Gamma Delta cup for the most outstanding freshman woman was awarded to Miss Lang.

CLEVELAND CLUB

I trust I am not too late with our bit of news this time. Time has slipped by so fast since I wrote last.

Our annual spring dinner-dance held at the Allerton hotel on Saturday, April 18th, was a very enjoyable affair. Of course our Akron friends helped make the affair a success.

At present we are planning for our next meeting which will be a bridge supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Harrison, 334 Merriman road, Akron, Ohio. Since the alumni at Akron have been so faithful in attending the meetings in Cleveland, we are endeavoring to have a large delegation from Cleveland present.

The following no doubt will be of interest to friends of the parties named:

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Day are welcoming a new daughter into their home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Preston White are also entertaining a three-weeks old daughter.

You see the old stork has been busy with the Kentucky crowd lately.

BUFFALO ALUMNI CLUB

The Buffalo Alumni club held its regular monthly meeting today at the Hotel Markeen.

The principal business of the meeting was a discussion of the inspection trip and entertainment of the Senior Engineers while they are in Buffalo next month. The following committee was appointed to take care of all arrangements and entertainment: Roger Hhornton, Dell Ramsey, and John Gudgel. We hope to have a great time while the boys are here, and are looking forward to their coming.

Fourteen members and three guests were present today. The guests were Mr. Gayton Postlewife from Swarthmore, Mr. Gerald Ranson of University of Pennsylvania, and Mr. H. D. Wilson of Louisiana State. Mr. Wilson has been adopted by our club and will be considered no longer a guest.

I noticed in the last "Kentuckian" that someone is terribly mixed up on the Buffalo officers. It really doesn't make any difference, but for the sake of any correspondence that we might get, I will give you the correct addresses.

President—Mr. John W. Gudgel, 149 Highland Ave., Buffalo.

Vice-President—Mr. Dell Ramsey, Hamburg, N.Y.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. Claude W. Daniel, 149 Highland Ave., Buffalo.

We will hold one more meeting this spring before giving way to summer and golf so you will hear from me once more.

CLAUDE W. DANIEL, Sec'y.-Treas.

Contemporaneous with the history of Kentucky from the beginning

THE PHOENIX HOTEL witnessed the birth and has observed the growth of the UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY from its cradle to the magnificent institution of today.

THE PHOENIX HOTEL was the meeting place of Students and Faculty who comprised the initial class of 1865 and has been the meeting place of Students and Faculty and Alumni continuously since that time.

TRADITION means much. It is altogether probable that every living Alumnus of the thousands of University of Kentucky students of each class since 1865 possess many happy memories of the Phoenix Hotel.

THE PHOENIX HOTEL congratulates the class of 1930 and will strive to merit their confidence through the years to come.

Commencement Time at Kentucky

June—the month of roses and brides and class reunions! It won't be long now until that class secretary will be writing you an intriguing invitation to attend the reunion of your class and we want you to be prepared—and ready to come home.

The commencement week program will be held the first week in June, and the classes of '81, '91, '01, '11, 1921, and '29 and those of 1886, '96, '06, '16, and '26 are to be the special homecoming classes for this year. All other classes, however, are invited to send as many representatives as possible, and it is hoped that there will be a general representation at the alumni banquet during commencement week.

Special plans are under way to make this reunion the biggest and best yet, and include individual class luncheons, the alumni banquet, the alumni parade in the commencement procession and various other functions including the luncheon following commencement in honor of the alumni and the graduating class.

Kentucky is always beautiful to a Kentuckian, but June is the heyday of Kentucky and you who long to glimpse the old campus, the ivied walls of the old buildings and the shining walls of the new, should plan to make this homecoming your own, and return with your classmates to visit the old haunts and renew old ties.

Dr. G. Davis Buckner, former president of the Alumni Association, and Mr. Leon K. Frankel, the new president, are working together in an effort to present a prominent "old grad" as the principal speaker at the annual banquet. According to present arrangements this banquet will be the highlight of the homecoming program and you will be the loser if you don't come back!
