

CLEARING HOUSE

They Mean Business

Dropped in at a meeting of the house committee for the Student Union building yesterday when they were discussing house rules and methods of preventing gambling, drinking cigarettes on the floor and the other things that a few continue to do. The committee means business, and more power to it. Approximately 30 men standing were ejected from the building on Tuesday for gambling.

If they continue to infringe on the rules, the lock-out will be permanent. Leonard Carr, president of the governing board, and the members of the board and sub-committee, expressed appreciation for the excellent attitude of the majority of students at the opening and since then.

The Swimming Pool

The mail box was full this week and we're making an effort to include all contributions. For example, as a member of the swimming team, I was very much interested in your Clearing House discussion concerning a swimming pool in the Student Union building. Your arguments against such a thing are sound, and might even be valid. The Institute for the Blind, director of the building is also factually correct in his statement that no one does know that Felix Murray, assistant to Mr. Shropshire, served as the team's very efficient manager during the past year. For the swimming team to be the last in all this agitation about a swimming pool in the Union building, they would be the last to be taking the hand that feeds us?

To Be Continued

Nevertheless, we remain the last. We are not a very efficient organization. We got us the Union building; why not a swimming pool? A fine structure, properly landscaped, would be a help to the University. A swimming pool is something that all students use, and that all students certainly are a part of. It is certainly a part of our outstanding college quality. I believe that a drive similar to that being obtained funds for the Union building would bring in just as favorable results. What does the student body think?—H. H.

That question will be asked again at the beginning of next semester.

Call For Faculty Opinion

At last, at last! I admit I am a layman when it comes to newspaper policy, etc. But I have been inspired by an article in the Friday Kernel to submit this to the committee. The article to which I refer appeared under the name of Walter and covered an interview with Dr. Henry Vandenberg. If I may say so in a literal and figurative sense, the most interesting to appear in the Kernel in many a day is that it is not a very often to bring out. It's not very often to see a body leader who has our faculty stands on various problems of national and world interest. This article agrees with my own opinion coming from learned men in the several fields of education that are so interesting to me. It is the most interesting to appear in the Kernel in many a day. I am sure that it is a very practical if you embarked on a program of "sounding out the faculty" in a similar manner. I should like to read your opinion on this.—B. L.

Will It Have Appeal?

We are very glad that someone else feels as we do about the need for interest in world affairs. Although this semester has slipped by without any definite action, next semester's Kernel will either carry a series of features similar to the one mentioned or perhaps a column of similar views on national, state-wide or world importance.

Questions of Rules

"Perhaps you can explain what occurred to me as one of the most interesting rules. I refer to the rule regarding the Student Union constitution which reads: 'Women shall remove their hats while attending classes in the building.' Now who in the name of common sense said a woman wear a hat to a dance if she wants to? What are they trying to do, start a fashion, a tradition, or a riot? Seriously... I'm happy about the whole thing. A few well chosen rules are fine but when it comes to dictating whether a woman shall wear a hat or not, I think that is going too far!—C. P.

Signer Efforts

In spite of the apparent uselessness of the above rule, we happen to know that the constitutional committee was not trying to dictate anything. They worked hard and for months on that constitution and have provided in the constitution for doing away with superfluous rules. Thanks for the information which they will probably take it up soon.

House is Cleared

The editorial staff wishes to state here and now that it had nothing to do with the clearing house. The space left for actual news. In the case of the abundance of news, we did not do it to our sorrow. We had a fine letter from George Leason, our kind words about the 16-page edition, Ravens and Calling Ed. AUTHENTIC FASHIONS FOR MEN

Calling 'Em Wild

By JOE CREASON

WITH this issue the Kernel comes to you for the last time this year under regular management and inasmuch that on next Tuesday the presses will be resigned to the Seniors for a final chance to face the music and dance, in preparation for the first athletic refreshment on card for next fall, football, let's conjure up a time replete spirit or so and parade the grid year 1937-38 back across the pages for a final resume, add this to the prospects for the coming campaign and see what appears.
The incident that will appear 1937-38 to be scrawled into the football annual in indelible ink came soon after the Christmas holidays. As an aftermath to the disappointing football fortunes, the resignations of Leo Cocher Tom German and End Coach Porter Grant were placed on the desk of the Athletic Council and were accepted. Whether these resignations came as a result of intra-coaching staff prompting or threats, as was hinted, or from disquiet over the season, possibly will be never known, but the action ignited a flame which burned the office chairs from under the existing athletic formation and in its stead left new faces.
Now, The Record
Moving the scene back to the time in September when the students picked up the class burdens, we find the football team prepping for the opening start with Vanderbill. A trip to water logged Nashville netted the AC's a 12-0 spanking from the Commodores, featuring the work of two sophomore backs. A slippery ball added to the Cat woes as both teams played ragged ball. Still on alien turf, Kentucky eked over a touchdown to defeat Xavier by 6-0. With some embarrassment we remember the invasion of Georgia Tech onto Stoll field, where they had never won a game, to ring up the local curtain and the ensuing 32-0 sting inflicted by the Yellow Jackets. Then the Washington and Lee Generals were lacerated by a pack of infuriated Wildcat's as Bob Davis hauled the leather across into pay dirt in every conceivable manner. Kentucky fired the shot heard round the football world in their next appearance by felling Manhattan's Stoll 12-0 in the upset of the day. This contest marked the Blue pinnacle of the year.
Then Down
With the mercury running a temperature of 85 degrees under Turkish bath environment, the Cat's were throttled by Alabama 41-0 as practically the entire starting lineup was prostrated by sun exposure. With great pride we recollect how the Cat's recoiled from the Crimson Tide onslaught and plucked the South Carolina Game Coeks by 27-7, in a contest that showed the true fighting spirit of the squad. The win was dimmed when Daingeron Davis was massaged too strenuously in one play and was ferris away for a two months visit to the hospital. The scene shifts Eastward and we see Kentucky slowly sinking into a sea of mud beneath the onslaught of Boston College, who won by 12-0. The seasons high mark in custom-ers, praying for an upset, saw, as did we, the last home stand dwarfed as Tennessee walked across to score twice for a 12-0 victory. The season was curtailed in Florida on the short end of a 6-0 score.
Coming Up
Now with a shiny, new untested De-Luxe model grid machine awaiting us for next fall's Saturday enjoyment, let's look over the schedule which is ours for a page from the student book.
September 24—Maryville—here.
October 1—Oglethorpe—here.
October 8—Vanderbill—here.
October 15—Washington and Lee here.
October 22—Xavier—there.
October 29—Alabama—here.
November 5—Georgia Tech—there.
November 12—Clemson—here.
November 24—Tennessee—there.
Darkhorse Team
The team that will open the nine game schedule next September 24 against the Mountain-Boys from Maryville, customary trial horse, will be of definite question mark calibre. Coach Kirwan and all connected with the team have asked that students and fans be patient and not expect too great things from next years assembly. It takes any coach a certain length of time to instill his style of play into his candidates and to blend the characteristics which are his to the traits of his men. Speculation runs amuck over the possibilities of the new team, but practically all are agreed that the team will be, in some degree, better able to care for itself than was its big brother of last year.

Outside agencies have extended their necks and propitiated as to the success, or in their implications, the failure of next years batch of Wildcat's. The consensus of opinion is that a season of four wins should be considered the height of ambitions. While certainly not envisioning any Bowl excursions for the Blues, this seems to be an extremely pessimistic stand to assume. True—Bob Davis, Joe Hagan, Joe Boose, Wendell Skagge, Duck Waddlington, and Dick Robinson, all regulars in '37, join the ex-Cats. But coming up from last seasons froth, considered the best in several years, will be capable men, enough to clog any position two deep. Agreed—they're inexperienced. But what about the line and backfield assets left from last years squad, many of whom had little to show their wares? And didn't the spring drills indicate anything cheering? Old timers called the practice the best they ever seen locally. Mix these ingredients with the new air that permeates Stoll field and it makes a mighty tempting cocktail.

Kentucky's new dawn in football may not be next fall, or three years from now, but its coming. Coaches with the determination, ability, and ambition of Kirwan and troupe, supplied with material of which Kentucky abounds, will succeed, in order to hasten this success co-operation of the student body, alumni and University friends is vital. And so until next September, when possibly you may tune in again. From this column, 15--397.

80 MILES AN HOUR!

Engineer Bob Sharpe, of the 20th Century Limited, gives his slant on the question asked by Russell Thompson: "Are all cigarettes alike?"

"I've always thought that cigarettes were more or less alike, Mr. Sharpe. What's your slant on that point?"

"All cigarettes alike? Not on your life, Mr. Thompson. There's a long list of differences in Camels—extra mildness—natural taste—the greater pleasure I get—the fact that Camels don't give me jittery nerves. I've been smoking Camels over 20 years. And I've found that Camels agree with me—in many ways. From what I see, more of the boys in railroading are pretty much of the same opinion. Camels set me right!"

More and more, one smoker tells another: "Camels agree with me!" Experienced smokers know Camels are the cigarette made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOES—Turkish and Domestic.
