Amato edges Pettit; recount requested

MUNICIPAL COURT Judge James Amato tallied 20,397 votes in Tuesday's mayoral election to narrowly defeat Mayor H. Foster Pettit by 112 votes.

The final official tally, including all 135 precincts and 456 absentee ballots, was announced Wednesday afternoon following day-long tabulating by election officials. Pettit later said he will file a request sometime today for a recount of the voting.

Pettit notched 20,285 votes, receiving 255 of the absentee ballots. Amato received 210 absentee votes. After the machine totals were compiled, Pettit would have needed 70 per cent of the absentee votes to win the election.

THE MAYORAL RACE was the highlight of the election, first in the history of the merged city-county governments. Also elected was the Urban County Council, consisting of 12 district representatives and three at-large members.

In a news conference following the 3:30 p.m. announcement, Amato said the large turnout of voters—40,682 out of some 71,804 registered voters—is indicative of the interest by the voters and the fact campaign issues were well-publicized.

He attributed the success of his campaign to good organization and the substantial number of workers on his side. At one time over 1,000 paid and volunteer workers were involved in his campaign, Amato noted.

THERE WERE NO apparent harsh feelings between the two candidates as far as Amato was concerned, and he said he will seek advice from Pettit concerning the transition to the new form of government.

Amato said the campaign was one of the "best ever waged." He cited the fact that he was opposing an incumbent and had no previous governmental experience besides the judicial branch as obstacles he overcame to win the election.

The mayor-elect said he will evaluate the city's financial condition upon taking office Jan. 1 to determine the feasibility of reducing taxes, a major issue in the campaign.

● WASHINGTON—The United States and Egypt have agreed in principle to resume diplomatic relations "at an early date," the White House announced today.

The joint announcement made in Washington and Cairo came at a time when Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and Egypt's President Anwar Sadat were holding meetings in an effort to achieve a permanent peace in the Middle East.

The White House said it was agreed that two ambassadors will be exchanged promptly.

● WASHINGTON — The testimony of a presidential aide Wednesday raised a question of whether part of yet a third White House Watergate tape may be missing or nonexistent.

The testimony followed notification to U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica that President Nixon's personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods, will testify at a hearing into a White House claim that two crucial presidential conversations on Watergate went unrecorded.

Sirica had summoned Miss Woods to appear.

● WASHINGTON — Sen. George D. Aiken, the senior member of the Senate, said today that Congress should impeach President Nixon "or get off his back."

"We were elected to legislate and to hold the President and his administration accountable for their action," the Vermont Republican said in a speech prepared for the Senate, his first definitive remarks on the Watergate scandal.

● WASHINGTON—Federal Judge John J. Sirica today denied various motions by six of the original Watergate defendants for new trials or withdrawal of guilty pleas and set Friday morning for their sentencing.

The six are James W. McCord Jr., E. Howard Hunt, Bernard L. Barker, Eugenio Martinez, Virgilio Gonzalez and Frank A. Sturgis.

● LOUISVILLE, Ky.—A leading opponent of annual legislative sessions said Wednesday that if advocates try to put the question on the ballot again before 1978, it will be challenged in court.

● SAIGON—More than 50 South Vietnamese fighter-bombers blasted military targets around the Viet Cong administrative capital of Loc Ninh Wednesday in the heaviest air blitz since the cease-fire, the Saigon military command announced.

The raid was called a punitive action retaliating for recent Viet Cong attacks.

● WASHINGTON — President Nixon said Wednesday night he has "no intention of walking away" from the presidency despite some demands that he resign.

Departing from his prepared text in a broadcast speech to the nation on energy policy, he said he would take every action to remove any doubts the American people may have of his personal integrity.

...misty plays for us

Light rain is expected today with a high in the upper 50s. Rain will end tonight as a clearing trend moves through with a low in the mid 30s. Partly cloudy and mild weather is forecast for Friday.

Election marred

Lexington's recent election, highlighted by the closest mayoral contest in the city's history, was marred on the campus when several citizens were turned away from the polls because of improper registrations.

UK's Student Government, one of several campus groups to sponsor reregistration programs for members of the community, admits as many as 50 persons may have been turned away because of SG mistakes.

Only a few students have aired complaints so far and they said at the time of registration SG workers insured them the forms were complete. In all known cases, only a fact or two was left off the form. Yet without explanation, county officials declared the forms invalid.

David Mucci, SG administrative assistant and coordinator of the program, said the omission of sex and age information was the main reason for invalid forms. "We tried to go over them when they were turned in, but it is awful hard to get to everyone."

SG secretary Judy McClain said, "The ones where sex and status were omitted I filled in myself, for some I knew, but others were thrown away."

Both of the statements point to irresponsibility on the part of SG. By taking 500 forms to the County Clerk's office minutes before the deadline Sept. 24, the organization again shirked its duty to those who trusted the program.

Sure it's hard to check 500 forms in one sitting, but when an organization commits itself to a project of such magnitude, work shouldn't end until every thing has been properly completed. Throwing away incomplete forms was the worst of SG's several errors.

In Louisville, for example, one woman who failed to list her age (but admitted she was "over 21") was allowed to vote. The State Board of Elections anticipated trouble this year and made a special effort to allow everyone with a reasonable excuse for improper registration the opportunity to vote.

The inexcusable actions of SG negated this system and unjustifiably denied some citizens of a constitutional right.

This was one project where it took more than the thought to count, and SG failed miserably.

Acupuncture not magic

WASHINGTON — In Jing Nuan Wu's house there is a plastic model of a man in which all the acupuncture points are shown with their numbers. Jing points out that in classic Chinese medicine the acupuncture points have names rather than numbers and that the names suggest both how the human body works and how it is affected by outside forces.

This model, however, was manufactured by the modern Chinese who, like us Occidentals, tend to regard acupuncture as a technical procedure and not as an aspect of a system of medicine which is grounded on both a philosophical and ethical view of the world. "The idea is getting rapid results," says Wu, who is resigned to the fact that medicine as the art of healing the individual may not be possible within the economics of the two vast mass societies on either end of the Pacific Ocean.

WE'RE SO accustomed to defining medicine as tricks performed in the operating room or the production-line dissemination of chemicals that it takes a strong wrench of the mind to imagine there might be a completely different and better way. Because it is so different and because it is ancient and Chinese the temptation is to treat it as magic exotica.

In fact, Jing is a 40-year-old Harvard graduate who has lived most of his life in the United States, speaks English perfectly and has already had a long career as a businessman, an American businessman, so there is no need to listen to him through mysterious walls of cultural separation. As a man of both civilizations he has the vocabulary to talk to his fellow American countrymen if we don't mesmerize ourselves with Coleridge-like dreams.

Wu turned to the study and practice of Chinese medicine and philosophy when his business and private life went boom. "It was so traumatic, it was like dying." To get himself back together he went back into his own heritage, something he, as a sort of Jungian, advises others to do. In the course of his studies he learned that there is a lot more to acupuncture than sticking amazing needles into people to stop pain. It is part of a much larger system of therapeutics and health maintenance, for, as Wu puts it, "The goal of this medicine is to live 100 years with all of our faculties and in good health."

THE SYSTEM IS largely unknown because in China Wu says the classic books on medicine are largely ignored for political reasons; in the West almost nothing is known because they haven't been translated. That's what Wu is doing now, translating a text that is dated about 500 B.C., although it is believed to be a transcription of discourses of the Yellow Emperor, who flourished 2,000 years earlier and whose wife, Wu says, taught the Chinese how to make silk.

The title of this book, "The Spiritual Pivot," gives a clue as to how Wu regards acupuncture. "What is acupuncture? It's just a little wound," explains Wu, who believes the art was first discovered and perfected in war during the Neolithic age. "The names of the first needles then were the lance, the bayonette and the sword, and, classically, they were made of flint and were called stone probes. Wounding the body, of course, is to put it under great stress, but in acupuncture we do it to put it in balance. We're trying to balance stress."

A human being can put himself under stress in many ways: by the wrong diet, by living in a way that violates his own nature or that of others, by going to extremes, by living contrary to the spirit of one's time. And here you get into ethics. "Each person is responsible for his sickness," Wu says, elaborating that "It's like the Old Testament: If you do wrong, you're going to get sick. Of course, the Chinese had no religion in the Western sense. They had no sin, but the thing that was closest to sin was sickness."

Sure enough, voting problems touch him

By LESTER J. WAHNER

As I picked up Tuesday's Kernel and read the headline "No vote today for some students", I wondered why.

I didn't stop to read it then, however, because I was between classes, so I just glanced it over and noticed that 50 students could not vote in the election. Then I thought to myself that the way my day was going, I was probably one of them. And, sure enough, I was.

I READ THE article again and again, and each time I became more and more infuriated, for I distinctly remembered registering in the Commons. I also remembered asking the people at the registration table if they required any more information, and they told me it was all there.

Also, there were two other people present at the time who knew me. One heard me ask if the registration card was complete and the other actually saw the card.

The first person, Tom Willis, doesn't remember too much about the incident, but the second person, Babs Oller, took the card and looked at it. I got in contact with Babs and she confirmed what I knew all along—that my registration card was not missing any information.

YET I READ that the cards thrown out were missing information. I know that mine wasn't and that the people at the table were taking responsibility for notifying me of any perceived error at present or in the future.

Another point is that the errors were not recorded on a list. I can't help thinking how convenient this is for them. Now no one will know, but I do know. I remember and so does someone else. That is two people who know about one of 50 destroyed voter registration cards; two more people than anyone responsible for this incident would like to see.

This brings me to the crux of the matter: who is responsible?

I'M NOT GOING to say the entire system is bad and that it never works, for these are emotional generalities. Rather, what has happened to me and 50 others is an error, a very serious error, in the system.

There exists the possibility that the other 50 may have had mistakes on their cards, but why were they not made aware of it at the time and place of registration, or later when the errors were discovered? Why is it that 40 to 50 registration cards were destroyed without at least notifying those directly concerned? Why were no records kept of the errors? Is it because they were students and it really didn't matter?

It matters to me. I want further evidence that there was missing information. Since all I have to worry about is my card, I can be sure about that. But can Ms. J. McLain and the registration personnel honestly say that the great number of cards which passed through their hands that day were carefully checked?

THERE ARE MANY more questions I could raise, but I think the important thing is what can and should be done to prevent this from happening again.

First, it should be initiated into law, if need be, that no voter registration card submitted with a name, phone number or address be destroyed without first notifying the party concerned.

Second, there should be set down, also in law if need be, the responsibilities of those aiding in registration, in order that one may know just who, if anyone, was irresponsible.

THIRD, THE voter should receive a carbon copy for his personal verification. There exists a multitude of other points which need updating or modification.

In a way, good can come from this experience. If government acts, this bureaucratic inefficiency can be eliminated or prevented from happening on such a large scale. Such action will also help destroy apathy generated by such bureaucratic evils.

Nation has forgotten much of its history

By MARJORIE HERBERT

In three years we celebrate the bicentennial of our nation's beginning, but it seems that we have forgotten a substantial amount of history. We've become hazy in our recollection of what brought about that bloody birth.

Samuel Adams in the pre-Revolutionary war years wrote to a friend, "It is to be feared that the people will become so accustomed to bondage as to forget they were ever free."

That danger of forgetfulness is very real now. We are so flooded with news—news of capers and compromises, scandals, firings, new appointments, resignations, indictments, investigations that we are overwhelmed with the complexity of current events. Things are happening so fast and so many different threads of investigation are being followed that it is difficult to say which are the core issues and crucial actions.

I think that the Nixon administration is banking heavily on that confusion. Our President wants us to feel that things are indeed very complicated so that he can be the one to make them perfectly clear. But I urge you to note at least the quantity of accusations of corruption.

Have we become so confused and forgetful that we no longer remember our President's oath of office? "I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States and will, to the best of my ability preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States." Richard Nixon has not kept that oath and therefore, I submit, should be impeached.

Impeachment is a process by which fitness for office is determined. Article 2, section 4 of our Constitution provides a method for removing the President from office by impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors. The process is one where the House of Representatives by a majority vote drafts an impeachment resolution and the Senate presides at a trial of impeachment. It is not a criminal trial, and judgment consists of removal from office.

Judge Story of the Supreme Court said, "Impeachment is a political proceeding to secure the state against gross misdemeanors." Legal history shows there is a well settled definition for high crimes and misdemeanors—it traditionally has meant serious misconduct in office or a serious violation of the law. Grounds for impeachment do not necessarily include a criminally indictable offense.

Now we ask, has President Nixon been guilty of a serious violation of the law or serious misconduct? First, Mr. Nixon controls the bulk of evidence as to violations of law, and until an independent prosecution is completed that question must remain open. But let us look at allegations based on exposed or public actions of the Nixon administration.

—Usurpation of the Constitutionally founded war making powers of Congress in the bombing of neutral Cambodia. The chief executive deliberately concealed the bombing from Congress and the American people and has announced he would do so again under similar circumstances.

—The President established within the White House a personal secret police (the Plumbers) operating outside the restraints of law, which engaged in criminal acts including burglaries, warrantless wiretaps, espionage and perjury.

—The President and his closest aides developed the "Huston Plan" for domestic political surveillance and espionage by such methods as burglary, wiretapping, mail covers, and military spying on civilians. These methods of political surveillance were employed against dissenters, political opponents, news reporters and government employees.

—The President and his aides employed governmental powers to harass and punish critics of his administration regarded by them as "enemies".

—The President and his aides interfered with a free press through the use of wiretaps, FBI investigations and threats of criminal prosecution.

—The President secretly recorded conversations in his own office without advising the participants.

—The President and a principal aide offered a high federal post to the presiding judge during the Daniel Ellsberg trial, and for a prolonged period, withheld from the court knowledge of the burglary of the office of Dr. Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

—The President has perverted or attempted to pervert the operation of various federal agencies including the Department of Justice, the National Security Council, the Secret Service, the State Department, the Defense Department, and the Central Intelligence Agency by engaging them in political surveillance and in the falsification of information made available to Congress and the American people.

—The President has chosen to obstruct the Watergate and other investigations being carried on by the Special Prosecutor by withholding or denying access to crucial evidence even to the point of firing the Prosecutor and threatening to defy a court order.

The recent announcement of compliance with the court order is supposed to defuse the impeachment movement, but if one stops to think, it is only a small part of a very ugly picture. And even that compliance occurred because of the firestorm of impeachment threats.

While "obediently" turning over the tapes, President Nixon has for the time being sealed off a much more widespread and potentially damning realm of investigation and evidence by firing Archibald Cox, the unfettered special Prosecutor he promised the American people.

The Nixon administration is decimated by appointees facing criminal charges and the air is thick with charges about the ITT affair, the milk deal, the grain deal, and secret contributions.

Don't we have the right to demand that this man be held accountable? Is it not appropriate that his fitness for office be examined? Even if the President is personally innocent of many corrupt activities, how can this be known if there is no impeachment proceedings? What right does Mr. Nixon have to ask the American people to simply trust him?

If we accept this era of corruption as just "politics" or the natural state of affairs for a huge powerful nation, we have truly forgotten our heritage.

Richard Nixon has three years left of a term in office; by 1976 there may not be much to celebrate. I urge you to think of our nation's past and your personal responsibility in determining what will be in the future. Our Congress will not act unless we as individual citizens express our desire for impeachment proceedings. Let us take a stand for public accountability, for democratic Constitutional government, for a government of laws and not of men.

Marjorie Herbert is a second year law student.

Vote tallies completed in urban council, state races

By RON MITCHELL
Kernel Staff Writer

Fifteen Urban County Council members—12 from various districts, three from the county at-large—were confirmed winners Wednesday after official tabulation of all 135 precincts was completed.

Winners in the unusually close races included two state-members on Pettit's "Four for Progress" team in the at-large race. The at-large tallies do not include the 456 absentee ballots while the individual district totals take in the machine totals and absentee ballot results.

SCOTTY BAESLER led all council members with a 19,228 total, designating him as mayor pro-tem. William Hoskins and J. Farra Van Meter, Four for Progress slaters, captured the other two at-large seats. Hoskins had 18,508 votes and Van Meter tallied 17,970.

The other Pettit team members, Doc Ferrell, ranked fourth out of the six candidates. He received 17,510 votes.

In campus-area district races, Pam Miller and Joe Jasper were successful. Miller defeated George Summers 1,747 to 1,533 in the fourth district. Jasper narrowly defeated William Bingham by 11 votes, 561 to 550, to capture the third district seat.

In the 12th district state senatorial election, Joe Graves defeated William McCann 13,265 to 11,269. Graves, currently state representative from the 79th district, is a Republican, McCann a Democrat.

Democrats William Kenton and Tom Ward were unopposed in the 75th state legislative and 30th state senate districts. Larry Hopkins won the 78th legislative district over Spencer Noe and Democrat Don Stephens defeated Republican Gene Cravens in the 79th.

FINAL tabulation of the votes will be completed early today when election officials tally the absentee votes. The absentee ballots had been counted only for the mayoral and 12 Urban County Council district races. Counting was scheduled to resume at 9 a.m.

It was noted that no races can be affected by the outstanding absentee ballots as the winning margins are too substantial.

Pettit will file request for election recount

"IF I FORESEE a surplus in the budget, that will indicate if the city is bringing in more than we are spending. In that case I would look at reducing taxes," he added.

During the campaign Amato continuously denounced Pettit for not lifting a payroll tax imposed after his opponent took office two years ago. The tax was designed to relieve the city of a budget deficit incurred by the previous administration.

Pettit maintained he was waiting to examine the financial condition of the new government before he took any action on the tax.

THE FIRST TASK of the new mayor will be to organize the other council members and educate them on the workings of government. He added that he might resign his current post to organize the new government and will begin work on the budget immediately.

Pettit attributed his loss to the extensive advertising campaign waged by Amato and said the tax issue was probably the deciding factor.

He said he is "obviously disappointed" at the outcome and will request a canvass. He would not comment on reports that he will contest the election due to alleged election infractions.

Congress overrides presidential veto

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON—Congress handed President Nixon a major defeat Wednesday by enacting into law over his veto its historic bill to curb presidents' war powers.

The 60-day limit on presidents' power to commit U.S. combat troops abroad without Congress' approval became law immediately when the Senate overrode the veto.

THE SENATE vote was 75 to 18, or 13 more than required.

The House overrode the veto hours earlier 284 to 135, four more than the two-thirds needed.

The war powers bill was opposed on the final vote by a coalition of President Nixon's supporters and antiwar congressmen who contended it would grant presidents new power to wage war up to 60 days without congressional approval.

SEN. THOMAS F. EAGLETON, D-Mo., called the bill "blank-check authority to carry us into war" and said Nixon could use it immediately if he wanted to send U.S. combat troops into the Middle East.

But Senate Armed Services Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said the bill was never intended to restrict presidents' war powers but instead require that Congress share the burden of committing Americans to war.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., urged that the Senate get "not so caught up in the hysteria of Watergate" as to enact the war powers bill "to kick the President while he is down."

CONGRESS' OVERRIDE of the President's veto was its first in nine tries this year and the fifth since Nixon became President.

After the House vote, President Nixon issued a statement saying it "seriously undermines this nation's ability to act decisively and convincingly in times of international crisis."

The confidence of American allies could be diminished, he said, and "our potential adversaries may be encouraged to engage in future acts of international mischief."

INSPIRED BY the Vietnam war, the bill was intended to prevent the United States from becoming involved in such a conflict without Congress' specific approval. Many congressmen switched from their traditional positions.

Nixon vetoed the bill two weeks ago, calling its curbs on presidential war powers "both unconstitutional and dangerous."

He particularly criticized two sections:

The first requires a president to withdraw any U.S. combat forces he commits abroad on his own after 60 days unless Congress votes approval of the commitment by then.

THE PRESIDENT, however, could extend that period another 30 days if he told Congress in writing the time was needed to safely withdraw the forces he had committed.

The second provides that Congress can halt the war commitment any time during the 60 or 90 days with a simple House-Senate concurrent resolution not subject to a president's veto.

Debris will speak tonight on political prisoners

Jean-Pierre Debris, a French citizen imprisoned two years in Saigon for antiwar activities, will visit Lexington Thursday and speak on the political prisoner issue.

Debris was arrested in 1970 for participating in a "two-person" demonstration against the war. He had worked two years in South Vietnam as a teacher on a French government exchange program.

Since his release from Chi Hoa prison in December, 1972 he has traveled extensively in the United States claiming 200,000 political prisoners are being detained and tortured by Thieu government.

Debris will speak at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Student Center room 206. He is sponsored by the UK New American Movement.

On an Indochina Peace Campaign speaking tour, Debris has said American personnel and technology perpetuate repression of political dissenters in South Vietnam.

At Student Center Art fair worth visit

By BRIAN HARRIGAN
Kernel Correspondent
Student Center Board's fifth bi-annual Bluegrass Arts and Crafts Fair opened yesterday in the Student Center Grand Ballroom.

The three-day exposition is a showcase for many Lexington craftsmen and their art.

THE ALMOST limitless space of the Ballroom affords 13 exhibitors and browsers ample room to move and mingle in a friendly atmosphere where exhibitors are more than willing to help with a purchase or answer a question about some aspect of their work.

The Arts

Prices range from $2 for some wooden jewelry to $40 for a beautifully elaborate English rubbing (a traced-type painting copied from old copper etchings in English cathedrals).

INTRICATELY CARVED and stamped leather goods, multi-colored Afghan blankets and ornate rugs, pottery, paintings and jewelry—all hand-made—are among the many art forms to be had for the asking (if the asking is accompanied by money).

Harry Thomas' Junk Art exhibit is very impressive.

He constructed his works from odd pieces of wrought-iron obtained from a local junkyard and cut-up telephone poles.

HIS SCULPTURES are studies of the action and movement of the human body.

A man riding a unicycle, another man fishing and a sculpture of a jazz band playing a few tunes are examples.

Thomas believes that fairs like this one are good in that they give people a chance to express themselves and their ideas.

"CREATIVITY is free, so why not let it flow?", he asked.

Mark Hensley's woodcarving exhibit included polished jewelry, spoons and bowls.

HIS FEELINGS toward the fair were good but he felt that the fact it is being held inside this year cuts down on participation.

Vicki Grant of Boulder, Colorado sat behind her exhibit of wooden jewelry.

SHE SAID the hardest part of her craft was trying to decide what people's tastes were and what types of jewelry and patterns they would like to see.

A constant flow of customers to her booth testified to her powers of prognostication.

The materials used in this diversified exhibit were obtained from many sources. Some were bought locally while others came all the way from N.Y., Calif., Canada or Mexico.

THEY HAVE been glued, nailed and wedged together to create some truly imaginative works for a fair worth visiting.

Small leads fizzle

UK soccer team ties two before winning

By JIM MAZZONI
Kernel Staff Writer

THE UK SOCCER TEAM let small leads slip away in two games over the weekend as it wound up tying Cincinnati 1-1 and Morris Harvey (W.Va.) 5-5.

Against Cincinnati Friday at the Seaton soccer field, the Cats took advantage of a strong wind in the first half to apply a lot of pressure on Cincinnati, but could only manage one score. That came off an indirect penalty kick by Paul Lauerman after an opponent had been called for tripping.

With UK defending a 1-0 lead in the second half, Cincinnati took over the wind advantage. Cincy was unable to apply any real pressure, however, until there were 10 minutes left in the game. At that point Cincinnati's center forward tied the game scoring on a twelve yard shot from the left side.

Both teams merely traded threats in the final minutes.

THE CATS traveled to Charleston, W.Va., Saturday to meet Morris Harvey in what was to be a very brutal contest.

Without the services of goalie Jep Bright, the Cats depended upon a potent offense to stay in the game.

Dick Gehring gave UK a 1-0 lead on a close play where both he and the ball wound up sprawled in the net. Morris Harvey came back strong though and took a 2-1 advantage.

Then Pat Eben struck for the Cats from the left wing and the half ended with the score 2-2.

EARLY IN the second half UK was awarded a penalty kick. Lauerman made a rare miss on it and Morris Harvey began to surmount the pressure. But UK's Praddy Mangot cooled the homestanders down by shooting one in from the right wing and putting UK back on top 3-2.

After Morris Harvey evened it up at 3-3, Lauerman hooked one in from the left corner for a 4-3 UK lead and his fourteenth goal of the season.

Again Morris Harvey tied the game at 4-4, but with only five minutes left David Hatcher scored on an assist from Pat Eben for what appeared to be the game winning goal for the Cats.

But with only two minutes left Morris Harvey snuck another one in and the game ended up 5-5.

TEAM CAPTAIN Rick Erickson said after the game that both the team and the crowd at Morris Harvey were hostile, a few fights erupted and several Morris Harvey players were ejected.

"We had bottles thrown at us and Praddy Mangot even got hit with a pair of crutches," he added.

The club then took off for Danville on Monday for their match against rival Centre.

THE CATS WERE forced to fight off a strong individual effort by John Borgman to slide by Centre 2-1.

Less than three minutes into the game Lauerman fed Erickson with a perfect assist as the captain knocked his first goal of the season.

In the second half Borgman displayed his antics. Setting up the UK defense by coming down the left side, he hooked a tremendous shot into the right side of the goal to tie it at 1-1.

Man-to-man coverage was put on Borgman by Erickson, but the Centre star still surmounted several threats.

AFTER SOPHOMORE JOHN MALONE provided UK's winning score on an unassisted goal from the left side of the penalty area, Borgman sent the last of his numerous threats just inches from the net.

The victory gives UK an 8-3-5 seasonal and a 5-0-2 conference record.

The Cats will now travel to Berea for the Kentucky Tournament Friday and Saturday.

Water polo team rips GSU enroute to regional tourney

By JOHN VOGEL
Kernel Staff Writer

THE UK WATER polo team concluded its regular season play Saturday thrashing Georgia Southern 19-10 at the Memorial Coliseum pool.

Behind the offensive punch of Phil Wilder (4 goals) and Rick Rubenstein and Bob Lohmeier (3 goals each), the charged-up Wildcats bounced back from a horrible showing the weekend before last.

The non-conference game drew a near-capacity crowd on Homecoming Day.

Goalies Mike Suchy and Ray Dozier sparked in the third and fourth quarters when UK's defense became ragged, blocking several close-in shots.

RICHARD SIGGS STARTED the scoring for UK early in the game with a 12-foot blast. The Cats continued the scoring barrage taking a 7-2 first quarter lead and 10-5 advantage at halftime.

Georgia Southern played a zone defense most of the game, forcing the Wildcats to take outside shots. In the third quarter UK quit trying the inside game and started bombing them in from the outside.

Brothers Rick and Dave Rubenstein and Wilder each scored twice, with Lohmeier adding one goal. Outstanding defense by the goalie Dozier limited Georgia Southern to one goal and UK pulled ahead 17-6 after three quarters.

Ragged defensive play got UK in to trouble in the fourth quarter allowing Southern to score four quick goals. Suchy, UK's goalie in the fourth quarter, stopped the visitors at this point with several fine plays. Tim Cunningham scored in the final minutes to put UK on top to stay 19-10.

THE WATER POLO TEAM ended regular season action with an overall record of 10-3, 7-3 in conference play.

After Saturday's game, Coach Jon Johnson said he felt it was "too early to tell" whether this season was a success or not, depending on how the team does in the upcoming regional tournament.

Johnson indicated that he had been fairly confident all season long that UK would go to the regional finals, but he said a "total team effort" would be needed in the tournament.

The coach refused to pick any UK player or players that he thought might be instrumental in winning the upcoming tournament for UK, saying there was no pressure on team member to lead the team to victory.

"WITH OUR DEPTH, the whole team equally shares in helping to win," Johnson added.

The Midwest Tournament will be held at the University of Michigan, Nov. 9 and 10. Johnson said he expects Indiana, Michigan and Loyola to be the Wildcats' main competition. The team, should they win this weekend, hopefully will receive an NCAA bid to the finals in California.

Proposal 1 Paragraph three

The Code does not cover decisions of the faculty of a professional school as to character, moral or ethical, required of a student for purposes of a degree or certificate or for continuation as a candidate for such degree or certificate. (Similarly, the Code does not cover decisions of the University Administration which are made concerning a contractual agreement between the University and a student.) Therefore, such decisions are not subject to review within the procedures established herein.

Proposal 2 Add the following paragraph:

Graduate Assistants when teaching or performing responsibilities related to their assistantships shall come only under the aegis of the Faculty Code. If a question arises concerning the individual's status as an assistant or student, the case shall be referred to the standing graduate committee on teaching and research assistants for determination as to whether the faculty or student code applies.

It shall also receive appeals by students or student organizations from any residence judicial body regarding alleged violations of student rights pursuant to Article II of this document.

b. The U. J. Board shall have the sole authority to determine the issue of guilt in (those) all cases referred to it (pursuant to Section 1.413). It shall have the sole authority to impose punishment short of actual suspension, dismissal, or expulsion upon any student found guilty of a violation of University disciplinary rules (defined in Section 1.2) outlined in this document. It shall also have the sole authority to rule on alleged violations of student rights pursuant to Article III of this document.

c. However, the Dean of Students may disclose the student's disciplinary record without his consent if legal compulsion or the safety of people or property is involved, or if the information is required by authorized University personnel responsible for discipline for official use at the University of Kentucky. In these circumstances, only the information pertinent to the inquiry may be revealed, and that information shall only be released on a demonstrated need to know basis. Written notice of this statement shall be sent to the student.

Proposal 23

Nixon asks Congress for power to reduce energy consumption

WASHINGTON AP—Here at a glance are President Nixon's legislative proposals to conserve energy.

TRANSPORTATION

—Allow transportation agencies to adjust carrier schedules and service points after summary hearings.

—Lower speed limits on the nation's highways to 50 miles an hour.

POWER

—Open the Elk Hills Naval Petroleum Reserve in California to increased oil production.

—Impose "energy conservation fees or taxes," perhaps on the consumption of natural gas or the excessive use of electricity.

—Authorize the Federal Power Commission to suspend price regulation on new natural gas.

—Authorize the Atomic

Energy Commission to grant without public hearings temporary operating licenses lasting up to 18 months for atomic power plants.

POLLUTION

—Allow the Environmental Protection Agency to exempt for one year power plants and factories from air and water quality laws on a case-by-case basis.

—Exempt such federal action from the National Environmental Policy Act, which requires prior preparation and review of environmental impact statements.

RATIONING

—Develop standby plans to ration gasoline and home heating oil if necessary.

We goofed

The article entitled "Enrolled Students Must Plan To Register Nov. 7-20", appearing in Wednesday's (Nov. 7) Kernel, erroneously reported that instructions and schedule books may be picked up from the Dean's Office, 257 Office Tower. It should have read that instructions on spring registration and schedule books may be obtained from the student's departmental major office for each individual college, and not just from the College of Arts and Sciences.
