WOMEN'S DIVISION

The CKJA/UJA Women's Division held their KICK-OFF to Campaign 1985, Sunday, October 7 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel. The afternoon, which began with a reception, was well attended by men and women of our community. The featured speaker was Mr. Jerry Abramson of Louisville. Mr. Abramson, who is a candidate for Mayor of Louisville, helped clarify the "Why's" of the Campaign.

Everyone agreed that the opening event was informative, educational and helpful. Many thanks to Harriet Cooper and her committee, Chris Eidelson and Barbara Grossman for a very enjoyable afternoon.

Next on the agenda is PACESETTERS, a Women's Major Gifts event, scheduled for Wednesday, November 28. At 6:30 p.m. everyone will gather behind the U.K. Football Stadium and board trolleys bound for Warnerton Farm, the home of Mark Warner, on Versailles Road. The women will be treated to an elegantly catered dinner.

Special guest for the evening will be Attorney General Dave Armstrong. Ms. Mathilda Brailove from the National United Jewish Appeal Office will speak.

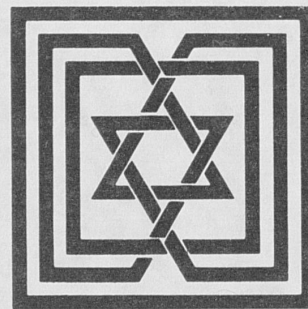

The BENEFACTORS Major Gifts Event is set for the first week of December at the home of Nancy Hoffman. Watch your mail for further details.

SUPER SUNDAY 1985

MARCH 31, 1985

MEN'S DIVISION

As a concerned Jew and a supporter of Israel, have you ever felt the frustration of wanting to be heard by the leadership of Jewish organizations or by Israel's leaders but not known how to effectively do this? Well, the 1985 CKJA Campaign is going to provide a vehicle for voicing your opinion on issues of principle.

To do this, the card confirming your 1985 Campaign pledge will be accompanied by a questionnaire dealing with several issues of principle that are of concern to American Jews. These issues will cover topics such as the law of return, West Bank settlements, Israel's relations with South Africa, who is a Jew, etc.

At the end of the Campaign, the returned questionnaires will be tallied and a summary report, to be published in the CKJA Bulletin, will be mailed to the Israeli Embassy, the Jerusalem Post, Israel's key political leaders, and the chairpersons of major Jewish organizations such as the Joint Distribution Committee, B'nai B'rith, the American Jewish Congress, AIPAC, the various rabbinical councils, and the like.

If this experiment proves to be effective, other Jewish communities likely will follow our example and thereby provide some real grassroots feedback to those whose decisions affect the future of the Jewish People.

Charlotte Baer is preparing the 1985 questionnaire. If you have suggestions for questions, issues, or format, please contact her as soon as possible.

Community Worker Reports On Jewish Agency Assembly

Jerusalem, east and west, old and new, is more beautiful, and busier than ever. New construction, attractive landscaping, careful attention to the harmonious blending of traditional styles with modern needs have resulted in a capitol of which we can all be proud.

It was to this center that almost 400 delegates and 200 observers came from all over the free world this past June, to participate in the annual meeting of the Jewish Agency Assembly.

The Jewish Agency for Israel (then Palestine) was formed in 1929, during the time of the British Mandate. It served as the representative body of the Jewish people in Palestine, and was directly responsible for their health, welfare and educational institutions. Major support, even then, came from fund-raising campaigns in Jewish communities throughout the world. When Israel became a state in 1948, much of the preparation for statehood had occurred within the Jewish Agency. In 1952, Israel's Knesset passed the "Law of Status", making the Jewish Agency and the World Zionist Organization responsible for the "ingathering of the exiles" and for their absorption in Israel. In 1971, the Jewish Agency was reconstituted and charged with responsibility for immigration and absorption from "lands of distress"; support for educational and youth activities, particularly Youth Aliyah; agricultural settlement and immigrant housing.

The Assembly meets annually to review the needs and programs of the Agency; to consider and act upon the budgets; and to determine basic policies. There is a Board of Governors elected by the Assembly which oversees the activities of the Agency between Assembly meetings.

For the first time participant the excitement is two-fold: first, to meet with and hear from so many of the men and women who occupy key leadership positions in the Jewish world; and second, to participate together with fellow Jews from Israel and the Diaspora in deliberations which ultimately impact on all of us. The concept of partnership becomes a reality rather than a slogan.

We met and deliberated in Jerusalem, but we also traveled out to experience the impact of the Jewish Agency first hand. We visited absorption centers and met new olim. We traveled to Youth Aliyah villages to experience the history of 50 years of rescue and rehabilitation of Jewish youth. At the Youth Aliyah installations we met some of the dedicated staff who work with each child as a unique individual, striving to enable each one to become a productive member of Israeli society.

On my own I visited our Project Renewal community, Netanya-Sela, and met several of the residents who have dedicated themselves to making their neighborhood "the best place to live in Israel". But if we do not fulfill our commitment to them, their efforts will only end in frustration. There is a lovely park attesting to our partnership, but there are also centers for older adults and neighborhood health care awaiting our funds to be completed.

In a determined effort to reduce the debts incurred by the Jewish Agency in the early years of statehood, Project Renewal was instituted on a "pay as you go" basis. If the money is not available, the projects are not begun or work in progress must be stopped. The commitment of the Israelis is intense -- both the staff and the local residents. Our response and participation are vital if we are to succeed.

Together with my family I visited Kibbutz Ketura and former Lexingtonian Jeff Moosnick. This spot of green, located in the stark and barren Arava is also a testimonial to the Jewish Agency. The kibbutz was established eleven years ago, with start-up funds provided by the Agency. Today, with the agricultural base well under

Israel Bonds announces improved $250 Israel Certificate

Improved features for the $250 State of Israel Certificate, including its acceptance toward the purchase of El Al Israel Airline tickets on flights to and from Israel, have been announced by the Israel Bond Organization.

The new Israel Bond instrument was established to increase identification with Israel by expanding the number of visitors to the country.

The certificates will now have the following graduated increases in their value each year if cashed in Israel for Israeli currency: after one year, $260; after two years, $275; after three years, $295; four years, $320; five years (at maturity), $360. Certificates must be at least one year old before they are accepted by El Al for tickets.

Another new feature provides that if the certificates are held to their five-year maturity and are not cashed in Israel, the holder can add $200 and receive a $500 Current Income Bond, giving the holder a $50 bonus.

Or, the holder can receive the $250 principal, and thus will have provided a loan to Israel. For further information, call CKJA at 277-8048.

way, the kibbutz is now negotiating with the Agency for an industrial project which will help its members attain financial independence.

The Rural Settlement Department today creates pioneering pre-settlements (Mitzpim) in the Galilee, opens up new settlement areas in the Negev and Arava, and assists settlers throughout Israel to develop new and creative uses for limited resources. These settlements serve a dual purpose of strengthening the economy and security of Israel. More than 80 have been established since 1971.

President Chaim Herzog addressed us at the opening plenary session. He gave full recognition to Israel's problems, which, as he said, cannot be hidden in an open society. But he also pointed out Israel's many accomplishments in health care, and high-tech industrial development, all within an open democratic society. "We have much to be proud of," he said, "and in that pride you are our partners."

The meetings happened to close on a day of both rejoicing and sorrow in Israel. A group of Israeli soldiers who had been held prisoners by the Syrians were finally released -- the celebration tempered by the return of several bodies also held by the Syrians; and Yigal Yadin, military leader and hero, and internationally acclaimed archaeologist died. At that moment, as Board of Governors Chair Jerrold Hoffberger and Prime Minister Yitzchak Shamir spoke to us in the magnificent halls of the Knesset we were joined together physically and spiritually. We rejoiced and we mourned as one.

As it is said in Pirke Avot (Sayings of the Fathers), "Lo alecha ham'lacha ligmor; v'lo atah benchorin l'hibateyl mi-menah." "It is not incumbent upon you to finish the task; but neither are you free to refrain from it."

Lexington

On Sunday, September 16, approximately 60 newcomers to the Central Kentucky area joined with representatives of the major Jewish organizations for an enjoyable afternoon of "gettin' to know ya!" While the younger offspring romped on the grounds surrounding Carnahan House, the old timers and newcomers chatted and munched, while being entertained by the musical duet of Mike Lerner and Paul Pressman. A cool breeze and warm Blue Grass sunshine helped make the outing a tremendous success.

Central Kentucky has a vibrant Jewish community --- and it just got a little larger!

CKJA wishes to extend thanks to the many representatives of B'nai B'rith, Hadassah, Havurah, Synagogue and Temple for their hours of preparation and participation.

Watch your mail for the revised Community Booklet, Shalom Lexington.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY FACULTY ASSOCIATION ON JEWISH AFFAIRS (UKFAJA)

The newly formed U.K. Faculty Association on Jewish Affairs began its first year with activities that will deal with Jewish affairs both at the University and worldwide.

Ken Germain, a law professor and the association's president, said that initially the group would like to create a sense of fellowship and generate additional membership. According to its constitution, the purpose of the association is to promote a positive identification of the University community with Judaism, Israel and with the Jewish community, and to support a similar identification on the part of University students. Other goals are to respond promptly and effectively to situations that threaten Jewish life and culture and encourage research and relevant courses in Judaism at U.K.

The association's first program was September 24 at which time Professor Michael Meyer of Hebrew Union College spoke on "Anti-Semitism: Its Causes and Present Day Manifestations." Over 60 people attended the free lecture, and all agreed that the evening's program was both informative and thought provoking.

The next board meeting of UKFAJA will deal with two major concerns: assistance of Soviet Jewish academics, and response to anti-Jewish campus relations. The association is planning on instituting informal monthly meetings and remains open to suggestions for additional programs.

One of the association's initial goals -- increasing membership -- is definitely being met. However, there is always room for more participation. Membership dues of $5 should be sent to Evelyn Geller, 3493 Sutherland Drive, Lexington, KY 40502.

ROSH HASHANAH, PRE-SCHOOL STYLE

Pre-schoolers in the Central Kentucky Jewish community celebrated Rosh Hashanah, Sunday, September 23 at the Lexington Hearing and Speech Center. About 25 children took part in various activities relating to the New Year, played games and made New Year's cards. The highlight of the afternoon was each child's attempt to blow the Shofar. In fact, some children were more successful at this than the adults.

Special thanks to Elayne Crystal for planning this delightful gathering, and to Aaron and Halley Faust for sharing their Shofars and expertise, and also to all the parents who stayed and helped.

Plans for a Chanukah Pre-school party, to be held December 9, 1984, are in the making

HERITAGE: CIVILIZATION AND THE JEWS

What an exciting way to welcome 5745 -- a true celebration of our peoplehood, from Abraham and Moses to Elizabeth Rosenberg and Joel White, "Heritage: Civilization and the Jews".

KET will broadcast the series on Fridays at 9:00 p.m. beginning October 5, and on the Thursdays following each initial broadcast at 7:00 p.m.

Following are program synopses:

1. A PEOPLE IS BORN (Thirteenth Century B.C.E. to Sixth Century B.C.E.), Friday, October 5 and Thursday, October 11.

The Jewish people is born amid the ancient civilizations of Egypt and Mesopotamia. From the days of Abraham, of Moses and the Exodus from Egypt, of the Kingdom of Israel and the struggles of its prophets, there comes a new faith based upon belief in a single, universal God.

2. THE POWER OF THE WORD (Sixth Century B.C.E. to Second Century B.C.E.), Friday, October 12 and Thursday, October 18.

A Jewish identity takes shape based on ideas, laws and traditions. This program chronicles the consolidation of the Jewish people and their exchange of ideas with the classical worlds of Greece and Rome.

3. THE SHAPING OF TRADITIONS (First to Ninth Centuries), Friday, October 19 and Thursday, October 25.

With the birth of Christianity, the course of the history of the Jews and of all Western civilization is forever altered. This program takes the viewer from the destruction of the Second Temple through the rise of Christianity and Islam and finally to the emergence of Judaism in Western Europe.

4. THE CRUCIBLE OF EUROPE (Ninth to Fifteenth Centuries), Friday, October 26 and Thursday, November 1.

The evolution of Jewish life in the turbulent Middle Ages is chronicled -- from the flourishing of "Sephardic" Jewish culture in Muslim Spain to the deteriorating circumstances of European Jewish life that begins with the first crusade in 1096 and culminates in the expulsions of the Jews from Western Europe in the 14th and 15th centuries.

5. THE SEARCH FOR DELIVERANCE (1492 - 1789), Friday, November 2 and Thursday, November 8.

Focusing on the Jewish European experience, the program describes the flourishing Jewish communities in Eastern and Western Europe and their interaction with the intellectual, social, political and religious currents of the surrounding culture -- the Renaissance, Reformation and Enlightenment.

6. ROADS FROM THE GHETTO (1789 - 1917), Friday, November 9 and Thursday, November 15.

Examining the confrontation between European Jewish society and modernity, this program covers the period of the Industrial and French Revolutions, the struggle for Jewish emancipation, the rise of modern anti-Semitism and the birth of Zionism.

7. THE AMERICAN JEWISH EXPERIENCE (1654 - 1932), Friday, November 16 and Thursday, November 22.

From colonial times through the Great Depression, this program traces the successive phases of Jewish emigration to America. It examines the nature of Jewish integration into American society and the variety of Jewish experiences in different parts of the country.

8. OUT OF THE ASHES (1917 - 1945), Friday, November 23 and Thursday, November 29.

The program examines the rise of Nazism and the mass murder of European Jewry. It addresses the universal meaning of the Holocaust as a tragedy for all humankind.

9. INTO THE FUTURE (1945 - Present), November 30 and Thursday, December 6.

The final program explores the rise of the State of Israel and its relationship with Jews in other parts of the world, the plight of Soviet Jewry and finally, the questions facing world Jewry today.

VATICAN RELINQUISHES CONTROL OVER JEWISH CATACOMBS

The Jewish community of Italy has welcomed the removal of control of the Jewish catacombs of Italy from the Vatican by the new concordat between the Italian state and the Holy See.

The Unione Delle Comunita Israelitiche Italiane, the central representative body of Italian Jewry and WJC affiliate, had been largely instrumental in forcing the change in provisions in the old concordat of 1929 -- negotiated between the Vatican and Benito Mussolini's government -- which placed all catacombs under Vatican control.

The new concordat between the Republic of Italy and the Holy See, signed on February 18, 1984, in its article 12, stipulates that "the Holy See retains control over the Christian catacombs existing on Italian territory ... relinquishing control of the other catacombs."

In a statement Fritz Becker, director of the WJC Rome office, said: "This represents the crowning of the strenuous efforts made over many years of negotiations by the Union of Italian Jewish Communities, an undertaking strongly supported by the World Jewish Congress in all its phases.

"The Jewish catacombs in Italy, which represent a priceless source of information on Jewish life of antiquity will henceforth be controlled by the Italian state."
