Griffo Charges Kernel With Disorting Facts About Discrimination

Press Clinic Opens Today On Campus
Head Proctor Of Dorms Accuses Student Paper During SGA Assembly

The Kentucky Kernel was charged with "distorting and misconstruing" facts in stories concerning alleged discrimination at the men's dormitories at a meeting of the Student Government Association Monday night by James V. Griffo, head proctor of the dorms.

Griffo told members of the Assembly "the Kernel has done a bum job of writing this up. For two weeks in a row it has distorted and misconstrued the facts or gotten everything wrong."

Another charge against the Kernel, also made by Griffo, referred to a news story about the attack of a Kernel reporter, Ronald Butler, by two unidentified men last week.

Griffo denied the charge of the staff attacking Mr. Butler. "Griffo denied the charge of the staff members working for Dr. Bennett H. Wall, director of the dorms, had taken part in the attack."

Summing up his criticisms of the Kernel, Griffo told SGA members that "news of this type (discrimination) is not to be trusted. It's about time that the Kernel printed the good things about the men's dorms."

Griffo passed out letters from the dorms to the SGA members. He said that the Lexington Chamber of Commerce had sent him a letter asking if the University could take up the matter of high lanterns, which town merchants want to dispose of.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director of the United Nations Trusteeship Commission, thinks that we cannot afford to risk the failure of the United Nations.

Dr. Bunche spoke on "The United Nations and World Crisis" at the fifth Blazer Lecture last week in Memorial Hall.

More than 1,000 people came to hear the speech, but the overflow was too much for the auditorium, so many of them listened by loud-speaker in the radio station in McVey Hall, while others sat on the floor of the auditorium.

Dr. Bunche, who won the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize for his mediation work with the Israel and Arab forces in Palestine, said that since this is an "international age" there is nothing more important than his and frank discussions of vital issues.

Speaking of the United Nations, he said that more people come to the UN sessions to see disagreement than to see agreement, but he thought that just a part of human nature.

Dr. Bunche brought attention to the United Nations belonging to the people by illustrating that the cost to the American taxpayer for the operation of the United Nations is "less than 10 cents per person per year."

ID Pictures To Be Taken

Students planning to enroll in the University next fall must have new identification card pictures taken during the week of April 13-18.

Pictures will be taken daily between 8:30 a.m. and 12 noon and from 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. in Room 127 of the Student Union. An evening session will be held from 7 to 9 p.m., Thursday, April 15.

Full ID cards will be changed both in color and form and 1952-53 cards will not be recognized for admission to next year's activities.

Student ID cards made at the start of the second semester may be picked up at the ticket office in Memorial Coliseum.

The Central Kentucky Youth Symphony, under the direction of Mr. Marvin Rabin, will appear at 8:15 p.m. Monday at Memorial Coliseum in another program of the Community Concert Series.

The youth symphony is composed of Central Kentucky students, the members of the University and senior high school. Fifteen UK students are the only college members.

The director, Mr. Rabin, is a member of the University music department. The symphony, organized in 1947 as a 14 piece group, has grown to 75 members. Twelve schools are represented in the orchestra, with some members coming from such towns as Mount Sterling and Shelbyville.

UK Students To Conduct
Two University students, Harry Carter, a sophomore, and William Stedden, a junior, will conduct the orchestra in the Monday night performance.

"Concerto for Two Violins and Orchestra" by Dr. Jan Sibelius of the University music department, will be played in the concert. In this work, which was composed especially for the orchestra by two solo violinists, will be played by Gypsy Barnett, a senior at Lafayette High School, and Robert Lancaster, a senior at Henry Clay High School.

Another feature of the concert will be the premiere performance of "Lament," by Miss Helen Lipscomb, a graduate of UK. This work was also composed for the youth symphony.

Three One-Act Plays Planned This Weekend

Three experimental one-act plays will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight and Saturday night by Guinero Players in the Laboratory Theater.

Don Fred as Maria Akker, Sue King as Dorcas Goshen, a mountain woman; Buddy Wilson as Joshua Goshen; and Lorraine McGhee as Emma Goshen, and Bill Eddy as Brother Luther.

"Man Thief," a drama about four roommates who accuse a fifth roommate of being a man-stealer, is written and directed by Dolly Sulzberg, junior in journalism.

Cast members are Jan Robinson as Peggy; Sue Jackson, Marilyn; Ann Furell; Jeanette; Sandra Lindem, Betty Lou; Ricky Caldwell, Willie; Sally Maggard, Susie, and Claire Wood, Mrs. Gray.

"Will o' the Wisp," written by American dramatist Doris P. Hallman and first produced in 1916, is directed by Carol Bell, senior drama major. His story concerns a woman who goes to a farmhouse at Land's End, on the moors of Scotland, because she believes she will find there the "evil influence" she thinks has controlled her husband.

Marilyn Rigg will play the title role in "Will o' the Wisp." The play has been presented through the Guinero Theater, and the second year that Players, students group reactivated in 1951-52, has produced the plays.

Tickets will be available at the door for 25c each on performance nights.

Student Musician To Give Concert

Arvin Watkins, pianist and violinist, will perform at 4 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Hall as a part of the Sunday Afternoon Musicale Series.

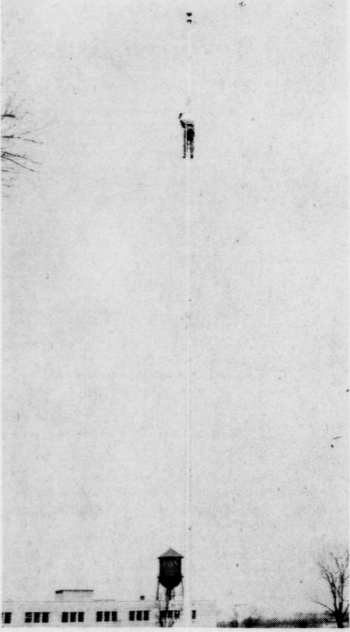

He will play "Sonata in G Major," by Brahms and "Partita in E major," (unaccompanied) by Bach. His four piano recitals will be "Sonata in F major," (K. 280) by Mozart and "Carnaval," by Schumann.

The program is open to the public.

We Can't Risk Failing At UN, Says Bunche

By JUDY BOTELER
Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director of the United Nations Trusteeship Commission, thinks that we cannot afford to risk the failure of the United Nations.

Attempts Made By Students To Check Freedom Of Press

Last week we advocated it would be best to drop the matter about alleged discrimination in the men's dormitories, since the bulletins which began all the trouble had been removed and since it was admitted this was the only sign of discrimination on the campus.

But Student Government Association members and one of Dr. Wall's monitors had no intentions of doing so, although they repeatedly said at SGA meeting Monday night the matter should be hushed up. Not only was the subject drawn out again, but during the discussion, no less than three persons made attempts to suppress our freedom of the press.

Before the subject was brought up, Deward Johnson made a motion that all but SGA members be asked to leave because they were going to discuss a "ticklish situation."

There are several members of the press present among others," he said, "and this is something we should keep under our hats."

Such a motion represents an attempt to destroy a sacred American milestone that our forefathers fought to obtain—the right to report public and governmental affairs in order to keep the public informed of what their leaders were doing and to assure democracy.

Members of SGA are no more than representatives of the students. Students have the right to know exactly what is done and said at the Assembly meetings. The only way they have to know what goes on at these meetings is by the stories in the Kernel, unless they attend the meetings themselves. But if the press was barred from the meeting, as Johnson advocated, just because the Assembly was going to discuss a touchy subject, it would have been suppressing news of vital interest to students.

Fortunately, Johnson withdrew his motion after getting a quick answer from another SGA member about democracy, and to get the president of the Assembly "out of a spot."

Another infringement was attempted against the freedom of the press when Mike Ganji said the Kernel should report SGA meetings by using the minutes of the secretary. Ganji said the Kernel misused his name in a couple of its stories and that the facts could be acquired from the minutes.

Ganji is right in asserting the exact facts could be gathered from the minutes, but the minutes don't go far enough. They only contain the bare facts such as motions passed and reports. They do not contain who said what and discussion on the motions brought up.

If our stories were written from the minutes, we would have to take what we got and not be able to give an adequate account of the meetings to the students. This is the way news is released by Communist countries.

The third attempt against our right to report the news was made by James V. Griffo, head proctor of the men's dorms, who said the Kernel should print only the good things about the campus. The Kernel is a newspaper, not a public relations sheet. We can't isolate ourselves from the bad happenings in the world and just print the events that put the University in good light with the public. In this day and time, if a newspaper prints only the "good" news, the paper would probably have a lot of empty space.

Mr. Griffo also stated that the Kernel did "a bum job" of writing up the story about discrimination in the men's dorms. "For two weeks in a row," he said, "they misconstrued the facts or got everything wrong."

He mentioned several times that the Kernel said this or said that. The only articles that can be taken as being said by the Kernel are the editorials, and not the news stories as Mr. Griffo seemed to think. What was said in the news stories was not said by the Kernel, but were statements offered freely to us by Mike Ganji and other foreign students. Dr. Wall was asked the following week to correct any false statement given to us concerning the matter, but he refused to answer because he felt nothing could be achieved by it and that it would be bad publicity.

We believe we handled the matter as objectively as possible. Our two stories presented both sides of the question and all statements were attributed. Just because Mr. Griffo's toes were stepped on by the charges, he had no right to take it out on us for printing the story.

Unsegregated Audience Shows Real Meaning Of Democracy

While 13,000 fans were screaming in Memorial Coliseum last Thursday night at the state basketball tournament, progress was being made towards real American democracy in Memorial Hall where a capacity crowd gathered to hear and honor a man disregarding the color of his skin.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director of the United Nations trusteeship, who identifies himself as an "American Negro," gave a talk and led a discussion on world problems in another of the Blazer lecture series. No attempt was made to segregate whites and Negroes in the audience. It was the largest audience of Negroes and whites ever gathered at the University.

It was a heart-warming experience to watch race sit among race and intelligently discuss world problems without any signs of prejudice and discrimination. It was truly a meeting of Americans.

The crowd of more than 1,600 that filled the building represented the largest turnout for a Blazer lecture. Many were turned away, and about 500 persons listened over a loudspeaker set up in McVey Hall.

Such a gathering of whites and Negroes could not have taken place on campus 20 or even 10 years ago. Thursday night's meeting was so interesting and accepted by all that few even realized the significance of the event. It was definitely a historical mark of the University's progress towards real Christian democracy and true Americanism.

Dr. Bunche first distinguished himself in international affairs in 1948 as head of the United Nations mediation board in Palestine during the Jewish-Arab conflict when he effected a truce between the two warring factions. In 1947 he won the Nobel Peace Award for his work in Palestine with the Israeli and Arab forces, which he headed when Count Bernadotte was slain.

The University and central Kentuckians should be proud to have heard such a speaker and man as Dr. Bunche, and they should be prouder that he was received and accepted the way he was.

If we are going to get along and survive in this world, it will take more than just talking about democracy. We have to live it. We can't sit on the sideline and expect someone else to carry out the full meaning of democracy.

* The large and unsegregated audience at Dr. Bunche's lecture, and the manner in which the mixed assemblage was accepted is a good example of what true democracy should be.

College Students Disapprove Dorm Drinking, Late Dating

Collegiate morals are higher than the popular stereotype suggests, as indicated from the results of a recent Associated Collegiate Press poll of student opinion.

The vast majority of students are against drinking in dormitories and staying out too late with their dates. Women are more "strict" about these matters than men.

Students were asked their opinion on dormitory drinking rules. Here are the results: should be allowed—16 per cent; should not be allowed—75 per cent; no opinion—6 per cent; other—3 per cent.

Only 17 per cent of the women are for dormitory drinking; 82 per cent are against it. "I don't believe in drinking, period," exclaims a sophomore coed from Geneva College, Pa.

A freshman in engineering at Southeastern Missouri State College thinks dormitory drinking should be allowed, because it "would keep them out of trouble in taverns."

And a business student at Richmond Professional Institute, Va., declares, "The more restrictions that are imposed, the more people will want to break them. College students should be treated like adults."

One a.m. appears to be the most popular hour for getting a girl back to her dormitory after a Saturday night date, with 2 a.m. being a not very close second. Students were asked, "At what hour on a Saturday night should a coed be required to get back to her dormitory?"

The answers were: by midnight or before—14 per cent; by 1 a.m.—45 per cent; by 2 a.m.—24 per cent; after 2 a.m.—8 per cent; no opinion—4 per cent; other—5 per cent.

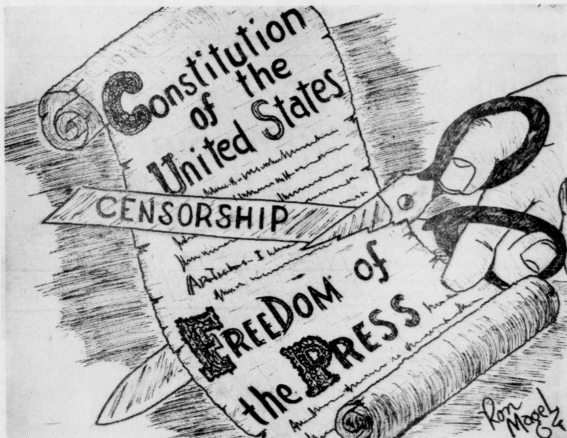

With the men, 2 a.m. is just as popular an hour as 1 a.m., both choices getting 33 per cent of the male vote. But the girls are 54 per cent in favor of 1 a.m. and only 17 per cent in favor of 2 a.m.

Another 17 per cent of the girls would just as soon be returned to their dormitories by midnight or before; 11 per cent of the men feel the same way about it.

Many of the students are careful to qualify their answers with an "except on special occasions," or "unless there's a big dance."

A sophomore in education at MacMurray College for Women, Jacksonville, Ill., thinks "it depends a lot on the size of the town and what there is for the students to do."

But a male junior at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., is more specific. "After 2 a.m.," he says, "way after."

Big Bad Wolfe Thinks Of Bees And Birds As Spring Comes

By KAY BLINCOE

The sun was shining, the flowers were blooming, the birds were singing. Spring was in the air and that look was in Big Bad Wolfe's eyes. He stood in front of Barker Hall watching the scenery by him.

Big Bad was really a nature lover at heart. Even as he watched with longing eyes, the myriads of sweet young things glide prettily by—even then he was thinking of the birds and bees.

His reverie was broken by a sharp slap on the back and a dull, "Duh, hullo Big Bad!" It was George Phox, his friend, cohort, and general flunky. "Oh, hi, George. What cha gonna do?"

"Duh, I'm going down to the grill and pass the time of day. I flunked it the other day, ya know. What're you doing?"

"Nobin', just takin' in 'th' sights."

"Takin' in 'th' sights? I didn't know you had 'em out! Hey, aint that a good ernt?"

"Yeah, that's real, George."

"Duh, look at that in that sweater, B. B."

"Yeah, that, too, is real, George."

The two casuals stood with outstretched eyeballs, surveying the oncoming beauty. She was a real prech, not really, but almost. She walked with head high, shoulders erect—proud. Big Bad and George rolled in their tongues simultaneously. They stood in a pool of drool. B.B. ambled over to her and said, with all the sweetness of a cool bottle of sloe gin, "Hello, Sweetthing, gon' my way?"

"You going North?" she asked, freezing him with her stare.

"Sure am, cutestuff," he answered assuredly.

"Well, then," she replied, "give my regards to the Eskimos!"

"Come on Honeydell, I could go for you."

"That's what I want you to do."

"You do?" he said, his eyes whirling like tops.

"Yes, I want you to go far." And with that, she turned on her heel and walked off, leaving him in a cloud of dust and dismay.

"Duh, that was a real conversation you had, B.B."

"Yeah, that was real, George. Come on. Let's walk on over to Neville Hall and finish our lab experiment."

The walk was short, hot, and uneventful. They walked up the warped, old steps of the ancient structure and tried the door. Locked. "Duh, they psych majors! We got our rights."

"Certainly not. Hey, open up in there," said he, in his gruffest voice.

"Who's there?" came the sweet, little reply.

"It's us, Big Bad Wolfe and George Phox."

(Little do they realize that they are talking to the three little Piggis.)

"No. Not by the hair of our— we mean, not for the world."

"Duh, then I'll huff and puff and blow the place down."

"Now, wait a minute, George. This is Neville. You don't have to go to all that trouble. All you got to do is lean on it and it'll fall down."

"Duh, you mean like this, Big Bad?", as he rested his hand on the decayed, old wall.

There was a loud rumbling crash, smoke, dust, soot, flying bricks, and splinters of wood. When the air and noise settled down, so too, had Neville Hall.

Amid the rack and ruin, sat the three little Piggis, unscathed, unharmed, unconcerned, working on the Pavlovian Theory of stimulus-response. "Gee, that was a bigger response than we had expected, wasn't it girls?"

"Duh, hi, Girls, that was a real noise, wasn't it, hey, huff, hey?"

"Yeah, that was real, George," they answered.

Big Bad took one look at the Piggis, his hair turned white, he howled a blood-curdling shriek, and took off for the Psi Psi Psi Sorority House. If George wanted the Piggis, he could have them, he was looking for Queens.

He bounded up the walk of the swank sorority house, stopped to read their motto, "Try us for Psi's," and said, "Yeah, I'll be at home here."

Our Readers Speak . . .

Dear Editor:

Regarding Mr. Ganji's charge of discrimination, there are several questions which need answering.

1. Does Mr. Ganji exhibit a degree of tolerance befitting the Minister of the Press for Iran?

2. Has this exposition of a relatively minor incident served to strengthen the harmonious relationship which exists between Americans and foreign students?

3. What are Mr. Ganji's political tenets?

I'm rather proud of this school and, in this fact, find basis for this letter to retaliate an attempt toward its degradation. It is my contention that Mr. Ganji's exposition of discrimination in one bulletin (affecting four or five students) is indeed regrettable and presents sufficient evidence to label him a "trouble-maker." Even the politically ambitious would face such conduct with disdain.

An excellent editorial, last week, suggested that "it would have been better had Dr. Wall talked to these students instead of sticking announcements to them." Permit me to point out that many things would have been better if all concerned had more time. That man's office is so busy that it looks like a chaplain's office in a combat zone. Other than in theology, I know of no field in which the voice of authority is loved by all followers.

Disrespect Shown

Dear Editor:

I know that America is a land of surprises—of pleasant ones as well as of unpleasant ones, but on Monday, March 16, I received a surprise which, I think, has surpassed all others.

During the military review, which I had gone to watch, when the starred flag of America was lowered, and our future heroes were saluting it, and the national anthem was sung, I heard a group of University girl students in the audience laugh and talk. I even heard their chewing-gum pop.

In this sacred moment, when they should have humbly lowered their heads, and opened their hearts in a prayer of gratefulness to God Almighty, they laughed. They laughed at the great ideals, which to their forefathers had been sacred, pure, and holy, and for which they shed their blood and sacrificed their lives. The star spangled banner of America is the symbol of these ideals—freedom, love, and liberty.

It is just like throwing mud into the eyes of those who fought, who are fighting, and who will be fighting for those glorious ideals.

If this incident had happened on the market place, which Lexington does not have, perhaps there could be some excuses. But as it took place on the campus of the University of Kentucky, I know that no one can find an excuse for it.

Spring Is Time Not To Have Afternoon Class

By KATHY FRYER

If it slipped your mind during registration, you know now that the spring semester is no time to take a late afternoon class.

Sitting through even the most interesting professor is impossible when the air smells like warm cake and everyone is stuffing huffing suits and towels into the glove compartment and heading South.

Even if you don't like Boonesboro or can't swim, the lure to go up on the roof or just sit on the grass beside the Student Union and watch the people go by is too powerful to resist. You think that one more little cut won't hurt, and you end up with enough to flunk out.

Of course graduating seniors and people who register late can't be choosy about their schedule, and those diabolical requirements that meet at only one-hour can fool up the best of plans.

Those who can, though, take a lesson for next year. They know that sunshine and studying don't mix.

Other signs of spring besides beach parties, fragrant hedges along Rose Street beside Stoll Street, and mid-term exams are the high school students on campus.

They come to UK for speech contests, music festivals, drama festivals, chemistry and journalism clinics, and just to look around.

Some of them are easy to spot; their unfamiliar school jackets or wide-eyed stares give them away. Others look more like UK students than we do.

The different departments like to have them around. Their enthusiasm is contagious, and they make you feel like distinguished collegians for the first time in your life.

The accounting honorary has broken down and invited a girl to be a member for the first time in UK history. The jinx-breaker is Jane Lewis, ADPI, who's proved it's not true that there's no accounting for women.

Bunche Discusses UN, World Crisis

(Continued from Page 1) prospects for peace in Korea, the diplomatic expert stated that we must depend on the UN's success of that one great failure. He said that 55 of the 60 countries in the United Nations are backing the West's plan for peace. This means, he said, that the greatest problem of getting people together is being overcome and is bringing peace many steps closer.

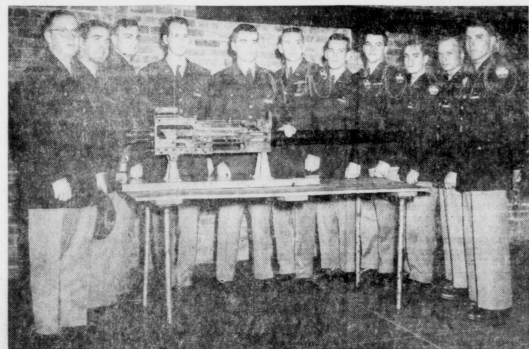

Dr. Bunche said the people of India, who follow the theme of tolerance given them by Gandhi, are building democratic institutions and "are in the camp of freedom and democracy." He emphasized their "spirit of freedom and tolerance."

"Talk Better Than Shooting" Dr. Bunche said that "there is too much talk in the UN but talk is better than shooting." He then asked if we could afford not to make the United Nations succeed, since "there is only alternative is a world atomic war."

Guide Booklet Planned For Education Majors

"At least one college on campus has a program for registration guidance," Dr. Fred Harris, associate professor of education, said this week.

Under the supervision of the College of Education a student committee, operating on a volunteer basis, has been appointed to develop a guide booklet. The object of the booklet is to help elementary education majors balance their semester loads so that they will not carry too few or too many hours.

Also the committee will help the students to take the required courses in correct order.

Any elementary major who would like a copy of the guide booklet may get one from Mrs. Nadine Glenn in Dr. Harris' office.

Student members of the guidance committee were Julie Blumenthal, Emory Gie Davis, Nancy Campbell, Elizabeth Smith, Judy Souaband, and Lois Wilson.

UK Heidi Entrant Hospitalized Here

Mrs. Patricia Eads Herren, a winner in the recent Horace Heidt show here, is in good condition at the Good Samaritan where she is recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident while enroute to sing on the Heidt show in Albion, Pa.

Her husband, Donald Ray Herren, associate pastor at the First Methodist Church and a College of the Bible student, said that Mrs. Herren was injured early Thursday morning when the accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Chambersburg, Pa.

An X-ray showed that Mrs. Herren has two cracked vertebrae. Despite her injuries, Mrs. Herren continued to Albion and sang on the program. She returned to Lexington Tuesday and entered the hospital.

Also injured in the accident, according to Herren, were his mother, Mrs. Oscar K. Herren, and Miss Martha Jean Cision, both from Corbin.

Twenty Years Hence?—Students from the College of Commerce practice one of the stunts to be presented at the Second Annual College Chamber of Commerce Banquet April 16. ## Social Events Steal The Scene Just Before Easter Vacation

By ANN O'BROAK

The hop, hop of the Bunny Hop certainly has taken the campus by storm... and at a very appropriate time, too. Reds, blues and greens are being put on poor deflated eggs, and new fangled, feathered and spangled bouquets are being perched at precarious angles on co-eds' heads. It's time for Easter!

Along with Easter comes spring and in the spring there is music. Speaking of music, there will be some exceptionally good harmony tonight in Memorial Hall at the All-Campus Sing final. The serenades begin at 8 p.m. and may the best warblers win.

The ZEP's have planned a weekend party for tonight and tomorrow. This evening at 8 o'clock they will start off with a picnic and finish the festivities with a dinner-dance at Boiling Springs at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Hobo Party Planned

For an evening of slumming in high style with a barrel full of laughs to go with it, the Hobo Party at the Kappa Sig house is the best place for you. Any old flour sack, overalls, or battered derby will set you in the door at 8 p.m.

The Sig Eps are having a house party at 8 p.m. tomorrow. At the Lambda Chi house berets and black skirts of the French water front will be in the best style. It all begins at 8 o'clock sharp.

Kappa's To Give Party

The Kappa's will be hostesses to the UK basketball team at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Also that night the Chi O house will have the atmosphere of a French restaurant with hat-check girls, torch singers and cigarette parties in honor of the football team. This bit of the foreign will take place at 7 p.m.

The Lambda Chi house chapter of Sigma Chi is having a 60th Anniversary Tea Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 p.m. in honor of their 60 years on the University campus.

Kappa Delta sorority has initiated 14 new members into their chapter. New actives are Jane Brandenburg, Marilyn Bergman, Martina Campbell, Charline Cross, Georgene Duckworth, Sally Duke, Beverly Hughes, Betty Ann Myers, Barbara Niemann, Nancy Niles, Marilyn Riggs, Nancy Rule, Phyllis Schriener, and Mary Wilkins. The KID's have also elected their new officers for the coming year. They are Pat Curry, president; Peggy Tipton, vice-president; Jean Phillips, secretary; Marcia McDonald, treasurer; and Patti Paul, editor.

Sigma Nu Elects Officers

In the Sigma Nu house there's a new set of men in power, too. The officers-elect are Dean Anderson, commander; Bill Mudd, lieutenant commander; Tom Ewald, treasurer; Bob Schmatler, recorder; Ray Jones, rush chairman; and Don White, social chairman.

Cage Champs To Be Guests On WBKY

The Lafayette Generals, winners of the state high school basketball tournament, will be guests of honor this week on the Campus CUP. Jack O'Hann, manager of ceremonies for the program, will interview squad members and cheerleaders at 8:00 p.m. Thursday over WBKY.

The "Campus CUP," broadcast weekly, is headed by singer Kenny Hall, comedian Bob Krauser, and Doreen Banninger.

Future program plans include the Cosmopolitan Club members and a campus composer as guests.

A jittersby content is one of the extra features of this youth variety program.

Looking ahead to the week after our long-neglected vacation, the TKAE has planned a dessert for a society on Wednesday evening. The AGY's will have their Founder's Day banquet at the Student Union at 6 p.m. Thursday.

And not too far in the distance is that contest to beat all contests — the Ugly Man Contest which is sponsored by the Alpha Phi Omega's during the week of April 13 to 17.

Omega chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity has elected their new officers. They are John Walker, president; Dick Lehman, vice-president; Dan Travis, secretary; and Ray McClure, treasurer.

New Art Exhibit To Have Opening This Wednesday

An exhibition called "Southwestern Textiles and Textiles" will open Wednesday in the art gallery of the Fine Arts Building.

The exhibition, part of the collection of Alfred I. Barton, Miami, was organized by Allan McNab, director of the Lowe Gallery at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla.

The exhibition contains 28 retables and 80 textiles. A majority of the textiles was done in the Nineteenth Century and represent the work of the Rio Grande, Pueblo, and Navajo craftsmen.

The retables are paintings of saints done by craftsmen called Santeros. They were painted in colonial New Mexico in the early Nineteenth Century.

According to Dr. Donald Weissman, head of the art department, the works in this exhibition comprise one of the outstanding groups of surviving works by the folk artists of America.

He also said that the exhibition has been planned as an important adjunct to the Kentucky Folk Arts Festival held on campus April 6-11.

"The Barton collection offers a kind of background for the folk arts of Kentucky which will be on exhibition concurrently," Dr. Weissman said.

Push Cart Derby To Be Sponsored By Lambda Chi's

Lambda Chi Alpha, social fraternity, will sponsor a Push Cart Derby Saturday, April 25. Each fraternity, sorority and residence hall has been asked to enter a push cart in the derby.

A parade will open the festivities at 12:30 p.m. with the entrants parading from the campus through Lexington and back to the front of the Administration Building.

There will be two push cart relay races, one for the girls and one for the boys. The races will be staged on the circle drive in front of the Administration Building. A trophy will be presented to the winning girl's team and one to the winning boy's team.

The security and fraternity with the most original push carts will also be presented with trophies.

Fraternities, sororities and residence halls also been asked to select a candidate for the Derby Queen contest.

Trophies will be awarded to winners by one of the movie stars who will be in Lexington for the pre-Kentucky Derby celebration scheduled in Memorial Coliseum.

High school bands throughout Kentucky will take part in the opening parade. The bands will be on campus for the State Music Festival.

Fencers Edge UL; Meet Vandy Tomorrow

The UK swordsmen balanced their record at four wins and four losses last Saturday by zombing the University of Louisville 16-11.

The score does not tell the true story of the match, since Coach Scott Breckinridge turned the meet over to his second line fencers after the Wildroot sabre and epee teams had opened up a wide lead over the Cardinals.

In sabre, Kentucky blasted the Cards by an 8-1 score, as Captain Bill Seiler and Tom Prather each copped three bouts each, and Lee Shine took two.

The Big Blue epee squad won their first match of the year in beating Louisville 6-3. Charles Vittorio led the "pepers" with two wins, and Bob Dodson, Ed Sternberg, Joe Clark and Bill Adams each chipped in with one victory apiece.

At this point, the Cats led 14-4, so Breckinridge decided to let his reserves handle the foil event. Seiler won his only match and Paul Wright got one win for the only Kentucky points, as the Cardinals got some consolation with a 7-2 victory.

Seiler's four wins and Prather's three led the Cats rout and the one-armed, former Wildcat, Bill Hancock, with his usual excellent performance, topped UL point-getters with three wins. Captain Mike Quinn, Paul Ross, and John McBrayer won two bouts each in the losing cause.

A rumor is going around that Hancock will return to his former district grounds (UK) next year. This would greatly brighten the Wildcat 1954 fencing outlook, since the irrepressible Bill Seiler will graduate.

The win halted a Kentucky losing streak at four, and gave them a clear slate against Louisville for the year, having won the first 14-13. CAT FENCERS MEET VANDY The Cats will attempt to keep their new winning streak going, when they invade Nashville, Tennessee, tomorrow for a match with their bitter rivals, Vanderbilt.

Competition will be limited to foil only. In Kentucky's first test of the year, they edged the Commodores, 5-4, at Lexington. However, Breckinridge admitted that he was expecting a little easier win this time, since his fencers are very strong.

Breckinridge named Seiler, Wright, John Whittenburg, and a new face, Al Lupinetti, to make the trip. He said that Vittorio might make the trip, since Seiler wants to make a foil man out of him. Vittorio is usually the team's leading rip man.

Dawson Will Give Talk On H-Bomb

Dr. Lyle R. Dawson, head of the chemistry department, will discuss the "H-Bomb" at Coffee Chat at 4 p.m. Monday in the Music Room of the Student Union.

Oh, Georgia booze is mighty fine booze, But it cuts the soles right off your shoes, For hell's broke loose in Georgia.

Stephen Vincent Benet

To some of our sportsmanhood-bankrupted contemporaries in the daily field, we dedicate the foregoing, for they certainly took off on a journalistic binge when the first reports of the Georgia-based suit against Coach Adolph Rupp broke last Friday morning. Streamers screamed the announcement!

By the time Sunday morning rolled around, how strange and peaceful! Inside, far inside in many instances, and in small type was the news that Adolph was again in the saddle, armed for the fray.

How do we feel about this, another attempt to smear Coach Rupp? Well, we simply echo the words of a fellow student—who spoke, well for all of us—when he said, "Of all the lousie, low-down smelling attempts to vilify a man, this is the..... and anyone who....."

Furthermore,..... and when I try to find words to speak, I can only use these..... And that's that!

Spring has now sprung and Mrs. Bradberry has retracted Rupp's name and the large dailies are left holding the bat as their little mal-publicity expose' has backed on them. The Louisville Times had thousands of issues of Friday afternoon paper here in Lexington one hour or so after the announcement of the suit came over the wire. It seems impossible to us that this would be possible if the presses hadn't been running all morning.

Oh, yes, while we are on the subject of Coach Rupp, we noted that one sports editor on Sunday announced that there was widespread demand among Kentuckians for the retirement of Coach Rupp.

Will those fine folks let us know which phone booth they plan to hold the next "Get-Rid-Of-Rupp" convention? It would be very crowded, I am afraid, unless there are some out-of-town sports editors and some assorted coaches on hand.

One interesting feature which popped up in the fencing meet with Louisville last Saturday was in the reappearance of Bill Hancock. Bill gained his initial fencing experience here at Kentucky under Coach Scott Breckinridge.

Bill is one of Coach Charley Resse's acres this year despite the fact that he only has one arm, his left. In the first meet with Louisville this year, Hancock won a majority of his matches but didn't fare as well last weekend.

It is a credit to a boy with the get-up-and-go of Hancock who, despite this handicap, has gone ahead and over come it.

We would like to thank Mr. Ted Sanford, proxy of the Kentucky High School Basketball Association, for the accommodations at the tournament last weekend and also to congratulate him on the fine job he and his staff did to make the tourney a success.

Also working the tournament in an official role was a boy who is very familiar around these parts, Tommy Bell. Bell was asked by the various coaches to take on the officials role and he didn't let them down in one of the best officiated tournaments in all time.

We would like to hand out a couple of orchids now that the Intramural basketball league is over. One goes to I-M director Bill McCabbin for his untiring work to make the basketball league this year, one of the biggest and best in many years here at UK. Also for his aid in our coverage of the games on our I-M page of the paper.

The other posse will go to the referees who did an exceptional job of whistle blowing. This tough job was handled capably by Shelby Linville, Al Bruno, Carl Newey, Bill Cruze, Doug Moseley, Norm Miller, Bob Hardy, Kingston Adams and Jerry Beatty. Hats off to all those in the I-M department that did such a fine job.

The "Rules-makers" to whom we appealed in last week's column came out soon after with the announcement, that due to a lack of satisfactory rules replacements, that the one-plus-one rule would remain in effect next year.

While talking to high school coaches during the state tourney, it seems that the one main evil of such a rule, besides slowing up the game and promoting higher scores, is the fact the man shooting the free throw becomes lazy and the pressure of making it in the first attempt is nil. With a second try available, the first one isn't necessary.

A return to the old method, in itself, would have been one improvement, these "Rules-makers" could have made.

We sat through the entire cage tourney last week and in games which weren't exceptionally close and were dragging, the one-plus-one rule slowed it up to the extent, that the contest became even more unbearable. Well we have hopes of some changes possibly next year.

Spring Roundup Four Spring Sports Open 1953 Season

TRACK

The UK mile relay team will compete in the Southern Relays in Birmingham, Ala. on April 3 and 4, it was announced by Dr. Don Cash Seaton, head track coach.

The Southern Relays are one of the largest track exhibitions for college sprinters. Schools such as Harvard, Yale, Michigan, and Princeton, which emphasize track more than other sports, plus other colleges from all over the mid-west and east will compete.

The UK relay team will be made up of Doug Adams, Jay Wallace, and George Rishell with footballer Clyde Carlisle and freshman Eddie Ernst backing hard for the remaining position.

Coach Seaton said that in addition to the relay team, he would probably take along Jim Proffitt and Aron Bevin for the discus and shot put field events. Both these boys were released last week by Coach Paul Bryant for the spring indoor sports. They are both football players.

Children who are expected to aid the UK track team this spring are Dick Maloney and Earl Carter in the high jump, Leo Arnold, 440, and Don Leonardson who has been looking exceptionally good on the hurdles.

The absence of UK star miler "Speedy" Price has been all but too conspicuous. Price was expected to lead the UK miles this year, but he has been ill since the beginning of the spring semester. Coach Seaton hopes he may recover before the end of the track season.

Whitfield To Star In Relays

The Spiked Shoe Society announced that the fifth annual Spiked Shoe Relays will be held on the campus April 29, with world champion runner Mal Whitfield as guest competitor.

Invitations have gone out to Kentucky's 112 high schools currently competing in track and field. Invitations are expected to attract the cream of Kentucky High School trackmen.

Doug Adams, President of the Spiked Shoe Society, said Whitfield will be featured in two exhibition middle distance races against top UK runners and two of the state's best high school tracksters.

BASEBALL

The UK baseball team is rounding up its final week of workouts before beginning the season with an invasion of the South for games with Georgia and Florida.

Opening the season, Florida will have two games series Friday and Saturday, the Cats then move to Georgia for a two-day stand Monday and Tuesday.

Coach Harry Lancaster said that he expects to take 25 men on the trip. He has plans to open against Florida with Jim Day, a right-hander who hurled a good ball for the Cats last season during the Easter weekend.

Lancaster said Day will work with Smith, last year's number two man, Riddle and Brewer, two promising Kentucky pitchers, the team's new pitcher, Herbie Hunt and should make their mark in the SEC.

WAITING FOR THE GUN, and they're off. These four tracksters will comprise the mile relay squad which will travel to Birmingham for the Southern Relays, held annually in that southern town. From left to right, they are: Jay Wallace, Doug Adams, Ed Ernst and George Rishell. The actual season will get under way for Dr. Seaton's track squad after Easter when they play host to Marshall College of Huntington on April 11.

High Coy are slated to work Seaton's game.

Commenting on the opening line up, Lancaster said the infield would be Bill Evans at first, either Harry Jones or Doug Leathers, a freshman who has been impressive in early workouts, at second, Larry Jones at short and Mike Willard at third.

The outfield will have All-Conference Frank Ramsey in center, John Shattuck in right and Jess Curry in left. Charlie Anderson will open behind the plate.

TENNIS

Tennis is attracting a good deal of attention this spring with Capt. Monty Price, returning Jetermen Ed Rodman, and George Koger making up the nucleus of a well balanced net team. The squad also includes two high school champs, Harry Landon, Covington regional champ and Glen Dorroh, Lexington regional winner. With eleven other hopefuls working out the team will meet Tennessee at Knoxville April 11.

GOLF

Coach John Owens has a bright outlook for his Wildcat links team day and Tuesday.

Outlook For Season Depends On One-Platoon Capabilities

By PAUL "BEAR" BRYANT as told to Leslie Morris

(The Kernel has been asked by various alumni to obtain Coach Bryant's personal views upon the new rules changes in collegiate football, and his own estimate of his prospects for the coming season. In compliance with that request, we asked Coach Bryant to answer these questions for us briefly as he and his staff get ready for spring practice.)

"It's a little early, in view of the changes brought about by the new rule, to say absolutely what kind of a team we will have when we go into action next September. Right now we're in the same category as the fan."

"Even though we feel we do know our athletes and the boys who will probably fit into the new scheme, we certainly haven't many prospects who have already displayed an ability to play both offensive and defensive football, with the exception of Steve Mellinger and Jim Proffitt."

Strength Will Be In Numbers
"Our principle strength should be in the number of men we have returning. Our weakness will be a lack of experience, since our squad will be made up of mostly juniors and sophomores. "Our passing game should be improved, and it wasn't as bad last year as most people think. We threw at least as many touchdown passes as Parilli did when he was a sophomore. Our chief passers will be Dick Shatto, Bob Hardy, Herbie Hunt, and we expect Mellinger and Bradley Mills to throw some."

"The chief receivers should be Mellinger, Proffitt, Clyde Carlig, Al Zampino, Mills, Sam Sartain, and Max Mason. He is eligible. "Defensively we ought to be better, particularly on pass defense, but we'll sure miss boys like Bob Fry, Frank Fuller, and John Griggs. Our secondary should be a lot better with a year's experience. It will be sounder, and should eliminate many of the long runs and passes that ticked against us last year."

"I don't want to sound too optimistic, but I think our kicking game will be better, also. Our kickers will be Jim Mayo, Mason, Mills, and Miles Willard."

Speed To Be Improved
"Offensively, our team speed should be much improved. We will have a very light squad, especially in the line. Our running game will probably depend on how such boys as Ray Cornell, Tom Adkins, Howard Schellenberg, and Zampino, develop an offensive technique. They have never played anything but deensive football. "Our success depends on the desire displayed in practice this spring during the change-over, and the spirit and morale of the squad in general next fall. Of course, a lot depends on being able to find two or three take-charge guys out there on the field."

"We have a tough schedule, starting on Sept. 19 against the Texas A&M's, and ending Nov. 21 with Tennessee. We will continue to use our "Split-T" style of attack, with some variations added to adapt to the new substitution limits."

New Rules Won't Affect Morale
"Will morale take a nose-dive as a result of the new rule changes? I don't think so. Competition for starting assignments will still be strong, and we plan to alternate two teams. Really outstanding specialists will continue to figure prominently in our plans."

"The requisites for this new era will include speed in the line, ability to play pass defense in the backfield, and a genuine desire. "An athlete, who through continuous hard work develops the skill to play both offensively and defensively will learn many profitable lessons that will be of benefit to him in later life. For that reason alone, I highly approve of the present rule, and am looking forward to next fall."

Must I be a college graduate to take Aviation Cadet Training?
No. But you must have completed a minimum of 60 semester hours or 90 quarter hours toward a degree. In addition, under the new Aviation Cadet training program, you must be between the ages of 19 and 26 1/2 years, unmarried, and in good physical condition—with high requirements for eyes, ears, and heart and teeth.

How long before I get my commission?
60 calendar weeks. You will receive the finest aviation training in the world—training that not only equips you to fly modern military aircraft but prepares you for executive and administrative work as well. At the completion of your training, you will have acquired a commission as a 2nd Lieutenant and the coveted silver wings of the United States Air Force.

Where do I take my training?
Pre-flight training will be at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. Primary, basic and advanced training will be taken at any one of the many Air Force bases located throughout the United States and Southwest.

What happens if I flunk the training course?
Every effort is made to help students whose progress is unsatisfactory. You can expect extra instructions and whatever individual attention you may require. However, if you fail to complete the course as an Aviation Cadet, you will be required to serve a two-year enlistment to fulfill the minimum requirement under Selective Service laws. Veterans who have completed a tour of military service will be discharged upon request if they fail to complete the course.

What pay do I get as an Aviation Cadet? And after?
As an Aviation Cadet you draw $109.20 a month pay. In addition, you get summer and winter uniforms, flight clothes, equipment, food, housing, medical and dental care and insurance... all free. After you are commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant you will be earning $5,300.00 a year—with unlimited opportunities for advancement.

Are all Aviation Cadets trained to be Pilots?
No. You can choose between becoming a Pilot or an Aircraft Observer. Men who choose the latter will become commissioned officers in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation, or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

Your future is assured if you can qualify! Here's what to do:

- 1 Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
- 2 If examination is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination at government expense.
- 3 Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
- 4 If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet training class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

WHERE TO GET MORE DETAILS
Visit your nearest Air Force Base, Air Force Recruiting Office, or your nearest Air Force ROTC Unit. Or write to:
AVIATION CADET HEADQUARTERS, U. S. AIR FORCE
CLOCK TOWER BUILDING, WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

Do Aircraft Observers get flying training, too?
Yes. Aircraft Observer Cadets receive approximately 200 hours of "in the air" instructions. The primary phase of Aircraft Observer training is the same for all branches (navigation, bombardment, etc.). The basic and advanced phases of training vary, depending on the specific course you pursue.

What kind of airplanes will I fly?
You will fly jets. The Pilot Cadet takes his first instructions in a light, civilian-type plane of approximately 100 horsepower, then graduates to the 600 horsepower T-6 "Texan" before receiving transition training in jets. You then advance gradually until you are flying such famous first-line aircraft as F-86 Sabre, F-89 Scorpion, B-47 Stratofort, B-50 Superfortress. Observer Cadets take flight instructions in the C-47 Dakota, the T-29 Convair, and the TB-50 Superfortress before advancing to first-line aircraft such as the F-89 Scorpion, B-47 Stratofort.

Will my commission be in the Regular Air Force or Reserve?
Aviation Cadet graduates, both Pilots and Aircraft Observers, get Reserve commissions as 2nd Lieutenants and become eligible to apply for a regular Air Force Commission when they have completed 18 months of active duty.

How long must I remain in Service?
After graduation from the Aviation Cadet Program, you are tendered an indefinite appointment in the United States Air Force Reserve and are called to active duty with the United States Air Force for a period of three years.

What recreation and leisure time will I have as a Cadet?
Discipline will be rigid—especially for the first few weeks. However, it is not all work. You'll find swimming pools, handball courts, movies and other forms of recreation on the post.

Where will I be stationed when I get my commission?
You may be stationed anywhere in the world... Hawaii, Far East, Europe, Puerto Rico, elsewhere. During your tour of duty, you will be in close touch with the latest developments in new flying techniques. You will continue to build up your flying experience and later should have no difficulty securing a CAA commercial pilot or navigator rating.

Motion To Drop Rupp Suit Filed This Wednesday

tion, through its committee on unethical practice of law.

The suit, filed last Friday, charged that the defendants "concocted a fraudulent and degrading scheme of gambling in schools, colleges and university sports and athletics" and "seduced student leaders and players to betray their institutions and devotees of the institution and college sports."

Coach Rupp promptly branded the petition as "malicious and false" and "wholly untrue."

Coach Rupp said, "Of all the smear campaigns that ever have been conducted against anyone, this is the rottenest. It is evidently a well-organized campaign aimed entirely to discredit me. The timing of everything has been perfect."

"No one has fought for clean high school sports and tried to keep them free from gambling harder than I have," Rupp said. He said that the suit was evidently an attempt to discredit him among high school sports circles.

William H. Townsend and Robert H. Hobson, Rupp's legal counsel, filed a motion to strike from the record all allegations in the complaint which referred in any way to Rupp. A hearing on the motion was set for April 15.

In federal court procedure a suit cannot be dismissed after an answer has been filed except by leave of the court.

Townsend said that he planned to go ahead with his own motion for dismissal and that he would oppose any dismissal except on the grounds that it would show Rupp innocent.

"Unless the motion dismissing the suit succeeds the facts set out in my motion, that the suit is unauthorized and false, I will insist upon dismissal on our own motion," Townsend said.

He added that he was acting only for Rupp and was not interested in whether the suit against the other two defendants was dismissed.

Coach Rupp has instructed his attorneys to seek federal court disciplinary action against Edge. He said he plans to explore all means to counteract damage to his reputation.

Latin Is Subject Of Skiles' Article

Dr. Jonah W. D. Skiles, head of the foreign language department, recently had an article published in the Catholic High School Quarterly Bulletin.

Dr. Skiles' article, "The Place of Latin in the Catholic High School Curriculum," was delivered at the annual meeting of the southern regional unit secondary school department, N.C.E.A.

The article states that Latin (1) affords linguistic perception and the ability to understand and communicate; (2) offers word aptitude; (3) offers a good background in Latin to Western civilization; (4) offers a feeling for moral and spiritual values; and (5) puts the student face to face with people as they are, for Greek and Roman classics, like all classics, tell the truth about people.

There was a big, muscular fellow named Joe Schlumph. He was full-back on the football team, captain of the baseball team, and star of the basketball team. He had a roommate named Freddie, who spent more time reading books than Joe did sewing letters onto his sweaters.

One day, Freddie came running in. He was obviously greatly excited. "Joe!" he panted, wiping the steam from his horn-rimmed glasses. "Guess what! I've just found the perfect shirts for all college men! They're brand new... and they're great for dates or class."

"I know," replied Joe. "Van Heusen's new short collar shirts. They're the latest thing this year... and those smart short collars go perfectly with college clothes."

"Well," said Freddie, "that's not all. They've got one called the Van Karon that's the epitome of good looks. It has a diminutive collar that flatters anyone's cervical region. And it sets off your cravat impeccably!"

"Honest Injun!," said Joe.

"What's more," said Freddie, "they have a comprehensive collection of metric cravat styles... including short spreads, short eyelets, short button-downs... plus short collars with regular or oxford points. And you can get the new Van Heusen Short Collar Shirts in a myriad of smart new colors. They're so handsome they'll make any college man look like an oligarch!"

"An oligarch?," said Joe. "Well I don't care, I'm gonna buy some anyway!"

'Ugliest Man' To Be Chosen By Students

An Ugly Man Contest will be held during the week of April 13-17 by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. The contest, an annual affair, is the way in which APO members raise funds to perform various services for the University and the community.

Last year the fraternity sponsored splash parties at the UK pool for senior scouts, donated magazine subscriptions to the infirmary, put raffles in the infirmary, helped sponsor the K-Book, and made up Christmas baskets for underprivileged children of Lexington and Fayette County. This was done with the money received from the Ugly Man Contest.

"You can help us and help your favorite fraternity, too," says Marvin Jones, president of APO. "All you have to do is vote for your favorite candidate."

Voting booths will be set up in the Student Union. Each vote will cost a penny, and one vote may vote any number of times. "In fact, Jones said, "we want you to vote as many times as you can."

Every fraternity enters a candidate and his picture will appear above the proper jar. Each vote should be dropped in one of the jars.

An engraved trophy will be awarded to the winner of the contest. Last year's "Ugliest Man" was Larry Myers, SPE.

"Say, haven't I seen that face of yours somewhere else?"

"Nope, it's never been anywhere but where it is now."

Four UK Students Win Bridge Honors

The 1953 campus contract bridge champions at the UK are Pat Wallington, Jane Lewis, Fred Bradley, and Lynn Hudson.

The titles were conferred by Louis D. Day, Jr., chairman of the National Amateur Bridge Tournament Committee. He said teams representing Purdue and Princeton Universities won the national championship.

More than 3,000 students from 110 leading colleges and universities in all parts of the U. S. took part in the 1953 contest. At UK, a total of 21 students participated in the tournament.

Westchester Polytechnic Institute and the University of Washington won second place in the 1953 tournament. Two teams from the University of Notre Dame, one of which included Oswald Jacoby, son of the noted card authority, tied for third place with a pair from Dartmouth College. More than 400 other students were regional and campus titles.

Certificates will be awarded to each of the four campus winners on April 9. At the same time, a plaque with the names of the winners will be placed in the trophy room of the Student Union.

Rice Institute of Houston, Texas, defending champion, captured only regional honors this year.

Other previous national winners of the tournament, now in its seventh successive year, were Washington University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Wayne University, Capital University, and the University of California.

Skit, Theme Kept Secret

A theme and a skit will serve to unite the program, but both will be kept secret until the night of the program. The members of Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary fraternity, will be the ushers for the evening.

This program was instituted before 1929 in honor of the women on the UK campus who have been outstanding in scholarship, leadership, and activities. At first only those women to be honored, attended the annual women's banquet. In 1929 Miss Sara Blanding, then dean of women, introduced a plan to sponsor a banquet which would be open to all women students.

At the time of the second World War the cafeteria was too small to accommodate the number of people who attended. Mrs. Sara B. Holmes, present dean of women, planned a service in Memorial Hall. The service which had been called "Women's Honors Convocation" was changed
