CHRISTMAS TREE IS SPONSORED BY Y ORGANIZATIONS

Campus Cedar Will Be Decorated for Students of Lincoln Graded School

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS ASKED TO CONTRIBUTE Will Purchase Toys and Candy For One Hundred and Fifty-Three Students

Continuing its annual policy of giving Christmas cheer to the children of Lincoln school, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., at a cabinet meeting Tuesday night, December 11, voted unanimously to sponsor a Christmas tree and furnish "Santa Claus" for the children of the primary and first and second grades of this school. The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. will bring Christmas to 153 children enrolled in those three grades.

Plans for financing the tree were adopted upon the suggestion of the committee in charge and it was agreed that the custom of placing boxes over the Christmas tree, heretofore been the custom, will be abandoned this year, and only the box under the decorative tree to be placed near the Administration building will be there for students who wish to donate to the cause. It was further agreed that faculty members be given a special opportunity to contribute to the convocation to be held next Tuesday. The Pitkin Club, student luncheon club, and members of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. cabinets, will furnish the remainder of the money necessary for the tree.

Because the Christmas furnished by the two organizations will be practically the only Christmas for the majority of the children at Lincoln school to receive, a special plea to the students to contribute has been made by Mr. Peck, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and Miss Lewis Lewis, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., to contribute. The money will be used to buy toys, fruits, candies and nuts for the children.

U. of L. Junior Wins Rhodes Scholarship

Aubrey M. Cates Will Represent Kentucky at Oxford University

The annual election of the American Rhodes scholars was held last week, and Aubrey M. Cates, a junior at the University of Louisville, was chosen to represent Kentucky at Oxford University for the next two years. Election took place in 27 states, and the award for each carries an annual stipend of 400 pounds, or about $2,000. The choice is based on intellectual achievement combined with qualities of character, leadership, and interest in outdoor sports.

Rhodes scholars formerly were appointed for three years, but since it is now possible for an American graduate to take a degree at Oxford in two years, the trustees have authorized appointments for only two years. The Rhodes scholars, just elected, will begin their work at Oxford in October, 1929. For the 32 scholars who open this year, there were 398 candidates, each of whom previously had been selected to represent his college or university in the competition.

Professor Knight Writes for Bookman

The Christmas number of The Bookman contains an article entitled "James Lane Allen's Christmas Trilogy," written by Prof. G. C. Knight, of the Department of English. In his article Professor Knight explains that which has puzzled followers of the Kentucky novelist for a decade, that is, what the novelist was trying to do in "The Bride of the Mistletoe" and "The Doctor's Christmas Eve."

Based upon documents found among Allen's literary relics, Professor Knight makes it clear that the titles as such objected to in the early years of this century have a purpose surprisingly different from what critics and readers thought. Professor Knight, who has been preparing a critical study of Allen's career, is writing a series of papers on this subject for "Letters," University literary magazine.

Jesse Herrman, of the Second Presbyterian church.

FLU EPIDEMIC HITS UNIVERSITIES

Disease is in Milder Form Than in 1918-20; Sewance and University of Missouri Forced to Close

The epidemic of influenza which is sweeping the schools and colleges of the United States and Canada has now reached the University, according to a statement from Dr. T. D. Rhodes, of the department of hygiene, Thursday. Only eight nine cases have been reported at the dispensary. None of these is critical, and two are in the convalescent stage.

Dr. Rhodes said that if the disease were kept as mild under control as it is at present, the force of the epidemic would strike here before the Christmas holidays begin. He stated, however, that every precaution should be taken to avoid the spread of the disease. That certain public gatherings should be shunned. The five large schools which are closed are in widely separated sections of the country. They include: University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.; Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind.; University of Missouri, Columbia; the Seminary of St. Therese, near Montreal, Quebec, and Levis, Quebec.

Despite these difficulties a play will be decided upon before the Christmas holidays, and tryouts for the play will be held after Christmas. Before the tryouts, a synopsis of the play together with a description of such character in it will appear in the Kernel. This will enable those trying out to study the characters before they have a reading.

The Kentucky Derby—It's Not High Hat Is Title and Slogan of U. K. Comic Magazine

(By Beecher Adams) "The Kentucky Derby—It's not high hat." This was the title and slogan adopted for the University comic magazine by members of Sigma Delta Chi, men's international professional journalism fraternity, and Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalism fraternity, at a joint meeting held Thursday afternoon. You might not believe it but it took a long time to figure out that name. It was a real puzzle. The argument and blood shed before any one thought of it. You see, that little line assuring the public that the magazine is absolutely necessary, because whenever you see a derby on this pasture it's about the highest hat that this ever happened. It was the suggestion of some of these dried pony hides. Whenever they are topped with one of these said derbies, the rest is just too bad. The University of Texas, we understand that it is a tradition that the editor of the college comic be gently nudged into print in "The Kentucky Derby" it would be just too bad on the struggling editor. One enterprising young instructor even went so far as to send in a poem entitled "Our Derby." The poem was a real gem. The lady like the noted Nell didn't belong in our magazine, so we cremated her and sent her ashes to Texas in order that she might be buried in the land of the living. Let this be a warning to the literary student who is ever contemplating "The Kentucky Derby," but remember we will countenance no evil words or you shall be judged accordingly. We might place a standard to go by, in sending in jokes, but it should not be necessary. However, leave all "derms" out, all jokes about traveling salesmen are taboo, and intoxicating beverages even unto the extent of one half of one per cent, are outlawed. If there is any complaint, here are the poor boobs who have sworn to take the responsibility. The editor who gets kicked out: O. K. Barnes; Assistant Editors, Byron Humphrey, Helen Shelton, Jess Laughlin, Martha Minahan; Business Manager, Edna E. Adams; Advertising Manager, Laurence Shropshire, and Circulation Manager, Lucille Short.

Attractive favors and programs will be presented to all the guests. There will be 15 no-brands, one representing each of the fraternity hosts. These will be called in the following order: Triangle, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, Kappa Alpha, Alpha Sigma Phi, Sigma Xi, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Tau and Phi Sigma Kappa.

The Pan-Hellenic representatives will entertain their dinner in the Red room of the Lafayette hotel at 6:30 o'clock this evening. The room will be decorated with roses and ferns. The dinner will be furnished by Loop McGowan and his Lafayette hotel orchestra. The committee in charge of the dinner consists of: Samuel French, chairman; Ted Hardwick, Louis Weber, Carol Byron and Jack McQuirk.

Strollers Forced To Change Play

Unable to Obtain "Butter and Egg Man" for Christmas; Late Eligibles Announced

Strollers, student dramatic organization, did not present the "Butter and Egg Man" for Christmas. The plan, however, was planned, due to the fact that they cannot obtain the play for production. When negotiations with Samuel French, who owns the play, were made, it was learned that the play could not be presented under any consideration in towns where there are stock companies. Copies of "The Tightwad" by Robert Keith, and of "The Square Cook" by James P. Judge, which have been in the hands of the Strollers' literary gymnasium for a long time, have been re-ordered.

Despite these difficulties a play will be decided upon before the Christmas holidays, and tryouts for the play will be held after Christmas. Before the tryouts, a synopsis of the play together with a description of such character in it will appear in the Kernel. This will enable those trying out to study the characters before they have a reading.

Jack Woods, Frances Baskett and James Ballar were the Strollers' tryouts which were held Monday night.

Prof. Southwick appeared in Lexington under the auspices of the English Club of the University. He was introduced by Prof. L. E. Metzler, head of the English department. After acknowledging the introduction, Prof. Southwick classified "Hamlet" as the most popular of the four great tragedies of Shakespeare, and mentioned briefly the numerous critical theories advanced around the most widely-discussed figure in all literature.

Petition Requests Permission for 'K' Club Organization

A petition will be presented to proper University officials within the next few days requesting permission for the organization of a "K" club. This club will consist of members only from those who have won a varsity letter in one of the four major sports at the University, namely football, basketball, baseball and track. The purposes of this "K" Club will be to develop greater respect for the varsity letter among pro lettermen and candidates for the teams, to help regulate student actions at athletic events with an instruction of the campus, to entertain visiting high school athletes, to stop smoking at the basketball games and to promote better sportsmanship toward visiting teams and athletic officials. The "K" men have never had a real organization although they have had a few names. Traditionally all universities have clubs of this kind and their influence has been widespread.

MAUERMEN FACE EASTERN NORMAL IN GYMNASIUM

Teachers' College Sending Team of Veteran Players to Lexington

STARTING LINE-UP REMAINS MYSTERY

'Cats Meet Miami University December 21 in Second Game of Season

(By Laurence Shropshire) Coach Johnnie Maurer and his bounding basketballers in blue will officially open the Kentucky net season tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Men's gymnasium. The quintet from Eastern Normal Teachers' College, who are the scheduled victims of Captain Lawrence McGinnis and his mates.

Coach Maurer will get their initial eye-fel of the Wildcat cagers in action this season. Behind locked doors, Coach Maurer has been drilling his charges in the past few weeks in preparation for their baptism under fire.

No doubt the game will be a colorful one. First, there will be the Wildcats in their shiny, new blue and white B. V. D.'s and the Normal outfit in their maroon jerseys. Next, there will be the eager crowd always present at a "first night." And just to be sure that everyone has a good time, Coach Maurer will have on hand with a section of the "best band in Dixie" to lend additional harmony to the occasion. And lastly, augmenting the noise-making factors, will be the lusty-lunged vendors of Mr. Suky as they enthusiastically ply their trade.

Just who will compose the starting team for Kentucky is a problem that has assumed the proportions of a Chinese laundry tick. Although the Wildcats are practicing on the gym floor, the Mausermen appear to be rapidly rounding into condition until they are ready to meet the Wildcats in a home game, when they returned to a complete reversal of form.

In a practice game with the freshmen last week, the varsity team managed to outscore the yearlings but their exhibition was a pitiful one. Although they attempted 50 shots at the basket, only 10 were successful in just exactly 23 per cent which is a mighty low average for anybody's team. Coach Maurer sent the varsity squad through a long drill in fundamentals yesterday and will give them a light workout this afternoon in preparation for perfecting some sort of an offense.

The type of offense on which the Wildcats have been coached requires an accurate timing of plays and is difficult for a team to learn. The shift from a small floor to a larger one has generally ruined a great deal of teamwork developed before the change, and the men also seem slow and flat-footed on defense in comparison.

Court in Good Shape

The playing floor is entirely convalesced from its attack of combustion suffered some time ago and under the supervision of Coach Hembree, the court has regained perfect health. The whole court was sanded and given a dose of linseed oil which made the court slippery for a few days. However, with its glistening countenance massaged tonight by the janitor, the court is in good shape and should be in A-1 condition tomorrow.

The starting line-up should find Captain McGinnis and Paul McBrayer in the center. Coach Hembree cancelled the final football game on Eastern's card in order to start basketball practice and give the Wildcats a chance to recapture. His starting team will probably be composed of Lee and Salvers, forwards; Clifton, center; and Taylor and Combs, guards.

Kentucky has an extremely difficult early season schedule, meeting the quintet from Miami University next Friday night. The Ohians are bringing the same team to the Blue Grass that defeated the Wildcats in their opening game last fall. All of which simply means that Coach Maurer and his cohorts will have their hands full next week.

S. A. E. DEFEATS DELTA CHI

S. A. E. defeated the Delta Chi in the final round of the volley ball tournament in the Men's gym last night. The scores were 15-7 and 15-9.

THE SEASON'S GREETINGS

This issue of The Kernel will be the last one until after the Christmas Holidays. We have in this office take this opportunity to wish to each and every member of the Alumni Association the merriest of Merry Christmases and the happiest of Happy New Years.

This issue of The Kernel will mark the close of another year of work for the Alumni Association. We are glad to be able to say that the year just closed has been in most every respect a successful one. The Association is growing and new members are being added all the time. Still this growth has not been in keeping with the number of graduates each year who are ushered into the ranks of the Alumni. We, as an Association, are neither old or young. We have rendered one service to the University in the construction of the basketball building and stadium. We should not rest here on the laurels of this one service. We should keep our eyes turned on the future and the possibilities of our Alma Mater and the service we can render to her. She gave to us all that valuable something that cannot be gauged by dollars or cents. Nor can we gauge it by achievement until our own personal book of life is closed.

At this period of the year we urge you all to give a thought to the University of Kentucky. When, as all men do, you make out your New Year's resolutions, resolve to be more interested and more active in your Alumni Association. The financial outlook is not large enough to keep out any who wish to be active in the work of the Association. The opportunities for service are great. What ever service that you can render to the University is not only a service to your Alma Mater but to education in Kentucky and the future citizens of our state. It is safe to predict that if you do render some service to Kentucky your Christmases will be merrier and your New Years happier than ever before. Merry Christmases. Happy New Year.

AN ALUMNI CONFERENCE

Last month the Alumni Association of Ohio State University held its third All-Ohio Conference. This plan, inaugurated and carried out by the Ohio State University alumni is doing great things in creating favorable sentiment over Ohio for Ohio State University.

The attention of this office was called to these conferences by an interested and active member of our own Alumni Association. We are grateful to him for his interest and fully believe with him that such a conference would be beneficial to the University of Kentucky even more than the most optimistic of us will believe.

The plan at Ohio State is to have one interested and active alumnus from each county in the state present on the campus for a conference usually held during the football season. At this conference the needs, aims and plans of the university are explained fully to the alumni. Each alumnus present is the guest of the University at a dinner or luncheon and then a special section of seats are reserved for them at a football game.

It is, in our humble opinion, an excellent plan and we are going to work out one similar for Kentucky Alumni next year. One of the greatest difficulties that our University has to overcome is ignorance, on the part of Alumni as well as others, of the aims, services and problems of Kentucky's institution of highest learning.

You Kentucky Alumni keep this in mind. If it works in Ohio it will work in Kentucky. What they have done here can do just as well if not a little better.

ALUMNA MARRIED IN SANTO DOMINGO

Miss Rachelle Shacklett, 1925, Former Assistant Dean of Women, Weds Canadian Banker.

Rachelle Shacklette, who was graduated from the College of Arts and Sciences of the University, with the class of 1925, was married to Mr. George Frederick Hinchcliffe, of Ottawa, Canada, and Santo Domingo City, Dominican Republic, on October 27, according to an announcement that recently reached the Alumni office. The wedding was solemnized at the British Legation in Santo Domingo City, Mr. E. A. DeCormeau, consul and charge d'affaires of that city officiating.

There were about twenty guests present, including Mr. and Mrs. Lansing Nichols, of Cynthiana, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Taylor and daughter, Miss Rosemary Taylor, Mr. Marcus Elliott, Mr. Evan E. Young, the American minister; Mr. E. I. Kilbourne, of the Cuban Dominican Sugar Company, and others.

The bride wore a lovely gown of coral lace and georgette crepe with white hat and slippers and her bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony the bridal luncheon was served at the staff house. The same evening Mr. and Mrs. Lansing Nichols, with whom the bride traveled from New York to Santo Domingo, entertained with a buffet supper at San Isidro in honor of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride is of unusual beauty and charm. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority and a much admired favorite in Lexington. After graduation she held the office of assistant dean of women at the University. She spent the summer in Lexington, going from here the first of October to visit her sister, Mrs. Byron McAuliffe East, in New York City before sailing for Santo Domingo.

Mr. Hinchcliffe is from a prominent family of Ottawa, Canada, and holds the position of manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Santo Domingo where he and his bride are at home.

AN IDEAL GIFT

Around this time of the year we all begin to wonder about Christmas gifts. We all are beset by the problem of what to give. There are probably none of you who do not at times wonder just what you can give to some former classmate or college friend who has remembered you in the past. Why not make it something unique? There is nothing that would be more acceptable than a subscription to the Kentucky Kernel. The price is only $3 and we will do all the work for you. Just mail in your check with your name and the name and address of the one to whom you want The Kernel sent. We will place him on the mailing list and on Christmas morning he will get a card from us stating that you have remembered him in this way. We made this offer last year and several took advantage of it. It resulted in the receiver becoming interested again in his Alma Mater and Alumni association and this year every one of them is back in the fold as active. Why not take advantage of this opportunity to remember your classmate or college chum?

CINCINNATI CLUB HEARS BUCKNER

President of Alumni Association Is Main Speaker at Monthly Dinner of Alumni Organization.

Dr. G. Davis Buckner, president of the Alumni Association was the principal speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the University of Kentucky Club of Greater Cincinnati, Tuesday evening, December 4. The meeting was in the form of a dinner and was held at the Industrial Club in Covington.

The University of Kentucky Club of Greater Cincinnati has been an active unit of the Alumni Association for a great number of years. This year regular monthly meetings have been held on the first Tuesday evening in every month at the Industrial Club in Covington. The officers which have been elected for this year are as follows: William F. Simpson, 1926, president; Miss Lillian Rasch, 1925, vice president, and Thos. Miles, 1911, treasurer, and Miss Lulu Northcutt, 1924, secretary.

The meeting at which Dr. Buckner spoke was one of the most interesting and enjoyable of the whole year and a large number of graduates and former students were present. The following account of the meeting was published in one of the Covington newspapers.

The University of Kentucky Alumni Club had the privilege of hearing Dr. G. D. Buckner, widely known biological chemist, at the club meeting at the Industrial Club Tuesday evening. The members assembled for a dinner at 6:30 after which a short musical was given by Holmes High School students. Miss Lillian Rasch, of the faculty of Holmes high school, and vice president of the club, arranged the program and introduced the various numbers. "Sleep, Kentucky Babe" was sung by the Holmes high school quartet with effective harmony. Miss Lillian Chowning sang a group of so-

STUDENT COUNCIL APPRECIATION

The fraternities on the campus that have given dances already this year should be commended for the splendid way in which they have supported the stand taken by the Men's Student Council. At each dance given so far this year there were members of the council present. These men were invited to be present at University dances, even though the fraternities knew that any violation of the resolution passed by the council would be reported.

The Kernel is pleased to note this support given by the fraternities. The stand taken by the council is a worthy one; yet it is a disgraceful task to have to report a fellow student for being intoxicated at a dance, but in the final analysis, it is the best thing for the University. The men in the council are not doing this thing because of any personal prejudice that they may have, but solely to fulfill a duty which they have taken upon themselves.

The Kernel believes that the fraternities on the campus will continue to give their support to the Men's Student Council by suppressing any doubt in the minds of men who think that the movement to suppress drinking at University social functions is being pushed by "outside influence" and not by the students themselves. This is not true. The movement was started by students on the campus who have the foresight to see that the social rights of the majority of students on the campus are being encroached upon by a minority of students who persist in violating the rules of the University.

A MOOT QUESTION

Mr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, of Columbia University, has written expressly to the Nation for the sole purpose, it would seem, of telling the people of this country about a dangerous and degrading weapon of educational progress—the press.

Mr. Osborn says, in part: "From prolonged daily observation of child life and habit and of home, school, college and university life, I believe the modern American press to be the greatest enemy of the teacher, because it destroys all the finer creative powers of the mind, establishes false standards of human endeavor, and gives a distorted perspective of current life. With certain heroic exceptions it represents the climax of the metamorphosis and metamorphosis of the modern age, the utmost revolution from the conditions which surrounded the youthful Benjamin Franklin, natural philosopher and pioneer of American Science."

It may be conceded that the press is not wholly free from fault; that the distorted ideas of "sensational" papers are a detriment and not a boon to pedagogic ideals, but what of the good? Is it to be sacrificed on the shadowy altars of an antecedent era when music, stage and literature were the chief topics of interest; when the world moved slowly and its fragments were detached? The Kernel answers in the negative. It believes that if the question were put: What would the world and educational institutions do without newspapers? the answer would show clearly the fallacy of destructive arguments against the press.

It is in the effect of the press on education that the Kernel is interested. After conducting an inquiry into the question, it has been found that many professors have students make special reports on the better articles in the daily papers. Eighty per cent of faculty members and students read reports before attending morning classes. One may venture to say that the majority of these people are not jazz hounds, but men and women who have fine creative powers and high standards of endeavor. They realize, as has already been pointed out, that some of the articles are distorted, but not to the point of making the whole paper worthless. And they are satisfied that there is enough good to offset the bad.

This is a progressive era. The Kernel is in accord with modern ideas. The press is modern. The time of Benjamin Franklin has no comparison to present advancement, and the press is justified in keeping step with the times. Atavistic ideas are reserved for pedantic deliberation.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

This week's edition of The Kernel is the last publication of the paper until January 11. Within that time the longest vacation of the scholastic year will intervene. Beginning December 21, at noon, the holiday will extend until 8 o'clock Thursday morning, January 3. Students and faculty are looking forward to a time of rest and pleasure. They are impatient. The Kernel, too, is anxious for the time to arrive, but a few thoughts must be kept in mind, else enthusiasm will lead to painful results.

In the first place, the vacation begins at noon, and not before or after. It comes to an end exactly at 8 o'clock, January 3. The University has provided a penalty for those who violate these time limits, and it will be enforced. The Kernel urges that students take care to avoid infractions of the rule regarding last and first classes before and after a holiday.

In the second place, this is an opportune time to extend best wishes for the vacation period. Everyone should be happy during that time, and The Kernel wishes everyone connected with the University a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

COLLEGE COMMENT

WAS VANZETTI INNOCENT?

"Vanzetti was innocent!" This is the startling title of a series of articles printed in this week's Outlook, a conservative weekly which has previously displayed no undue enthusiasm for Vanzetti's innocence. Almost nine years after Vanzetti's first and prior conviction for the attempted holdup in South Brisbane, Mass. (not to be confused with the later murders in Dedham, for which Sacco and Vanzetti paid their lives), a professional gangster, Frank Silva, confessed that he, and not Vanzetti, was responsible for the first unsuccessful holdup.

The confession has been checked by Silas Bent, prominent publicist and author, and the essential facts corroborated. The Outlook has not only vouched for the authenticity and truth of Silva's confession, but has also inserted a valuable piece of documentary evidence. This is none other than the original American Railway Express receipt proving that Vanzetti received a barrel of eels on December 24, 1919, the day he was supposed to have held up the payroll truck in South Braintree.

Governor Fuller, of Massachusetts, has unfortunately displayed his customary arrogance and has refused to regard the confession as worthy of his attention. The plea that "it's all over now, and why should we stir that up again?" deserves no consideration here. If the courts of Massachusetts are to preserve the confidence of the people they must zealously defend their honor, not by refusing to consider new evidence, but by proving that the only goddess they serve is Justice. If no official notice of this confession is taken many more will conclude that anarchists, communists, and I. W. W.'s are only half citizens and not entitled to equal protection of the laws guaranteed them by the constitution. What is more important than the innocence or guilt of a dead fishmonger and a dead shoemaker is the belief that Massachusetts is interested in justice as an end in itself.—Cornell Daily Sun.

LITERARY SECTION

(MELVINA HEAVENRIDGE, Editor)

CONDESCENSION

Perhaps you feel that I am inferior—
 Certainly your eyes and tone
 Do loudly cry it.

Even were I the most insignificant ant,
 Crawling, I should be far happier
 Than you—Deny it!

If you will condescend to bend your ear
 I may condescend to whisper so that You may hear.

"You, with your haughty head can never be Rich in friends, in sympathy and love, such
 As I hold dear!" —MARGARET CUNDIFF.

A STREET SOLO

A ragged urchin sings a song
 Wheeling his baby brother along.
 When his little voice trails far away—
 In sheer fatigue of a tiresome day.

The baby stares with round blue eyes
 Until he suddenly starts and cries,
 The boy bends down with troubled care,
 As the baby laughs and pulls his hair.

The ragged urchin resumes his song,
 Pushing his baby brother along.
 Attempting to fill a father's place
 As the baby looks to his singing face.
 —LEIDA E. KEYES.

DREAM LOVE

My love was like a warm spring day
 Filled with the songs of birds
 And the beauty of budding flowers.
 Beautiful, wonderful dream of love—
 A home, a fireplace, babies, and you . . .
 And now that you have gone,
 I think I'll just go on—
 Dreaming. —ROBERT E. SHARON.

SOMEDAY

Someday we shall go away from it all
 Jerry and I and the violin—
 We shall find a warm, still friendly place
 With seagulls and oceans and a sunset;
 Peace will drift in fragrant, quiet waves.
 We shall dare to lift our eyes again,
 The memory of harsh voices and frozen eyes
 And bitter words
 Will grow fainter and fainter.
 —MARGORIE GOULD.

Music, Stage and Screen

By Thomas L. Riley

Roland Hays, the famous negro tenor, will sing at the Woodland Auditorium Tuesday night. This man, although of the color race has had the honor of singing in almost all of the important nations of the world, and has been received more cordially in some of them than in America. The program will be presented in this city by the Lexington College of Music.

No unusual offerings will be presented in the movie houses next week. Practically all pictures to be shown are of the program variety on one or two giving fair entertainment. The management of the local houses will have to present something of more importance in the next two weeks in order that they may give the fansome sort of a Christmas gift.

Double Bill at Strand Today

We think that we have expressed our opinion on double bills before in this column. For those who do not remember it we repeat that they are good if the two together make a whole day to devote to the cinema. A rather pleasant way to spend a day is being offered at the Strand now. "The House of the Sea" and "Prowlers" will be shown. "The House of the Sea" opened there yesterday but as we had about five minutes of work to do we did not have time to catch the opening. "The House of Scandal" was advertised by this theatre to appear on a double bill some time ago but for one of the reasons stated above it is known only to managers of theatres, the picture was not presented. Of the two we would think this is the best. Dorothy Sebastian and Pat O'Malley head the cast. The other part of the program is "Tollers of the Sea," which was produced by the same company, Tiffany-Stahl. This is a costume picture with a historical background in which Richard Corries, Carmel Myers and George Fawcett are featured.

"Dream of Love" at Strand Sunday
 Can you imagine Joan Crawford as a tragic actress? Neither can we. However, in "Dream of Love," which opens at the Strand theater Sunday, she is seen in a role that has been played on the speaking stage by Bernhardt, Rachel and Modjeska. The story is about her hips and pound out the black bottom to the tune of the Hungarian Rhapsody. If you have a receptive imagination, the picture is "The Midnight Taxi" at Kentucky.

Antonio Moreno has been in motion pictures for a great many years. We remember him quite well in one of the famous Pearl White serials of a decade ago. After running the gauntlet of roles the industry has offered him he is to be seen at the Kentucky Sunday in "The Midnight Taxi" which is an all-Vitaphone production with (let us pray) talking sequences. Helene Costello, Merna Loy, now quite a veteran in "talkies" are also in the picture. We are almost sure that we will enjoy parts of "The Midnight Taxi." The musical accompaniment is likely to be good. We rather like those. But when the talking comes bursting in as it always does like a bolt out of a clear sky, then we have a definite urge to pick up our hat and coat and leave.

The Ben All Program

The Raynor Lehr company continues to hold the stage at the Ben All. They have been advertised as spending a year in Louisville. Our hope is that they realize that Lexington is a smaller city and that this city also has fewer theaters than the state's metropolis. The picture offered yesterday to run through tomorrow, is "Singapore Mutiny" starring Ralph Ince and Estelle Taylor. The effort was also directed by Mr. Ince. The plot is one that concerns bloody mutiny on the high seas and is rather brutal entertainment.

For Sunday the Ben All will continue to present the Raynor Lehr company in a new offering. The motion picture to be given at that time is "Homestead," with Sammy Cohen. It is a comedy and as all previous productions of this star have been rather crude we expect this one to come up to expectations.

The Gauntlet

It is evident from the light attendance on the opening night of "The Castles Engagement," the current Gauntlet offering, that the theater-going public of Lexington does not appreciate drama done in an artistic manner. As in almost all instances of this nature the public is cheating itself and doesn't realize it. For a venture of the kind which genuine direction, stage technique, ability and entertainment are offered at an amazingly low ticket price for the entire house, should be in demand several days before the play goes on. If you have failed to give yourself a treat by seeing "The Castles Engagement," you have missed something. The play will close tomorrow night after having run the entire week.

Looking Over the Magazines

By Scott Keyes

The December crop of short stories will furnish you many hours of enjoyable reading. In the Golden Book, for example, are two old favorites which will bear a second perusal—"A Christmas Present For a Lady," by Myra Kelly, and "The Double Deed Deceiver," by O. Henry. Algeron Blackwood spins his mystic web of a style in "The Wings of Hours," in the same magazine. What narrative this author can form! What wonder he can contribute to life! The spirit of O. Henry is salient in Octavus Key Cohen's short story in Collier's for December 15. It is something of a good piece of work, as well as a masterpiece of 1928 slang. "The Girl

Who Tried Everything," is a story with an insipid plot, lifelessly worked out. However much a person may be in sympathy with the idea expressed, he almost rebels against such an exploitation of the belittled modern art. It is in Harper's.

Speaking of modern art—it is almost an education in that division of twentieth century expression to skim through the ads of magazines such as Harper's Bazar. You can trace the progress of the "colorists," as W. H. Wright calls them, by the commercial recognition they receive. And one cannot deny that they are accomplishing something.

"I will not sell by papers," says Sherwood Anderson in the current Outlook and Independent. And he proceeds to ramble around through Smythe county, Virginia, in an attempt to tell you why. After a while you will gather that it is his love of real people, to whom "the editor" is a personage, that keeps him from it. Take the stroll with him, if you have time.

Granville Hicks, a recent Harvard graduate, contributes a real article on modern literature to Forum. If you are interested at all in the subject, this will be well worth your time. It is not in spite of, but through such men as James Joyce, Eugene O'Neill, and others, he says, that great literature will arise.

Addenda—"Jingling in the Wind," Elizabeth Madox Roberts' latest, has made its appearance at the library. Professor Farquhar relays her words to the effect that it is "in words the equivalent of a musical comedy." And, softly, Professor Farquhar has another chair in his office. Santa must be coming early this year!

Life has its cheering sections, too...

Entire industries are ready to rise in homage to men who will lead the way through the riddles of physical and financial phenomena, of chemical and commercial mysteries. The world and its workers need, not just one captain to inspire victories, but a whole host. There is no limit to the size of the teams a man can command; no limit to the importance of the position he plays; no limit to his eligibility save his own desire to make and retain a place for himself.

Who will do for the telephone making of the 1950's what its leaders are doing today—if not the men of the 1930's who are just now entering the field?

(By MARTIN R. GLENN)

A lot of mosh has gone down the drain pipes since the Men's Student Council and Omicron Delta Kappa of the fraternity passed resolutions to reverse the memory of Mr. Volstead on the campus. These organizations are composed of serious and sober young fellows who are devoted to the uplift of humanity and the downing of the demon rum.

However, the inalienable rights to life, salubrity and the pursuit of snapplines have not been disturbed. Should "flaming youth" desire more than this he must needs deport himself to the great open spaces of Alaska, where nights are so long that a hang-over is unknown, where men are men and women are glad of it, where gamblers believe that honesty is the "best" policy and where flappers have no hesitancy in appearing in their bear skins.

Therefore, ye guzzlers of hair tonics and other inflammable beverages, remember that it is better to have loved and lost than to be sued for breach of promise, and if it were not for prohibition we would have only light wines and beers.

Last week I told my readers (if there be any) of the strange mannerisms, obsessions and occupations of the Pi Kappa Alphas. This week we will consider the club over on Rose and Kalmia streets that has been advertised by Gene Austin on Victor records.

Fumble along dimly lit Kalmia avenue until you arrive at the steps of a new red brick building. Ere your climb begins, strange echoes of merriment will come from some undecorated quarter of the colonial edifice. Once within, speculation ceases.

The spacious room is almost hid in a thick pall of tobacco smoke. Through the heavy haze one can imperfectly espy a mass of cluttering, restlessly moving forms as in a shadowy picture. At the far end of the room stands a piano which is being violently walloped by a rhapsodic youth. Presently one of the brothers arises and quaveringly accompanied, warbles the "Swee-et-hawt of See-egma Chi."

The Sigma Chi is a fearless lot. They were the first men's organization on the campus to install a house mother. To further demonstrate their bravery and courage, they have girdled their diapers about their loins and publicly proclaimed that they will openly defy the Pan-Hellenic Association this evening by giving their annual house dance at the same time the Pan-Hell formal is being held.

Take three lemons, two oranges, one pound of sugar, two cakes of yeast, one box of raisins, two bottles of lemon extract—and you will very likely be "pinched" for shop-lifting.

To those of you who believe that women's taste for nicotine is a newly acquired habit, turn to the book of Ruth in the Bible where it reads: "And Rebecca lighted off her camel." Girls are the same now as they were in Biblical times but the public does not have as much faith in them.

Doctor Noe Gives Address at Banquet

Stresses Sympathy and Appreciation of Fathers For Problems of Sons

Dr. J. T. C. Noe, of the College of Education, addressed more than 100 church members and sons Monday night, December 10, at the Father and Son banquet held in the dining room of the Second Presbyterian church, under the auspices of the Men's Club.

Following a welcome expressed to the father and sons by the Rev. Dr. Jesse Herrmann, pastor of the church, Doctor Noe was introduced by Dr. T. W. Rainey. In his address Doctor Noe stressed sympathy and appreciation on the part of the fathers for the problems of their sons. In order to emphasize the relations between fathers and their boys, he read several of his original poems on family life.

After Doctor Noe's address, it was announced that another Father and Son banquet would be held January 14.

The following letter, sent out to salesmen connected with the American Radiator Company, contains that which might make it well worth reproducing here. The letter follows: AMERICAN RADIATOR COMPANY December 8, 1928.

Subject: Collections, Claims, Smiles. To All Salesmen: (No. 229)

Dear Sir:

"The man worth while is the man with a smile."

"Laugh and the world laughs with you."

"The voice with a smile," and so on—every day in every way by high or low pressure they tell you to smile. There were famous old smiles—

Mona Lisa

Cleopatra

and the newer ones like—

Lindbergh

and there is the famous company smile of our President.

In Lexington, Kentucky, is located the University of Kentucky, the Dean of the College of Engineering, which is Mr. F. Paul Anderson, who after years of patient research and through the aid of his invention known as the musclemeter, now finds that it takes thirteen muscles to produce a smile and sixty-five to produce a frown—and he pertinently asks "Why over-work?"

Take your smile with you wherever you go because I do not want you to over-work and I do want the dough.

Now smile!

Yours very truly,

W. M. COSGROVE,

Ligon, principal of the University High School, attended the meeting and extended the invitation, in which he was joined by the Lexington Chamber of Commerce.

Three Kentucky colleges—Eastern State Teachers College, Richmond; Murray State Teachers College, Murray; and Bethel Women's College, Hopkinsville—were accepted for membership as accredited colleges, while seven high schools in the state also were received.

Delegates to the convention from Lexington were Prof. M. E. Ligon, Prof. and Mrs. E. L. Gillis, Dr. Paul P. Boyd, and Dr. Floyd Reeves. The entire Kentucky representation included 31 colleges or high school executives.

The program of the evening was presented by Dr. J. S. McHague and Dr. G. Prof. G. C. Bassett and M. M. States were elected to represent the chapter at the national conference to be held in New York on December 28.

May Your Christmas be as MERRY as you have made OLD GOLD'S

A year ago OLD GOLD'S holiday message to its many friends was entitled . . . "OLD GOLD'S first Christmas." OLD GOLD was then just the infant prodigy among cigarettes. But, thanks to its three million new friends, and its countless old ones, OLD GOLD has grown four hundred per cent. The infant has become a strapping young giant. OLD GOLD is America's fastest growing cigarette. You have given OLD GOLD a wonderful Christmas by your kind patronage and cordial good-will. And in deepest appreciation we say to all our friends . . . "May your Christmas be as merry as you have made OLD GOLD'S."

We thank you.

Dees and Drury Are Placed on North Squad for All-Conference Game

SOUTH PRODUCES PROMINENT TEAMS

Georgia Tech Will Represent East in Tournament of Roses; Florida Has High Scoring Record of Year.

Football throughout the country has ascended to new heights during the past season with record crowds, thrilling upsets, and individual glory all contributing to make the year of 1928 the most colorful in the history of the sport.

With Tennessee, Georgia Tech, and Florida, the Southern Conference is adding brilliant hues to the national rainbow that leads to the mythical championship of the country. Last Saturday, Tennessee gave a badly battered dope bucket a parting thump in defeating the Florida Gators and regained their standing, endangered by Kentucky, as one of the outstanding teams in the country. Coach Bob Neyland has led the mighty Vols through twenty consecutive games covering a period of three years without a loss and only two of the games being tied. This record cannot be beaten by any team in the country including Stanford, Southern California, Notre Dame, New York University, and others. Georgia Tech, undefeated Southern Conference champions and one of the best teams in the nation, has been chosen to represent the South on New Year's Day at Pasadena, Calif., in the Tournament of Roses. The Golden Tornado will be the third Southern Conference team to represent the East since these intersectional games were inaugurated four years ago. The other Eastern team, Pittsburgh, was defeated last year by Washington State.

Florida, the third member of the Southern triumvirate, fell by the wayside in its epic struggle with Tennessee but remained the highest scoring combination of the season with a total of 336 points in nine games.

GEORGIA TECH WINS CONFERENCE CROWN

Captain Claire Dees and Pete Drury, mainstays of the Wildcat forward wall during the past season, have been selected to represent Kentucky at the All-Southern game in Atlanta on New Year's Day. These two men were picked by southern coaches to be included in the squad representing the northern section of the conference. However, it was announced later that Dees, who is a candidate for the Wildcat net squad, will not accept the invitation to play in the game.

After the game the coaches will select a team representing the eleven best players in the South and this will be the official All-Southern team. Drury has a excellent chance to be named on this team as the coaches will name their selections from the showing the players make during the game.

No member of the Georgia Tech aggregation will be selected on the All-Southern team because of their non-participation in the Atlanta struggle. The Atlanta Shrimers are sponsoring the event and the proceeds will go to homes for crippled children, one of which is located in Lexington.

The close of the 1928 football season, which was one of the most successful that southern teams have ever witnessed, finds Georgia Tech the undisputed winner of the Southern Conference. By its 20.0 defeat of Georgia last Saturday, Tech firmly established itself as the leading team in the South and probably in the nation. With a record of nine consecutive victories over the strongest teams in the country, including Notre Dame, Alabama, Vanderbilt and Georgia, the Tornado needs to bow its head to no other team in the country, and will play Southern California in the Tournament of Roses for the mythical national title.

Tennessee comes second in conference, with only the scoreless tie with

Kentucky to mar its record. In its sensational defeat of Florida last Saturday it held down the most powerful scoring organization in the country. Florida, which paid off show bets in the Conference, not only has outscored any other team in the country, but has beaten some of the strongest teams in the South.

JEFFRIES IS COACHING

Irvin Jeffries, former University of Kentucky basketball star, has signed to coach the Shawnee Templars at Louisville, according to information received here. "Jeff," who is considered one of the best performers in Kentucky, will play at forward on the Templars, besides coaching the outfit. Several former college stars will play with him, among them being Fred Koster, of the University of Louisville.

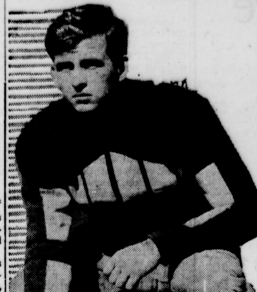

She's a rare girl if she wears the same face to classes that she gets up with in the morning.

The Sportgraph

(By WAYMAN THOMASSON)

THE HONOR MAN

To William Truman "Pete" Drury, a husky tackle who brought fame to his alma mater last week when several southern papers selected him on their All-Southern football team. Principal among those was the Memphis

Commercial-Appeal. Drury and Covington were placed on the third team by the United Press, and Drury and Dees were selected by coaches in the northern division of the Conference to play in the New Year's Day game at Atlanta against members of the southern division of the Conference. After the game all the southern coaches will select the official All-Southern team, their judgments being based on the performance of the stars New Year's Day. A complication has arisen because Georgia Tech is scheduled to play California that day and no one could agree on an All-Southern team without considering Tech players. Also, the game is to be played in Atlanta, and football without Tech is nincompoop in Atlanta. Thus, interest is lagging, but Kentucky is proud of Drury and will consider him to be worthy of All-Southern whether he is finally honored or not.

THE RENAISSANCE

This announces the arrival of spirit at the University. Two years ago a demoralized Kentucky team, irrevocably broken up at Charleston after a disastrous defeat by V. M. I., gathered its beragled forces for one glorious stand against the conference-leading Vols and held them to a 6 to 0 score at Knoxville. Came Gamage, a great Centre triumph, and students nudging themselves, Kentucky awakening. A new force at the helm. 1928 an auspicious beginning. Power vacant seats on Stoll field. More noise. What was happening at Kentucky? Northwestern, Alabama, Vanderbilt! Defeat! A dispirited group of players homeward bound from Montgomery and a boisterous reception waiting for them at the station just when they needed it most. A comeback V. M. I. defeated and Tennessee tied. Three thousand Kentuckians in Knoxville Thanksgiving. A new spirit born of confidence in Harry Gamage. Finally Kentucky climbing toward the summit occupied by Vandy, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, and Georgia Tech. This season Kentucky finished eleventh in the Southern Conference, exactly the same place between the first and last of the 22 teams. And next season—well, this is the renaissance.

Dean Melcher wishes to announce that no women will be allowed to smoke in the Men's dormitory. Students will recall that this neglect was largely instrumental in the banning of "pink teas" at the dormitory last spring.

Only an accomplished liar can relate a true story with a straight face.

Gamage Pleased With Innovation Of Reserve Team

By Vernon Rooks

Kentucky's football season is in the limbo of things past and the hardwood floors soon will be the attraction for whoopee artists. Without support and practically unnoticed by the student body, a new and interesting experiment in football was carried out by Coach Gamage during the past season—the Kentucky Reserves.

With no ancestry, this team met teams that would do credit to larger schools and played all their games on foreign soil. Three games were lost out of the four played but the value of the team is measured by the experience gained and not by the victories won.

Coach Gamage started a reserve team with the purpose of developing material in the University which is not eligible or not yet of varsity calibre. According to Coach Gamage, the first season was highly successful.

A better schedule will be arranged for this team next season. Coach Gamage said the team was for men who were doubtful as to their ability. He urged that all men in the University interested in football try for that team first. Coach Gamage expects the Reserve team to discover such football men as Forquer, Ross, Williams, and Thompson, who came to Kentucky with practically no football experience.

In their initial game on October 12, the Reserves defeated Lane-Wilson Junior College at Columbus, Ky., by 18 to 2. McLemore at full, and Dyars at quarter, were outstanding.

In the next contest the Reserves went down in defeat 32 to 0 when the Eagles of Morehead Normal took to the air.

On October 25 the Reserves tried their strength against a Big Ten opponent and lost to the Ohio State Reserves 38 to 0 in the Ohio stadium. The Kentucky scrubs turned in their best performance in their final game, but a powerful offense backed by superior weight gave the "BT" team of Indiana at Bloomington a lead of 32 to 6. Kentucky's lone score was the result of a long pass, McLemore to Cavana, near midfield.

The Reserve team was composed of W. H. Campbell, H. Wright, Milton Cavana, Thomas Lapsis, Horace Alderick, W. E. Collins, C. T. Irevig, H. E. Abley, A. W. Lowery, Martin Brown, J. W. Chapman, Brady Knight, Henry Hayn, B. Y. McLemore, Ildem, and Robert Featherstone.

Even fights of fancy are in constant danger of nose dives during the match period.

S. I. C. OFFICIALS MEET IN NASHVILLE

Garage, Shively, Boles, and Funkhouser are Kentucky's Representatives at Annual Conference.

The big push behind the button in Kentucky athletics, namely Coaches Garage and Shively, Athletic Director "Daddy" Boles, and Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, faculty member of the athletic council, left Wednesday at noon for Nashville, Tenn. where they are guests of Vanderbilt University for the annual meeting of Southern Conference officials and coaches which began yesterday. The first day of the conference was given over entirely to the coaches. This morning all of the representatives, including faculty members, coaches, athletic directors, and others from the 22 institutions having membership in the conference, will plunge into the business session. Dr. Funkhouser, Kentucky's faculty member, is secretary-treasurer of the conference executive committee.

Held Here Last Year The object of this annual meeting, to which the University of Kentucky was the host last year, is to settle all disputes concerning eligibility rules, to agree upon dates for the basketball tournament and track meet next spring and for the cross-country run next fall, and to aid the members to arrange schedules for their teams.

The Kentucky delegation will encourage action on the suggestion of Johnnie Mauer, Wildcat basketball coach, that the competing teams at the net tournaments in the future be allowed to carry ten men on their squads instead of eight as the ruling has stipulated in the past. Coach Mauer had written letters suggesting this plan to all Southern Conference schools and has already received favorable replies from a majority of them.

Southern Gridders Scarce On All-American Selections

By Totey Rose With football getting ready to make its final curtain call, fans applauding and pleading for at least one more game, backstage staff coaches and sport writers gathering material for their mythical teams of 1928.

For the first time in the history of football a southern team is regarded as the outstanding eleven of the whole United States. Georgia Tech is one of the few teams in the country with a perfect record. With the south finally receiving national recognition it seems that southern players will receive more consideration when the All-American teams are selected by the football experts and critics.

In the past years, the South has been overlooked when the time came to pick the outstanding players of the country. During the many years that the late Walter Camp selected his All-American team, only six southerners were given the honor of a position on his mythical team. Grantland Rice, who succeeded Camp as the greatest authority on football, picked one southerner last year on his team.

Day, of Georgia Tech, in 1918, was the first man from the South to be named on Camp's All-American team. In 1919, Weaver and McMillan, of Centre, were given the honor. Fincher, of Georgia Tech, was picked in 1920. Robert of Centre, was chosen in 1921. In 1923, Bomar, of Vanderbilt, was honored. Then after a lapse of three years, Nash, of Georgia, was selected by Rice.

Of the seven southerners that have been picked on the All-American teams, four have been ends; Fincher, Roberts, Bomar and Nash. Two have been centers, Weaver and Day. McMillan has been the only backfield man chosen; he played quarterback. This year it seems that the South's best bets for mentions or positions on the All-American team are Van Sickle, Speer, Mizell, Banker, Pund, Snyder, McEver, Crabtree, Schwartz, Steele, and Pressley.

Grantland Rice has covered several of the outstanding games in the South this year and it is expected to give the South an excellent chance of picking two or more men on his All-American team. Last week the Associated Press announced their All-American teams, selected by a consensus of the opinions of leading sports writers and coaches over the country. Two southern conference stars were awarded places on the first team, while a total of six were named on the entire squad.

First Team. Ends - Malcolm Franklin, St. Mary's; Dale Van Sickle, Florida. Tackles - Otto Pommerening, Michigan; Frank Speer, Georgia Tech. Guards - Edward J. Burke, Navy; Seraphim Post, Stanford. Center - Charles Howe, Princeton. Quarterback - Earl H. Clerk, Colorado College.

Third Team. Ends - Miller Brown, Missouri; Edward Messinger, Army. Tackles - Albert J. Nowack, Illinois; Melvyl Dressell, Washington State. All-Star Teams By Associated Press

That great winter pastime, closely akin to baseball's famed "hot-stove league," is the interesting occupation of selecting mythical All-American and all-sectional football teams. The Associated Press takes the lead along this line by making a consensus of teams chosen by leading coaches and critics throughout the entire country. All-star teams, other than the All-American and All-Southern teams published in other columns in this paper, are:

Wrestling and Boxing Will Begin Soon

The intramural athletic department, having completed two fall sports, tennis and volleyball, is marking time until after the Christmas holidays when its competitive program will be resumed.

According to the present schedule, the annual wrestling and boxing tournaments will be held soon after the perennial youth replaces Pop Time, aged and infirm psyche-wielder, of the calendar. The intra-mural director states that this time is the only period on the schedule during which these contests can be held. This is sad news, but all who are intending to enter these frolics should take warning and observe strict training regulations during the winter vacation, casting a disdainful eye on steaming plum puddings, candies and any other forms of the Christmas "spirits." Immediately after the second semester gets under way, inter-fraternity basketball and free-throat tournaments will move into the limelight. Reports from that department prove that increasing interest is being shown toward all of the activities which it promotes and all groups intending to enter teams in these sports are advised to get busy with their practice sessions.

FRESHMEN RESUME BASKETBALL DRILLS

After a week of rest, the frosh basketballers resumed practice last Monday under the direction of Coach Potter, who has been putting them through their paces every night this week. The men have shown quite a bit of improvement since they first came out and look as if they might develop into a fairly good team.

The candidates, as a whole, are a green bunch and have a lot to learn. The task of building up a team that will work properly when using the Illinois system, such as Potter is trying to instill in his men, is going to be difficult. The whole system is a matter of timing each play to the second and when one man does not do his part at the right time it throws the whole play out of order. So far the men have engaged in nothing but fundamentals of the game, as they are the essential things from which the other plays are worked.

The football men joined in the workout Wednesday night and as it was their first time out they took things easy, going through the things that the others had already practiced. From the frosh football squad Coach Potter should obtain some men who will prove to be a valuable asset to the team and will form a base from which to build up the remainder of the squad.

Among the candidates there is a lack of men who can qualify for the center job. Most of the men are of medium height; not tall and rangy as ideal centers are. There are two or three fellows who might possibly fill in at the job and could be developed into a fairly good pivot man. At present, Walker looks like a good man for the job and if he continues to improve he will have a good chance of landing the position. He still has a long learn in handling himself on the floor and handling the ball.

Coach Potter has several bright prospects for forwards in Benson, Parsons, Ham, Little, and others. They are all fast, handle the ball well, and show a willingness to learn. At the guard positions there are several men who can be developed. Phipps and Stealy are about the only men who have had any real experience and possess qualifications for that position. Phipps was a member of the championship Ashland team last year, and Stealy has played two years with Cumberland College where they play basketball the year around. They look good and will cause the others to step some to keep up the pace. This week the frosh have been given ing the varsity some workouts in preparation for their game with Wesleyan tomorrow night. By the time their own season starts they should have an aggregation that will force the play to the last and it will take a fighting team to defeat the Kittens. In their practice against the varsity they have been making some of the older fellows step around and work fast in order to gain a point.

Guignol Theater Players Please In Second Play

By Melvina Heavens
With the opening of "The Cassilis Engagement" on Monday night and the continued performances throughout the week the Guignol theater has scored its second triumph of the season. Both in character delineation and in direction the production may truthfully be said to be well nigh perfect and Frank C. Fowler deserves the highest praise for the manner in which he handled this early English drama.

Mr. Fowler, who set a high mark for himself in choosing characters for "Hay Fever," the Guignol's first production, upheld his reputation in "The Cassilis Engagement" for every one of the parts was admirably suited to the persons playing them.

Miss Katherine Davis, as Mrs. Cassilis, was perhaps the most charmingly adaptable of all, for she really lived her part and was throughout natural and convincing. Vying with her for honors, however, is Miss Caroline Speyer, who played the role of Ethel, the unwanted fiancee, with versatile grace, and Miss Verna Law, who was her "perfectly impossible mamma." Miss Law, who had a minor role in "Hay Fever," in this difficult part showed herself to be an actor of no mean ability and won instant favor with the audience.

Mrs. T. T. Jones, known last year to Romany audiences, appeared as Lady Remenham, and with the same admirable vivacity which has always characterized her work. Mrs. W. F. Galloway, who started in the first Guignol play, admirably filled her role as the prim and staid Mrs. Herries, and the other ladies in the cast, namely, Margaret Lewis, Jeanette Kimberlain, and Alice Spaulding, acquitted themselves with much ability.

As for the men, whose parts were but of minor importance as far as acting went, William Durbeck, as the wayward son Geoffrey, did credit to that person's unpretentious character. Leon Wiggleworth and Melvin Nolau, as Major Warrington and the Rev. Mr. Herries, respectively, enacted their parts with much discrimination. Richard Carron was the very correct butler.

The single stage set made up in elaborateness what it lacked in variety and did much credit to the art of Thomas Lyons, stage manager. It was complete in every detail and was tastefully executed.

Every student should see this play as a representative society drama of the highest type which abounds in excellent character portrayal and psychology. It is a highly interesting and amusing play and the Guignol players present a performance which shows much study and work and is highly worthwhile. Those who have not seen this play should take advantage of tonight's and tomorrow night's showings.

17 say "Merry Xmas" with same Gift

Evansville, Ill. Dec. 31, 1927
Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.

Dear Sirs: I happen to be blessed with a host of very fine friends, mostly "highbrows" - professors, scientists, etc. Generally at Christmas time they show their remembrance and all that with some little gift - a box of cigars, fishing tackle, a book - all that sort of thing.

Well, this Christmas many seemed to centre on tobacco. Now, mark you, these fellows have no communication with each other. They live in widely separated parts of the country, so it was no "put-up" joke on me or anything like that. But here came seventeen boxes of tobacco, and sixteen of them the familiar blue "Edgeworth." The seventeenth was a very flimsy walnut, brass-trimmed box, but if I know tobacco, the contents were Edgeworth with a little perique in it. Just coincidence, perhaps, but a queer one. Am not an habitual smoker of Edgeworth, so they weren't catering to any special taste of mine. Looks like a consensus of opinion among the "highbrows" - or quite a lot of 'em - that Edgeworth is the stuff, the proper paper for a gift.

Sincerely,
A. Fitzpatrick
