Life And The Facts

After carefully reading what appears to be a press release from the Minneapolis Lakers in the Dec. 5 issue of Life magazine, a paraphrasing Kernel editor affirmed the following to the magazine's editors:

On the night of Dec. 2 in Indianapolis, the same two professional basketball teams to which your article of Dec. 5 refers played another 45 minutes of rousing basketball.

The Olympians won, 86 to 68, and it provided a clue to the relative merits of professional and collegiate basketball.

The game proved one other thing: that a good big man can beat a good huge man in basketball. The good big man was Alex Groza, etc.

We students at the former home of the Fabulous Four are still laughing—Life hit the news stands the morning after—because Big Al out-pitched huge George by seven markers.

And, incidentally, what is Rapid Ralph Beard's standing in conference scoring?

Sincerely, George Reynolds, Editor, The Kentucky Kernel.

A Suggestion

Some of the officials of the Athletic Association are of the opinion that the new Memorial Coliseum will be near enough to completion for basketball games to be held in it sometime in February.

We believe that there could be no more fitting a way to dedicate the huge new building than by presenting the present Indianapolis Olympians team (plus Kenny Rollins, if arrangements can be made) in the first basketball game held there.

Athletic Director Shively said recently that it would probably be impossible for the Olympians to play the present UK team. However, many professional teams should be interested in playing the Olympians in an exhibition game.

Some group stands a chance of making a good sum of money if it is willing to sponsor such a show. It's hard to guess how many Central Kentuckians would turn out to see it, since few persons other than students ever saw them play in Alumni Gymnasium.

Certainly most of the student body would like to see those five numbers—15, 12, 27, 26 and 23—on the backs of the men who made them famous here at UK. After that, they could be retired as planned, in the house that Rupp built.

A Place, A Spirit

The University's technicolor movie, "The University of Kentucky, A Place, A Spirit," should be seen by every student on campus—not as a duty, but for real enjoyment.

The production is skillfully handled, and should prove of interest to students who want to see their University as thousands of high school students in Kentucky have viewed it recently.

Jones Answers Seating Questions In Letter To President Of SGA

Mr. Robert A. Wharton, President, Student Government Association, University of Kentucky, Dear Bob:

Shortly after the Kentucky versus Georgia football game, the Student Bar Association of the College of Law at a special meeting appointed Denver Adams, Robert Stephens, and myself as a committee to call on Dr. Donovan to discuss the handling of the students at the gates at future games and the possibility of obtaining better seats for the student body as a whole.

We were told that steps would be taken to eliminate as near as possible any crowding and jamming at the student gates during later football games. From all indications this problem has been handled very effectively.

The problem of obtaining better seats for the students is purely a financial one as pointed out by Dr. Donovan. The Athletic Association is an incorporated body and is a separate organization from the University. Its officers are members of the staff of the University and its president is Dr. Donovan. The Association finances the athletic program at the University including football, basketball and minor sports.

Dr. Donovan showed the committee a copy of the current budget of the Association. For this year the estimated expenditures were about $600,000. This figure includes coaches salaries, both basketball and football, athletic scholarships, air travel for the teams, scouting expenses, annual payments on part of the costs of the stadium and the new field house, and many other items too numerous to mention.

The Association's major source of revenue is gate receipts though some money is obtained from the state. No part of the students' registration fees is paid to the Association for the student ticket book. The registration fee remains the same regardless of whether or not the University has a football team, and this I hope this will answer some of the students' questions for you. Sincerely yours, Jerry Jones, Secretary, Student Government Association.

Jerry is a member of the SGA assembly, and his letter is in the nature of a report to the body's president concerning student complaints about seating arrangements—Ed.

LETTERS to the Editor

Editor, The Kernel:

In 1914 at the half, Mississippi State 12, Kentucky 9. At the close, Kentucky 19, Miss. State 12. The band played "Old Kentucky Home" (fast time), also "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." Our uniforms were khaki color but all wool. We bought them brand new, paid for with cash from our own pockets.

In 1918 I was carrying a rifle and in preliminary target practice, my classification made me hope for a marksman's medal. Then my sergeant (Kaplan) told my lieutenant (Cheverton) I had bad experience. I was told I was unknown on the drill field but wanted in the band.

PORTER'S POLL Student Apathy Expressed On The Function Of SGA

Question of the week: What do you know about SGA?
ANN MACLEIN: "SGA tries but the students don't give it support because it has no power."
MARILYN FAULKNER: "Bob Wharton is president, isn't he?"
MIKE GRANE: "Why don't they get out a pamphlet telling the students about the BOMBASTIC bills they are passing? Also, why don't they tell us how they are spending their money?"
GENE PHILLIPS: "Nothing, because you never hear the crowd in the grill discussing it."
LUCIA BLAND: "It is an organization you only hear about at election time—after that all is null."
ELLIS PORTER: "The only thing wrong is the limits of authority, the administration gives it. If the students would get behind it they could get more power."
WINTER COLLINS: "It is cheaper than Haskett?"
DICK PIGMAN: "If it is going to be a student government association, it should cover the students."
PATTY WEST: "Nothing."
FRANCES WEST: "They have meetings."
BOB WILLINGHAM: "I don't know anything, because I don't fool around with things like that."
BYRNES FAIRCHILD: "They have representatives that are supposed to get together with the faculty and run the University?"
BILL WHITEHOUSE: "I just ain't in the know."

Members of the Senior Class and their wives were guests of the Eli Lilly Company on November 20, 21, 22, at the biological and manufacturing plant at Indianapolis, Indiana.

The Sophomore Class is sponsoring a Christmas dance on December 15, in the Rainbow Room of the Henry Clay Hotel.

Dr. Kenneth Milstead, Chief of the Cincinnati station of the Federal Foods and Drug Administration will speak to the members of the American Pharmaceutical Association in the WKLO Ballroom of the Henry Clay Hotel on December 8 at 9:00 a.m.

Kappa Psi fraternity held their initiation banquet at the Seelbach Hotel on November 23. Those initiated were Richard H. Bryant, Joe Bul Clement, Hubert H. Dennis, Louis E. Ferguson, Jay M. Hembarger, William McCouncil, James Sims, E. H. Stone, Charles Walker, and Jack Woods.

APO Elects Officers

Omer Skelkelether has recently been elected president of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. Other officers include Joe Craig, executive vice president; Glenn Johnson, vice president in charge of service; Martin Swanson, vice president in charge of membership; Wesley Dickens, vice president in charge of property; Wilfred Lett, vice president in charge of publicity; Clair Langbrake, social vice president; Tom Smith, treasurer; Louis Whipple, secretary; Harry Lesley, corresponding secretary; Gail Child, nurse; William Hephurn, sergeant at arms; and Gene Myers, chaplain.

New pin surs will shine! Elliot Jones could be found beating his fists on the convention table last Sunday yelling "Inez! Inez! What in the world???"

George Rybolt says he can't get any of his pals to give him a date in the "Ugly Man" contest. He should worry! Ralph McCracken gets three cheers from this department for sportsmanship and prettiness.

Sadie Cooper and Jess Bollinger have quit their game of hide and seek and have settled down to playing more satisfying cover sports. All these argyles! Jack Judy really loved his golfing girl. Hosted Oh well, we can't always be original!

The K's had a good old southern party at Club Joy. These confederates know 'naw secret to a ripping time.

Del Canon still isn't satisfied. He can't understand why he didn't win the pretty-boy contest. Jim Darré is the new Chi O "Dream Boy."

Bill Odell is now known as "Veep" by his personal friends. Hummm? Donna Jean Hall ventured up South Bend way recently to see Bill Hagan at Notre Dame. That was a mighty big orchid she hopped off the plane with!

Al Wieman works Betsy Billiter overtime to fix him up with dates. After two years of college and Kentucky it looks as if Al would know all the ropes himself.

Betsy Mae Wheeler has been one sad sack all week long but the future looks brighter. Big Lou Griffin is getting initiated and here's the answer to your Christmas gift problems...

The Spice of Life

Christmas dances are here by the dozens. The SN, ATO, Phi Sig, and Alpha Sig formal tonight will set the mood for the holiday spirit. Last week's Sig Ep, "Dream Girl" affair was a goodie. Congratulations, Nancy Camp. That smile just matches that big shiny trolley!

Lee David is working hard for honors from Rodney Beck. She's out to make him forget all about any Louisville interests. Flash! Crawford, the Kappa Sig hero has returned to the UK woods. Betty Fish saw him on the streets of her home town during Thanksgiving and reported to the broken hearted Kay Nigs. They threw a huge party on his return, raw hamburger and all. Guess our trees are better after all.

Canasta of the week, Paul Dinichan (this is a paid political advertisement). Judith Linsart and Gus Clark have had a definite parting of the ways. We'll now have a slight pause while gals and hopeful fellas rush to the telephones. A great turnout on Main Street for the Santa Claus parade but the rain drove many of the student body to the Cottage. This rumored that Old Saint Nick was none other than Col. Fish Mattingly.

Ted Bates provided a lively pair of legs for the winding dragon. Ruth McCracken went to Indiana U. over the weekend. Interested campus lovers beware! This may become a habit. Another traveler is Mary Simpson. She goes home every Friday with the tale to local interests that she is going to see Momma. We heard it's a most amusing radio announcer by the name of Jack Murphree.

Military Department Emphasizes Advantages Of The US Regular Army Officer Program

This is the fourth in a series of articles released by the military department, to point out the opportunities the Army offers to young men of the ROTC who can measure up to Regular Army standards for career officers.

General George Washington once spoke about the appointment of officers in the Regular Army in this way—"When it is known how much the conduct and bravery of an officer influence the men, how much a commanding officer is answerable for the behavior of the inferior officer, and how much his good or ill success in time of action depends upon the conduct of each particular officer—does it not appear then that the appointing of officers is a thing that should require the greatest circumspection?"

The Officer Personnel Act of 1947 provides for regular Army promotion and appointments to provide an opportunity to ambitious and capable individuals to work their way up to Regular Army standards for career officers. The pay increases provided rapidly than would be the case if promotion were attained only in order of initial standing by length of service. The school system of the Army has been developed to provide the professional knowledge of officers. The pay is comparable to that of other professions and in a great many ways, in excess of salaries currently being offered college graduates by civilian businesses and industries. Army still stands head and shoulders above private enterprises in its benefits for retirement or separation for physical disability.

Physical Security
In the Army a man not only has a security of career, but has security in his declining years. After thirty years of commissioned service, the Regular Army officer can retire at three-quarters pay in the highest grade held, and the emoluments received are based upon the amount of service rendered.

The United States' position as a world leader in the struggle for peace and freedom requires that we be physically strong if we are to discharge the responsibilities which leadership entails. It is evident in our history that freedom and peace by encouraging advancement of the individual. With thousands of new men coming into the service and with its discharge commitments, the Army needs more qualified officers in the line of establishments. The work today is to guard peace; it is important work and it requires the best of our manhood.

Learns Theory
Being Regular Army is a big job and its responsibilities which make it the greatest career a young man could choose. An Army officer learns theory and gradually applies it under supervision. Then he receives assignments by actual performance on duty. He receives additional schooling and becomes a recognized specialist in allied fields. He distinguishes himself as an able commander, executive or technical officer. He is performing the service of his country, and to the men and women in uniform who depend upon him.

A Regular Army officer is a member of one of our oldest and most respected professions. As the physician pledges his life to his patients, the Army officer pledges his life to the service of his country. He gives it his best, to match the cunning of any potential foe, and these efforts are directed in any one of dozens of fascinating fields.

How We Met

My favorite tune at the moment (It's pure coincidence that it preceded it) for Victor is "Give Me Your Hand." The lyrics go, "Give me your hand, let's be together, let's be together near." Here is a little love story that should help a lot of hapless swains.

Give Me Your Hand
I started me thinking about married couples in show business, as you do a big program. What followed sounds like a gag to most, but Andre swears it's true. He says he hadn't been feeling too good. As the show went on, he felt worse and worse. He hung on until the program was over, then picked a quiet corner and fainted. (So he says.) In the confusion, Bea was the only one who noticed the limp bundle of beach. She (to quote Andre) "rushed over with a pitcher of ice water which she poured all over my new tuxedo." Things like that take the formality out of a first meeting.

Stanley and Helen Motta share one of the most unusual careers in show business. Their firm produces shows and supplies entertainment for a large hotel chain, for conventions, charitable events, society parties, and anything else which calls for top entertainment. You just call them up and they'll be there.

Stanley and Helen met at a party when Helen was 16, Stanley a few years older. They had a long engagement, and Helen was every bit 19 when they married. At that time, Stanley was playing saxophone in Ozzie Nelson's band. He switched to a job on Wall Street, intending to be the standard model husband. But, Wall Street failed to reward him properly, and he had to take an orchestra job on the side. Finally, he organized his own band. He hired a lot of beautiful girls, and he thought that Helen stepped in as bookkeeper. Now, she and the same partner, stage shows and helping with the management of seven orchestras.

Tex McKinley and Bill Falkenburg met when they were interviewed for the Daily Mirror in 1941. She was a model, he was a writer. They were traveling all over the world, Tex in the Air Force and Jinx with the USO. They discovered that Jinx was about to leave the United States for Europe just as he was due back. He called a mutual friend in New York: "Locate Jinx. Tell her to stall. Guy who wants to marry her en route home." It worked and they were married. There were 17 competing teams.

While we're on the subject of early romances, I just can't resist mentioning "the man" Mitch Ayres, orchestra conductor on the Chesterfield Super Club. You know, most people don't think of Mitch as a Romeo, at least not the kind of a guy who falls in love with a gal and can't eat. In 1936, Mitch met his girl, Georganna, in Hollywood while he was working on a movie at an outdoor location scene. He made cute conversation with her between the scenes, dated her a few times and then left the coast on a tour. Strangely enough, he found himself avoiding dates after that and suddenly realized that he was up to his neck in love. He married Georganna shortly afterward, that is, as soon as he could get back to the coast.

One of my favorite "how-we-met" stories comes from a versatile and distinguished show business couple, Art Carline and Moss Hart. Author-producer Hart and actress-singer Carline, when passed for a story on how they met, came up with a beautifully simple one. "We can't remember," they said. "We've known each other for years."

EE's View Relations Of Music And Color

Kentucky Basketeers:

Jim Line

By Kent Hollingsworth

Jim Line, who does everything but cut bread and play tennis with his left hand, started off the Kentucky Wildcats basketball season with a 20-foot shot that swished the nets for the first Kentucky points of the season, and the first of his 37 against Indiana Central.

The old lefty, on his way to break Alex Groza's team mark of 38 set last year, charged down the floor on a fast break play. It was two on one, the defensive man staying close to Captain Barnstable expecting Line to pass off; but Line dribbled up to the foul circle, started to shoot, then thought better of it, went in for a crisp shot, the defensive man moved over to Line, and in a frantic attempt to get off the record-breaking shot, Line charged into him, committing his fifth personal foul of the game. Nine minutes and 15 seconds remained when he was ejected from the game, ample time for even a blind man on a crutch to score.

HIT 41% OF SHOTS
In a way, although he fell short of the record, Line's feat was more spectacular than Alexander's. Great. Line scored at almost every opportunity, hitting over 41 percent of his field goals, besides passing off to his teammates when there was equal opportunity to score.

Big Al shot almost every time he could see the hoop, hitting 43 percent of his shots, 67 percent of his foul shots. Also Groza had scored 23 points with nine minutes left, leaving the ball game with five fouls and his record total of points with six minutes and 45 seconds remaining.

Not trying to take anything away from possibly the best player in basketball shoes today, it's just that Jim Line turned in a real bangup job, one that drew the biggest ovation Alumni Gym has heard since it was built. Jim took off a Kentucky warmup jacket, and one that deserved every bit of it.

Line was an Ohio All-State player at Akron North high school two years ago. He set a team record when he dumped in 32 points—his previous single game high total—the game before Alex Groza's Martins Ferry team knocked Akron North out of the State Tournament. He also established a school scoring record of 380 points in 25 games.

Almost Enrolled in Ohio U.
Line almost enrolled in Ohio University and was professor there on his way to Ohio State on graduating in the spring of '44, but Carl Skaker, former Wildcat star and employee at the Goodyear Co. in Akron, convinced him to play his college ball under Coach Adolph Rupp at Kentucky. He served 23 months in the Army Tank Corps as a radio operator, and following his discharge reported in Lexington when school opened in the fall of '46. He made the sixth highest score ever recorded on the University's entrance examination and since then, has set an excellent scholastic record in no step course, mechanical engineering. Three times he has ranked up to 3.0 standing, and has an overall standing of 2.8. No man to keep a book in his right hand and a basketball in his left. Line was asked to join the leading men's honorary fraternity last year, being initiated into ODR, whose requirements include numerous campus activities as well as high scholastic marks. He is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Playing for the Wildcats wasn't all peaches and cream for the freshman who had stood Ohioans on their ears with his amazing shooting accuracy. Also returning in the fall of '46 were All-Americans Alex Orozco, Ralph Beard, Bob Brannum, Jim Jordan, Jack Parkinson, Wah Jones, and All-Conference players Kenny Rollins, Joe Holladay, Jack Temple, and Dutch Campbell. Press clippings were just waste paper to these guys, who were just getting started.

Great Against Utah

However Line did get into every game and hit the hoop on 42 percent of his shots. In the finals of the National Invitational Tournament in New York, when the chips were down, Kentucky trailing Utah in the second half, it was Freshman Jim Line that Coach Adolph Rupp called off the bench to spark the Wildcats. He did too. He balanced the ball next to his left ear and shot five straight time for ten quick points that put the Wildcats right back in the fight, but he fouled out in the waning minutes, and without him, the Cats went down in one of the biggest upsets in college basketball history.

Last season his left arm dangled uselessly off the bench almost every year ball next to his left ear and shot five straight time for ten quick points that put the Wildcats right back in the fight, but he fouled out in the waning minutes, and without him, the Cats went down in one of the biggest upsets in college basketball history.

This is his last season, Kentuckians have been waiting three years to see him show his stuff. Last Saturday night saw it when Jim Line, with a saw of his left arm, accepted nomination for All-American honors from 2850 students in Alumni Gymnasium.

New York And Chicago Newspapers Name Gain On All-American Team

By Earl Conn

Big Bob Gain is definitely an All-American tackle. He has been named on a pair of the newspaper polls during the past two weeks for first-team honors.

The Chicago Tribune conducted a poll of 1193 collegiate football players throughout the nation and Gain was nominated for the top team.

Then last week, The New York Sun selected Gain on its first-team All-American eleven, after stating that "with few exceptions, the candidates selected are 'iron men', capable of playing sixty minutes. Equally adept on offense or defense, these durable operatives have the stamina to go the route." This probably explains why Gain was nominated over such other well-known tackles as Wade Walker of Oklahoma; Al Wistert of Michigan; and Jim Martin of Notre Dame.

The New York Sun explains Gain's selection as follows: "For sheer animal strength it would be hard to match Gain, a former steel worker from the blast furnaces of Weirton, W. Va. In Kentucky's goal line stands against Tennessee, Gain was as unbreakable as a steel girder. Bob developed his muscles in the rolling mills and used them effectively on the gridiron."

Others on the N.Y. Sun's eleven were: Back—Galiffa, Army; Sitko, Notre Dame; Thomas, Oklahoma; and Sella, Princeton. The linemen were Hart, Notre Dame; Sandusky, Villanova; West, Oklahoma; Tommenaker, Minnesota; Franz, California; and Williams, Rice.

The AP Team on the All-American team consisted of Leon Hart, Notre Dame, and J. A. Williams, Rice, at the end; James Martin, Notre Dame, and Wade Walker, Oklahoma, at the tackle; Rod Franz, California, and John Schwab, Pennsylvania, at the guards; Clayton Tommenaker, at the center; and Vito Parrilli, Kentucky; Charlie Justice, North Carolina; Herb Rich, Vanderbilt; and Eddie Price, Tulane, in the backfield.

Kentucky was also named as the surprise team in the South by the magazine. Also listed under the honorable mentions in the South were Benny Zerkas at end and Don "Dopey" Phelps as a halfback.

All-Conference
Two Kentuckians were elected to the All-SEC team for 1949. Gain was named as the first string tackle, along with Carl Copp, Vanderbilt.

Kitten Cagers Beat Ft. Knox

The University of Kentucky freshmen basketball team won its second game of the season last Saturday night in a preliminary game with the varsity tilt with Indiana Central.

The Kittens trimmed Fort Knox, 65-43, with Forward Frank Ramsey, 6-2, 180-pounder from Madisonville, Ky., the high man, Ramsey, a former All-State basketball and baseball player, threw in a total of 18 points.

It is at the present time the top scorer for the season for Coach Harry Lancaster's yearlings.

Dwight Price, another forward, was second with 13 markers. The 6-2, 175-pound lad was a former All-State cager for University High School of Lexington last year.

Parrilli had very exclusive company at the honorable mention quarterback position. Only three were named and they were Eddie LaBaron, the great College of Pacific backfield ace; Bobby Williams, the sensational Notre Dame junior; and Kentucky's own sophomore, Vito Parrilli. To be named in the same breath with these two great stars appears to be an honor in itself.

Coller's Eleven
Picked on Collier's first string All-American team were the following: Hart, Notre Dame, and Williams, Rice, at the end; James Martin, Sterling, Santa Clara guard; Donnan, Princeton tackle; and Williams, Rice end.

Big Bob also received recognition on the All-American selections conducted by the Associated Press. Bob was placed on the second team on the AP All-American along with Wade Walker of Maryland at the tackle position. He was the only Kentucky player to be nominated on the first three teams named by the AP.

Only two other Southeastern Conference players were included on the first three teams of the AP. Bud Sherrod, the great Tennessee end who raised so much havoc here a few weeks ago, was also named to the second team along with Gain. On the third team at the fullback post was Eddie Price of Tulane.

Line Scores 37 As Cagers Clip Hoosier Quintet 84-61

By Kent Hollingsworth

A brand new Wildcat basketball team, fresh, flashy and fast, whipped a determined Indiana Central team 84-61, after leading only 63-61 midway in the last period, for Kentucky's 77th straight victory in Alumni Gym, last Saturday night.

Jim Line hit almost everything he shot at, connecting 13 times in 18 attempts from the field and 11 times in 13 tries at the free throw line for a near record total of 37 points. The Akron senior left the floor with nine minutes and 45 seconds remaining with five personal fouls against him, but with an ovation for him that roared from the roof on Alumni Gym.

Big Bill Spivey, a little light in the first half and not helped much by jeers from mirage-seeking stands, looked good in the second half, fighting hard under the basket for rebounds, blocking crisp shots, and leading the evening with a 16 point total. He's due to get better with every game.

St. John's Has Strong Quintet For 1949-50

Kentucky's Wildcats will make their year appearance of the regular season in New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday when they tangle with the second St. John's Redmen of Brooklyn.

This tilt will be the first major test for the Wildcats following games with Indiana Central and Western Ontario and the eyes of the basketball world will undoubtedly be focused on the Garden that night to see just what the Cats have this season.

St. John's will field a veteran team to face the Cats in their engagement. Dick McGuire has graduated but the remainder of the Redmen team is still around.

The Cats stopped the Redmen last year 57-30 for one of the Brooklyn club's nine defeats. The Redmen winning 16 games last season.

Captain and second highest scorer last season for the club, Gerbald Calabrese, will be the boy who will probably give Kentucky the most trouble. This year will be his fourth season on the club as it will for Joe Barreza, John Dalton, and Ed Hoding.

John's can throw a lot of heat at the Cats if they desire to. Bob Zawoluk at six-six is their biggest man, and will probably play the pivot for the Redmen. Calabrese junior, stands 6-4, as does Ray Tully, a sophomore.

The Redmen flashed an example of their explosive power last Saturday when they trimmed Fort Monmouth 96-50.

Following the St. John's game, the Wildcats will meet DePaul in Louisville Dec. 21, and then journey to West Lafayette, Ind., to meet Purdue Dec. 23. The Cats will play in the Sugar Bowl tourney Dec. 29 and 30 in New Orleans.

DisKintucky Sports Review

— By Tom Diskin, Sports Editor —

Broadcasting the Kentucky-Santa Clara bowl game on a nation-wide hookup will be CBS' Mel Allen, according to Ken Kuhn, sports publicist for UK.

Allen has been mentioned by several radio columnists as top candidate for the Sportscaster of the Year award. The golden-tongued Allen is well-known especially around New York, where he broadcasts the Yankee baseball game. He also is usually named to call the World Series along with Red Barber.

Approximately 500 persons attended the annual Alumni Association banquet last Monday night in the Student Union's Buegrass Room.

Principal speaker was Dr. A. D. Kirwan, dean of men and former Kentucky grid coach.

Coach Paul Bryant spoke later on the past season, and the training plans for the coming Orange Bowl.

Alumni Director B. A. Shively served as toastmaster. They were Among those giving short talks were UK President, Herman Lee Dumas; Alumni President, J. Stephen Watkins; Team Captain Harry Ulinski; and Larry Shavers, sports editor of The Leader, who paid tribute to the late Buck Weaver, former sportswriter for The Louisville Times and a sincere friend of this University.

The 13 graduating football players were presented with inscribed self-reading wrist watches. They were: Charley Bentley; Bill Bulter; Jerry Chaborn; Ralph Gentry; Dick Holt; Jim Howe; Lloyd McDermott; Nick Odvick; Dopey Phelps; Ray Porter; Lee Tramm; Harry Ulinski; and Charley Bradshaw, who is now serving on the UK coaching staff.

In his talk, Coach Bryant said that the present team was the "finest group of boys ever gotten together on any athletic field." He added that "the biggest kick I ever got was going to this bowl. It will be the most important game ever played by a Kentucky team."

He stated that he wanted the Most Valuable Player trophy held back until after the game with Santa Clara.

The program, which was arranged by Miss Helen King, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, closed with the crowd singing "On, On, U. of K."

Considering the fact that the University's basketball team did two sophomores in the starting lineup last Saturday against Indiana Central, we think that their show-

Western Ontario Meets Cats Here Tomorrow

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 7—Western Ontario's Mustangs face their toughest basketball task of the 1949-50 season Saturday when they play the powerful Kentucky Wildcats in Lexington, Ky.

Johnny Metras' charges, a record of one win and two setbacks as this was written, will be at full strength for the Kentucky invasion. The Wildcats, rated at the top of the American college cage teams, are reported almost as strong as ever despite the graduation of All-Americans Alex Gross, Ralph Beard and Walt-Walt Jones.

TICKET NO. 7
Odd-numbered student books will be good for admission to tomorrow night's Kentucky-Western Ontario basketball game in Alumni Gym, which will get underway at 8 p.m. Ticket No. 7 will be needed. It will be the last home game for the Cats until Jan. 9, when North Carolina will play here.

Coach Metras will take a 10-man squad to the Blue Grass state in the hope of giving the Kentucky quintet a real battle.

Last Saturday in Detroit, the Mustangs came up with their first win of the season when they upset Wayne Tartars, of Detroit 49-38. So far this week, the Mustangs cage team has been drilling hard, stressing conditioning and fast break plays.

Feature of the week-end with Assumption College of Windsor and with Wayne, was the scoring of Paul Thomas, The Niagara Falls guard, who always had a good shot, really came into his own. For the first time in two years, Thomas started shooting instead of passing all the time and as a result racked up 27 points in the two games.

In Windsor, big Harry Wade, towering forward had a great night, piling up 18 points. With the nine he tallied against Wayne, this gives Wade a total of 32 points for the three games so far for Ontario.

The play of Doug Horne in Detroit also cheered up Metras. Horne, a player who needs confidence, did well in the short time he was out on the floor, netting five points.

In the individual scoring race, Wade and Thomas are tied for the leadership with 32 points each. George Wearning has 13 and Bill Ford 11 points for the season.

Wildcats To Train For Bowl At Cocoa, Fla.; Leave Dec. 19

The Kentucky Wildcat football team will start light practice next Monday on Stoll Field. It will be mainly for conditioning the squad for the forthcoming tilt with Santa Clara in the Orange Bowl 24 days from now.

Coach Bryant announced that on Monday, Dec. 19, after a week's position in the Jasper, Minn. High School.

WAA News

The Woman's Athletic Association will start playing basketball soon after Christmas. The games are not definitely scheduled as yet. However, the WAA will play several games with its usual two University of Cincinnati, Eastern Nazareth, of Louisville, and possibly, the University of Louisville.

Last year's record was very good. UK winning 10 and losing one game. Several games were held with each school and two separate groups were playing (the A's and the B's). These made up a total of eleven games. The A group completed with U.C. twice and won both games. Not willing to be outdone, group B did likewise. To keep the continuity record against U.C. UK defeated them again in a basketball game at a joint playday.

When UK met Eastern, a mighty close scramble followed. The Blue and White came out on top four times; two wins for the A group, and as before, two wins for the B's.

In playing Nazareth College, UK's WAA met its match. When Nazareth came here, they took home the victory, but in the second game at Louisville, Nazareth was defeated.

Much credit for the WAA's success goes to the '48-49 president, Charlene Orr, for her fine leadership and spirit. Some of the most outstanding players were: Betty Tandy, Wynnie Coleman, Bernetta Avest, Charlene Orr, "Winnie" Win-four, this "Big Five" if you'll excuse the comparison) graduated last year, but the WAA has many very able players to take their places. This is due to the fact that the WAA does not have a varsity team. All WAA members have an equal chance to play in a game and thus a greater number of girls do participate and develop skill. Anyone who wants to play is given the opportunity.

Some of the most valuable of the WAA members excelling in basketball are: Phyllis Klockner, Don Honaker, Eula West, "Honey" Hasketwell, and Billy Moore. These are players who were playing here last year and will still be our spark-plugs this season.

No one knows what new talent will be on the court for the coming games, but Phyllis Warren, Miss Smith, and Louise Berrie will probably be worth watching. If the same can be arranged, U. of Louisville versus UK should prove to be the highlight of the season.

Girls' Fencing Team
A girls' intramural fencing team is to be started soon. Anyone interested should contact the Physical Education office sometime next week.

WAA Volleyball Enters Semifinals
The WAA is sponsoring an intramural volleyball tournament with 16 teams entered, comprising four divisions.

Holding top place for the first division is the Tri Deltas. Alpha Xi Delta and Kappa Alpha Theta are tied for first place in the second division. Eliminations of the four divisions will be held next week, with a cup going to the winner.

Martha Durham, Kappa Alpha Theta, is in charge of the volleyball program.

Tennis Coach Calls Meeting For Monday

Tennis coach Andy Patton announced that Monday, December 12, he would hold the annual net meeting of the season in Room 101, White Hall.

As was previously announced, Patton wants all men interested in trying out for the Wildcat team present on Monday. Coach Patton stressed the fact that he is anxious to meet with all of them, both freshmen and upperclassmen alike.

The time is set for five o'clock, however, anyone unable to attend may contact Patton in his office in White Hall.
