The Newsletter of the University of Kentucky Libraries

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

After two years of editing the GB, I am turning over control to the capable hands of Bonnie Cox. Future correspondence and items for the GB should be sent to her at Collection Development, King Library South, 00391. Phone 257-5895.

I have enjoyed my stint as editor, and would like to thank all of you who encouraged me, and submitted items for publication. I could have done it without you, but it would have been a lot more work!

There is an important retraction regarding the I-9 forms for student employees, so make sure that you read it carefully.

As a parting thought, I would like to leave you with a quote, probably from the New Yorker, originally published in the Princeton (NJ) Packet, that was given to me by a Chemistry Department faculty member.

T'ai Chi is the ancient Chinese way to health and longevity. Gentle, deliberate movements refresh the body, revitalize the spirit and clear the mind. T'ai Chi improves book circulation, strengthens the cardiovascular system, massages the internal organs and supplies the entire organism with life energy.

Happy reading!

I-9 FORM UPDATE
A Retraction

PLEASE NOTE THAT ALL
STUDENT ASSISTANTS, RETURNING

OR OTHERWISE, MUST FILL OUT AN I-9 FORM BEFORE THEY CAN BE PLACED ON THE PAYROLL. This is a change from the last GB, and is a change from the Employment Office, not the Director's Office.

As a brief reminder, the easiest way for American citizens to prove their citizenship is to take their driver's license (must have a photo on it) and their social security card (cannot be laminated). For further information, please call the Employment Office.

BRANCH LIBRARIES HOURS

Another correction to the branch libraries hours that were recently routed. The Journalism Reading Room is located in 124 Grehan Building, not Room 116, as previously published.

VAN TO KLA

If you are interested in taking the van to KLA on September 30 - October 1, (see last issue of the GB for agenda and schedule) please call Carol Ranta in the Director's Office at 257-3801. When you call, please specify which day(s) and time(s) you wish to go.

FALL RECEPTION FOR NEW FACULTY

President and Mrs. David Roselle and the University Women's Club will host a reception in honor of new appointees to the faculty, professional and administrative staff and their spouses on Sunday, September 27, from 2 to 5 pm at the Student Center. The Grand Ball room will be used for the reception. All faculty, professional and administrative staff are invited. Written invitations will be sent to newcomers only. Child care will be provided in Room 206 of the Student Center. >> Please note the changes made for the time and location of this year's reception.

MEET PRESIDENT ROSELLE

Chancellor Art Gallaher invites the Lexington Campus faculty and staff to welcome President Roselle to the University on Tuesday, September 8. Dr. Roselle will deliver a few remarks at two convocations, followed by receptions, regarding a suggested agenda for the University.

Attendance is optional and offices must remain open. Staff who cover offices during the morning convocation may attend the afternoon convocation.

Staff Convocation

8:00 - 8:45 am. Address by President Roselle in the Concert Hall of the Center for the Arts.

8:45 - 10:30 am. Reception in the Lobby. Music provided by the Kentucky Wind Quintet and Student Jazz Ensemble.

Faculty Convocation

3:00 - 3:45 pm. Address by President Roselle in the Concert Hall of the Center for the Arts.

3:45 - 5:30 pm. Reception in the Lobby. Music provided by the UK Faculty Brass Quintet and Student Jazz Ensemble.

200th ANNIVERSARY OF THE PRESS
IN KENTUCKY

The UK Libraries and the Lexington Herald-Leader invite you to a celebration commemorating the 200th anniversary of the press in Kentucky. The festivities will be held on Sunday, September 13 beginning at 2:00 pm in the Court Room of the UK College of Law.

Remarks will be made by Dr. Thomas Clark, Professor Emeritus, UK Department of History, Mr. Creed Black, Publisher, Lexington Herald-Leader, and Mr. David Dick, Acting Dean, UK School of Journalism.

The exhibit, "A Kentucky Hundred: Landmarks of Kentucky Printing," and accompanying reception, will be open to the public in the Department of Special Collections in King Library North following the program.

ABOVE AND BEYOND...

Paul Willis recently received a copy of this letter addressed to Dean Timothy Sineath of the College of Library and Information Science, dated August 10, 1987.

Dean Sineath:

Having recently completed a one year Assistantship at the Agriculture Library, I would like to take this opportunity to state precisely how beneficial that experience was to me.

The Agriculture Library actively supports the research, teaching, and extension work of the College of Agriculture. The Assistantship was designed to expose graduate students to all aspects of librarianship and the integral workings of a research library. Graduate Assistants are required to keep the library open during peak evening hours and weekends during which time they are responsible for circulation, reference, and servicing the various collections. Hours worked during the regular business day are spent in technical services. Assistants have the opportunity to work with OCLC and the LS2000 as well as the documentation which supports the two systems. Practical experience is gained in searching the databases, cataloging, and serials control. The Assistantship is rounded out with a weekly seminar in which various topics such as reference tools, budgets, planning, staffing, or future considerations are discussed.

Working in both public and technical services provides the Assistants with the opportunity to develop their interest within the profession. Once a student has expressed an interest in an area, Toni

Powell and Lillian Mesner, in conjunction with the staff, work with the Assistant to design a project to develop that concern. An example of this is a project which was designed for me working with UKM records after I had expressed a deficiency in working with classification schemes and subject headings. The project allowed me not only to complete British cataloging records but to verify LC classification and subject headings.

The Assistantship has proven invaluable to me. It has enabled me to apply theory learned in the classroom to a working situation as well as provide me with practical experience. Through my Assistantship at the Agriculture Library, I have gained the confidence necessary to pursue my professional career as a Cataloging Librarian at the New York Public Library.

CLASSIFIED LIBRARY STAFF
WORKSHOP
"Communication Skills That Work"

The Community College and Junior College Round Table of the Kentucky Library Association are presenting a workshop on communication skills specifically for classified library staff. The objectives of the workshop include:

 methods of handling 'troublesome' students and faculty

-  techniques for supervising student workers
-  ways to handle workplace conflict
-  methods of communicating more effectively
-  ways to present your idea to gain respect
-  methods to assess your personal style -- building on your good points
-  a chance to apply the methods and techniques learned

This workshop will be held on Friday, October 9, 1987 at Shakertown from 10:00 am - 3:00 pm. The registration fee is $10.00. Lunch is $2.00, and payable at the door.

To register, please send your name, library, position, social security number and a check for $10 to Jefferson Community College, Continuing Education Office, 109 East Broadway, Louisville, KY 40202. For a copy of the brochure with registration form attached, please call Bonnie at 257-5895.

GAINES CENTER INFORMAL
LUNCHEON SEMINARS FOR LIBRARY STAFF

As part of its general service program, the Gaines Center for the Humanities is again offering an informal luncheon seminar designed to acquaint library personnel with current projects, techniques, and resources used by UK faculty. The seminar has as its purpose the furtherance of a spirit of collegiality and intellectual appreciation among those on the campus most concerned with scholarly research in the humanities.

At each luncheon, a faculty member will explain his or her research, with particular emphasis on resources employed, and will also comment on M.I. King's resources for general research in the topic area (most particularly as it would affect undergraduates and graduates who might want to begin research in that area). The format, however, will be of an informal discussion group.

Participants will be different for each meeting, with particular interest in the topic of discussion being of primary consideration. A total of 12 library personnel may attend each meeting. Lunch will be provided from 12:00 - 1:00 for participants during each session.

The four sessions for the Fall Semester are:

September 9 Lawrence Busch,
Sociology/Agriculture.
"Studying Science and Scientists"

October 14 Keith MacAdam,
Physics and Astronomy (*)

November 11 David Olster, History (*)

December 9 Percival Everett,
English (*)

(*) The topics of the last three talks will be announced in a later edition of the GB.

If you are interested in attending any of these luncheons, please contact Rob Aken at 257-1631.

OPERATION READ AT UK
Employee Literacy
Tutor Training

Volunteer tutors are needed in a program that will help illiterate UK staff learn how to read or earn his or her GED.

In order to become a tutor, you must complete 14 hours of training that are available at Human Resource Development. To enroll or get more information, please call Operation Read at UK at 257-6331.

ALA/LAMA SEEKS PERSONNEL
CONSULTANTS

Libraries seek out expertise to consult on human resource management issues and to conduct workshops on personnel topics. To assist in the identification of experienced personnel consultants, the Personnel Administration Section of ALA's Library Administration and Management Association is preparing a personnel consultants list for publication in 1988.

Individuals who want to be listed in this publication must complete an application form, providing information about experience, references, and personal data. A modest application fee will also be required to assist with the cost of publication.

Applications can be requested from Jim Neal, E505 Pattee Library, Penn State University, University Park, PA. 16802.

SOUTHEASTERN LIBRARY
ASSOCIATION SEEKS NEW MEMBERS

Linda Stith, SELA representative, reports that the Southeastern Library Association offers its members a quality journal, a well-planned biennial conference, and the opportunity to meet librarians with similar interests and concerns. Active participation is strongly encouraged, and there are 23 committees waiting for members.

SELA membership dues include two section/round table affiliations and are salary-based, with the highest dues being $15.00. Further information can be obtained from Ms. Stith or from Ellen Hellard, both at the Kentucky Department for Libraries and Archives, Box 537, Frankfort, KY 40602, or call (502) 875-7000. [Submitted (sort of) by Judy Sackett.]

KENTUCKY HIGHER EDUCATION
COMPUTING AND TELECOMMUNICATIONS CONFERENCE

Plan now to attend the Fall 1987 Kentucky Higher Education Computing and Telecommunications Conference in Frankfort on October 26 and 27. The theme of the conference will be "Information Management: A New Direction for State Government and Higher Education."

UK President David Roselle will be the dinner speaker on Monday, October 26. A conference vendor exhibition and a demonstration of the services offered by the Department of Information Systems. The registration fee is $50, and rooms are available at the Capital Plaza Hotel for $50 (double occupancy.)

Watch upcoming issues of the GB for agenda information.

GUIDE TO RESEARCH SUPPORT AVAILABLE THROUGH THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

The new guide for research support available through the Graduate School outlines steps and procedures necessary in order to obtain funds. The following basic rules apply:

1. Each request must be related directly to a specific research project.
2. Any full-time faculty member is eligible to apply. Visiting and adjunct faculty and generally not eligible.
3. Funds are not intended for long-term support of ongoing research.
4. Awards seldom exceed $5,000.
5. Deadlines for receipt of application for regular grants for the FY1987-88 are October 1, 1987 and March 1, 1988.
6. Proposals requesting less than $600 (exclusive of equipment) have no deadline. Such proposals, termed 'Minigrants,' may be submitted at any time and will be reviewed promptly.

For a complete copy of the rules, regulations and guidelines, please call Kerry at 257-5954.

1988 NEH SUMMER STIPEND
PROGRAMS

The 1988 Summer Stipend Program of the National Endowment for the Humanities has been recently announced. Each year, the NEH awards several hundred summer research stipends to university faculty. Both junior and senior faculty members are eligible for the program. The NEH not only considers projects in the traditional humanities disciplines but also funds projects in the social sciences and law that have humanistic content or focus. The stipend is $3,500 for two months of summer research.

Over the past decade, twelve UK faculty members' proposals have been funded by the NEH summer stipend program. Dr. Jonathan Glixon, Department of Music, held a 1987 summer stipend.

This year, the University will nominate three proposals for the national competition. Faculty are encouraged to apply. Before applying, applicants should pick up a copy of the 1988 application guidelines from the office of David C. Johnson, Acting Associate Dean, College of Arts & Sciences, Room 271 Patterson Office Tower.

Interested faculty should submit a proposal and a curriculum vitae to Dean Johnson's office by Thursday, September 17, 1987. The proposal should follow the application guidelines and should be written to appeal to educated nonspecialists.

For more information, please contact Dean Johnson at 257-6689.
