ROMANY ACTORS PRESENT CLEVER ENGLISH COMEDY

Eleanor Morse Carries Off Laurels Of Play

ELABORATE SCENES

Warden, Perkins, Sutcliffe Complete an Able Cast

"The Mollusc"

The Romany Players passed from the grave to the gay and back again in their presentation of "The Mollusc" by Herbert Henry Davies. This subtle English comedy is an amusing, yet truthful, study of a type we have all flows with us. A merely lary person Kemp in the play, but a mollusc uses force to keep from doing it.

Eleanor Morse, as Duley Baxter, carries off the laurels of the play. She plays the part of a spoiled young woman who gains all of her wishes and desires, not by force, but by "Mollusc-ry." The latter is an art which many people have, but few carry to perfection. Hers is the feat triumphant. Nevertheless, her appealing helplessness and her classic beauty bring to her the sympathy of her husband, the governess, and her audience. Fortunately for the entire household, brotherly love is not so lenient, and Tom Kemp brings about for her a rude awakening—and, lo! the mollusc is no more.

Mr. Leonard Sutcliffe appears in the role of Dick Baxter, a conventional Englishman, retiring, well-bred and emotionless—on the surface. He plays his part well, especially in his transition from disgust to adoration of his wife.

Marjorie Warden, as Miss Roberts, is particularly appealing in her portrayal of the charming little governess caught in the drift of circumstances. She is the spirit of youth incarnate, and she never fails to touch the hearts of her audience with her magic wand.

Troy Perkins, as the bluff and hearty brother from Colorado, leaves little to be desired. He gives a natural and unforced delineation from beginning to end. However, he made himself so famous as Mr. Pin that he will not soon find another role so well suited to him.

The English sitting room in pastel shades of mauve and blue was designed by Miss Morse and built by Mr. Harper and his assistants. Despite the fact that the holidays begin Friday at noon, "The Mollusc" will continue through Saturday night.

XMAS TREE FOR T.B. SANITORIUM

Y. W. Town Girls Will Give Party For Children

The town girls of the Y. W. C. A. will give a Christmas tree and party for the patients of the Tuberculosis Sanatorium, during the holidays. This entertainment has been planned to be given on the lawn at the university and it is hoped that weather conditions will permit of this.

Miss Mary Louise Norman, chairman of the town girls section of the association, is to have charge of the entertainment and she has made preparations for entertainment, such as story-telling and games. Presents are to be distributed among the smaller children of the sanatorium and an ample supply of candies, oranges and nuts will be given to everyone.

MASONIC CLUB OF UNIVERSITY MEETS

New Officers Elected for Year of 1925

The Masonic Club of the university held its reorganization meeting at Dicker Hall Thursday night with a small percentage of last year's members present. The president of the club last year, Prof. J. B. Dicker, presided at the meeting and assisted in the plans for reorganization. A. W. Thompson was elected president of the club for the ensuing year and took the chair for the election of the other officers of the club. John Bishop was chosen as secretary and Ted McDowell as treasurer.

After the organization was perfected, plans were made to increase the membership of the club. Every Mason in the university, either of the faculty or student body, is eligible for membership and an effort will be made to increase the membership.

On Tuesday night plans were discussed for the presentation of a petition to Square and Compass, national Masonic fraternity, which has a wide membership throughout the colleges of the United States.

BAKER WILL BE RHODES SCHOLAR FROM KENTUCKY

Is Chosen From Field Of Fifteen Contestants

COLUMBIA STUDENT Cross is Recommended For Scholar-At-Large

Robert Lee Baker, Jr., of Ashland, a student at Columbia University, has been awarded the Rhodes scholarship at Oxford University from Kentucky after a two-day session of the Kentucky Rhodes scholarship committee held in the office of President McVey, chairman of the committee. Ross Cross, a student of the University of Kentucky, was recommended by the committee to the American secretary of the Rhodes trustees for the scholar-at-large award.

Four students of the university and eleven other men were candidates for the honor which, according to Allen Barnett, secretary of the committee, was more keenly contested than ever before. Mr. Barnett stated that the contestants this year were better educated and were of higher intelligence than those of former years.

The three qualifications on which the award is made are: qualities of manhood, force of character and leadership; literary and scholastic attainments; physical vigor and interest in outdoor sports. It was the opinion of the committee after a careful consideration of each of the fifteen candidates that Mr. Baker possesses these qualities to a greater degree than any of the other candidates.

The Rhodes scholarship carries with its tuition at Oxford University, England, and an annual stipend of three hundred pounds a year for three years. Two scholarships are awarded every three years in each state. Mr. Baker will succeed Hugh Peel, a former student of the university, who was awarded the scholarship three years ago. W. F. Hines, of Centre College, is the other Rhodes scholar at Oxford, having been given the award two years ago.

DR. SCHERAGO SPEAKS TO PRE-MEDICAL SOCIETY

The Pre-Medical Society held its monthly meeting last Friday afternoon in the Science building, the president of the organization, Grandison McLean, presiding. Dr. Scherago, head of the department of Bacteriology, delivered the address of the afternoon, a very interesting discussion on "The Relation of Bacteriology to Medicine."

CHILDREN OF VICINITY TO HAVE CHRISTMAS TREE THIS AFTERNOON

THE Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. will give an outdoor Christmas party this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the lawn in front of Mechanical Hall for the children of this vicinity. The children in the second, third, fourth and fifth grades of Jefferson Davis and Lincoln schools have been invited. Other children in the neighborhood who are not in these grades will be welcome.

This is the first time the university has undertaken an entertainment of this sort and from all indications it will be a great success, spreading much happiness and cheer.

There will be a Santa Claus who will distribute presents donated by the Y. W. C. A. and the various sorority houses. The Y. M. is furnishing fruits, nuts and candy. The large cedar tree just back of Neville Hall will be decorated with vari-colored electric lights and will be decorated by the students. The women's glee club has prepared a fitting program for the occasion under the direction of Professor Lampert.

The project in the main is being financed by the Y. M. and Y. W., but the students are asked to contribute either toward financing or in bringing presents. Miss Frances Coleman, president of the Y. W., and George Kavanaugh, president of the Y. M., are in charge of the affair, assisted by several committees.

GLEE CLUB TO SING CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Will Serenade Hospitals and Dormitories

The Men's and Women's Glee Clubs of the university will serenade the Lexington hospitals, the dormitories and the various fraternity houses on Thursday night, December 18. There will be sixty serenaders composing the two clubs, who will sing Christmas carols. The organization will be directed by Prof. C. A. Lampert, head of the department of Music at the university, and the entire chorus will sing at each place where they stop. The singers will be taken from place to place in trucks.

The Women's Glee Club and the Philharmonic Society conducted their last vesper services of the year on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Maxwell street Presbyterian Church. Professor Lampert directed a special program, one number of which was Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony." The Woman's Glee Club and a string quartette, composed of members of the orchestra, rendered other selections.

The services were attended by a large number of university and town people.

SENIORS MEET TO NAME COMMITTEES

Sue Renaker is Elected Auditor of Kentuckian

A senior class meeting was held Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Dicker Hall, with Clyde Gray, president, in the chair. Committees were discussed for various duties and a motion was made and passed that the president appoint all committees. Miss Sue Renaker was elected auditor of the senior class. It will be her duty to check over the books of the Kentuckian with the manager before they are turned over to the business office.

The girls of the class met a few minutes after the meeting and discussed ways in which they might wear distinctive clothing that only seniors could wear. Betsy Helburn was elected chairman of a committee to investigate and ascertain some article of clothing which would serve this purpose.

STUDENTS EXPLAIN SELF-GOVERNMENT

Richmond Normal May Have Similar System

Dean Sarah Blanding and nine university students explained the workings of the university student self-government system at a forum meeting of students of the Eastern State Normal School at Richmond Monday night. The installation of a similar system at the normal school is being considered.

Those who attended the meeting were: Dean Blanding, Misses Elizabeth Galloway, Rachelle Shacklette and Elizabeth Moorman and Messrs. Tom Ballantine, C. M. C. Porter, Arthur Nutting, "Tiny" Montgomery, and George Kavanaugh. Each made short talks at the meeting and as some of the group were members of the men's and women's self-government organizations and others were in no way connected with it, the normal school students learned the opinion of the university student body regarding the system as well as the manner in which the two councils function.

This system of self-government has been in effect at the university for several years.

EIGHT SELECTED FOR UNIVERSITY DEBATING TEAM

Each Contestant Gives a Seven-Minute Speech

PROGRAM IS GOOD

Women's Debate Team Is Under Consideration

Messrs. J. Y. Brown, J. R. Bullock, W. O. Keller, R. J. Maloney, H. H. Grooms, W. D. Scott, J. B. Johnson and G. S. Milam were selected as members of the debating team of the university at a tryout held in the Little Theatre Thursday, December 11, at the seventh hour. The subject for the debate was "Resolved: That Congress should be empowered to override by a two-thirds majority, decisions of the Supreme Court declaring Congressional action unconstitutional."

The tryout was open to all students of the university. Each contestant was asked to deliver a seven minute constructive speech, either affirmative or negative, optional with the speaker and then be able to reply with a three minute rebuttal. The teams were selected for each side of the question.

The debate program of the university this year is an unusually good one. The debates under intra-state agreement between Centre College, Berea College, and the University of Kentucky will be held Friday, March 6, 1925, Berea College debating with one team of the university at Lexington and the other team of the university debating with Centre at Danville on the same night. The subject for both debates will be the same as the one for the tryout. The Pentangular League, composed of the University of Alabama, Sewanee, Tennessee, Vanderbilt, and Kentucky, has not determined the subject for debate, but from present indications it seems that it will either be pertaining to the curtailment of the Supreme Court powers, or to the Japanese Exclusion Bill of 1924 and its withdrawal, the probabilities being that the former will be chosen.

The university will also hold debates with Michigan Agricultural College and Washington and Lee University. An agreement is pending for an annual debate with the Universities of North Carolina and Virginia, but the terms of agreement and the subject to be debated this year have not been definitely decided.

INDIANA BATTLES BLUE AND WHITE ON LOCAL FLOOR

Fans Will See Champs of "Big Ten" in Action

MICHIGAN IS NEXT

Cincinnati Lineup To Start in Game Tonight

The Wildcats went back to hard practice this week in preparation for their game with the Hoosiers of Indiana tonight. With one victory already marked up, the 'cats are determined to keep their state clean.

The Hoosier state is noted for its good athletes and few others excel them in the net game. Indiana won the "Big Ten" conference championship last season and will bring the same players to Lexington that composed the championship squad, determined to give the Wildcats the short end of the score.

The 'cat mentor has drilled his men hard for the last three days and it will be a tough job for the Hoosiers to penetrate the Wildcats' defense. The Blue and White men showed up well in the Cincinnati game in every department. The Kentucky men feinted the ball through the Ohioans' defense at numerous times for short shots at the basket. The Feline defense was almost impenetrable and the Bearcats made most of their shots from mid-floor.

Coach Applegran has his hands full in getting the players in trim for their game with the Hoosiers. There has been much stress laid on the three man defense, which was an important factor in defeating Cincinnati. The value of intense training and prolonged drill sessions on the fundamentals of the game showed itself in the Cincinnati game. The Wildcats, although somewhat ragged in play, were at the right place at the right time and every play worked smoothly.

Closely following the Indiana game, the Blue and White will engage the strong five from the University of Michigan Saturday night. This will give the players only one day for practice after their game with the Hoosiers tonight and night work will probably be the only preparation that the 'cat mentor can give his men. Both of these encounters are among

COL. JOHN SKAIN DONATES $1,000

Student Loan Fund is Beneficiary of Opportune Gift

Colonel John Skain, of Lexington, has donated $1,000 to the student loan fund of the University of Kentucky. The money will be sent immediately to Professor W. S. Webb, chairman of the fund committee. This donation will be known as the Joseph M. Skain Memorial Fund, in honor of Col. Skain's 14-year old nephew who was killed last summer.

There is no fund for students amounting to $18,000 which has accumulated from private donations and memorial funds, all of which is paid out in an effort to give boys and girls a better opportunity to secure an education. The fund is almost all out in loans and donations to the fund will be gladly received.

The student loan fund has been of great benefit to those students who are unable to pay their expenses through college. So numerous have been the demands upon the fund that the present amount is too small to take care of all the requests. Students who otherwise would be compelled to leave school will be greatly benefited by Mr. Skain's generous donation.

MERRY CHRISTMAS ALUMNI

This will be the last issue of the Kentucky Kernel until after the Christmas holidays are over. We are, therefore, taking this opportunity to wish you, if perhaps a slightly premature, nevertheless, a very merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year. May the coming Yuletide bring you joy and peace, and man the New Year crown your efforts with success.

SHALL THE GREATER KENTUCKY COMMITTEE OF THE KENTUCKY GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION CONTINUE TO EXIST?

The meeting of the Kentucky Good Roads Association called by Mr. Arthur D. Allen met in the Board of Trade Building in December. Practically all sections of the state were represented and the principal business transacted was the acceptance of reports from the secretary and treasurer and the election of officers. We are told that about $85,000 had been spent in the fight for the passage of the Bond Issue and that a deficit of about $4,000 existed. We believe that this sum was well expended and that the educational campaign waged through its means will do much to cause the thinking people of our state to study its problems more in the future and assist in solving them as they have never done before. The press was free with its space and all readers of Kentucky newspapers should know our deficiencies in road building, educational and charitable and penal institutions.

Mr. Eustace L. Williams, secretary, said, "No serious opposition either to submission of the proposed road bond issue to the Legislature or its approval by the people made its appearance until after the decision was reached December 26, 1923, that there should be an additional $25,000,000 of bonds voted for the purpose of education, penal and charitable institutions, funding the state debt and for the geological survey. This opposition appeared in organized form at the meeting of the Legislature in January, and resisted every step necessary to bring about submission of the bond issue to a vote of the people. It also vigorously attacked the constitutionality of the bond issue which afterwards was upheld.

"Enlargement of the bond issue from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 irretrievably hurt our cause in Western Kentucky, but strengthened us in Lexington and in some other sections of Central Kentucky. It hurt us in the Sixth Congressional District and generally in that section of the state usually referred to as Northern Kentucky. It probably helped us somewhat in Eastern Kentucky, though the people of that section were so thoroughly aroused on the road question alone that it is a question whether we received from it any material additional benefit there. From the standpoint of the state headquarters the addition of the $25,000,000 to the program undoubtedly completed the work."

During the discussion regarding the work of the Good Roads Association in the future, there was a great difference of opinion. Chief of those who were in favor of its continuing along the same line as it has worked during the past year was Desha Breckenridge, who said the future of the state is tied up in all the matters linked in the defeated bond issue, and that he did not believe the objections to the additional $25,000,000 caused the defeat of the bond issue. On the other hand he regarded the linking of the issues as of material benefit to the road bond issue, and felt that the campaign of misrepresentations contributed to the defeat of the bonds. He said that had the campaign extended over a period of another thirty days, the bond issue would have carried, and predicted that if it is submitted by the next Legislature to a vote of the people, it will be ratified by an overwhelming majority.

"Don't let it be known simply as a good roads association, but one devoted to the welfare of the state on all matters," he urged.

Senator Joseph F. Bosworth, of Middleboro, said: "Keep up the fight with all issues linked together. We have just begun to fight, and I am in favor of asking the next Legislature to submit a bond issue of $150,000,000!"

Senator J. Will Stoll, president of the First and City National Bank of Lexington, said: "The linking of the various issues lent strength to the cause of each, and "Both organizations dodged the issue," he charged. "Where it benefited the Republican organization to be against the bonds the issue was opposed to similar conditions existed in certain sections with reference to the Democratic organization. This opposition developed in the party organizations despite the fact that both parties were pledged to the bonds."

Judge Alex P. Humphrey, a member of the State Board of Charities and Corrections seemed to be of the opinion that the good roads association should go it alone in the future, leaving the other interests to fight their own battles.

Mrs. John L. Grayot, of Madisonville, who has given much time to the work of the association, seemed to never have been converted to the combination of the various interests represented in the bond issue and thought that the Good Roads Association should devote its efforts to roads only.

William A. Stoll, who worked as a member of the Young Business Men's League of Louisville for the passage of the Bond Issue, expressed his belief that the association should exist for building roads alone.

Prof. McHenry Rhodes, superintendent of public instruction, said the association should continue as a militant good roads organization.

Mrs. George Flourney, of Paducah, said she had found, both before and after the election, much opposition to all bond issues. "With the various issues combined, too many subjects were involved," she said, "and it was impossible to educate the people sufficiently to get their approval of the entire subject matter."

These people are representative citizens coming from various sections of our commonwealth and ought to know something of the sentiment of their localities. Their views are given that the alumni of the University of Kentucky may study them, and reach their own conclusions as to the best method of financing their Alma Mater.

One interesting fact about the discussion was that a majority of those speaking from Central and Eastern Kentucky were in favor of combining all issues and having the state go forward with one leap, while all those from Louisville and Western Kentucky were for each interest fighting its own battles.

No decision was made at this meeting as to future policies of the Kentucky Good Roads Association. A motion was passed authorizing the new president to appoint a committee composed of people who are interested in Kentucky's advancement and not necessarily bond issue advocates to report at a later meeting what it thinks would be the best course to pursue relative to financing our institutions and roads.

We would like to have the views of our alumni on this subject.

OUR PUBLICATION

A "News Letter" of four 6x8 pages is published weekly by the University of Chicago. In the issue of November 28 there are articles headed as follows: "Expansion of the University of Chicago in 1925," "Appreciation of the University of Chicago by a Great Chicago Newspaper," "Chicago, the Only Undeveloped Team in the Western Conference," "A Remarkable Gift to the University of Chicago from the Former President of the Board of Trustees," "Transplanted Eyes See Light," and "A Unique Publication at the University of Chicago." All of these articles tell of happenings at the University, happenings relating to the progress and advancement of the institution.

In addition to the above, Chicago alumni receive a monthly bulletin, giving items of interest about the institution, the student body and the alumni. It tells of progressive steps which the University is taking and resembles the monthly bulletin usually sent out by large universities to their alumni.

The student body and the Alumni Association of the University of Kentucky publish weekly for its students and active alumni a combined news letter and alumni bulletin of eight 20x12 pages. This paper presents the progress and needs of the University, the undertakings and the social life of the student body, and the achievements and advancements of the alumni.

A directory is also sent bi-annually to all alumni who have paid dues to the Association for either of those years.

For the small sum of $2 a member of the Kernel will be sent to you each week for a year. Each week you will get a new letter from the University, one from the student body of the University and one from the alumni. Can you afford to miss this? It is only one phase of being a member of the Alumni Association of the University of Kentucky, which the payment of the $2 makes you.

ALUMNUS AIDS STUDENT LOAN FUND

A gift of $1,000 to establish the Joseph H. Skain Memorial Fund, in memory of his nephew, Joe Skain, who was killed last winter, has been made by Col. John Skain, life member of the Alumni Association, to the Student Loan Fund of the University of Kentucky, according to announcement made at the annual football banquet at the Lafayette hotel, Friday night.

Col. Skain is the retired manager of the Phoenix hotel and for many years has been an active alumnus and loyal supporter of the University. This gift will enable several students to complete their college course, who otherwise would have been compelled to leave school because of lack of funds to continue their education, and come at a time when refusals were being made to such requests on account of insufficient funds.

The Student Loan Fund of the University is an accumulation of about $18,000 from private gifts and memorial funds and all of that amount is loaned to students, as well as part of their allotment of the Greater Kentucky fund and money which has been borrowed for the purpose.

W. S. Webb '01, head of the department of Physics at the university, is chairman of this fund, and has spent much time and effort in helping to build it up to its present status. Several of the alumni have been made very generous and appreciated gifts to it in the past.

LOUIS E. HILLENMEYER RE-CEIVES APPOINTMENT

Louis Edward Hillenmeyer '07, was appointed alumni member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky by Governor Fields, on December 15. He succeeds J. Irvine Lyle '06, whose term expired this year.

While a student at the university, Mr. Hillenmeyer was a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, the Mystic Thirteen Lamp and Cross. He was also president of the Student Athletic Council, Business Manager of the Annual, and captain of the baseball team.

Since graduation he has been a member of the firm of H. F. Hillenmeyer & Sons, Nurserymen, Lexington. This company confines its advertising to Kentucky, and has done much good for the state in this connection, but because of satisfied Kentuckians, it does much out-of-state business.

At present Mr. Hillenmeyer is president of the Kentucky State Horticultural Society; Director of the Lexington Water Company; Director of the Hurst Home Insurance Company; alumni representative on the University Athletic Council and secretary of the class of 1907.

SENIORS OF VARSITY GUESTS AT LUNCHEON

The outstanding event in the year for the Lexington Alumni Club was the December luncheon at the Lafayette hotel at which the seniors of the Varsity were guests of honor and the alumni availed themselves of the opportunity to meet the members of the athletic staff, Murphy, Ecklund, Applegran, Mann and Boles. Each member of the staff responded to a call for a speech and in each instance the alumni were inspired in a way never before realized by any of them.

You see, the big never-to-be-forgotten annual football banquet was held Friday night and according to the old guard it was the best ever and the luncheon the day following was just a marvelous echo of the banquet. Pep was not the stimulation at the luncheon (now don't get excited) but there was a something that seemed to make every alum know that it was true when Sandy said "the future is assured," and such Murphy said "you have not an 'alien' on any of your teams and the only non-resident is as good a Kentuckian as any of you." When those other "cats have graduated you will honor yourself in taking them into the organization. I tell you we just knew all over again that we have the best. But when Coach Applegran said, "all I ask is that you support the basketball men you have the football men" and he looked around that table and placed a challenge in the salad of every alum, I tell you he put the fear of God, of clean, high-class athletics into that bunch and we again pledged our loyalty to the kind of stuff that is in the young Kentuckian. "Brick" Chambers, the president, assisted by W. C. Wilson, Nancy Ingram and Marie McLaughlin, planned that luncheon and were just tickled to death at the result. Really, it inaugurates a custom of honoring the senior Wildcats at the December meeting of the Club annually. The honor guests were: Curtis Sanders, Turner Gregg, Gardner Bayless, C. T. Hughes and Grandison McLean.

John J. Leman is now living in Cincinnati, where the Wallins Creek Coal Company, of which he is sales manager, have moved their offices to 530 Dixie Terminal Bldg. Mr. Leman is among several who have sent in new addresses for names appearing in the "Lost List" on the Alumni page.

He married Miss Lola Wilson, of Bryan, Texas, February 7, 1923.

THE UNIVERSITY "LOAFER"

It is strange that efficient Nature displays only the non-exterior by which we are to judge the great underlying truths. The dark, woody hull of the coconut gives no hint of the nourishing meat within. There is no visible evidence of the great currents of the ocean, yet the surface ripples in baby waves under the lightest wind. The victorious progress of an army has often been read as defeat on account of the panic stricken flight of a handful of camp followers.

Camp followers, like the poor, we have always with us in some guise. A motley crowd is attracted by excitement and hope of material gain. Their garb, their manners, their craft have changed; their spirits remain the same. All have the earmarks of the professional camp follower from the lobbyist at the capital, to the loafers on the campus.

The loafers on the campus—we recognize them, we pity them; we tolerate them; but shall we permit the reputation of the rank and file of the students to be sullied by the chicanery of these camp followers? The Powers That Be have heard their oft-repeated stock expression: "I haven't looked at it." Aghast, they would construe those words to voice the spirit of the whole campus. As well hang for the meaning of the Seven Seas in the ineffectual waves that dash on the shore!

There are three classes of students who, with loud acclaim, "never study"; the braggarts, the mental apologies, and the perennial failures. The first class escape the stigma of the appellation "student" by shivering in secret and in the cold gray dawn over a difficult lesson. The conglomerate mixture of the prof's approval, the envious "I don't see how she does it," and the "haven't-cracked-a-book-yet" reputation is honey-sweet to some natures.

The next class is more commendable, certainly more human. With mental equipment short, with energy at the flag end, the individual must build up a protection of some sort. Nature grants to the veriest savage a shield. Shall we refuse the alibi, "Well, I was expecting to flunk; I never did study it," to a brain upon whose horizon the lesson truths have never dawned? Even Browning suggested mercy in: "Man's reach should never exceed his grasp."

The third class is composed of our perennial failures. Every university must charge a certain percent of its attendance to profit and loss. This class may "never have lifted a lid"; nor have they ever lifted a credit. Would this number diminish in the face of increased work and lowering of credits?

Anent the increase of loafing—do statistics suggest that the number of loafers is increasing? Since last semester the seating capacity of the library has been trebled, yet during the first four hours it is difficult to find an unoccupied volume used. Such an enormous, responsive crowd as greeted the Wildcats in their initial net encounter last Saturday night would indicate as much. Here we have spent years and years trying to get a big gym which would accommodate the crowds and after it is built, the people almost fill it for the first game of the season! Come on, folks, we will find some place to put you, and we defy you to make us build a larger gym.

JUST A WORD

Say, are we going to have to begin crying for a bigger gym already? Such an enormous, responsive crowd as greeted the Wildcats in their initial net encounter last Saturday night would indicate as much.

Here we have spent years and years trying to get a big gym which would accommodate the crowds and after it is built, the people almost fill it for the first game of the season! Come on, folks, we will find some place to put you, and we defy you to make us build a larger gym.

Kentucky's old-time spirit was revived Saturday night when the Bearcats knotted the count at 21-21 near the last of the game. We told you a day or two ago that the pendulum must swing back and it got a big push toward a maximum amount of pep at the first basketball game. It is indeed gratifying to see the students begin to manifest that spirit which prevailed when no more than 700 students were enrolled here.

Congratulations, band; congratulations, students; congratulations, team; congratulations, girls; congratulations, peanut vendors; in fact, congratulations, whole d—bunch!

The petit little girl cheer leader did a swell job Saturday night. But remember, girls, she must have your undivided support to put this thing over big.

It was really a pitiful sight to see the heart-rending separation of Laurelots and guens at the gym door Saturday night and many were the famous "last words" uttered as he bade her "Bye, 'till after the game."

But, seriously, students, don't you think you can yell better when you are not encumbered with a skirt on your arm? And you girls, don't you find it easier to emit warwhoops when you are sure you will invoke commendations instead of condemnation from your hero? Write us a letter and tell us just what you think of this new seating arrangement. We like it.

When "Simp" Estes gets through taking pictures and attempting to write poetry and facetious articles, he may report at this office and we will finance him in procuring a push cart loaded with bananas. Any one who can sell peanuts as he did Saturday night need never have any fear of starving to death as long as there is anything to sell.

Who said college life is getting less colorful the longer you wear the yellow slickers, the red shoes, the Kappa Sig bow and the Phi Delt four-in-hand; observe the lumberjack shirts and the chamote jackets and renounce your statement.

Kentucky has the habit of leading. The New York Times mentioned the fact a few days ago that we were the first college to have a class in crossword puzzles. We knew that; we even believe that we are the first college paper to publish an original crossword puzzle. Now we have the news from the American Student Health Association that Kentucky is the first institution in which the hygiene department has offered periodic physical examinations to the faculty and staff. Lead on, Kentucky!

The University of Chicago has given its football financial estimate. Receipts will total $500,000, with a possible profit of $200,000. More than 245,000 fans saw the games, a record number, greater than last year's total of 222,280. "Gats, get on your mittie. You will represent this university at Chicago next year and, judging the future attendance by the past, something like 30,625 fans will see you play; counting the 22 Lexington fans which will follow you there—30,647 persons will watch the Maroon-Wildcat struggle.

We are glad to learn that some folks have been reading "Just A Word," and more than that, have followed its advice. True, it is only the senior girls, but we cannot aspire to the unattainable ideal of having an under classman take any sort of advice. We have always had a vague hope that the feminine portion of the class of '25 would have a thot before they left us forever and we are gratified that after four long years of waiting our hope has been realized; they have taken a hint last week we urged that the senior girls begin a tradition by wearing some article of distinctive apparel. They met and decided to wear blue and white kerchiefs. Woe unto the late historic school flapper who dares to flaunt this emblem of superiority. She must continue to wash her neck.

A LETTER

December 18, 1924.

Editor of The Kernel:
Dear Sir:
Please permit me the use of a small amount of your valuable space in response to a criticism that has come to the officers of the Su-Ky Circle several times recently.

This criticism is implied in the question, "What becomes of all the money the Su-Ky Circle collects from various sources?" This is a perfectly fair question and should be answered frankly. I am president of the association and I am sure you will inform us on both the source and the disposal of these funds.

Our source of income is very limited, as is evident from the following citations:

From poplar subscription:
From sale of confections on the campus in connection with athletic contests;

From privilege granted by the Athletic Association to check coats and hats at dances given in the university gymnasium;

From one dance given each spring. As contrasted with the large possibilities of expenditures:

Entertainment of visiting teams; Expenses incurred in sending the university band with the football team;

Promoting "Pep-Meetings; Courtesies to Kentucky teams;

Entertainment and expenses connected with the annual interscholastic meetings;

Posters and tags to promote school spirit and advise the student body of the plans of the Circle;

Other miscellaneous items connected with the work of the Circle:
There is at the present writing exactly $4700 in the treasury. We keep a complete system of books and I desire to say here that the Circle holds itself in readiness to submit these books for the inspection of any persons concerned in Su-Ky activities.

Respectfully,
J. H. Warren, Jr.,
President.

Fashionably smooth hair

This has caused the great change in the appearance of men's hair

YOU cannot go into a classroom, or a club, or a fraternity house, without noticing it—

Somehow, college men have found a way to make the hair, the most conspicuous part of the appearance, look just as they want it to look at all times.

It was not always so. Before Stacomb was introduced, they tried countless methods to make their hair smoothly and stay that way—from old-fashioned pomades, which only matted the hair and made it greasy, to plain water, which kept it in place an hour at the most and then left it drier and more brittle than ever. Small wonder that they greeted Stacomb with such instant enthusiasm! Here at last was something that would make the hair stay in place without harming it or making it sticky and unnatural-looking.

Today the great change which Stacomb has brought about is noticed everywhere. Men whose hair used to be out of place an hour after being brushed, men whose otherwise correct appearance used to be spoiled by hair that was hopelessly unkempt—today they keep their hair constantly in perfect order.

Use Stacomb tomorrow morning—and look your best all day. A delicate, invisible cream. Non-staining and non-greasy. In jars and tubes, at all drug and department stores.

KIRWAN ELECTED CAPTAIN OF 1925 WILDCAT ELEVEN

Berkley Bryan Elected Manager at Grid Meeting

BANQUET IS PEPPY

Sanders Tells of Newly-Born Kentucky Spirit

A. D. "Ab" Kirwan, end on the Wildcat eleven for the past two years, was elected captain, and Berkley Bryan was named manager of the 1925 Wildcat football team at the annual football banquet held at the Lafayette hotel last Friday night.

The 1924 banquet was declared by many to be the best ever held. It was characterized by good cheer and gaiety in all its forms, speeches and toasts, noise and true Kentucky pep.

The Wildcats, in electing Kirwan captain, have selected a player who outplayed an All-American end and outclassed all other opposition he faced during the past season. He was almost unanimous choice for All-Southern end and was unanimous choice for the berth on All-Kentucky.

Kirwan and Sanders each vied for the oratorical honors during the evening's proclivities, with ex-Captain Sanders probably having the better of the argument by delivering a colorful and touching address.

"A new Kentucky spirit was born in the Thanksgiving Day game with Tennessee," Sanders said, "and it has been steadily growing, not only among the men, but on the campus and it is fully exemplified here tonight by you business men and supporters of the team."

Kirwan answered the retiring captain by saying that he did not think he could quite live up to the reputation established by Sanders as a football player, but that he would do his utmost, especially to promote the new feeling that is making itself known everywhere that the Blue and White is present.

Berkley Bryan, who was selected as manager by the athletic council, is a Lexington boy, a graduate of the Lexington Senior High School. He is a student in the college of Agriculture.

Judge R. C. Stoll presided as master of ceremonies in a capable manner and addresses were delivered by John Skain, Dr. W. D. Finkhouser, Mayor Hogan Yancy and President Frank L. McVey.

Mr. Skain spoke on "What the Team Means in Lexington" and Dr. Finkhouser spoke on "What the Team Means to the University." President McVey delivered an address on "Modern Football and its Relation to Institutions of Learning" and Mayor Yancy spoke on "Football as a Man-Builder."

Nineteen members of the varsity football squad were designated to receive letters. They are: Captain Sanders, Captain-elect Kirwan, Gregg, Hughes, Van Meter, Smith, Bayless, Montgomery, Creech, Derrick, DeHaven, Tracy, Portwood, Rickett, Rice, Harbold, King, Shelton and Sauer. Manager McLean will also receive a letter.

Twenty-four freshmen were awarded numerals at the banquet. They are: Arnold, Belt, Champ, Covington, Edwards, Ellis, Hickerson, James, Jenkins, Jones, Kirkendall, Mohney, Maloney, Martin, Phipps, Pence, Ross, Ropke, Stevenson, Schulte, Shropshire, Treiber, Van Arsdale and Wert.

Southern football men are coming into their own in the minds of the pickers of All-American football teams and this alone shows the ability of the southern coaches and teams.

For many reasons the third day of October is bound to be a red-letter day among the thrilling days promised by the 1925 football schedule of Kentucky.

SIXTEEN GAMES REMAIN ON 'CAT BASKETBALL BILL

First Southern Team Will Be Played Jan. 9

'CATS ON FIVE TRIPS

Play 3 "Big Ten," And One Eastern Net Team

Basketball lovers in and around Lexington and particularly of the University of Kentucky, will have an opportunity to see some of the strongest basketball teams in the country perform on the local floor this season against the Wildcats. Last year Kentucky established a record that stamps her as having one of the foremost basketball teams in the south, and only by the wonderful record they made last year were they able to get the most outstanding teams of the north, south, and middle-west on their schedule. Even if Kentucky plays only a mediocre team, the fans will see one of the best teams in the country in action, as the Wildcats have merited the title by their play last year.

Cincinnati came down last Saturday night, boasting of the best team that they have had in years, but Kentucky's fight and gameness crushed the Ohio goal-singers in a game which was all fight from start to finish. With some more teamwork, which will be acquired with a little more practice, the Wildcats should beat the best teams of the south.

Indiana and Michigan, considered to be the strongest teams in the Big Ten, play here this week. If the 'cats win these games they will have a big start for the Southern Championship.

January 3 the Wildcats will journey to Cincinnati to play the Bearcats a return game. This will be a hard contest, as Cincinnati will be seeking revenge. From Cincinnati the team will go to Urbana, Ill., where they will play the University of Illinois on January 5.

January 9 will see an entertainment for Mississippi on the local floor. This will be the first southern team to play Kentucky this season, and which was all fight from start to finish. Think about concerning the Southern Championship. The following night the Georgetown Tigers will furnish the opposition here. The Tigers have been the thorn in Kentucky's side for several seasons. The 'cats managed to nose out a victory 39 to 35 in a thrilling contest last year.

Kentucky will renew the argument with Centre on January 17, when they play the Colonels at Danville. In the past Kentucky has always emerged the winner by a decisive margin, and from all indications the results will approximate the same this year. After a lapse of three days Washington and Lee will furnish the opposition on the local floor, followed by West Virginia on February 2.

On February 5, 6, and 7 Kentucky will play the three most important games on their schedule, Alabama, Georgia Tech, and the University of Georgia on their respective floors.

The Felines will play their next home game with Tulane February 12 and will take on Georgetown at Georgetown on the 14th. Tennessee, the team which out-lucked Kentucky last year, will be entertained at the new gym on either the 16th or 17th day of the month. Centre will play the last game on the local floor on February 21.

The Southern Conference tournament will begin on February 27 and the 'cats expect to be in the midst of the fray at Atlanta on that date.

GAZIN' DOWN

BY FRANK K. HOOVER

Enter basketball! Football has abandoned the arena.

The winter court tourney was ushered in last Saturday night with a victory over the University of Cincinnati. The coming season will be a season of special interest, as the result of last year's tumultuous campaign.

Last year the basketball season closed in a burst of glory equalling its auspicious opening.

During the lapse of time between Christmas of 1923 and February of 1924 the Wildcats met and defeated the best quintets of the south, losing two out of fifteen games for the season's record. Georgia Tech, Vanderbilt, Sewanee, West Virginia, Clemson, Virginia, V. P. L., Centre and five other teams fell before the Wildcats and Tennessee and the Mississippi Aggies defeated them, the latter by a margin of one point. The Felines lost but one veteran last year, Reifkin, and his position is being filled nicely by two sterling men, who are battling for the regular place. There is little doubt, however, but that we shall have a team that will enter the Southern Conference tournament in Atlanta in February as a favorite. The veteran material available together with the stars of last year's freshman five insure a firm foundation for the coach to develop his team for the regular season. It must not be forgotten that we have one of the most competent coaches in the country.

The championship of the south, which seemed at the close of last year to be practically in our grasp, has assumed a rather more problematical complexion. The members of the Conference will have strong teams of veterans who showed strength last year. The result seems to rest in the lap of the fates.

The game tonight with Indiana will be an index of the season's prospects, as it will afford a glimpse of the stuff the team has.

Indiana is reputed to have a strong quintet this year, having won the "Big Ten" championship last spring, and the Wildcats will have to step lively to defeat the northers.

Southern Grid Rumlblings Heard in North And East

BY FRANK K. HOOVER

At last the Northern football authorities have heeded the distant rumble from the country south of the Mason and Dixon line, which has for years been dormant beneath the apparent superiority of Northern and Western football teams, and during the past year the rumble was a succession of thunderclaps echoing from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico.

In the north and west during the past season, the "Four Horsemen" rode out of Notre Dame and conquered all who came before them; the brilliant Grange of Illinois took his rightful place among the football immortals; three thousand miles away an epic battle between California and Stanford attracted the greatest crowd in football history.

It would almost seem, by comparison, that southern football has become a decrepit and tottering institution! But in the South, South, what of football?

The fearless eleven of Georgia astonished and thrilled the east when they came near defeating the Yale Bulldogs in their own stadium, losing the game in the last few minutes after a penalty had pushed them back onto their own goal line. Even then the spirit of Jefferson Davis caused the Bulldogs of the south to hold the snarling Bulldogs of the north, and until the fourth down did Yale break through the famed southern team. Yale kicked goal and the score stood 7 to 6 after they had received the most alarming setback in all their years of colorful history.

The mighty Penn State eleven invaded the south to do battle with the fearless Wycoff and his Golden Tornado. Experts had said that the Penn team was the best in the east, but the team returned home crushed under a score of 15 to 13. Reports tell that Tech fought the greatest battle of its history and won unstinted praise from eastern critics.

Vanderbilt took on Minnesota in a game which the Northmen thought would be easy, but they, conquerors of "Red" Grange and his flashy Illinois eleven, went down before the onslaughts of the Commodores. Again a team south of the Line proved it could not be regarded as "easy." Sewanee, conquered by Kentucky, proved its superiority over Minnesota by defeating Vanderbilt on Thanksgiving.

Bo McMillan's "Gentlemen" of Centenary College engaged four teams, Butler, St. Louis, Lombard and Boston College, in inter-sectional games and emerged the victor in each contest. Of these four every one was an easy victory save the last. The Boston College eleven, with Darling the outstanding half, could not hold Bo's southerners, who won, 10 to 9.

These four instances show that southern football teams are on a par with the best in the land and as a result, northern and eastern football officials are beginning to recognize the ability and material in the south more than ever. Since Centre humbled Harvard in 1911, certain southern colleges have been in great demand as opponents in eastern and northern games, and next season will find more inter-sectional games than ever before.

Princeton will meet Washington & Lee and Georgia Tech; the University of Pittsburgh will play Washington & Lee; Vanderbilt is the probable opponent of Illinois; Notre Dame and Penn State will meet the Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech; Alabama is wanted on the schedules of Yale and the Army; Florida will again meet the Army; Illinois has booked Tulane; Centre will meet Creighton University and the Michigan Aggies.

For Kentucky, not the least important contest is the Chicago game on October 3. Kentucky is still a bit dizzy because of sudden football eminence and will experience a great thrill from its first north-south meeting since 1915.

Far more important, in the long run, than the stiff test for the Blue and White will be the wonderful spreading of Kentucky's name and fame throughout the north.

CHICAGO GAME IS MOST IMPORTANT ON '25 SCHEDULE

Maryville Game Sept. 27 Will Open the Season

SCHEDULE 9 GAMES

Wildcats Meet Centre Oct. 31 at Danville

With the football season gone into the limbo of fates that, no more, the attention of the drug store critics is turned to the prospect for next year, the schedule of both local and other games, and the consideration of the achievements of the past year.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that next year will see a decided upward trend in the fortunes of the Kentucky eleven; that Coach Murphy has done excellent work with the material he has and with the handicap of a first year to overcome; and that his system will surely bring the Wildcats into the forefront of southern football where they properly belong.

The schedule of next year is probably the hardest a Kentucky team has ever undertaken. The second game of the season will be the toughest game of the year, the contest with the Maroons of the University of Chicago at Stagg Field, in Chicago on October 3.

The "Old Man" will have his Western Conference champions back almost to a man, and all of which will mean that the best of teams will face the hardest. It is a foregone conclusion that any team that can stop such an attack will have an even break with Chicago, and Kentucky's line should be powerful enough next year, with the addition of the stars of the freshman team, to hold the fullbacks of Chicago, who will be headed by "Five Yard" McCarthy.

On the Saturday preceding the Chicago game the Wildcats will open the 1925 season with the Maryville college football team, and on Saturday following the Chicago encounter, the Felines will oppose Clemson at Lexington. For the next month the Kentucky team will meet the acid test in W. & L., Sewanee, Centre and Alabama. The first of these four games will be played in Lexington.

There is a general feeling that the supremacy of Centre in football circles in Kentucky for a half dozen years is to be dissipated the coming year. This feeling prevails to the extent that there has been much wagering, with one bet of $1,000 to $5,000 on Kentucky reported.

The Grimson Tide of Alabama will meet Kentucky in Birmingham next year, as that city is always sure to furnish a large crowd for the contest. The V. M. I. game will be played either at Lexington or Charleston, W. Va., and the annual game with the Volunteers will be played in Stoll Stadium.

The game with Chicago marks a reopening of athletic relations between Kentucky and Western Conference teams. The Wildcats have been absent from the game since their games with Conference teams, their greatest victory coming in the game with Illinois at Urbana in 1909, when the Kentucky team beat the Illini and earned for themselves the title of "Wildcats." Ohio State, Purdue and Indiana are other teams which Kentucky has played in past years.

WILDCATS SPANK CINCY 28 TO 23 IN FIRST NET GAME

Blue Defense is Too Good for the Bearcats

UNDERWOOD STARS

Allen, Visiting Center, High Scorer With 13 Points

"Jimmy" McFarland. And "Cowboy" Underwood. And "Will" Milward. And Burgess Carey. And "Chuck" Rice.

That is why the University of Cincinnati drew the short end of a 28 to 23 verdict against the University of Kentucky basketballers in the season's opening tilt at the new gym before 3,000 people last Saturday night.

The wearers of the Blue and White displayed teamwork that was simply too much for the Bearcats. Their offensive play reached points of brilliancy at times as they sifted through the visitors' defense for field goals after furiously advancing the ball down the floor. The three man defense of the Bearcats, which was completely unfaithful to the Cincinnatians.

Had it not been for Underwood for his scoring, McFarland for his defense and rescue-scoring, Milward for his passing and scoring, Carey for his guarding and passing, and Rice for his passing and guarding, the Wildcats would not have won.

Nobody could say they have won without the players in taking the ball down the floor and in breaking up the Cincinnati offense. They showed excellent form, considering the little amount of practice most of the men had had, and they showed a surprising amount of fight and stamina when the visitors tied the score at 21 all late in the game.

Underwood at forward showed all-southern calibre playing by scoring 10 of Kentucky's points. He was in the game heart and soul, displaying the fight and fire and enthusiasm as well as polished play which characterized him last winter.

McFarland showed up nicely, but he was sadly lacking the deadly eye for the basket which he had last year. He made 8 points despite this handicap and with a good week's practice behind him, he should be able to hit the hole regularly in the forthcoming game.

Milward played a nice floor game and also made 8 points for his team. He got the jump on Allen, star center for the Bearcats a majority of the time and played a dazzling passing game.

Burgess Carey surprised even the coach with the game he turned in. He was in the midst of every play and passed the ball quickly and accurately whenever he received it. His speed in turning and passing was a great factor in the victory.

Rice, as usual, played a sterling game at guard. When a Cincy man got past the two forwards and the center, it was always Rice who broke up the play. He came in on the scoring, making a single foul goal.

Tracy got into the game in the first and last halves, but was handicapped by injuries received in football. His shoulder is in bad shape and he can hardly raise his arm above his head.

Alberts also went into the game in the first and second halves and he displayed lots of speed during his stay. Alberts is playing his first game on the Varsity and he can be counted on to out some next year, perhaps this year.

For Cincinnati it was Allen and Mehl. The former, playing center, scored 13 of his team's points and the latter scored 9. Schmidt scored the other point on a foul shot. Allen was everywhere on the floor at one time and his shots at the basket were deadly. He was a big factor in Cincinnati's Ohio Conference championship last year and will be a dangerous man again this season.

The following is the lineup and summary: Cincinnati Kentucky Sicking F McFarland (8) Mehl (9) F Underwood (10) Allen (13) C Milward (8) Otterbein G Carey (1) Schmidt (1) G Rice (1)

Substitutions--Cincinnati: Bradner for Sicking, Smith for Mehl, Mehl for Sicking, Hessler for Otterbein, Otterbein for Hessler; Kentucky--Tracy for Rice, Alberts for Tracy, Rice for Alberts, Tracy for Rice, Alberts for Tracy. Referee--Krucek, Cincinnati. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

AS SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By FRANK K. HOOVER

James F. Corn, who graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1916, and who is now sports editor of the Cleveland (Tenn.) Herald, in picking his All-American football team, has placed W. A. "Caveman" Rice at left tackle. The story following about Corn's selections is reproduced from the Cleveland Herald:

"Now that the curtain is drawn on the 1924 football season, the Herald sports editor has followed the example of other leading sports writers by selecting an All-American eleven.

"The team selected has been picked through a careful study of crop and stock market reports, statistical charts and the like, and has an added distinction by virtue of the fact that the sports editor admits that he has seen none of his selections in action. Statistics fail to show that such an admission has even been made by a sports editor before, although many have been guilty of the offense.

"Another radical departure from precedent lies in the selection of All-American coaches, cheer leaders and rooters, these being, in the opinion of our editor, important elements too often overlooked. Who has not heard the expression, "Cheer old Skookum on to victory, etc."

"The Herald's selection follows:

Bean	l. e.	Harvard
Rice	l. t.	Kentucky
Root	l. g.	Yale
Reed	c.	Cornell
Budd	r. g.	LaFayette
Flowers	r. t.	Tennessee
Berry	r. e.	Miss. A. & M.
Bench (C)	q. b.	Yale
Sparrow	l. h.	North C.
Cotton	r. h.	C. C. N. Y.
Wood	f. b.	Army

"Bench, our selection for captain, has proved to be indispensable to every team in the country this season. Flowers, of Tennessee, is shifted from end to tackle in order to make room for him without dispensing with Bean or Berry, both of whom are extremely valuable. Bean is long and stringy, and can cover a great amount of ground, while Berry is our unanimous selection for the other end position.

"Another great quartet of backs. Sparrow is light and fast. Cotton is also light, and is a fast ground gainer.

Wood is heavy and strong, and makes a great battering ram, while Bench is the only four-legged All-American selection this season.

"Other players deserving honorable mention are: Roach, of Niagara; Garbisch, of the Army; Shapely, of the Navy; and Booz, of LaFayette. Roach is a very elusive runner, Garbisch is very strong and Shapely has shown excellent form in every game he has played. Booz is a veteran who has played a leading part in many victories of this and past seasons, and therefore wins a place on our team, although this year he has proved to be a somewhat uncertain quantity."

A Toy—a Tool

THE first twenty days in December witnessed a big event in one man's life. They saw a toy grow into a tool—one of the most useful in all history.

On December 1st, 1885 there was brought to George Westinghouse, at Pittsburgh, an uncommercial "secondary generator"—a scientific toy. Westinghouse and associates lived with it day and night, and by December 20, 1885, in a flash of genius, had completed the essential conceptions of the modern transformer. Thus in twenty days they paved the way for alternating current, and the electrical era of the twentieth century.

Here was a brilliant engineering feat—a feat that through the years has been a particular inspiration to a specialized group of "design engineers" within the Westinghouse organization. These men are electrical and mechanical engineers who are attracted not merely by an engineering problem—but by the technical difficulties of "licking" that problem to narrow and exact practical limits.

These men work continuously with both sides of an equation. On one side are the needs of a customer. For the other side must be developed apparatus which exactly meets those needs. The apparatus may range from a complete system of electrification for a railroad to a new type of curling iron.

Engineering extends a welcoming hand to men qualified for designing. Many of the most constructive services of Westinghouse have been made possible by their leadership.

SENIOR 'CATS ARE HONOR GUESTS

Lexington Alumni Give Luncheon at Regular Meeting

Senior members of the Wildcat football team and the coaching staff of the University of Kentucky were guests of honor at the monthly meeting of the Lexington alumni club at a luncheon held yesterday in the private dining room of the Lafayette hotel.

Dr. J. S. Chambers, president, was in the chair and introduced the speakers.

The guests were: Prof. S. A. Boles, Coach F. J. Murphy, Coach C. A. Applegran, Trainer Frank Mann, Curtis Sanders, captain of the Wildcat squad, Grandison McLean, student manager, Turner Gregg and Gardner Bayless.

Prof. Boles and each of the coaching staff addressed the group, expressing their appreciation for the support given them by the Lexington alumni club. All guests talked informally.

Election of officers of the alumni club was postponed until the next meeting. The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of Misses Marjorie McLaughlin, Nancy Innes, and Dr. J. S. Chambers, president, and W. C. Wilson.

This banquet inaugurates a custom of honoring the senior Wildcats in this manner and the alumni expect to continue the practice in the future.

SIGMA XI ELECTS TWO DELEGATES

Will Go to National Convention at Washington, D. C.

Sigma Xi national honorary scientific fraternity at the university, held a meeting in the Science building, on Friday, December 12, at which time Prof. M. N. States, secretary of the chapter, and Dr. W. D. Funkhouser were elected to represent the chapter at a national meeting to be held at Washington, D. C., December 31.

The address of the evening was made by Dr. W. D. Dimock, head of the veterinary department in the college of Agriculture. Doctor Dimock spoke of the many problems confronting those interested in veterinary work. He said that due to the fact that livestock does not at present demand the high prices of pre-war periods, there is an extreme shortage of students pursuing veterinary work.

Sigma Xi comprises membership of two classes—active, including faculty members who have done noteworthy scientific work, the results of which have been published, and associate, open to seniors and graduate students who show unusual promise of doing work promoting scientific progress.

the hardest the Wildcats will play this season and the players will be given a two weeks' rest before their next frame, which is the return game with the University of Cincinnati on January 3. This will be the first trip which the Wildcats will make and they will also visit Champaigne, Ill., where they will meet the championship quintet of the University of Illinois.

More than likely the same lineup which started against the Bearcats will be used against the Indiana five tonight. This lineup is: Capt. McFarland and Underwood, forwards; Will Milward, center; and Carey and Rice as guards. Underwood made an excellent showing against the Bearcats, scoring most points for the Wildcats and he should be able to duplicate this feat. Captain McFarland still has his deadly eye for the basket, but did not do so well until the latter part of the game, at which time the team needed points.

The Wildcats will lay aside two of their hardest games this week. The Indiana game will probably be the hardest game of the season. The local quintet has improved greatly since its tilt with the Bearcats and by the end of the week expects to have two more victories chalked up.
