

one that Charlie is fond of - but she cannot assist me in sewing as Gene did. The children are well - Charlie is the pet among the gentlemen in town indeed Sam affirms he is to be completely spoiled.

Mr Morgan complains more or less all the time with pain in his heart - his father is expected on about the first of June.

How is your Mother and the dear little baby? is she as pretty as she was. she is a sweet little thing I know, and will of course be a great pet with you all. please give my best love to your Mother & Aunt Steffa also my kindest regards to your father, Brother, & Mr Steffa to whom I feel under many obligations.

When is Lantille expected? or will she come at all. Tell Ma that it gives me not a little that I can't be there to partake of the Strawberries and cream. I suppose they will soon be in perfection. Take care of Amos I shall expect him to drive my Carriage one of these days.

Mr Morgan and Hannie write with me in love to all & hoping soon to hear from you both - I remain ever yours Caroline Morgan

Love to your Aunt Buggs - and respects to Mr Lancaster - write soon

My Dear Sister & Brother

I have delayed thus long to write you - daily hoping to receive an answer to my letter to Ma written soon after our arrival in this place - I have concluded however to wait no longer trusting that this letter may meet with a better fate than the former one you are not aware of my great anxiety to hear from you all - if you could but know my feelings on this point I feel assured that you would write often.

Well, here we are - boarding at Lancaster's Hotel which by the way is equal to any village Hotel you ever saw - we
