June 64

Dear Carolyn

As I am today sending you some books on Yoga for the library I will also put in this note a word about the next possible visit, in reply to Victor's welcome card of Le Douanier Rousseau (whom I certainly think classical and very fascinating in every respect. One of my favorites). Victor spoke of coming down soon: at the moment things are bad as this is a crowded time of year for me. I hope things will be better toward the end of June. How would June 27th be? I don't suppose you would want to drive on July 4th which is the next Saturday. Is June 27th all right, or is July 11th altogether too far away? I think it is, myself. I hope you can make it on the 27th. Please let me know. All the best to you both.
