NO. 2

United States and Israeli military officials will meet in Washington on Jan. 23 and 24 to flesh out the military cooperation agreement which was agreed to in November by President Reagan and Prime Minister Shimon Peres. The U.S. delegation to the Joint Political-Military Group will be headed by General John J. Vessey, Jr., Director of Political-Military Affairs at the State Department. The Israeli counterpart will be Menachem Begin, Director General of the Ministry of Defense.

The New York Times reports that the two delegations will "discuss combined operations to meet possible Soviet and Syrian moves in the Middle East, storage of American weapons and military equipment in Israel, and use of hospitals in Israel by American forces." It also reports that Senator John Tower, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee who has just returned from a visit to Israel, is in support of a cooperative effort with Israel.

In fact, there has already been progress in several areas. Three agreements have already been reached in the area of military cooperation. They involve U.S. utilization of Israeli hospitals, the pre-positioning of U.S. medical supplies in Israel; and the exchange of visits by U.S. and Israeli military physicians.

In another area, an American warship recently called at Haifa for repairs. This was the first time since the "voyage repair" took place in an Israeli port. General John W. Vessey, Jr., Chairman of the Chiefs of Staff, was just returned from the first stop, he is maintaining a high state of readiness was demonstrated to him.

There are even reports that the Pentagon is moving away from its opposition to cooperation with America's strongest ally in the Middle East. The Times reports that "some American naval officers" are backing cooperation because "Israel offers good facilities close to the operating areas." This is good news—indeed. U.S.-Israel strategic cooperation is an appropriate common-sense response to the increasing Syrian aggressiveness in the Middle East. Friends of a strong U.S.-Israel alliance will be paying close attention to the first meeting of the Joint Political-Military Group and the surrounding developments. No doubt Soviet and Syrian officials will be doing the same. □

BEHIND THE HEADLINES

Headlines are eye catchers. Most of the headlines on the front of this newsletter are from the JTA - the Jewish Telegraphic Association.

Behind the headlines in the small print are the stories -- in these stories are the constant threats to survival of Jews of Israel and in the Diaspora. And there is always some good news. But the threats loom larger; the problems seem more complex.

Fortunately, we Jews of today are in communication with each other. We can hear our relatives in Russia trying to batter down the doors that won't open to freedom. We can smell the disgust when synagogues are vandalized. We can easily recognize tears of agony when a mother in Israel gives her son for her country's security. We can cringe and squirm when we see the lonesome faces in the Jewish Homes for the Aged.

Our oneness of being a Jew is emphasized when the headlines call our attention to the Jewish problems of the world. We can respond all together through the network of agencies and organizations that we have formed to take care of our own.

We must fund this thread and forge the links that have bonded us for almost six thousand years. Good health, proper education and available monies for those in need come from deep inside your hidden pocket: your heart. A child sings, a soldier is healed, and hope flourishes when you commit to our annual appeal for money.

Syrian Jewry: Hostages To Assad

Despite its "humanitarian" release of U.S. Lt. Robert Goodman, Syria has little compassion for some of its own citizens.

from the Baltimore Jewish Times

News of the murder in late December reached the outside world in an anguished telephone call from Abadi to relatives in New York. A few weeks later, Democrat presidential candidate Jesse Jackson would persuade Syrian President Hafez Assad to release downed U.S. flyer as a "humanitarian" gesture and the world would be momentarily impressed by the Syrian's compassion. But the Syrian state, apparently, has little compassion for some of its own citizens.

Howard I. Friedman, president of the American Jewish Committee, denounced the "brutal, savage act. We do not believe this was the doing of a common thief because the vile murder was preceded by a number of telephone calls to several members of the Jewish community of Aleppo (the Abadis' town) warning them, 'you are next'."

Abraham H. Foxman, associate director of the B'nai B'rith's Anti-Defamation League, said that the Syrian government, which has long been derelict in according the Jewish community full civil rights, "now bears a special obligation." Foxman also called on Syrian President Hafez Assad to allow Jews to emigrate from Syria. Such policy would be in accord with the U.N. Declaration on Human Rights, of which Syria is a signatory.

Victor Abadi was hurrying home. The prosperous Syrian businessman was more than an hour late and he did not want his family to worry. He was surprised to find the door to his home open and called to his wife. There was no answer. Abadi went inside. Lying on the floor were his pregnant 25 year old wife, Lilian, and their two children - 6½ year old son and 3½ year old daughter. All three bodies were brutally mutilated.

CKJA

Community Activities Committee

The Community Activities Committee has primary responsibility for providing programs that enrich the Jewish community culturally and intellectually. This is part of the constitutional responsibility to try "to improve the quality of Jewish life in Central Kentucky." These programs reach out to all segments of the Jewish community attempting to bring them together for meaningful experiences and interaction against a Jewish backdrop. A second goal is the furtherance of knowledge about, and appreciation of the state of Israel and aspects of Israeli culture.

This committee is comprised of the chairpersons of several subcommittees - Forum, Camp Shalom, Preschool Parties, SingleScene, Israel Independence Day, Folk Dancing and Jewish Fellowship Bowling League - plus two or three persons without portfolio. It is overseen by the committee chairperson, who currently is Ken Germain. The Forum, Camp Shalom and SingleScene are partially subsidized by CKJA (since each generates some of its own income), whereas the other subcommittees are wholly dependent upon CKJA funding.

FORUM

Both 1982-83 and 1983-84 Forum programs have been chaired by Judy Baumann and operated by Judy plus many committee persons. In calendar year 1983 the Forum included Rabbi Moshe Shur (participant in CKJA-coordinated "Community Shabbaton" and singer/guitarist at concluding concert), Wolf Blitzler (Washington, D.C. correspondent to The Jerusalem Post), Rabbi Jacob Marcus (former Rabbi at Lexington's Adath Israel and noted rabbinic historian), and the Israeli Chassidic Festival (Israeli dance and musical group). The Forum program provides perhaps the best opportunity for Central Kentucky Jews, "affiliated" or "unaffiliated", to convene for an event of common interest. (See the enclosed flyer for the next event.) Alana Leffler has agreed to chair the Forum for the 1984-86 seasons.

CAMP SHALOM

Going into its 18th season in 1984, Camp Shalom has always emphasized Jewish themes and cultural activities in an outdoor setting. Camp Chairwoman Connie Loventhal has recently announced a new director for the 1984 three week session. (See article on page 14.)

PRESCHOOL PARTIES

Calendar year 1983 included parties under the general supervision of Joan Flashman, 1982-83 subcommittee chair (Purim), and Sharyn Sharer, 1983-84 subcommittee chair (Sukkot, Hannukah). Children aged 3-5 are the target group and are turning out in good numbers (15-25 per party). The goal of these parties, of course, is to bring young children from all sectors of the Central Kentucky Jewish community together for celebration especially designed for their benefit. The next party will be Sunday, March 18. (See announcement on page 8.)

ISRAEL INDEPENDENCE DAY

Levy Rabinowitz chaired the 1983 celebration which was held at the Seay Auditorium at U.K. The featured entertainment was the Sabra Dancers, a folk dance troupe from Cincinnati. Warm-up was provided by Carol Reiman, a solo guitarist/singer also from Cincinnati. Refreshments were provided by a large group of volunteers and coordinated by members of the subcommittee. Karen Diamond has agreed to chair the Israel Independence Day festivities for 1984. Save Sunday, May 6, 1984, and watch for further announcements.

SINGLESCENE

Jack and Susan Miller co-chaired this new entry under the auspices of the CKJA Community Activities Committee. The goal was to provide opportunities for greater Lexington Jewish singles aged 21-41 to meet and interact with each other in a Jewish setting. Numerous gatherings were held, and a newsletter, "Single-Scene", was initiated. Although attendance has been sporadic thus far, this subcommittee is very important and will continue to function.

ISRAELI FOLK DANCE

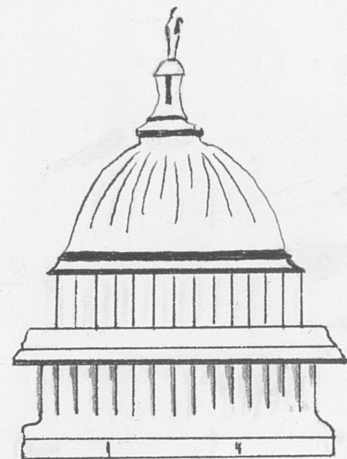

With Karen Edelstein as organizer/teacher, this program has been held for a number of years. Although the program is recreational in essence, on occasion its members have performed for CKJA functions.

JEWISH FELLOWSHIP (BOWLING)

Currently chaired by Cathy Rosenberg, the bowling group pre-dates CKJA by many years. It is part of a summer league and is open to all interested bowlers.

CKJA MISSIONS COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES FIRST

LEXINGTON MISSION to WASHINGTON

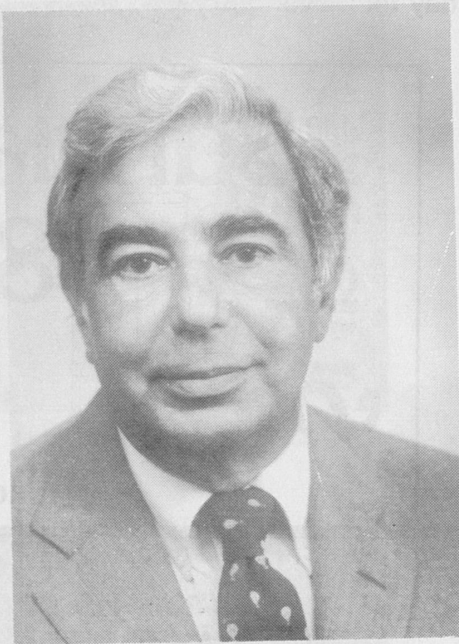

On Wednesday, May 2, 1984, the CKJA will sponsor a one-day educational mission to Washington, D.C. for forty members of CKJA. The Mission will leave Lexington Bluegrass Field at 7:30 a.m. and will return at 9:18 p.m. on Piedmont Airlines. Specific arrangements for the day in Washington are being made by the Washington United Jewish Appeal office and the CKJA Missions Committee. Included will be luncheon on Capitol Hill with the Kentucky Delegation, as well as briefings at such places as the Israel Embassy, UJA, State Department, Pentagon and the American Israel Public Affairs Committee. A specific itinerary should be available by the end of February.

The cost for each participant will be $150 (checks payable to CKJA) which includes round trip airfare, lunch, and a chartered bus while in Washington. The unusually low cost is possible because of a CKJA subsidy.

If you are interested in applying for admission to the Lexington Mission to Washington please contact Dr. Robert Baumann at 223-1299 or the CKJA office at 277-8048.

MEN'S DIVISION UPDATE

The second annual Major Gifts Dinner on Saturday evening, February 18, was a gala affair. Those who gathered to hear U.S. Senator Wendell Ford and Israeli TV personality Israel Amitai, were impressed by Senator Ford's commitment to Israel, and Mr. Amitai's comprehensive presentation of Israel's place in recent history and today. Pledges made at the dinner showed an increase of 102%, card for card, over 1983. At this point, the Men's Division Campaign totals $115,000, reflecting an overall increase of 32%

No...not a character from another galaxy, but our own Ethel Schwartz (nee Gold). It's been a year or two since Ethel has been in a Chemistry lab. She's been busy as Mrs. Charles Schwartz, President of the National Council of Jewish Women, Librarian at Temple Adath Israel, a librarian at the U.K. Medical Center, and has given volunteer hours by the thousands to many other organizations in Central Kentucky. Her kitchen is the lab that dispenses goodies from A -to- Hamantaschen. SO EAT NOW AND FLOSS LATER (to remove those poppy seeds from your teeth.) For your Purim Pleasure we present Hamantaschen-a-la-Schwartz:

Pastry: 2 cups sifted flour
2 tsp. double-acting baking powder
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. butter, cut into $\frac{1}{2}$ " slices
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 T orange juice

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt & sugar. Add sliced butter and cut it into dry mixture until it resembles coarse meal. Stir the rest of the ingredients into the dough and mix thoroughly. Stir till dough is completely moistened and smooth. Wrap in wax paper or Saran wrap and refrigerate overnight.

Filling: 2 cups unsweetened, pitted & chopped prunes
3 T water
1 T lemon juice
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup honey
2 tsp. grated lemon rind
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped walnuts or almonds

Put water and prunes in saucepan. Bring to a boil, cover and lower heat so it simmers for 10-15 minutes, till very soft. Add more water if necessary. Add lemon juice and honey. Cook, stirring constantly, for about 5 minutes. Don't let it get too thick as it will thicken more while cooling. Stir in nuts and cool.

Roll dough on lightly floured board or pastry cloth with floured rolling pin or roll between sheets of waxed paper. Roll to about $\frac{1}{8}$ " thickness. Cut into 3" circles. Fill each with 1 tsp. of filling. Pull up 3 sides and pinch together. Place 2" apart on cookie sheet and bake 12-15 minutes in 400° oven, or until delicately browned on top.

NOTE: dried apricots may be used in place of prunes or in addition to the prunes.

If prune butter is available, mix 2 cups of it with $\frac{1}{2}$ cup ground almonds and 1 T grated orange rind. Fill dough.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE of the International Network of Children of Jewish Holocaust Survivors

As the heirs of the Six Million Jews who perished during the Holocaust, and as the sons and daughters of those who survived its horrors, we pledge ourselves to forging our future by remembering our past.

The International Network of Children of Jewish Holocaust Survivors links and unites Second Generation groups and individual children of Holocaust survivors throughout the world. We are committed to the oneness of the Jewish people, to solidarity with the State of Israel, to world peace, and to the fundamental principles of universal freedom, justice, democracy and equality. Our central goals are to represent the shared views and interests of children of Holocaust survivors, to perpetuate the authentic memory of the Holocaust and prevent its recurrence, to strengthen and preserve our spiritual, ideological and cultural heritage, to fight all manifestations of anti-Semitism and other forms of racial, ethnic or religious hatred, and to raise our collective voice on behalf of all human beings, Jews and non-Jews alike, who suffer from discrimination, persecution and oppression anywhere in the world.

YIVO COLLECTS PHOTOGRAPHS ON RUSSIAN JEWRY

The YIVO Institute for Jewish Research has begun a project to collect and catalog photographs and films which depict Jewish life in Russia and the Soviet Union. The purpose of YIVO's new photographic project is to solicit pictorial materials on Jewish life in Russia and the Soviet Union from private individuals who are keeping them among their family papers.

The YIVO Institute is uniquely qualified to carry out such a project. Since its founding in Vilna, Poland in 1925 as a academic research and resource center on Eastern European Jewry, the institute has built up a multilingual library of over 300,000 volumes and archives with over 22,000,000 documents, including about 100,000 photographs.

While the YIVO Institute preserves historical source materials on Russian Jewry in numerous collections of documents and photographs, its collections on Russia are incomplete compared to the vastness of the subject. Moreover, little Jewish documentation has survived the fifty year onslaught on Jewish institutions and cultural life in the Soviet Union. Thus any remaining photographs, albums, postcards, autobiographical materials and personal papers are not just family memoirs but the documents of an era.

Of great importance are photographs taken before and after the October Revolution, photographs of World War II, of Jewish soldiers in the Soviet army, Jewish partisans in the forests, and Jews in the Soviet Union after the Second World War.

OF INTEREST TO CENTRAL KENTUCKIANS.....

AN INVITATION FROM CINCINNATI

JEWISH COMMUNITY RELATIONS COUNCIL

"By Spirit Alone ... Jewish Life in the Soviet Union Today" an exhibit of photographs by artist Bill Aron of Los Angeles, will be displayed at the Main Public Library of Cincinnati and Hamilton County from March 1 through March 28, 1984. The photographs are extraordinary in their sensitivity and pathos and are worth seeing for their artistic value alone. We also hope that this exhibit will help to alert the community to the increasingly desperate plight of Jews in the Soviet Union today.

You are also invited to hear and meet with Morris B. Abram, Chairman, National Conference on Soviet Jewry. Mr. Abram's topic will be "The Rescue of Soviet Jewry ... Whose Responsibility Is It?"

The meeting will be held on Thursday, March 8, 1984, 8:00 p.m., at Rockdale Temple, 8501 Ridge Road, Cincinnati.

The program will be followed by a reception, at which time you will have an opportunity to meet and talk with Mr. Abram.

from Washington, D.C.

Senator Walter D. Huddleston recently informed us that shortly before Congress adjourned in November, he joined Senator Patrick Moynihan as a cosponsor of a bill which would require the United States Embassy and the residence of the American Ambassador to Israel to be located in Jerusalem. This bill has been referred to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. (Senator Ford also was a cosponsor.)

He has also recommended that the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize be awarded to Elie Wiesel for his outstanding work as an author, philosopher, lecturer and humanitarian.

He further informs us that under the continuing appropriations resolution for fiscal 1984, funding for Israel will total $2.6 billion in new budget authority. Of this amount, $1.7 billion is for military assistance and $925 million is for economic assistance.

Please write to Senator Huddleston, and the other members of the Kentucky delegation, to let them know how you feel about these items or others that concern you. We will try to keep you informed.

The question comes up yearly -- always in the Spring. Answers can be found in recipe boxes, on book shelves, and hopefully right here in the next Newsletter: THE FLUFFY MATZO BALL. Please reply. Check your family cookbook and share your secrets for the perfect Matzo Ball. This could be the discovery of the century! Take pity on those of us who think Mrs. Manischewitz invented the Matzo Ball. Share your recipe for the perfectly blended Matzo Ball, and check this column next month for family secrets that have escaped the Inquirer and have turned up here.

Passover is traditionally the time we welcome strangers and those without a family at our Seder tables. If you will have space at your Seder, please call Community Worker Judy Saxe, 277-8048, and offer your hospitality.

Likewise, if you would enjoy home hospitality for a Seder, and are willing to take the matzo balls as they come, call Judy and she'll get busy with the matchmaking.

And, for your Passover shopping, here is the beginnings of a list of local supermarkets that will stock Passover supplies: Foodtown, 398 Southland Drive; Randall's, 344 Romany Road; Randall's, 103 E. Reynolds; and Pic Pac, Lansdowne Shopping Center.

MORE FROM J.T.A.

Tel Aviv (JTA) — President Chaim Herzog and his wife, Ora, received a very warm welcome last week when they arrived at Kinshasa, Zaire, the first Black African nation to restore diplomatic ties with Israel after breaking them during the Yom Kippur War. Herzog, on his first African tour since taking office, will also visit Liberia. Israeli reporters accompanying the Presidential party, said the road from Kinshasa airport to President Mobutu Sese Seko's residence was lined with thousands of people waving Israeli flags.

Bonn (JTA) — Half of all West Germans still harbor anti-Semitic feelings of varying intensity, according to a recent study by Cologne University based on a sampling of 2,000 adults. The study showed that only 24 percent of the population fully rejects anti-Semitism.

The implication of the study is that very few Germans have changed their minds about Jews despite the widespread publicity given the massacre of Jews during the Nazi era, including the American-made Holocaust television series which appeared on national television here several years ago.

The Cologne inquiry found that persons of low income and little education are more anti-Semitic than academics and office holders. Anti-Semitic feelings are more intense among older Germans, those who lived during the Nazi era. Anti-Semitic sentiments are found in up to 88 percent of people living in small towns and villages, compared to 48 percent in large urban areas.

HITCH - A - RIDE II

We are encouraged by the many people who called to express their interest in, and approval of, our Hitch-A-Ride program. But, we were disappointed that only one person actually requested the service!

So undaunted, we are trying again. This time, for the wonderful musical program to be presented on Sunday, March 11 at 7:30 p.m. at Ohavay Zion Synagogue. (See enclosed flyer.)

Here's how it works: Any member of the Lexington Jewish community, age 55 and up is eligible to participate. A taxi will pick up participants, 3-5 persons per cab, deliver them to Ohavay Zion Synagogue in time for the program, and bring them home afterwards. The charge for the service is $2.00 per person, round trip. To reserve a place, please call our coordinator, Marty Kaplan at 276-1452 or the CKJA office at 277-8048, by Thursday, March 8. (We do need a day to work out the routes with the cab company.)

If there is enough interest expressed we hope to make similar transportation available for other Jewish community events.

CALL US! IF WE ARE TO SERVE YOU, WE MUST HEAR FROM YOU!

THANKS, TOO, to Rick Arenstein of Rick's Place who put out a delicious spread for the HAPPY HOUR last month. We'll have to try that again!

WATCH FOR: an announcement of a meeting to plan for future events. We need help from all of you.
