MOST DRAMATIC GAME IN BASKETBALL HISTORY

King Tosses Winning Goal
With The Score
a Tie

PRAISE FOR BUCHHEIT

They went, they saw, and they conquered!

The Wildcats, at first doped as the dark horse of the tourney, won the All-Southern basketball championship in the finals from the quintet representing the University of Georgia, Tuesday night, in Atlanta, by a score of 20 to 19, after decisively defeating the teams from Tulane, Mercer and Mississippi A. and M. by large scores.

The game was the most dramatic ever recorded in Southern basketball history. All through the game Kentucky had the lead by one or two points except at the outset, when for a minute she held her opponents to a score of 4 to 0. In a minute the crowd from Athens had run up five points, but King slipped over a sphere for a 6 to 5 count. Another goal by each side, and the half ended 8 to 7, with the Blue and White in the lead.

The latter half was a repetition of the first. The floor work of Lavin in breaking up Georgia's pass game time after time, the work of the triple—King, Hayden and Adkins—on goal shooting and perfect passing, together with the steady yet excellent work of Ridgeway, kept in check the work of the Georgians and defeated them by a small margin, only after the final pistol of the timer.

According to the sport writers: "With twenty seconds to play, Adkins, waiting under the Kentucky basket, tried a pass. As he started to make his shot, Cheeves, Georgia guard, fouled him. The referee's whistle blew and King stepped up for a foul try. Just as King raised his arms to shoot, the pistol of the timer was discharged."

"King paused with the score tied. Then he was allowed his shot and made it. It was the grandest exhibition of nerve one would want to see."

Thus ended the contest—20 to 19—and Kentucky became the champion basketball team of the entire Southland.

Too much praise can be given to Coach Buchheit. He won the game. Coming from the University of Illinois, last year, he developed a great team, which gave the other teams a run for their money. This year this same team, with one or two additions, brought home the loving cup and the laurels from Atlanta. Yet he, in his usual modest manner, smiles and says little. He's happy.

All the while did the student body know that the University of Kentucky had the best team and coach in the South, and now the rest of the land knows it.

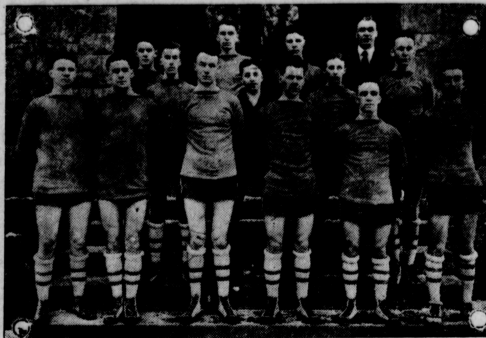

T. C. BLOWS WHISTLE WHEN WILDCATS WIN

The whistle on the power plant of Transylvania College was tied down by the students of that institution for fifteen minutes, Tuesday night, in celebration of the Wildcats victory over Georgia. All the students in the dormitories turned out and helped the Kentucky students in a rousing celebration of the victory.

WHOLE STUDENT BODY AT SOUTHERN STATION

Largest Banquet Ever

At the Phoenix

BEHIND ALL TEAMS

The world has been going on for many years, but never has any prince, king or returning conquerer received the ovation that was accorded the Wildcats on their return from Atlanta. There is one case which is comparable to it in a small degree and that was when the populace scattered flowers before David, exclaiming, "Saul hath slain his thousands and David his ten thousands!"

In connection with this, "Georgia hath defeated her teams and Kentucky has defeated Georgia."

The student body, whole, head and tail, was out at the Southern Station to welcome them. The nine men were hoisted on high and placed in cars of steel, tired with rubber, which deposited them at the Phoenix, where they were the guests of honor at the largest banquet ever given in Kentucky.

On the way to town a huge host of admirers and friends yelled out praises to them, through megaphones and hoarse throats. After the repast, "from a table which groaned under the weight of provender," the smartest dance of the student social year was given in the ballroom of that building. It was attended by those from far and near, and was a most befitting end to a perfect celebration.

The students appreciated the efforts and success of the team, knowing that this was the first body to win the undisputed championship of the South for the old University of Kentucky.

They are behind the track and baseball teams, who are out for two more championships before school closes in June.

KENTUCKY TO ENTER BIG LOUISVILLE MEET

Track Squad Will Compete With Teams From Yale and Harvard

The first track meet of the year is to be held in Louisville on March 12. It will also be the hardest meet of the year, for Yale, Harvard and Princeton are sending teams to the Falls City.

A number of distinguished men, along the line of the abbreviated pants, will participate in the contest, which will be held indoors on the Louisville Athletic Association track and gym floor. The holder of the world's record for the high jump will be there, and several other Olympic stars. Lourie, All-American quarterback, will enter the sprints and probably the quarter mile.

Clare is hoping to cop off a place or two in the hurdles, and Snyder and Thornton are expecting to give the best of the men a run for their money in the quarter and half-mile, respectively.

Buchheit will take a full team, consisting of eight or ten men.

FINAL WORK ON ANNUAL GOES TO THE PRINTER

All Organizations Urged to Pay for Space Reservations at Once

MANY NEW FEATURES

The final work on the Kentuckian was completed when the "dummies" were mailed to the Benson Printing Company, last Friday, and, according to the promises made by both the engraving and printing companies the book may be expected in May. The company doing the work for this year's annual made the statement that this is the earliest that any book the size of the Kentuckian has come into their hands.

The book will have many new features that will not only distinguish it from any other Kentuckian but from annuals of any other college. The tinted pictures of the winners of the popularity contest is one of them.

The staff has done its part in getting the book in excellent shape early in the year, and it is up to the rest of the student body to carry out its part of the work and help make the year book a success. All organizations that have bought pages are earnestly requested to PAY for their reservations AT ONCE, so as not to hold up the work and delay the publication.

Unless this is done, as has been stated before in The Kernel, each page not paid for will be stamped "THIS PAGE NOT PAID FOR." This applies to individual senior pictures. It is hoped all departments and organizations will respond at once, so as not to force the editor to carry out these drastic measures.

FRATERNITY GAMES POSTPONED A WEEK

On account of the injury of Walter Morris in the Delta Chi-A. T. O. game, last Wednesday night, the game was left unfinished and all fraternity basketball games postponed for one week. The chances of A. T. O. for the championship are materially impaired by the absence of Morris, an excellent guard, from their line-up.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

This issue of The Kernel appears under many difficulties because of a strike in the linotype department of the establishment at which The Kernel is printed. All "copy" was sent to Cincinnati to be "set" Wednesday afternoon and therefore some of the stories appearing in this issue are not as complete as they might be. Some late news is not "covered" because all "copy" had to be in by Wednesday.

SORORITY BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT COMING

Chis and Kappas Play Tuesday;
Alpha Gams and Alphi Xis Next

K. D.S. PLAY WINNER

The challenge of the Chi Omegas to all sororities aroused great interest in sorority basketball. It was promptly answered by the Kappa Kappa Gammars. It has been decided that a tournament will be held some time in March and a cup awarded to the winning squad.

The game between the Chis and Kappas will be fought March 8 in the gymnasium at eight o'clock. On the following night, a clash between Alpha Xi Delta and Alpha Gamma Delta will take place, and on the following Monday the Kappa Deltas are to play the winners of the other two matches.

An admission of ten cents will be charged to pay for the cup. No girl who has won a "K" or has ever played a game on any University team will be eligible for the contest. Fans are promised the witnessing of some new methods of playing the game, such as doging the ball, throwing toward the wrong goal and making a clever pass to one of the opposing squad. There also seems to be a tendency to throw from the floor where most of the players sooner or later congregate. The campus is impressed by the frenzied practicing of the teams and expects great basketball science to be demonstrated when Greek meets Greek.

Kittens—Chattanooga Tonight In Gym.

The Kittens are coming back today when they hop into the Chattanooga ladies and match abilities on the gymnasium floor.

Miss Blanding has been putting the squad through some severe workouts, and the reports are that the blue bloomers and white middies are going to put up a fight that would make any coach expand her chest with pride.

The line-up will be the same as that in the former games.

LITTLE THEATRE SEASON OPENED MONDAY NIGHT

Student Dramatizations

STUDENTS TAKE PART

The Little Theater opened Monday night before an appreciative audience, which was generous in applauding the four student dramatizations of O'Henry stories. The parts were taken by students, and the works of their comrades were put over the footlights in pleasing style. The program was repeated Tuesday evening.

Before the first play was presented, Professor William Mikesell, director of the Little Theater, gave a short talk, and then a brief sketch on the life and work of O. Henry. Community singing and violin selections by Prof. Carl Lampert were introduced between the plays.

In "Twenty Years After," dramatized and produced by Carlisle Chenault, the parts were assigned to Al Sturges, the First Man; Edgar Gregg, the Second Man, and William Finn, the policeman. The men were excellent in their interpretation, and were called before the curtain after the act.

"Mammon and the Archer," which was dramatized by Frank Gentry, was presented in two scenes and brought out in no uncertain terms the unlimited ability of the actors, John Selph as Anthony Rockwell, John Albright as Richard Rockwell, Ann Bell as

"THE SUN SHINES BRIGHT IN MY KENTUCKY HOME"

As the Kernel forecast editorially in the Tuesday edition, the Wildcats have met their final enemy, triumphed and now hold the basketball championship of the South, thus placing themselves in a position not hitherto enjoyed by the Blue and White in the history of the University.

27414—WS WELSH THREE B
That Kentucky won this signal honor was not surprising to students of comparative athletic prowess, as it had been openly boasted that few times has the South ever sent to the battlefield a faster, gamier or cleaner team than that which represented Kentucky in this tournament.

The one reflection of this now historic athletic conquest that shall ever sweeten the memory of the occasion is the uniformly acknowledged fact that Kentucky's champions are absolutely without taint of suspicion as to any ineligibility requirement that makes honorable participation in such contests possible. Indeed, the Kernel believes that it can speak for the student body with authority when it says that that body would have preferred to lose every contest of the 1921 season with a "straight" team than to have won all the honors they did win with champions tainted with suspicion of commercialism and scholarship ineligibility.

May we not now with confidence predict that in forthcoming struggles on both the diamond and the gridiron, Kentucky's prospects are exceedingly bright, her spirit undaunted, and her conscience unmarred by the reflection that she did not make a fair, manly, clean fight?

The Kernel congratulates the team on its notable achievement, the Athletic Council upon its position that none but clean men shall now or henceforth represent the Blue and White, and, above all, Coach Buchheit, whose understanding of the detailed technicalities of the game, manly leadership, clean, conscientious and modest life have already made him the ideal of his comrades and the envy of his opponents.

The Kernel commends the esprit de corps and allegiance to the University on the part of both faculty and students as they disclosed themselves in the remarkable celebration of Wednesday, which has brought new life and vision to the athletic life of the University.

The Kernel is pleased to acknowledge the gracious spirit with which the students of Transylvania College, our former enemies, but now our friends, celebrated the news of the victory of the Blue and White. They pulled down their whistle and gave such evidences of gratification at our triumph as to make Kentucky adherents thrill with pride at the sportsmanship of their friends at Transylvania.

The old battling spirit of a decade ago has returned to its own. Above the temporary defeats of recent years shines out the matchless spirit of "do or die." Let us arise and march on!

"THE CHRISTIAN" SEEN BY "CRICHTON" CAST

Thru an exchange of complimentary tickets by "The Stagecrafters" of Transylvania and "The Strollers," of the University for their annual plays, the cast of "The Admirable Crichton" attended the production "The Christian" by the dramatic organization of Transylvania, Friday night, February 25. The play was a great success and is of credit to Transylvania and the "Stagecrafters."

Interesting Talks Given at Patterson Society

The Patterson Literary Society met Friday evening, February 25, in Alumni Hall. H. L. Richards gave a very comprehensive talk on the Western Kentucky State Normal, ending with a tribute to Professor H. H. Cherry, who has done so much to promote learning in western Kentucky. W. K. Berryman, in a non-partisan talk, enumerated the problems which confront the new administration. The critic's report was last on the program.

Anything to Oblige—The constable of a New England village, a man of exceeding good nature, found it necessary to lock up three tramps who had strayed into his jurisdiction. Shortly after the arrest he was met by the mayor of the village, who, observing the constable hurrying down the main street, asked,

"Where are you going, constable?"
"Oh," exclaimed the constable, "the three tramps I just locked up want to play bridge, and I'm out hunting for a fourth!"—Harper's Magazine.

What Is Air Pressure?

THE air is composed of molecules. They constantly bombard you from all sides. A thousand taps by a thousand knuckles will close a barn door. The taps as a whole constitute a push. So the constant bombardment of the air molecules constitutes a push. At sea-level the air molecules push against every square inch of you with a total pressure of nearly fifteen pounds.

Pressure, then, is merely a matter of bombarding molecules.

When you boil water you make its molecules fly off. The water molecules collide with the air molecules. It takes a higher temperature to boil water at sea-level than on Pike's Peak. Why? Because there are more bombarding molecules at sea-level—more pressure.

Take away all the air pressure and you have a perfect vacuum. A perfect vacuum has never been created. In the best vacuum obtainable there are still over two billion molecules of air per cubic centimeter, or about as many as there are people on the whole earth.

Heat a substance in a vacuum and you may discover properties not revealed under ordinary pressure. A new field for scientific exploration is opened.

Into this field the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company have penetrated. Thus one of the chemists in the Research Laboratories studied the disintegration of heated metals in highly exhausted bulbs. What happened to the glowing filament of a lamp, for example? The glass blackened. But why? He discovered that the metal distilled in the vacuum depositing on the glass.

This was research in pure science—research in what may be called the chemistry and physics of high vacua. It was undertaken to answer a question. It ended in the discovery of a method of filling lamp bulbs with an inert gas under pressure so that the filament would not evaporate so readily. Thus the efficient gas-filled lamp of today grew out of a purely scientific inquiry.

So, unforeseen, practical benefits often result when research is broadly applied.

VANDER MEULEN SPEAKS TO KENTUCKY STUDENTS

President of Presbyterian Theological Seminary Makes Address on "Atrophy"

"Atrophy" was the subject of the address made by Dr. John A. VanderMeulen, president of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Louisville, at chapel, Tuesday. "The Sextet from Lucia" was given by a group from the Lexington College of Music.

Dr. VanderMeulen spoke of the talents that are given to man; the results if he increases his talents or if he misuses and neglects them. He cited the classic example of Darwin; of how that he became so absorbed in science that he lost all love for those things which he formerly loved, such as art and literature and religion.

He said in part: "The highest talent that a man has is that of religion. Every people always have had religion. Out of man a religious instinct comes from which have come all religions of the world. Most of our faculties we have in common with the animals, the only difference being in the degree. Every man has the power to lose the greatest of all talents—religion—through atrophy or neglect. If you neglect that talent it will certainly be taken from you."

Dr. VanderMeulen spoke at chapel the fifth hour, Wednesday and Thursday.
