FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Sorry about the mix-up with the deadline dates on the last Green Bean. I was a week ahead of myself.

Lots of thank-you's, schedules and announcements in this issue. Happy reading!

TWO MILLION THANK-YOU'S...

In recent weeks, many Library staff members generously volunteered their time and talent to help us prepare for and carry out the Two-Millionth Volume Celebration.

The program was a great success - and it would not have been without your support. We appreciate all our good Library friends and co-workers who joined in the effort.

AND A NOTE OF CONGRATULATIONS

Aside from the many verbal "Congrats!" we heard on September 19, we received flowers from Holly Buchanan, President-Elect of the Medical Library Association.

HELLO'S AND GOODBYE'S

Welcome Aboard

IMMR vs. KCERL

A while back a new address for the IMMR Library was printed in the Green Bean. This information was incorrect. As you know we are no longer part of IMMR. Please include the following in the next issue to clear up the confusion.

The IMMR Library managed by Theresa Wiley is no longer part of the IMMR. The library still exists but under a new name and address. Please address all future mail for the "old IMMR Library" to:

KCERL Library

DIALOG BUSINESS DATABASE WORKSHOP

Joe Phillips of Lexington Community College has arranged for CEKOUG (Central/Eastern Kentucky Online Users Group) to sponsor a half day DIALOG workshop on business databases here in Lexington on Wednesday, November 12. Arrangements are still being made for this event, so exact times and location are not yet available. For registration information, contact Joe Phillips at 257-6095.

LS/2000 TRAINING WORKSHOP

The first two in a series of LS/2000 training workshops will be held in the Gallery on Monday, October 6 from 1:00 to 3:00. The two workshops will be identical, so there will be no need to attend both; two sessions have been scheduled for the convenience of those attending. These sessions are intended for branch librarians, technicians, and student workers or other library staff who feel they need training in particular areas. These first sessions will be on patron registration and will also cover other activities related to patron records. Gail Kennedy will conduct these workshops. Those with questions may contact Gail Kennedy (257-8392) or Joanne Goode (257-8365). (Submitted by Mary Vass)

==>Although I will include summaries for each training session as they come up, I'll summarize them quickly for you here. All sessions will be held in the Peal Gallery. -KK

These people should be congratulated on their willingness to serve as volunteers. United Way is a lot of work, but it's worth it.

OPERATION READ AT UK

DID YOU KNOW

-As of the 1980 Census, there were 2,086,000 persons in the state of Kentucky aged 25 or older.
-Of this figure, less than 654,000 had less than a ninth grade education.
- ...Of this figure, 978,000 had less than a twelfth grade education.
-In Fayette County, 32% of its residents do not have a high school diploma. This is the lowest rate statewide. The average is 47%.

Across the state (and even here at UK) thousands of people cannot read what you are reading now. They can't read stories to their children, order something off a menu unless there's a picture of it, or read a street sign. Volunteer to be a reading tutor as part of Operation Read at UK. Call Human Resources Development at 257-1851.

MEET THE M.I. KING LIBRARY SYSTEM

MEET LIBRARY INSTRUCTION (by Laura Rein)

The Library Instruction Unit, a division of the Reference Department, works to help students, individually or in classes, make better use of library resources. Its services provide introductory and advanced instruction in research strategies, orientation to the physical arrangement of the building, and research guides and bibliographies.

Depending on the instructor's preference, library instruction sessions are either tailored to a specific project or paper or aimed at a more general introduction to library research. For freshman and introductory classes, a series of assignments (including computer-assisted instruction packages) is available for hands-on experience in library use. For upper-level sessions, a series of annotated bibliographies of research materials in 25 broad subject categories is available for distribution to appropriate sessions. With advance notice, we also prepare more specialized bibliographies to accompany the presentation for a particular class.

Short and long-range goals of the unit include the incorporation of LS/2000 instruction into all library instruction sessions and the continued expansion of the library instruction program. Through our sessions and through our work with the Writing Program, the unit reached over 7,400 students the 1985-86 school year.

MEET THE HUNTER M. ADAMS ARCHITECTURE LIBRARY (by Harry Gilbert)

The Architecture Library is named for a former librarian. Mrs. Adams retired in about 1975.

The staff consists of one professional librarian and one Library Technician. In addition, we usually have 10 to 12 Student Assistants during the academic year and 1 to 3 during the summer sessions. These are normally half payroll and half Work-Study.

The collection is geared primarily to the history and theory of design. An effort is also made to collect in such related fields as urban planning, alternative sources of energy (principally solar), interior design, landscape architecture, preservation, and photography. As a public service agency our mission is to make the resources of this library available to the users. Within the limits of budgets, space, equipment, etc., our work revolves around keeping the collection current, books and journals especially, maintaining the collection in an orderly manner, and making it as accessible as possible.

The Library Technician is responsible for the day-to-day operation of the library (hiring, training and scheduling student assistants, keeping adequate supplies, preparing the binding, etc.). The Librarian sees that the policies of the library system are carried out, acts as the liaison with the various faculties and departments, and is responsible for the collection development functions. Both staff work the Circulation Desk as needed, as well as handling the reference questions. With only two full-time people, everyone does everything as the situation requires.
