Dear Victor.

Not only do I like 'Pebbles' very much but in many ways I think it is going to be your most attractive + articulate book + it must by all means be printed! Certainly continue with it I am eager to be the rest. I like the format as well as the idea.

When are you + Carolyn coming over? One of these next Saturdays might be good, don't you think? Just let me know in time. They are all good as far as I am concerned, though last would be a less good time.

As to Rilke - I know what you mean. He is a fine poet but I have grave reservations about him too. As prophet there is really something missing. One may however like the herm steps in spite of these reservations. My reservations bear more seriously on the Orpheus sonnets, + their 'Theology'.

Best of wishes to you + Carolyn.

Cordially in Christ

Tom.

What do you think of my French poem?! For a Broadside??
