JIMMY WALKER RETURNS HOME

Tammany's Play Boy Mayor Enters Portals Where He Once Greeted World's Great

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(INS)—James J. Walker, the best-dressed mayor New York City ever had, arrives home today after three years of self-imposed "exile" from his city during his gilded boom years—and filed during the pains of his depression hangover—yesterday.

Certainly there was no riotous official greeting. Lunderberg, Ederle, Queen Marie and other distinguished members, Mayor LaGuardia has been eloquently silent about his arrival.

The only indication that the present administration was kind of home-coming was the large detail of police at the pier. And police maintained his men were assigned only because order must be preserved.

DEAN TAYLOR ENTERTAINS

Dean W. S. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor were at home to the faculty of the College of Education from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. Thursday.

Bama Coach Warns Tide that Big Blue Not to Be Taken Lightly

With most of the cripples back in condition after their two weeks layoff, the Kentucky Wildcats get for victory, left the Southern Station at 8:15 o'clock last night for their second trip in two weeks into the southland where tomorrow afternoon they will clash with the Red Elephants of Alabama on Legion field in Birmingham.

The Wildcats have been put through a strenuous week in preparation for Frank Thomas' rejuvenated and improved Crimson Tide. Coach Wynns subjected his boys to three scrimmages this week with a freshmen and in the Wednesday workout his charges looked very good.

Bert Johnson, stellar halfback and candidate for All-American honors, who has been on the injured list since the game, looked extremely impressive in this week's workout. He looks as if he may gain back all the weight he lost while lying in the hospital with an infected leg and he seems to have hit the stride and the pace with which he travels this season and if he has then Coach Thomas' herd of Elephants will be plenty good.

An interesting change in this week's practice line-ups has been the inclusion of "Duck" Wadlington and Bob Davis, who has teamed up with Bert Johnson in what Frank Thomas said was the best pair in the country. Wadlington is working out with the "second stringers" under the direction of Coach Wynns.

Further arrangements and plans for Sulky's annual giant homecoming pep rally, the annual house-decorating contest for fraternities and sororities, and the recently started yell contest were made at a meeting Tuesday at 3 p. m. in the basement of the Alumni gymnasium.

STUDENT OPINION

Dear Editor:
I know that the subject of compulsory military training in college has been rehearsed countless times but the results has always been the same—nothing has been done about it. In the light of this, it seems useless to bring the subject up again. However, in the hope that perhaps, continuous bombardment may some day bore a hole through the concrete of military thought, these facts are presented.

Let us for a moment forget such arguments against compulsory R. O. T. C. as that it creates a war-like spirit; it is inimical to world peace, and consider the matter from a purely practical angle. Millions of dollars are spent by the Government in support of R. O. T. C. units. Is the monetary outlay compensated sufficiently by the results obtained? A student attending a land grant college is required to take two years of military training. During the first few weeks of the practical work, he learns the elements of marching and how to handle a rifle. From then on for the rest of the two years, the work is merely a ceaseless repetition of these few simple operations. Little or nothing new is added. The classroom work is only too quickly forgotten.

Assumedly, the main purpose of the R. O. T. C. is for national preparedness to supplement the standing army. And the present R. O. T. C. fulfills this purpose, but at much too high a cost. Without entering into a serious controversy, we can admit without too much danger of error, that college students have sufficient intelligence to absorb the few necessary fundamentals of military training in a relatively short period of time. Suppose there were no R. O. T. C. units and war did break out. College men placed in a war training camp for one week, under pressure, could learn everything that now takes two years. Why then continue this long drawn out business of compulsory military training which wastes the government's money in unnecessary and extravagant expense and wastes the time of the students in unprofitable repetition of a few military principles? Not since way back in 1922 has a Kentucky football team beaten Alabama. That's a long time between beatings and Wildcat fans have waited patiently these many years for "the promised land."

Tomorrow's contest at Birmingham will be the 15th renewal of the Wildcat-Tide series which began in 1917. The first year the teams clashed, Alabama won 29-0. Then came a lapse of four years in which the squads did not meet.

Then, in 1922, when Birkett L. Pribble, present freshman coach, captained the Kentuckians, the "Cats" scored their lone victory over the Tide-men, 6-0.

When Wallace Wade went to Alabama he seemed to bring with him some magic power which worked with the greatest success against Kentucky. The Wildcats just could not beat a Wade-coached team, and he still has a clean slate for the ten occasions his teams have sallied forth against Kentucky.

In 1932, when they were beaten in the closing minutes, 12-7, the Wildcats came nearest to winning over the Tide than at any time in recent years. That afternoon, the "Cats" fought the heavier Alabama line to a standstill for more than three quarters and with Ellis Johnson carrying the ball on three-fourths of the plays, put on a sustained march for 70 yards and a touchdown.

Joe Rupert, playing his first real big game, as a sophomore, gave the best defensive exhibition of his career that day. Time after time smashing down three and four interferences to bring the ball carrier to earth behind the line of scrimmage. But the brilliant efforts of Ellis Johnson and Joe Rupert were in vain, when, in the final five minutes, the Tide drove relentlessly through the worn-out battered Kentuckians for its second score.

Superior numbers beat the "Cats" that day and superior numbers have proved their undoing in other vital contests. Kentucky has always presented a good first eleven but rarely, if ever, has been able to

Frosh Try Out For Pershing Rifles

A total of 106 freshmen cadets have registered to tryout for Pershing Rifles, special drill team of the local ROTC. It was announced today by A. W. Plummer, first sergeant of the organization.

The first drill for the new men was held Wednesday, October 24, in the Army. Similar drills will be conducted every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 5 till 6 p. m., until the termination of the semester next January. Demerits will be given for absences or tardiness at these meetings.

Those cadets who were given invitations to tryout for Pershing Rifles were: J. Mountjoy, George C. O. Eilston, J. W. Howard, E. D. Randall, C. Conner, L. F. Herndon, C. A. Fredrick.

Any coach will tell you that in nine cases out of ten, he'd prefer his team to be lightly regarded. It's easier for him to worry the boys up to the proper fighting pitch than if they are installed as heavy pre-game favorites.

We would like to tell you that we are sure Kentucky will come back from Birmingham this time with victory tucked in a satchel, but we're not going to do it mainly because we are not sure of any such thing.

Coach Wynne sent his squad through three hard scrimmage sessions this week in an effort to polish up both offensive and defensive play after more than a week layoff. Chat was inclined to be somewhat pessimistic after Wednesday's session and declined to make any statement as to the team's chances.

"All I can do now is hope that the boys click when they get there Saturday," was his only comment on the battle.

And that's all we can do, too.

The two new student representatives of the Athletic Association just appointed by President McVey are Jack Faunce, Triangle, a senior in the Engineering college, and J. Pelham Johnson, Kappa Alpha, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences. Both of these men will

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM LOSES TO VOLS

Competing for the first time in several seasons, Kentucky's varsity cross-country team dropped their opening meet of the season, Saturday, Knoxville, when they were beaten 11 to 25 by the harriers of the University of Tennessee.

The four-man Wildcat team was unable to place farther up than fourth against the veteran Vols. Warren Steckmet, Kentucky sophomore was the first "Cat" to finish with John Spragens in sixth place, Jack Crain, seventh and Bill Ford, eighth.

The meet was held before the Tennessee-Centre football game and contested over a two and three-quarter mile course. Tennessee's course is over a gravel road and the hardness of the surface was unfavorable to the Kentuckians who have been trained on turf. Bill Ford suffered a leg injury and was forced to finish at a walk.

Kentucky has already scheduled three more meets for the rest of the season. Besides competing in a triangular Amateur Athletic Union meet in Louisville on Thanksgiving Day, the "Cats" will meet Berea on home and home basis.
