Party Politics

Once upon a time there was a student government organization composed of members who, at election time, threw party affiliations to the winds and devoted their entire interest and attention to the welfare of the students of the University.

They had an old fashioned way of nominating and electing assemblies. Not only did they select the nominees for their ability and willingness to serve but they even notified them that they were to be considered for election.

Like the dodo bird, this strange species has somehow disappeared and few traces of it are to be found here today at the University of Kentucky.

Last quarter two candidates were elected to the SGA assembly, were sworn in, attended two meetings, and resigned. As a result of their resignation and the dropping of other members for reasons of non-attendance, the assembly held an election Monday night to fill these vacancies.

A list of candidates to fill these vacancies was submitted to the members of the assembly by the deans of the colleges. Discussion of the names of the prospective candidates revealed that some of the men and women were known slightly and some not at all. Upon further discussion it was found that many of the candidates had not been approached as to their availability for office.

A suggestion by one party leader that the election be postponed for a week so that the candidates might be notified and their qualifications be studied was immediately attacked by a member of the opposing party who stated that the election results were a foregone conclusion because of the majority held by his party.

Upon backing by the majority of his party, a vote was taken and the motion to vote immediately upon the candidates was carried.

The election was then held and six assemblymen were chosen from the list of candidates, some of whom were unknown to members of the assemblymen and the majority of whom had never been notified of their candidacy.

This editorial is not aimed at SGA or at the members of any particular party but at the members of both parties who have guilty of this same attitude in the past and at the campus politicians who have completely lost sight of the valuable contribution which the two-party system has made to the principles of free government in this country.

The object of any party system is to place before the electorate capable, industrious candidates who are willing to serve the best interests of the community.

The fault of the present misuse of this system lies not just with the SGA assemblymen concerned but also with the members of the student body whose lack of interest has led to this misuse.

The constitution of the Student Government Association provides that "all meetings of the Student Assembly shall be open to anyone in the University." These meetings are held every Monday night in the SUB.

If the student body would show enough interest to take advantage of the privilege of attending these meetings, the rise of student concern in campus affairs would pave the way for correct usage of the two-party system and for the shift of emphasis from party politics to genuine interest in the welfare of the students.

If correction cannot be accomplished by student interest or by action taken by the SGA assemblymen themselves, the present misuse of the two-party system will and should inevitably result in the destruction of that system.

credit to himself, his university and his commonwealth. If you seek to be advising those who become terrified at the mention of the term "non-segregation in education." I prefer to interpret your cryptic paragraph in that sense because the most far-sighted and rational people I know are those who think and act according to the criteria set down by the Constitution, the Bible, the Supreme Court and the Consensus of humanity.

I haven't read such a provocative editorial in the Kernel since the old days. Glad you have a policy. CHARLES BOOGS

The Spice Of Life

By Any Price and Helen Dow
It would seem that Helen Bowman and Ralph Beard are back together again. We are glad to see it happen.

The mid-winter slump in social activities will soon be a thing of the past (that is, if the snow melts) with dozens of parties scheduled for Valentine's Day and the Mardi Gras dance coming up.

Tommy Underwood says that every time he and Patsy Allen want to know how they are getting along, all they have to do is look in the Kernel and find out. It isn't really that bad, now is it?

Since we said last week that half the girls on campus had crushes on boys they didn't even know, we hear that R. J. Jackson has found her dream man. There's only one thing wrong. He doesn't know it yet.

They say that Dixi Dunn is about to lose his pin to his home-owning classmate, Ray Dixon from Paducah.

Printed: Suzanne Hannahs and Bill Ginterman; Norma Jean Smith and Roy Stone; Rupert Silvers and Ellen Pierce (for Murray).

We heard a foul rumor that John Irvin had left for Honolulu but it turned out to be just a rumor. Just think how life would quiet down if Irvin left. No more publicity stunts for Joyland, no more free cigarettes and above all, no more threatened lawsuits over the stuff he tells us to put in this column.

Sam Allen received the Jopland treatment twice over the weekend. It didn't take newcomer Jackie Kerrel long to orient himself to life at the University. He's been dating Daisy Mae Weston Joyce.

John Marlowe and Gail Price did a fine job on last week's play in the acting class.

Printed: Jackie Cawood and Wilbur Adams.

The Sigma Nus and the Pi Kappas are giving a dance together at Genoa's, mainly to prove that fraternities can get along. Also, the Delta Chis are reported to owe the Lambda Chis a party over a bet on their basketball game.

Dick Henley and Martha Fulton are engaged. It must be real love because she's knitting aryle socks for him.

Patsy Hall Jean Henry complains that she's been receiving a lot of the congratulations due to the other Jean Henry, who lives at the Chi O house.

Overboard (Jack Wayman speaking) I spend sixteen hours a week in class and twenty hours a week waiting for Jeanne Vance.

Been lifted from the McLean County Gazette: Hugh Glenn Hunt of Calhoun sent a hog over the week-end.

Clyde Spears seems to be quite fond of Pats Hall. They say he spends all of his free time over there dating any one of three girls.

Famous last words from Emily Parker: "We need a new scrubbook." Dick Wallace has decided to get a crew cut to get Dick Womack out of his hair since Dick has been so successful in cutting Roy's throat lately.

VA Makes Ruling

Veterans presently enrolled for study who discontinue their training under the G.I. Bill before they have exhausted their period of entitlement to training at government expense must obtain a "supplemental certificate of eligibility" from the Veterans Administration before re-entering training.

This "supplemental certificate of eligibility" indicates the amount of additional training to which the veteran is entitled at government expense after the amount of time previously used in training had been deducted.

to the subject of the present state of near extinction of the Indian race. You are comparing the absorption of the Indians by the whites to a possible or probable absorption of the whites by the Negroes. I'm afraid that you'll find that it is just the other way around. The Negro race is slowly becoming absorbed by the white, as is evidenced by the number of negroes who annually cross "the color line."

JACK SORRELLE

Assemblymen Chosen

SGA elected six assemblymen Monday night to fill vacancies. From a list of nominees submitted by the deans of the colleges, the assembly elected James R. Line, Constitutional, engineer lower class; Andrew Clark, Constitutionalist, engineer upper class; Kirby Cox, Independent, commerce man-at-large; Robert Coleman, Constitutionalist, commerce lower class; Ollie Hayes, Constitutionalist, commerce, agriculture woman-at-large.

Phones Needed

An attempt is being made on the campus to obtain much-needed pay telephones for dormitories and barracks.

On the other hand, phones are being tampered with by members of the student body -- slugs are being deposited, paper is stuffed into the coin slots, and machines are being "jimmied and tripped" in such a way that money is released and the University comptroller has been forced to pay from $35 to $40 each month to cover the losses on the pay phone receipts in the SUB and in the dormitories.

This condition certainly hinders the movement for installation of needed telephones and, according to Comptroller Frank D. Peterson, may result in the loss of the pay phones which the University has at present.

Editor's Letters

Editor's Note: All letters to the editor must be signed. The writer's name will be withheld upon request. The Kernel reserves the right to refuse publication of any letter.

Mr. Jack Sorrelle, Editor, Kentucky Kernel, Dear Mr. Sorrelle:

I have been informed that I was one of the candidates voted upon by the Student Government Assembly at its session Monday night.

I sincerely appreciate the honor of having my name placed before the assembly for consideration.

It is customary for an election to be held by the assembly without informing the candidates that he has been nominated and as to be considered? I did not even know that an election was to be held.

Very sincerely yours, Z. S. DICKERSON, JR. Editor, Kentucky Kernel:

I read with a great deal of interest your editorial, "Created Equality" in the last issue of the Kernel. I hope that few students on the campus passed up the opportunity to reflect upon its full import.

The gist of the article appears to me to constitute an open invitation to the Negroes of the Commonwealth of Kentucky to attend the University, together with a sharp rebuke to "hobdeads" who might oppose such a move. Because I firmly believe that a majority of students on this campus are not in accord with your views, I am forced to take issue.

A few months ago the editors of the Kernel saw fit to rally to the cause of a student about whom it was alleged that he adhered to "pseudo-communist" beliefs. However commendable that may have been, you lose an opportunity to disclose upon those persons who may disagree with your views concerning Negroes, and brand them in advance as "hobdeads" who are "more numerous than numerous." I believe the Journalism textbooks will verify my belief that this is a strange anomaly for a newspaper to take in its editorial policy.

I have often wondered why journalists, particularly those of the age and experience of you who compare the staff of the Kernel, insist upon believing that some sort of magic has transformed them into beings with a much higher power of rationalization than persons of similar age and experience.

I believe that the Kernel would call those persons "hobdeads" who might well reason that the admission of Negroes to professional school at UK would be, on its face, harmless. However, those persons might see in such an event one of a series of concessions which can never be regained. I cannot visualize any sane white person who does not consider that the line between black and white must, unfortunately, be drawn somewhere other than intermarriage and absolute

Cordially, CHARLES D. WOOD

Editor, Kentucky Kernel: Congratulations for a clear statement on "Created Equality" of the position of the Negro in American education. The consensus of Southern editorial opinion to which you referred indicates a growing awareness in the South of the abject failure to face the racial issue and deal with it squarely.

I can't help recalling that some of the most biting criticism of my country which I heard in Europe last summer had to do with the "Negro problem." Frankly, there were times when I was hard put to give reasons, excuses or explanations for a general condition which some foreign people have long regarded as wholly out of keeping with our Christian and democratic ideals.

I don't know how much further we can go in compromising our political and ethical principles but I do think the day is past when thinking people can simply shrug at the question and bequeath the reality of the problem to some future generation.

With regard to your last paragraph in that editorial: "And if there were a handful of hobdeads, who are more noisy than numerous, let no one be misled and led no one conduct himself in a way to bring dis-

Editor's Reply

In reference to the final "typical" paragraph in last week's editorial, and the letters concerning it, it should be noted that the term "hobdeads" does not refer to persons who are opposed to the viewpoint expressed in the editorial but to those persons who might lead others in irrational acts as reprisal for any action which might be taken by the courts, by the state, or by the University.

Every man is entitled to his own viewpoint upon any question which might arise but more is enticed to take the law in his own hands and to attempt to lead others to follow those actions to which his instincts and beliefs lead him.

It is to those men who would defy all laws of common sense and decency to whom I refer as "hobhead" who may mislead others."

In answer to Charles D. Wood's letter, I think that he is confusing educational and social equality.

His argument is illogical in the following ways: (1) The Indians were not so diminished by the coming of the white man and the spread of communicable venereal diseases but by the spread of contagious disease which wiped out entire villages and tribes in a matter of a few weeks or months. (2) If, in the section of your letter devoted

More than meets the eye...

One look and you'd say that a great deal of work lies ahead before this new telephone central office is completed. That's true. But already, much of the job is done!

For months telephone men have been hard at work—in offices and in the field. One group has carefully studied business and population trends and has forecast the telephone needs of the community for years to come. Another has determined the amount and types of equipment that will best meet these needs. Still others have found ways to make this new equipment a part of our world-wide communications network.

At our Western Electric plants the telephone equipment—the switchboards, frames and switching mechanisms, the cable, wire and relays—has been scheduled and is already being manufactured.

All this and more before the ground was broken!

The telephone business is a constantly expanding business in which thousands of college men are finding interesting and rewarding careers. There's a future in telephony.

Clean Plate Drive Planned By Red Cross

Courses for housemothers and young married couples are among the classes being planned by the local Red Cross in connection with its Clean Plate program.

If the housemothers will request the class as a group, then one set of interests can be catered to. Mrs. W. D. Valieu, nutrition chairman of the Red Cross chapter, stated this week.

Mrs. Eleanor S. Clay, local Red Cross nutrition director, will be the teacher for a series of six classes of two hours each given under the general title of Food Fashions. Another 12 hour course in Food Cost Budgets of more interest to housemothers will also be offered. The Food Fashions course includes: 1. The Lady Who Lives Alone and Likes It. Dinner for Two. Feeding the Tress. Twice Served Foods, a course on left-overs, and How To Be Scrap-Happy. The Food Cost Budgets course will include instruction on how and where to substitute food.

The Clean Plate program, which is directing its efforts toward wasting less food, began last Sunday. Already Mrs. Valieu said, it has gotten to be a big program and is growing rapidly. The drive will close March 1.

How To Enroll

Ten or 12 students will be needed for each of the classes. Any interested person can enroll by calling the Red Cross office—4955 Y—and leaving his name and the class in which he is interested. Any courses will be offered that are sufficiently in demand.

The course for couples will meet at night to prepare a meal and hear a lecture on food costs and preparation. Mrs. Valieu emphasized that there would be no cleaning up afterwards. The class will provide the cost of the food, which will be prepared in the most economical way.

Cooperation

Local restaurants and luncheon clubs are cooperating in the Clean Plate drive. Mrs. Valieu said Canary Cottage, the Golden Horseshoe, and the Phoenix and Lafayette hotels are among the eating places in Lexington measuring their scraps to see if there is an appreciable decrease during the drive. Mrs. James Rich is in charge of checking the restaurants. Mrs. Valieu stated that most of the luncheon clubs are cooperating 100 percent. The high schools and grade schools are also hearing about the Clean Plate program.

Radio talks on how to conserve food and save leftovers are being planned for all Lexington radio stations and already the issue has been discussed on the Report to Lexington program over station WLXP.

University Home Economics students who are representing the Clean Plate drive on the campus are Mary Frank Ward and Mary Kay LeMaster. Societies are being represented by Tallu Fish, Tri-Delt, and Joan Marsh. ADPI Freshmen girls taking part in the drive are distributing posters and leaflets.

State Schools Face Crisis, Says Report

The situation now faced in the elementary schools of Kentucky is so critical that "the chances that a six-year old child in Kentucky will graduate from high school are only about one in six, and, on the average, not more than one-half of those children entering the first grade will even complete the eighth grade," a report of the State Committee on Elementary Education has declared.

Dr. Charles R. Spain, director of the University Bureau of School Service and chairman of the committee, explained that "the general deterioration of public education in the nation has been arrested during the past year. In the elementary schools of Kentucky, however, a continuing crisis is rapidly becoming acute with no current indication of bold attempts to meet this crisis."

He said the Kentucky Committee on Elementary Education is composed of leading educators from school districts and educational institutions throughout the state and has as its aim the improvement of elementary schools. Part of a cooperative study being made by 12 Southern states, the investigation of elementary education is one of the first of its kind undertaken on a regional or national scale.

"In most communities, interest has been focused on the high school and corresponding efforts to improve the quality of the secondary schools," Dr. Spain continued in the report on the crisis facing elementary schools.

Weatherspoon Named Major

Appointments and assignments in the Reserve Officer Training Corps for the current school year, made in a special order released last week by the Military Science Department, named Cadet Major Glenn Weatherspoon, junior Engineering student from Pulton, as commander of the 110-man regiment.

Cadet Major William A. Tombs Jr., Louisville, was honored regimental executive officer and Cadet Capt. Thomas H. Maxson, of Lexington, was named adjutant of the cadet regiment. Six other cadet officers were appointed to major positions on the regimental staff, two were made battalion commanders and eight became commanding officers of companies.

Col. C. T. Mackenzie, professor of military science and tactics and head of the U. K. military department, explained that the cadet ranks and appointments have no connection with the Army and are made only for purposes of ROTC organization.

The new battalion commanders are Cadet Major Willard Humphreys, first battalion; and Cadet Major Carl Corbin, second battalion. Executive officers of the two battalions are Cadet Captains William S. Corbett, Whitesburg, and Joseph Rice, Ashland.

Company commanders listed by the order are Cadet Capt. James R. Howe, Co. A; Cadet Capt. Woodrow Smith, Co. B; Cadet Capt. James Thompson, Co. C; Cadet Capt. Morris

Speeders Warned

Campus police Thursday pointed out that the automobile speed limit on campus is 18 miles an hour as the Student Government Association and the University administrative staff announced plans to join with police in reducing speeding on campus streets.

Police Chief Scudder Pearson said that no accidents caused by speeding have been reported but warned, especially during the winter months when driveways are slick. All persons apprehended for speeding will be taken immediately to one of the deans for disciplinary action, Chief Pearson said.

Claude Sprowles, president of SGA, announced Harry Miller had been appointed chairman of a committee to study campus traffic problems. Sprowles said SGA could adopt rules providing for disciplinary action against persons found guilty of speeding.

Other members of the committee are Katherine Barnett, George Fress, Betty Eise Grodes, and Jack Sorrelle.

Chief Pearson urged that drivers be more cautious at the turn in the drive between the Home Economics and Biological Sciences buildings, a place he called "an especially dangerous spot."

Campus traffic rules state that drivers of vehicles must respect the rights of pedestrians on the campus drives. Chief Pearson said that pedestrians have the right-of-way.

I-Cage Play Cuts Undefeated Ranks

By Allen Terhune

Things are thinning out over at Alumni gymnasium as far as the intramural basketball tournament is concerned. With the three-quarter mark passed in the round-robin tournament, it is found that only four fraternities remain in the original 19 entered are unbeaten.

In the independent bracket of 23 starters there are several all-winners, but this is more or less due to the fact that games have had to be cancelled several nights because the gym was in use.

Fraternities boasting a clean slate include Lambda Chi Alpha and Phi Delta Theta in the first division, Sigma Chi in the second division, and the SAE's in the third section.

Lambda Chi Alpha remained undefeated by virtue of victories over the Phi Tau 23-22, the Delta Chi 19-17. Also in the first section with three consecutive wins are the Phi Deltas who have defeated the Sigma Nus 21-15, Phi Tau 24-13, and the AGS's 24-11.

The undefeated Sigma Chis, who lead the second division, claim triumphs over the Sig Eps 39-30, PKA's 26-14 and Phi Sig 22-21.

In the third section, the SAE's are pacing the pack with three wins, having beaten the Kix 20-16, the Triangles 28-19, and the ATO's 26-22.

Bill McCubbin, intramural director, reports that plans are being made in which the finals of the basketball elimination tournament as a preliminary game to the Kentucky-Georgia Tech tilt which is scheduled for February 21.

As far as it's possible, McCubbin says, the game will be of regulation length.

Serini Signs To Play Pro Ball For Bears

Wash Serini, for four years an outstanding football lineman, will play next season with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League, according to word received here upon his return from the Windy City.

Reportedly under observation throughout the latter part of the 1947 campaign, Serini had conferred with officials of another club several days earlier, but had failed to reach a decision. A weekend conference with Bear President George Halas, resulted in his signing for an undisclosed figure.

The 215-pound, all-SEC tackle from Tuckahoe, New York, came to Kentucky in 1944, and in the ensuing four seasons saw action in 40 consecutive games with the club team that probably earns him the school record.

During his four years as a mainstay in the Big Blue forward wall, Serini played under three different head coaches, all of whom are still at UK, serving in one capacity or the other. His first coach was Ab Kirwan, now serves as Dean of Men, while Bernie Shively, coach during Wash's sophomore year, is the present athletic director. Paul Bryant, his third and last coach, looks like he will stick around for a few years to come, though.

Wash set something of a record in the annual North-South football rivalry by appearing in the Rebel lineup four years in succession.

Cats Demonstrate Ability In Winning 17th, 70-43

By Kent Hollingsworth

The weather outside was frightful and the fire—of the Wildcats—was so delightful! Last Saturday night when the Wildcats parried to an easy victory over the Bearcats of Cincinnati, by a score of 70-43, Kentucky scored 13 quick points, 6 of them by Cliff Barker, before Cincinnati's Ralph Richter could connect on a field goal. Then a Bearcat fan must have opened a door for the Wildcats cooled off. Bad passing and erratic floor play followed but Kentucky still had a comfortable margin at the half, 38-20.

Jack Lamb, 6'3" Bearcat guarded all scorers for the night with 16 points, 10 of them scored on long shots from far out. Big Al Groza played an outstanding game for Kentucky, hogging all the rebounds from 6'7" Bill Westfield, Cincinnati pivot man, and racking up 10 points himself.

Joe Holland, all conference forward last year, replaced Groza and scored 4 points at the pivot, and then switched over to his old forward position, where he scored 6 more, to bring his total for the evening workout up to 10.

Ralph Beard and Kenny Rollins, working well on the fast break, together got 11 markers each. The scoring was almost evenly distributed.

Cincinnati's leading scorer and All-Mid-America Conference Guard, Al Rubins, made the trip but was unable to dress because of a neck injury.

Club Members Hear Talk By Jacob John, Student From India

"At first I thought it was ashes from a burning building," Jacob John, a native of India and graduate student in chemistry, said in a talk to the customs group of the Coenopolitan Club Friday during which he described the first falling snow he has seen.

John said that he had often heard about the whiteness of snow, but had never seen it. He thought it was really beautiful, but cold.

This fact was included in his talk about the customs, political situation, and the future of India, in which he emphasized that, in his opinion, the rival religious factions in India would be united within a very few years.

Foreign students at Transylvania College may be allowed full membership in the club under provisions of a new constitution, according to Jock Ungerleider, president.

Many Good Prospects Still Not Out For Track --- Seaton

Nearly two months remain before Kentucky's Winter-Cats, as they shall be called henceforth, open their 1948 track campaign, but already feverish preparations are under way at Alumni gym in an effort to make their debut a successful and victorious one. Approximately 43 boys, most of whom are inexperienced, have answered Coach Don Seaton's call for track prospects, but the cinder sport mentor stated that this total will be slightly more than half the desired number. Men are still needed for every event.

Coach Seaton ventured forth the belief that many talented boys had failed to report because they believed track to be another sport favoring only those boys attending school on athletic scholarships. Although numerous men from the scholarship sources were reported for track, they will be treated exactly as the non-scholarship athletes.

He also pointed out that a boy does not have to be an athlete to be a good track man. Several of the finest exponents of the cinder sport disappointed their ability only by accident. Seaton said this was true of many boys, who definitely have the ability, but have never had the opportunity to develop it. For that reason Seaton wants anyone with two legs to try out, just in case some hidden talent might be found lying around waiting to be developed. He pointed out that no one would be dropped from the squad through lack of ability, but only through in-subordination.

Foremost among Seaton's worries at present are numerous boys who do not attend practice regularly. Several of these boys have shown signs of ability in the few times they have been out.

Dashmen, hurdlers, and fieldmen, only men who will attend the first meet March 27 at Purdue, will continue practicing every Saturday afternoon, from one to four.

DePaul And Notre Dame Furnish Little Time For Wildcats To Grab Breath This Week-End

by Tom Diskin

The wandering Wildcats of Kentucky leave today for a most crucial road trip, traveling to Chicago for a game with DePaul on Saturday night, then to South Bend, Ind., to meet the Notre Dame quintet, and finally down to Tusculoosa where they will take on the Crimson Tide of Alabama on Thursday.

All three teams are giving in waiting for the famed felines from Kentucky in hopes of upsetting the nation's No. 1 basketball team. If the Rupp Raiders can sweep all three contests, they will greatly increase their chances of finishing the regular season with only one defeat. UK's Zip Kilde has 17 wins for this campaign with a one-point defeat by Temple as their only blemish.

DePaul May Be Tough

The Blue Demons of DePaul are hoping to repeat their trick of last year, when after losing badly to UK in the first game in Louisville, they later upset our 17 Kaintuckians in an 82-47. The Demons are set for a repetition of last season, as the UK Kats trounced DePaul, 74-50, last December 10th in the Falls City in rather easy fashion. Now it is their turn to win—they believe! Coach Adolph Rupp and his charges are determined not to let the Demons turn the same surprising prank on them again.

The Demons showed power last week in trimming Michigan State, 82-42, in Chicago Stadium, the scene of the Saturday game. Over 18,000 are expected to witness the battle, which will be part of a double-header. In other games, Loyola of Chicago goes against Oklahoma A. & M., the latter team having played DePaul last night.

The probable starting lineup for DePaul will be Ed Mikan, center; Ed Whitley, forward; Andy Federicko at forwards; with George Ledy and Charles Allen at the guard positions. Gordon Gillespie, six-foot, three junior of Kelvin Park, Ill., will see plenty of action.

Six-foot, nine inch Ed Mikan, who pumped in 16 markers against the MSU Spartans last week, was held to only four points last December by the Wildcats. However, he will be harder to stop at Chicago stadium. Mikan, a senior, is the brother of George, former DePaul great who scored 536 points in 24 games during the 1944-45 campaign.

Another dangerous scorer is Ed Whitley, Kaeban, who took the leading role in last season's Kentucky upset by playing superb ball. He is six-foot, two and scored 210 points last year in 25 games. Last Saturday he flipped in 15 markers for Ray Meyer's quietest against Brannum and Co.

Notre Dame Hot For Revenge

Although the Fighting Irish have not had an outstanding cage record for this season, they are expected to be at their peak Monday, February 2, when they take on the Kats before an all student crowd at the ND gym.

The Hoosiers make no bones about it. They have been waiting exactly 11 months to get revenge for the 60-30 defeat given them by UK last February in the Louisville Armory. In a recent issue of a national sports magazine featuring a story of Kevin O'Shea, brilliant Irish guard, the following item appeared: "The big game on the ND schedule, the one Kevin and the boys have been looking forward to all year is the invasion of Kentucky, who poured it on the Irish 60-30, last year. . . . that's a hang-over the gang at South Bend wants to erase."

Notre Dame, who has been hot and cold this season, warmed up four over to whip DePaul 52-46, last January 10th in South Bend. This was the Irishmen's 17th straight home-floor victory. They will be after No. 28 against the Kats.

Notre Dame, with a record this year of 8-4 is led by All-American O'Shea, who scored 210 points in 22 games last year. "Connet" O'Shea, a sophomore, promises to become one of the greatest cagers in ND history, providing his tricky knees hold up. He stands six-feet, two, hails from San Francisco, and is an uncanny one-handed shot.

Other starters will probably be John Foley, a six-foot, five sophomore from Worcester, Mass., and guard Paul Gordon, the Irish's top defensive star and playmaker. Gordon, a junior from Baltimore, Me., stands six feet tall and weighs 190 pounds. At the forward positions, Leo Barnhart, a six-foot, four athlete, and Chicago-born Jim O'Halloran, a five-foot, eleven junior will get the starting nod, unless a sudden switch is made by Coach Moose Krause.

Foley has replaced Johnny Brennan, last season's high scorer for ND with 289 points, at the pivot position after the latter broke his arm early in the season. Foley will be no push-over for he is said to be the most improved player on the ND squad.

Against Mikan, the six-foot, five inch center dumped in eight field goals to take high honors for the Indiana. Barnhart, who comes from Indianapolis, tossed in 205 points last year. Other players certain to get into the fray are Dick Kluck, a forward, John Hiller of East Bernard, Ky., who plays either guard or forward, and Frank Kaufman, of Chicago, a DePaul University of Chicago, whom the Kentucky Wildcats play tomorrow night in the Windy City, is the largest Catholic university in the country with an enrollment of 12,000 students. The Illinois institution is divided into two parts, having the Arts and Sciences college located on the North Side, and most of the other colleges in their 17-story building in the famed Chicago "Loop." DePaul was chartered in 1888 as St. Vincent's College with an enrollment of only 60. The name was changed to DePaul in 1907.

The Wildcats' foe on Monday night is Notre Dame University of South Bend, Indiana, which was founded in 1862 and now has an enrollment of 4,767 men students.

Incidentally the University of Cincinnati, beaten by Lexington Lynxes last Saturday, 70-45, is the largest municipal university in the nation, having a total of 17,500 students.

Bob Brannum, former UK basketball star, is almost certain to break the Michigan State individual season record of 251 points per game, established in 1945-46 by forward Sam Fertino, "Bruising Bob," who has been averaging over 17 points per game, flipped in a total of 19 markers against DePaul's Ed Mikan last foot three and hails from Montgomery, Ala.

This is the first meeting of the two teams for this campaign. UK's all-time record against the Red Elephants is 25 wins against 7 losses.

ND's Coach Krause

Saturday in the Chicago stadium will lead both teams in individual scoring. He was elected captain of the Spartan squad after the third game of the 1947-48 season and is claimed to be the "hottest cager seen on the Spartan court in a decade."

Alabama's basketball coach is 32-year-old Floyd Burdette, who is a native of Martin, Tenn., and a former All-SIAA forward for Murray State in 1926-27.

Following his graduation from Murray in 1928, Burdette entered Oklahoma A. & M. where he added

Coach Hank De tutor the Aggie basketballers. He later went into the Army Air Forces and in 1943 piloted the Randolph Field, San Antonio, Texas) basketballers to the national all-service championship.

Then in 1944, the giant Tennessee returned to Oklahoma A. & M. where he played on the Aggie quintet which went to the National Invitational tournament and was defeated by the UK Wildcats 46-29, in the consolation game of the meet. During that season, Burdette finished second in scoring for the Cowpokes behind All-American Bob Kurand, A. & M.'s great seven-foot center.

Notre Dame's head cage mentor, Edward (Moose) Krause also had a colorful athletic career in his younger days. He was a four-sport star at De LaSalle High in Chicago.

In 1930 Krause went to Notre Dame where he distinguished himself in football, basketball and track. On the gridiron, "Moose" held the regular tackle position for three straight years and earned All-American honors.

At basketball, the Chicago-born athlete broke ND's previous records for points scored in one game, in a single season and in three seasons, making All-American at center in all three of his years on the varsity. Krause formerly coached at St. Mary's of Winona, Minn., and Holy Cross of Worcester, Mass., before returning to Notre Dame in 1942. Two years later he entered the Marines as a lieutenant and served in the Solomon and the Philippines during the war.

Last year, his Fighting Irish five won 29 and lost four. One of the losses was a 60-30 defeat by Kentucky in Louisville—the second worst beating ever inflicted upon a Notre Dame basketball team.

Introducing . . . Cliff Barker, Magician

Clifford Barker, the Headlin of the Hoops, Banchee of Basketball, and Super Magician with the spheres, is currently appearing throughout the country in the company of Rupp's Rambunctious Ramblers.

Cliff is one boy who would be a success on a vaudeville stage. The way he handles a ball is enough to make any rival player's hair stand on end.

When Barker gets the ball, you can never be absolutely sure that it won't come flying out one of his ears, passing him the pellet in his throwing it into the atomic curtain. From the time it reaches his hands until it appears somewhere else on the court, or in the basket, it's just gone.

This six-foot, one-inch junior's skill with a ball is no accident. He grew up in Yorktown, Ind., one of America's leading basketball hotbeds. Before entering the air force, Barker put in a successful season with the Wildcats, and 16 months in a German prison camp doesn't seem to have affected his ability at all. If anything, he's improved.

One of the older members of the team—he is 26—Cliff has turned out to be 185 pounds of basketball mysticism. As a passer and a dribbler, Barker is one of the cleverest. He can pass the ball backwards better than most men can throw it forward.

Cliff fits in perfectly with Adolph Rupp's conglomeration of roundball trappers. He's a born showman, if there is such a thing, and a hit with any crowd.

Seldom established by his teammates, Cliff is a lesser-known star on an already star-studded squad. Only the fame of his fellow Wildcats, individually and collectively, have kept this Cat in the background as far as press notices are concerned. One thing sure, however, is that a man capable of holding down a first string forward berth with Rupp's Raiders, must have something especially extra on the ball.
