Wildcat Gridiron News

KENTUCKY vs. AUBURN

Two of the Southeastern Conference's most stubborn contenders—Kentucky's Wildcats and the Tigers of Auburn—clash on the Stoll Field gridiron tonight in a fight to determine which has the best chance to overcome problems and jump back into the thick of the loop championship chase.

Both teams show identical, 1-1 records after taking their openers two weeks ago and then running into fired-up powerhouses last Saturday. The blemishes were inflicted by top contenders Tennessee (28-0 over Auburn) and Ole Miss (17-0 revenge victors over UK).

Despite the whitewashing, Kentucky and Auburn showed strong capabilities that should come to the forefront this week in the toss-up match.

For their part, the Wildcats of Coach Charlie Bradshaw have displayed defensive prowess in their opening two engagements. In rolling over Atlantic Coast Conference favorite North Carolina, Kentucky defenders limited the Tar Heels to just 183 yards in total offense while Mississipi's strong Rebels were able to pad the total by only 80 more yards. In the second half alone of the Ole Miss encounter, UK's proud defensive platoon rose up to halt Rebel drives inside the 20-yard line four times and on another occasion forced a field goal from the 23.

Auburn found a quarterback, sophomore Larry Blakeney, in their opener with Chattanooga as he sailed 10 strikes in 17attempts for 231 yards. And fears over the physical fitness of star fullback Tom Bryan disappeared in the closing minutes of the Chattanooga game he he came in to spark the bogged-down offense.

A common problem seems to take precedence in both clubs' preparations for tonight's game and the remainder of the schedule. That is passing. Auburn dented the Tennessee secondary defense for only 23 yards on two completions out of 13 tries while Kentucky, in two games, has managed to connect on just five of 29 tosses to gain 63 yards in comparison to 343 via the ground.

The chances of Kentucky materially improving its aerial record are clouded by the injury to starting quarterback Terry Beadles, who suffered an ankle injury in the first half of the Ole Miss game.

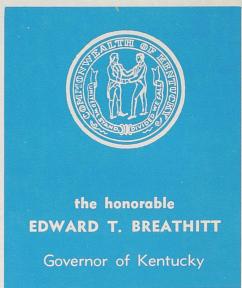

The Kentucky-Auburn series dates from a game played in Lexington in 1934 and copped by the Wildcats, 9-0. After a return match at Montgomery, Ala., the following year (won by Auburn, 23-0), relations were broken off and not resumed for nearly two decades. Kentucky captured the next game at Lexington in 1954 and the two schools have met annually since that time. Auburn, with a 23-18 win last season at Auburn, boosted its series lead to nine wins to Kentucky's four and one tie.

With but two exceptions, the meetings have followed a trend to closeness in final score. Breaking the pattern were a 33-0 win in 1959 by Coach Shug Jordan's crew and Kentucky's 20-0 gift to Coach Charlie Bradshaw in 1964. Auburn holds a 4-3 advantage in games played at Lexington.

COLLISION COURSE—North Carolina fullback Mark Mazza (43) looks for running room around end after receiving a handoff from quarterback Danny Talbott (10) but appears headed for trouble from a trio of Kentucky flank defenders. Coming up fast on a collision course are Jim Swart (85), Basil Mullins (78) and Mike McGraw (40). Sparked by such sterling defensive play, Kentucky won the season opener, 10-0.

Alumnus Governor Boosts Wildcat Gridders . . .

Edward T. Breathitt, at 41, is the nation's second youngest Governor. A Hopkinsville attorney, he continues a family record of distinguished public service that dates back to pre-Civil War days when an ancestor, John Breathitt, served as the state's chief executive.

Governor Breathitt, who in his capacity as Governor, also serves as chairman of the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees, began his career as a lawyer and public servant immediately upon graduation from the University of Kentucky College of Law in 1950. At the age of 27, he was elected to the State House of Representatives. Later he was State Personnel Commissioner and a member of the State Public Service Commission before being elected to Kentucky's highest office in 1963.

While a student at the University of Kentucky, where he also obtained a degree in Commerce, he proved his capacity for leadership. While there, he was president of Lamp and Cross, senior men's honorary, and ODK, men's leadership and scholarship honorary fraternity.

His distinguished background also includes three years in the Army Air Force during World War II and the state presidency of the Young Democratic Clubs of Kentucky.

A native of Hopkinsville, he is married to the former Frances Holleman of Mayfield. They have four children—Mary Fran, who is 16; Linda, 15; Susan, 9; and Edward III, who is 7.

Governor Breathitt continues to be one of the most enthusiastic boosters of his Alma Mater and its football team.

University's President Knows Value of An Athletic Program . . .

When Dr. John W. Oswald became the sixth president of the University of Kentucky on Sept. 1, 1963, he brought to the position most unique qualifications that have since aided immeasurably in his administration of one of the nation's foremost and fastest-growing educational institutions.

John Oswald's background reflects the highest standard of excellence in educational preparation and also includes experience in athletics at both the player and coach levels.

The 49-year-old educator, who was born in St. Paul, Minnesota, received his education in the public schools of La Grange, III., and at DePauw University where he was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate in 1938. He also did graduate work on the Davis and Berkeley campuses of the University of California, receiving the Ph.D. Degree in plant pathology in 1942.

Following a World War II stint in the Navy as a PT boat captain and division commander, he returned to UC as a professor in his special field and later rose through the administrative ranks to the position of Vice-President for Administration.

Dr. Oswald's athletic experience, that now stands him in good stead as president of a university boasting an ambitious athletic program, came as a player in his collegiate days at De Pauw as he played guard on the football team for three years and later at California's Davis campus—where he tried his hand at coaching (by avocation) the grid team for a brief period.

In 1962, he was named by Sports Illustrated on its Silver Anniversary All-America team, composed of former football players who achieved special prominence in their chosen professions.

Dr. Oswald is a staunch supporter of Kentucky's athletic teams and advocates a fairminded approach that lends proper emphasis to the athletic program. UK athletics flourish within the proper perspective as an equal part of the total university.

- Athletics At Kentucky -

Kentucky's athletic program, a well-balanced and ambitious activity featuring inter-collegiate competition in ten different sports, is organized under the Department of Athletics and a corporation known as the University of Kentucky Athletics Association.

The program is conducted without overemphasis or sacrifice of educational objectives and in strict compliance with the rules of the University, the Southeastern Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

A board of directors, headed by University President John W. Oswald in the capacity of chairman, maintains overall policy supervision of the athletic program. Ex-officio members, in addition to the president, include Vice Presidents Robert Johnson and Glen Creech, Dr. W. L. Matthews in the capacity of secretary to the board, and a student representative—all appointed by the president. Twelve other men, drawn from the University faculty and the general public, also serve on the board as appointees of the president.

Supervising the steady growth and balanced development of one of the nation's top athletic programs is Bernie A. Shively, a former Illinois grid All-American and a veteran of over 25 years in the post of Director of Athletics.

The Association's Board of Directors is composed of the following:

Dr. John W. Oswald, Chairman Robert Johnson, Vice Chairman Dr. W. L. Matthews, Jr., Secretary

Dr. Ralph Angelucci Prof. David Blythe

Dr. Aubrey Brown

Dr. Loren Carlson

Dr. Thomas Clark

Dr. Glen Creech

Bernie Shively — A Veteran Administrator . . .

Behind every successful athletic program in the country today is a capable administrator who diligently attends the many and varied responsibilities connected with a big business operation.

University of Kentucky is fortunate to have the services of one of the nation's most widely-respected Directors of Athletics in the person of Bernie A. Shively. A veteran of 28 years on the job, "Shive" (as he is familiarly known to thousands of sports fans) is a tall, silver-haired, former football All-American who has gained widespread respect and recognition for his fair-minded guidance of a harmonious program that today features September to June activity in 10 different sports and involves the use of facilities valued at several million dollars.

In addition to a fair-minded policy direction that has resulted in "big time" stature for the school's athletic teams, Shively during his 28-year tenure has directly supervised major expansions in the physical plant designed to keep pace with the growing patronage by a sportsminded public. Among these have been the doubling of the seating capacity of Stoll Field, construction of a four-million-dollar coliseum and preparation of a spacious sports center to provide top facilities for spring sports teams and football practice.

Shively's first claim to fame came during undergraduate days at University of Illinois as he achieved All-America recognition as a guard on the 1926 grid team made famous by teammate Red Grange. The future UK Athletic Director also won the Big 10 heavyweight wrestling title and lettered in track.

Following graduation in 1927, he accepted a position at UK as a line coach in football to start a long-time association. In the days since, he has served as head football coach for one year (1945), track and baseball coach and headed the physical education department.

Shively also has found time to be active in civic and alumni affairs and has attained national prominence through dedicated service in national athletic organizations. He currently holds membership in the powerful NCAA Executive Committee. Only recently, he completed a second term as chairman of the University Division NCAA Basketball Tournament Committee and formerly served with the NCAA Summer Baseball group.

Wildcat Coaching Staff

RAY CALLAHAN (Kentucky '56)—No stranger in state grid circles, Callahan is a former Kentucky back and guard from Lebanon who enjoyed a highly-successful coaching career in prep ranks following graduation . . . Prior to joining Bradshaw staff in 1963, he assisted at Versailles and Manual High and guided Danville to state AA title.

WALLY ENGLISH (Louisville '58)—A former quarterback for the U. of L. Cardinals, English works with the offensive backfield. He has a background of playing and coaching experience in Kentucky and Texas. First joined Bradshaw staff in 1965 as graduate assistant.

LEON FULLER (Alabama '61)—This new addition to the UK staff, who tutors the defensive backfield, played his final two seasons at Alabama when Bradshaw was an assistant. He won All-SEC honor as a defensive back and was named on the Academic All-America.

PHIL OWEN (Georgetown '53)—Like five other current Wildcat assistants, Owen entered collegiate coaching ranks by making Kentucky his first stop . . . Joined Bradshaw staff in 1964 after successful, nine-year tenure at Mt. Sterling High . . . He directs talented frosh team this season.

CHARLEY PELL (Alabama '63)—Entering his second season on the Kentucky staff, Pell enjoys the confidence of his new boss stemming from a three-year player and coach relationship while both were at Alabama . . . Works with the defensive interior line.

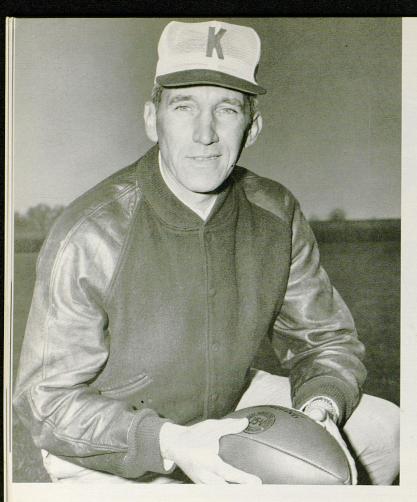

JIM POYNTER (Kentucky '61)—One of four former Wildcats on the staff, Poynter had a great high school coaching career before returning to UK early this year. In five seasons at three schools, his teams posted composite record of 40-10-1.

GEORGE SENGEL (Kentucky '48)—Louisvillian Sengel's career as a Wildcat wingman overlapped that of Coach Bradshaw by a couple of years and his former teammate asked Sengel to stay on the staff he had joined in 1961 . . . The 44-year-old Air Force vet had nine years of coaching schoolboy ranks in Florida and Kentucky prior to becoming UK end coach.

DOUG SHIVELY (Kentucky '59)—A youthful veteran of seven years in the coaching profession, Shively is a former Wildcat wingman and son of UK's Athletic Director. After one season at a Texas high school, Doug moved to Virginia Tech—his point of departure in coming to UK.

CLARENCE UNDERWOOD (Marshall '38)—Back "home" after 10-year absence, this tough-but-popular veterans has responsibility of shoring up UK defense. Spent 8 years here prior to successful 10-year stint at Jefferson High in Port Arthur, Texas. Compiled 77-26-6 record and was state "Coach of the Year."

RALPH BERLIN (lowa State '62)—This 30-year-old Marine Corps veteran serves as head football trainer for the Wildcats . . . He's a veteran of six years in training field.

Wildcat Coach Sets Winning Tradition . . .

After four hectic years, Charlie Bradshaw stands high as a coach and gentleman fully vindicated in his promise to rebuild the shattered foundations of Kentucky football into a solid front and re-establish a winning tradition.

Exemplifying the faith placed in his hard work philosophy and procedures is the unique "lifetime" contract tendered the youthful and determined ex-Wildcat upon the successful (6-4) completion of an adversity-plagued 1965 season. The new pact, believed unique to college-coach relationships, assures Bradshaw of tenure similar to that given academic personnel. At such time as he ceases to perform his current coaching duties, he will have the opportunity to take another position on the University staff.

Bradshaw, a 41-year-old former UK end and assistant coach, returned to his alma mater in 1962 to take on the difficult task of repairing a sputtering Kentucky football machine that had not run well since the early fifties Bowl Era.

The magnitude of the repair job never will be fully understood by anyone less closely connected with it than the self-sacrificing Bradshaw. Only he could take a positive approach to the almost impossible problems—and, more importantly, stick with it in the face of increasing odds. How he tackled the assignment of producing a winner out of the meager raw material reflects the type of person Charlie Bradshaw is-the personification of qualities of inner fortitude, outwardly serious demeanor, ability, confidence, integrity and quiet determination. He is an inspirational leader possessing the valuable trait of exuding enthusiasm and confidence to a degree that inspires those around him—players and assistants —to get the job done in a way that pays off with success. He demands great effort of himself and others in the belief that success cannot be purchased easily.

Bradshaw's influence not only is paying off with success on the gridiron—his 1965 team posted the school's best record since 1956—but also is being felt around the state. Coaches, alumni, general public and prospective Wildcats are rallying to the side of Bradshow's long-range program in a fashion never before seen in the State of Kentucky.

W. H. Davis (left), Alcoa's General Manager— Industrial Relations, says: "We've found that Army ROTC graduates with active duty experience as officers possess better than average initiative, foresight, and responsibility. These are qualities we rate very highly, and we gladly pay a premium to get them."

Why did Alcoa hire Rod Wilson?

Because Alcoa needs men to fill key positions—men capable of moving to the top; men who seek and measure up to responsibility. Rod Wilson is that kind of man. An Army ROTC Distinguished Military Graduate at Colorado State University, Rod won an officer's commission in the Regular Army along with his degree. Forty-four months of active duty, including 16 months overseas as an artillery commander, earned Rod Wilson 24-carat credentials as a leader, a man schooled in the demanding disciplines of command, the kind of man Alcoa looks for.

If you're this kind of man, prove it to yourself, and to the companies like Alcoa who are looking for you. How? Get in Army ROTC. Stay with Army ROTC, all the way to success.

The ABC's of TV

by ROONE ARLEDGE

Vice President and Executive Producer of ABC Sports

WITH NCAA football being broadcast this fall by ABC-TV, college fans are seeing the sharpest techniques in sports telecasting.

Before 1960, the accepted method of televising football consisted of opening four cameras and simply documenting the game from the stadium roof. You sat at home and saw (and heard) nothing more, nothing less.

ABC changed all that six years ago. It was then we developed our concept of "bringing the fan to the game instead of the game to the fan."

We did it with small, hand-held cameras that roamed the sidelines, shooting game and spectator action alike, with telephoto lenses that provided a whole new viewer perspective with tight closeups of the players and officials, with long range microphones that isolated the exciting sounds of football above the roar of the crowd.

We added the isolated camera and instant replay, stop action and slow motion re-runs, end zone cameras and cameras high above the field on cranes and blimps, announcers interviewing players and coaches on the field and colorful shots of the surrounding campus. At ABC-TV the world of sports is a 52-weeks-a-year activity. The culmination of this year-round activity is NCAA football, which we are extremely pleased to welcome back to the ABC Sports line-up after an absence of several seasons. Starting this September, our production and engineering teams will again pack up millions of dollars worth of electronic equipment and hit the college football trail to locations like Waco, South Bend, East Lansing and Palo Alto to bring viewers the biggest of all continuing sports attractions in America today.

The organization and execution of a football television series is an incredibly complex operation. By midweek, prior to the first NCAA-ABC telecast, considerable advance work already has been completed. Broadcast plans and game schedules have been approved by the NCAA Television Committee and the network. Contracts have been signed with 49 teams and 13 sponsors; nationwide promotion and publicity efforts have been coordinated; complex systems totaling 17,000 miles per week of long distance television lines and program feeds around the nation have been arranged; well over 100 additional production and technical people have been hired; the logistics of facilities, personnel and tons of equipment have been worked out; basic production planning meetings held; and thousands of specialized man-hours consumed in working out dozens of other pre-season details. All that remains is the job of televising the events!

Let's take a typical situation where the game is being played in the Midwest.

On Wednesday evening five production people are rushing for a plane at Kennedy airport in New York City—a producer, an associate producer, an associate director and two production assistants. The camera director is already en route from Los Angeles.

Twenty-four hours ago the technical group, consisting of an engineering management supervisor from the network, a technical director, four videomen, two audiomen, seven cameramen, two driver/maintenance men for the mobile control unit, two video tape engineers, an engineer for the stop action device and three cable/utility men, arrived on location. The unit manager has been in town for two days checking production arrangements. Tomorrow three announcers will fly in, plus another producer and assistant who have the separate responsibility of handling the pre-game program.

The mobile unit, a $1,500,000 color TV station on wheels, was driven 700 miles from last week's game location and is now parked and hooked up to power at the stadium. Several members of the local telephone company are on hand to install special phone lines and broadcast audio and video circuits.

Before airtime on Saturday afternoon, the entire technical crew alone will have spent close to 1,000 manhours in travel, hard labor and skilled workmanship in setting up and checking out color cameras, zoom lenses, microphones, headsets, tape machines, cables and monitors. In the meantime, the production staff will be holding continuous meetings, while the announcers do homework on statistics, biographies, players and team defense and offense.

To give you an idea of what goes on at airtime, let's take a quick look at just the internal communications system needed for a football telecast.

To begin with, there are interconnecting phone lines from the producer in the mobile unit to the announcers and production assistants, both in the press box and on the field, in addition to the area where the visual scoring and identification devices are located. The Associate Director who will handle the relaying of cues is connected to the Producer's circuit, and also to the coordinating studio in Chicago.

Another circuit connects the Director to each of the seven cameramen and the stop action engineer; another from the Technical Director to the videomen who control the quality of the individual camera pictures.

There's a private line from the engineering supervisor to network master control and another from the Producer to the Associate producer who is stationed at a pair of videotape recorders in a local TV station five miles away to coordinate slow motion and instant replay.

As you can imagine, it requires highly professional teamwork from all concerned to insure that this kind of set-up functions smoothly and correctly during the broadcast. I am happy to say that it usually does.

These and other innovations in production methods and techniques have revolutionized TV football coverage and certainly increased enjoyment of the game to the fans at home.

Actually, nothing can replace the thrill of being at the game itself. But football and television have always been ideal partners and it's a safe bet that you'll be watching many of the NCAA football contests this year (most of them in color) as guests of ABC's 215 affiliated stations.

We'll be expecting you.

ABBOTT

BOBBY ABBOTT—During a star-studded career in Volunteerland (Kingston, Tenn.), Bobby helped his team to two undebeated seasons and picked up personal honors as an All-State selection . . . He became the first freshman to win All-Conference and to take top scorer honors in the Tri-County league . . . Gained 4,975 yards in career . . Plans to study art.

DAVE BAIR—An All-State quarterback from Greensburg, Pa., Bair aided his high school teams to successful grid records in his last two years . . . Passed for 1,700 yards, hitting on 99 out of 200 attempts . . . Also proved outstanding schoolboy pitcher as he compiled a 20-2 record to materially aid team in winning three straight championships.

AL BORNE—A product of ex-Wildcat Johnny Maihaus' coaching at Louisville St. Xavier High, Borne (pronounced Bor-Nay) is classed as a top halfback prospect who can go either offensively or on defense . . . Blessed with good speed as indicated by a ragional record time of 23.1 seconds in the 220-yard dash and a clocking of 9.9 in the 100.

MIKE BOULWARE—Grabbed virtually out of the backyard of Ohio State, Boulware is a promising interior line prospect hailing from Columbus, Ohio . . . He was an All-District selection as he led his Bishop Watterson High team to an undefeated season as its captain in 1965 . . . Team won league title every year but one during his career.

JIM BROADWATER—Starred as a fullback and defensive end at Pennsburg High School in Fairless Hill, Pa. . . . Captained his team in 1965 as the Falcons posted a 9-1-0 record in strong competition . . . Mentioned on the All-State team and also participated in track and weightlifting . . . A brother played at Western Carolina.

FRED CONGER—This Keystone State husky from Feasterville, Pa., never played on a losing team and picked Kentucky over 40 other schools seeking his services . . . Played in Big 33 Game and won All-State honors . . . Had 138 tackles in one year . . . Good student whose favorite subject is physics . . . Plans to play pro ball or coach.

BILL DUKE—Aspires to be a top football player and to become an aerospace engineer upon graduation . . . Played his high school football at Daviess County High in Owensboro under tutelage of former Kentucky Wildcat Waymond Morris . . . Won MVP nomination on his team two years . . . Halfback candidate.

PAT ECKENROD—Started his football career in fifth grade and wound up seven years later with award as best player in Chattanooga (Tenn.) high school ranks . . . Attended Notre Dame High where played center and defensive tackle . . . Honored as All-State center selection and mention as All-Southern and All-America.

LEXINGTON QUARTERBACK-TIPOFF CLUB—With a dedicated membership of nearly 300, the Lexington Quarterback-Tipoff Club annually is one of the most active supporting organizations behind the University of Kentucky's athletic program. The group, made up of vitally-interested Lexington and central Kentucky business and professional men, performs many functions in aid of the coaching staffs of football and basketball. Among these are the welcoming and guiding visiting prospects to make their stay in the Blue Grass a memorable one. Current officers of the club, pictured above, are Kermit Little (center), President; Ted Bates (left), vice-president; and Ed Williams, secretary. Missing when the picture was taken was Steve Rardin, Treasurer. Bill Faulkner, insert left, acts as Athletic Coordinator between the club and UK coaches. The club meets weekly during the football and basketball seasons to hear comments from Coaches Charlie Bradshaw and Adolph Rupp. Game highlight films also are shown.

Boosting the Wildcats to Success

Few athletic teams on any level today enjoy the sweet taste of success without the help of various non-athletic groups who give freely of their time and energy to boost their favorites to great accomplishments.

University of Kentucky is very fortunate to have the friendly assistance of several such groups in support of its teams. Operating within the strict bounds of official rules to provide all-important help are such organizations as U-KATS, the Quarterback-Tipoff Club, K-Men's Association, UK Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and formerly the Lexington Salesmen's Club.

Athletic officials of the University—Director of Athletics Bernie A. Shively and his staff—as well as the coaches and the young men who are either team members or prospective Wildcats—sincerely appreciate the public-spirited assistance given by these private groups of citizens. To them, this page is dedicated.

Mystery Wildcats

(Outstanding UK Gridders of the Past — Identification Below)

Although perhaps better known and remembered as a star member of the Kentucky basketball team during the "Fabulous Five" Era, this pass-snaring end performed equally well on the gridiron. The Kentucky native won four letters in football and was accorded All-Southeastern Conference recognition.

This former Wildcat should not be too hard to guess since he was a part of the first and only twin brother act in Kentucky football. He performed at halfback in the early fifties, wearing the unique jersey number 1A. His brother was identified by 1B on his jersey.

OUTLOOK—Kentuckian Jerry Claiborne has Virginia Tech football firmly established on a solid, winning foundation and his building program should show better results than ever this year. Thirty lettermen are among the holdovers and Claiborne is optimistic over the strong potential of his freshman team graduates. The defense seems to be in the best shape as Tech tackles an ambitious schedule. Only two vacancies occurred in the unit that opened last season—at line-backer and guard. Heading the '66 defense will be senior tackles Sands Woody (210) and Andy Bowling (6-3, 220). Backing up the formidable defense will be a completely experienced offensive combination built around senior tailback Tommy Francisco—the team's leading returning rusher. Other likely offensive stars are junior halfback Dickie Longerbeam and flankmen Gene Fisher and Ken Barefoot (6-5, 228)—who between them hauled in 50 passes last season. Only three offensive starters were lost, but one who will be sorely missed is quarterback Bobby Owens.

U.K. Development Council Seeks the Margin of Excellence

A public university is charged with a multitude of responsibilities. The world of the scholar has its center within the bounds of the University. The impossible, the improbable, the sought for answers lie just beyond and then within sight of those who follow the threads of truth wherever they lead. Imparting the lessons of old and new discoveries to succeeding generations occurs in classrooms and laboratories or in the dialogue of teacher and student.

Research in its purest form resides properly here, the pursuit of the disciplined mind—without the goad of immediate practical application.

The role of servant to the Commonwealth is fulfilled from the banks of the Big Sandy to the mighty Mississippi in the life of every man. The University of Kentucky serves through experimental farms, community colleges, home demonstration, agricultural extension, community medicine, government and economic research. Its greatest service lies in holding open the doors of higher education to all Kentuckians regardless of number.

Funds to provide basic program in these areas comes from the citizens of the Commonwealth of Kentucky through legislative appropriation, from the students paying their fees, from certain federal programs which support key projects, and smaller amounts from a number of organizations who have an interest in the achievements to be made by the University.

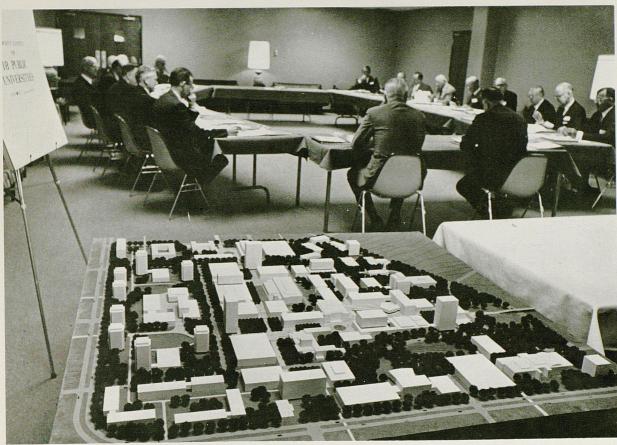

Missing have been the funds for that quality described as "the margin of excellence." These are the funds which provide unusual teaching or research opportunities; scholarships for the student in need, fellowships to encourage graduate study, additional salary to retain or attract the great scholar and teacher, equipment which may have limited use and cultivation and encouragement of the arts.

The great universities in our time, both public and private, enjoy the benefits of individual and corporate philanthropy in significant amounts. The private donor through his vision and generosity has helped to move these universities beyond necessity into enrichment and greatness.

President John W. Oswald has stated that the University of Kentucky at the beginning of its second century stands on the threshold of greatness.

U.K. Development Council Members (left to right) James S. Hudnal, '21, Geologist, Tyler Texas; Wickliffe B. Moore, '24, President, Price Paper Company, New York, New York; Jesse W. Tapp, '20, Retired Chairman, Bank of America, Los Angeles, California; L. Berkley Davis, '34, Vice President, General Electric Company, Washington, D. C.

University of Kentucky Development Council in its First Meeting. (Back to camera) C. R. Yeager, '32, Chairman, Attleboro, Mass., Dr. John W. Oswald, President.

A new academic program, a house in order, encouraging support from the Commonwealth, all augur well for a measurable impact on the University's second century.

The Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky, in order to begin the University's move beyond necessity into enrichment, established the University of Kentucky Development Council. It is the responsibility of the Development Council to serve in an advisory capacity to the President of the University and the Board of Trustees for all private fund development. Although membership on the Council is concentrated in Kentucky, onethird of the membership is composed of University alumni from Massachusetts to California. C. R. Yeager '32, President of L. G. Balfour and Company, Attleboro, Massachusetts serves as Chairman of the Development Council. Vice Chairman is L. Berkley Davis '34, Washington, D. C., Vice President of the General Electric Company, and General Manager of its Defense Programs Division.

Although the University needs a number of projects which only the gift dollar can achieve, the major need lies in the necessity to increase significantly the permanent endowment of the University. (The University's permanent endowment is invested, and only the income annually is used in support of University program.) Included in the University's permanent endowment are funds to attract and retain the great scholar and teacher as a permanent member of the University's faculty, funds to support the graduate student in his studies, and funds to provide the many scholarships necessary for the undergraduate student.

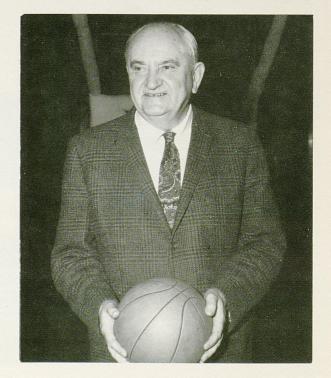

The trustees and staff of the University of Kentucky with the able assistance of the University's many friends and volunteer workers such as those on the Development Council are determined to cross the threshold of greatness in the University's second century. A major impact on a century is a Herculean assignment. To try less is a measure unacceptable.
