

NEW UK EDITORS
ARE ELECTED AT BOARD MEETING

James Anderson, Lexington, is Appointed Editor Of 1937 Kentucky

SPENCER IS NEW EDITOR OF KERNEL

Ike Moore, Ernest Shove, Selected As Business Managers

Editors and business managers of the two major University student publications were elected at a meeting of the Board of Publication Wednesday afternoon in Room 54, McVey hall. Slight changes in the Kernel policy were also announced.

James Anderson, Lexington, will be editor of the 1937 Kentucky student year book, and George M. Spencer, Beattyville, was appointed to head the staff of The Kernel.

The new business managers are Ike Moore, Lexington, Kernel, and Ernest Shove, Schenectady, N. Y., Kentucky.

Kentucky contracts to be awarded by the committee were to the Reppro Engraving company of Cincinnati, and to the Lafayette studio of Lexington, for photographs.

Anderson is a junior in the college of Arts and Sciences, a member of Stroulers and of Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

The new Kernel editor has served on the Kernel staff as assistant editor, is a pledge to Delta Sigma Chi, honorary journalist in charge of the executive committee of Pan-Politics and the Kentucky.

Moore, the Kernel business manager, is a member of Keys, Pershing Rifles, Seaboard and Bidae and Alpha Delta Sigma. He is president of his social fraternity, Delta Tau Delta.

The Kentucky business manager, Ernest Shove, is a member of Alpha Delta Sigma, and served as business manager of the "K" book. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi social fraternity.

Spencer announced that Ross Chepefelt would serve as managing editor. Other appointments will be announced later, he said. The new staff will begin its duties with this issue.

Anderson and Shove succeed Basil Baker and James Beroff, and Spencer and Chepefelt succeed Norman Garling and Frank Borries.

Glee Club Touring Western Kentucky

Miss McKenna is to Appear With Group in Seven Performances

The Men's Glee club, under the direction of Prof. Carl Lampert, head of the Department of Music, left Thursday morning, April 23, for a four-day tour of Louisville and five Western Kentucky towns.

Thursday at noon, the Glee club appeared before the Shawnee school Louisville. They appeared at the Owensboro High school in Owensboro Thursday night.

The group will sing before the Kiwanis club of Madisonville Friday at noon, and at Madisonville High school that afternoon. Friday evening a program will be given at Morganfield High school in Morganfield.

The club will be heard at Sturgis high school Saturday afternoon and at Paducah Saturday night.

Artists to appear on these programs are Lee Crook, violinist; Mary Louise McKenna, Mary Eleanor Clay and Stanley Elizabeth Clay, vocalists.

Mr. E. G. Sulzer, University publicity director, is in charge of business arrangements.

ALL-CAMPUS SING WINNERS GO ON AIR

Winners in the girl's division of the all-campus sing were featured in a special radio program over station WHAS from the University extension Wednesday from 1:15 to 1:30 p. m.

The group from Kappa Delta, first place winners, and the Kappa Kappa Gamma group, which tied for second place, each sang an arrangement of "Alma Mater." The Independent girls group, which shared second place honors, sang a medley of songs of the south under the collective title, "Southern Memories."

The program was augmented with selections by Mary Louise McKenna, soprano, and Gentry Shelton, baritone, of the UK-WHAS staff.

Kernel Co-Ed Interviews Baseball's Dazy Vance

By ELEANOR STEELE

A major league baseball star can be so nice to a frightened young woman reporter, even when she tackles him in the rain on Main street—but nuts to the annoying radio announcer, or whoever that ignored the glare. The glare glared. Tuesday afternoon.

"Baseball is just about all right; as a profession nothing can beat it." Vance assured your reporter when she inquired brightly concerning his regard for baseball as a profession.

The radio man glared. Your reporter smiled dizzily at Dazy and about him at the desk of a downtown hotel. The clerk pointed him out to me and from a safe distance

Spanish Dancer Gives Brilliant Concert Finale

By THEO NADELSTEIN

Last of the Community Concert series of the 1935-36 season was closed Tuesday night at the Henry Clay High school auditorium with the brilliant dance recital of Carola Goya, who presented to an extremely large and appreciative audience a program of dances representative of the various provinces of Spain. Senorita Goya was accompanied by Beatrice Burford, one of the outstanding girl virtuosos of the day, and Norman Secon, pianist, who accompanied the dancer and furnished the interludes between dances.

Senorita Goya excelled in those dances which gave her an opportunity to depict her remarkable gifts of pantomime, varying from comic gaiety to terror. The crystal-clear castanet work, the colorful costumes and the magnetic personality of the dancer made her audience demand encores continually.

Contributing to the program, Miss Burford played six harp solos and was recalled for two encores. Mrs. Secon's solo, "Triana," by Albeniz, a descriptive composition of the gypsy settlement near Seville, was artistic and individual, and his interludes were especially well done.

LANCES TAKE IN NEW MEMBERS

Seventeen Candidates Are Elected To Membership in Junior Group; Lathrem Is Elected Head

PHI BETA KAPPA Armed Conflict Announced By Anderson At Convocation

By Anderson At Convocation

Peace Strike Speaker Says Next Conflict Will Destroy Civilization

Calling war "the old grey mare which aunts what it uses to be," Rev. Otis Anderson of Lebanon in address at the peace strike convocation held at Memorial College Wednesday morning stressed the fact that a second world war would be apt to destroy the present world civilization.

Armed conflict was condemned in all its phases and the difference between offensive fighting and defensive fighting was declared as being little. "A bayonet on your gun may seem defensive to you," declared Anderson, but "looks mighty offensive to the other fellow."

Ben Ragland, a senior in the college of engineering represented the student viewpoint. He denounced war as an instrument for solving problems between the nations.

Prof. John Kuiper, head of the University Physics department, discussed the Nyo-Kvale bill which advocates the abolishing of compulsory military training in colleges.

John Spragens, a junior in the Arts and Sciences, presided at the convocation.

The peace strike was a part of a nation wide demonstration by many colleges through out the country in an effort to ridicule and abolish war.

Bryant Is Jubilant Over Olympic Trip

U. K. Physical Ed. Major One of 27 U. S. Athletes To Rate the Trip

"It is the greatest thing that ever came my way in all my life," exclaimed Gene Bryant, senior in Physical Education, as he received his award of an all-expense tour to the Olympic Games by the University of Kentucky.

The German government, in an effort to sponsor better will towards its own country and America, is awarding to 27 athletes of the United States an all-expense trip to the Olympic Games by the University of Kentucky.

One of the 27 to be selected by an American committee from a list of 308 applicants.

"I still don't see why they selected me, as I have not even played much football. It must be my voice that gets them," Mr. Bryant suggested. "However, I am going to make the most of the trip and do everything I can to enjoy myself. I think that the trip will contain as much of the educational element as it will the athletic element."

Mr. Bryant said that he had not been in the college of Agriculture and the Experiment Station were introduced, and a tour was made of the college of Agriculture and the Experiment Station farm.

Sheep Men Elect For Ensuing Year

Thomas Clore, Eminence, was elected president of the Kentucky Sheep Breeders association at a meeting held Monday, April 20, in the judging pavilion at the Experiment Station farm.

Plans for the annual sales of the University Law college, was held at Lexington, and August 18, at Louisville, were made. The sheep for these sales will be selected from the flocks of the members of this association.

New 3500-Per-hour Press Will Replace Old Mehle

Keeping in step with the railroad which are discarding the old "Iron horse" type of train for the new, more modern "streamliners," the University has made arrangements to install a new Web Duplex flat bed press.

The new press was purchased with the expressed idea of publishing a five day a week Kernel during the summer and student demands warrant.

The Duplex prints from roll paper and has a maximum output of 3500 per hour. The new press will be installed in the basement of McVey hall before the beginning of the next semester.

Back in 1917 when the Kentucky Kernel was founded as a publication to succeed the idea of the printing was done entirely by commercial companies. But in 1922, acting on suggestion of the Kernel adviser, Professor Grehan, the staff decided to purchase a press. The

TO RIFLES MEET

Northern Schools To Send Units; Purdue's Zouaves Order Only Drill Group of Its Kind In U. S.

Company C, Pershing Rifles, has made elaborate plans for the annual Pershing Rifle drill meet to be held Friday evening, May 15, at 8 o'clock on Stoll Field.

The visiting units will be Ohio State, University of Dayton, University of Akron, University of Cincinnati, University of Washington, University and Purdue University. The Order of Zouaves is the only drill unit of its kind in the United States. It drills in quick cadence and is modeled after the French and consists of only twenty-five advance military students.

General John J. Pershing and Major General Cole, corps area commander, have also been invited to attend.

The University of Kentucky Band will furnish music for all of the competitions. Drum Majors Stockton and Benison will be in charge.

The cadet officers of the local unit have been very active in the plans. Captain Johnston and Lieutenants Sherman, Evans and Hightower are in charge of the program.

The University of Kentucky chapter of Pershing Rifles has won this competition for the past four years. Tickets will go on sale at downtown stores and in the Army and Navy stores.

Tickets will be thirty-five cents and box seats will be sixty-five cents or two for a dollar.

MINISTERS HEAR HEAD OF BEEFA

Pastors Attending Annual Short Course At U. K. Are Addressed by Dr. W. J. Hutchins

The members of the short course for pastors and ministers passed held here this week heard Dr. William J. Hutchins, president of Berea College and the advanced chorus of Berea High school at the Tuesday evening program held in Memorial Hall. Dr. D. D. Nichols, U. K. Physical Education, was the university, presided and introduced the speaker.

Pastors and laymen here for the course attended the meeting of the Kentucky Home Mission Council at Central Christian church Tuesday afternoon, and at 4:30 o'clock were guests of President and Mrs. McVey at a reception at their home.

The Wednesday morning program consisted of addresses by Dr. E. C. Cameron, Butler University, Indianapolis, and Dr. G. S. Bobbins, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville.

Prof. George Roberts, head of the agronomy department of the College of Agriculture and the College of Agriculture and the Experiment Station were introduced, and a tour was made of the college of Agriculture and the Experiment Station farm.

Plans for the annual sales of the University Law college, was held at Lexington, and August 18, at Louisville, were made. The sheep for these sales will be selected from the flocks of the members of this association.

Kampus Kernels

All reporters who desire to serve on the staff for the forthcoming term will please be in Room 50, McVey hall at 3 p. m. Monday.

Lists of candidate points for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa must be turned in to Mr. James Shropshire at the Kernel office not later than 12 o'clock noon Thursday, April 30.

There will be a joint meeting of the Home Economics Club and the Block and Bridge club at 7:30 Monday night in the Ag Building. The guest speaker, Mr. C. A. Mahan, will discuss the subject "Choosing and Holding a Position."

There is an opening for an experienced table waiter. Applicants for the position see Dean Jones.

A mixed doubles tennis tournament, sponsored by W. A. A. will be held at the University this spring. The winner must be in Miss Averill's office by May 4. Entrance fee will be fifty cents per couple. Varsity and freshman varsity players are ineligible.

The Graduate Club will hold a banquet May 6 at the Phoenix hotel.

PETITIONS FOR MAY QUEEN ARE FILED THURSDAY

Ten Candidates Are Approved By Student Council; Election to be Held From 1 to 4 p. m. Today

MAY 1 IS DATE SET FOR FESTIVITIES

Runner-Up Will Be Maid of Honor; Six Attendants to Compose Court

Petitions of ten women for May Queen were filed at the office of the Home Economics Club and approved by the Men's Student Council at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Those nominated were Lillian Holmes, senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, Alpha Gamma Delta; Martha Love, freshman in the College of Education, Independent; Gertrude Carigan, sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, Independent; Louise Nichols, freshman in the College of Agriculture, Independent; Kay Kenyon, senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, Chi Omega; Margaret Greathouse, junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, Kappa Delta; Roberta Wilson, sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, Alpha Gamma Delta; and Ruth Averitt, senior in the College of Agriculture, Zeta Tau Alpha.

Election of the queen will be held today from 1 to 4 p. m. in the basement of the Administration building. All men students are eligible to vote.

Additional plans for the May Day festivities were announced yesterday by Dan Ewing, president of SuKy, sponsor of the program. The morning convocation will be held in the Training School auditorium instead of Memorial hall. At this time the Board and Lamp and Cross will pledge and the Sullivan Medallions will be awarded. As a result of the crowning, the annual parade, Pershing Rifles, will be marked at the crowning. The following are the candidates for the annual parade: Pershing Rifles, a horseracing game which he invented and marketed at the age of sixteen, has been sold to a New York concern and that the game will be marketed again some time in the near future.

The game was invented by Levi because he was dissatisfied with the horse racing games his father who has been in the toy and novelty business for some years, brought back from the competitive territories which he incorporated into his game soon made it the fastest selling horseracing game ever invented.

U. K. Student Sells Horse-Racing Game

Burton Levi, sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, received word yesterday that the rights to "The American Derby," a horseracing game which he invented and marketed at the age of sixteen, has been sold to a New York concern and that the game will be marketed again some time in the near future.

The game was invented by Levi because he was dissatisfied with the horse racing games his father who has been in the toy and novelty business for some years, brought back from the competitive territories which he incorporated into his game soon made it the fastest selling horseracing game ever invented.

Baron Makes Address

Joseph Barron, lecturer in the Department of Art of the University, spoke before the student chapter of the American Society of Engineers at 10 a. m. Wednesday in the Engineering building. His subject was "Architecture in the World of Today." Mr. Barron was introduced by W. B. Fish, president of the assembly. After the talk a discussion was held.

HERE SHALL THE KERNEL ALL STUDENT RIGHTS MAINTAIN

PEACE AND THE STUDENT BODY

The first general peace conference convocation, authorized by the Administration, to be held on the University campus, turned out to be an orderly, well presented, thoughtful discussion of the problems which are challenging the attention of the general public and students looking toward world peace.

Upon first hearing of the proposed "strike," The Kernel, frankly, was a little skeptical, and more than that, alarmed, that such a gathering might set an unpleasant precedent on this heretofore, peaceful campus.

It reflects the high intelligence of the student body that it wishes to declare its various points of view in a seemly and judicial manner, free from the hub-bub and clap-trap that have marked such mass meetings in some of the other universities.

Furthermore, if the people who stand back of this drive toward peace are really serious in their opinion, they must realize that it is many times more effective to present their cause as it was presented Wednesday, without dramatics, embellishments and the usual artificial fervor.

One of the reasons which we felt were against such a meeting, upon first hearing of it, was the fact that many persons have an inherent and active animosity toward war and yet hesitate to put their feelings into a public demonstration.

As has been set out in these columns before, the greatest barrier which conscientious peace advocates have to hurdle is becoming dissociated with the radical and extremists element.

We have no quarrel with pacifists or militarists. At times, we have varied with the dogma of each. The real problem, however, is worldwide. It is not for one nation or one group of people to declare that armaments should be increased or decreased.

It must be said for our peace strikers, however, that they are getting further and further removed from the defeatist attitude. They are not content to throw up their hands in surrender. Instead, they are fighting for a just cause, and one which The Kernel must admit, appeals to the sympathies of the majority of people in this country.

Peace has been the eternal dream of man. It is not to be gained by a mere reiteration of the worth of brotherly love and universal commiseration. Such emotions do not usually stand up under searching criticism. At present, when almost every great nation upon the face of the globe is at odds with its neighbors, this should be realized.

Rather, we believe, would peace get a firmer stronghold in the minds of man, if it could make its place in political and economic methods. This, we believe, is what the promoters of the Wednesday meeting had in mind. They must be commended for it.

A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

With the final recital of the current season presented Tuesday night before a capacity crowd, the Community Concert group can now look back upon a highly successful program of recitals, knowing that it has done a difficult job well.

The group which first backed this classical venture was not met with an over enthusiastic response. Now for two years it has been proved that such an enterprise can attract the interest of Lexington and the student population.

The Community Concert Series appear to have every reason to look forward to an even more successful season next year. Certainly, this reflects the cultural attitude of the town and the University.

APPRECIATION AND HELP

The Kernel today embarks upon a new voyage. The cargo which we carry is the means of supplying this student body with useful information and editorial leadership that will promote its welfare.

The best which we can dedicate ourselves to do is to publish a college newspaper: An organ for presenting information, explaining the news concerning the University, and by close association with students exert leadership that will benefit both the University and the student body.

It is our aim to avoid the reefs of intolerance and insincerity. In return we can ask for nothing more than an appreciative and helpful audience.

To the outgoing staff we offer our congratulations.

By Rippo

What's gotten into all the campus columnists lately? Seems as if each one of them wants to vent his spleen on the student body and the world at large. Hui Pollui never lets a chance slip to pass a knife into the pinch-trip of Night and Day and Engy turns out, as his finale, a bunch of tripe that makes a person want to slit his throat, the way he talks about the good ship KERNEL, instead of bringing forth a few tears because he is turning the command over to some one else.

To the outgoing staff of the Kernel, your job, for the most part, has been done well. You have worked hard and conscientiously, put out a lot of time and effort to see that the paper came out and contained the things that the students wanted to see in print.

To the incoming staff of the Kernel, your job is ahead of you, you do it with and carry on the traditions of old Kentucky and see that she ever keeps her rightful place in the sun. Need more be said?

You know it's no small job to pound out one of these so-called columns. A lot of fellows think that all we guys have to do is sit down and whack out a lotta stuff, that it comes out in great big results and all we have to do is keep our fingers on the keys. Not so, ask any one that has owned one. No, I'm not calling for either bouquets or brickbats. As far as I'm concerned you can keep them both.

See where old Jim Winn has decided at last to take the fatal leap. Those of you who have been around for six or seven years will probably remember him as the crazy football player that ran around tackling Model T Fords and telephone poles whenever he was "feeling that way." Oh, well I guess all get bitten by the bug sooner or later.

Some fellows must have a lot more money than brains. I know one that paid his initiation fee to Keys and then forgot to show up for the initiation.

They say the next edition of the "Sour Mash" will be a wow. Will feature the picture of the Campus Sweetheart. No, I won't tell you who it is, ya have to pay for the magazine, out May Day, in order to find out.

To the Campus Sweetheart, I toss, though it's agin my principles, a big bunch of roses. May your years to come on the campus be happy ones and full of still greater honors.

Ross Chepeleff is a great little go-getter. His place as business manager of the "Mash" has been a hard one but he has the stuff. The way that boy can sell the advertiser a $75.00 ad after he has taken a $5.00 one is nothing short of a miracle. You know, that boy can make little shivers run up your back when he sings "Dark Eyes" in Russian.

Amusing incident occurred outside of Christ Church last Saturday night, while the Breckinridge-Robbins wedding was going on. People lined the corner of Market and Church streets to get a glimpse of the happy couple as they filed out. All of a sudden the "Black Maria" patrol wagon to youse of the uninitiated, loomed into view.

How do you treat those persons with whom you have a class? Heard a boy relate an incident today that tops them all. He said, "It may sound funny to you, but I never pay any attention to people that I have a class with unless I think them before I go into that class. The other day in lab we had to figure out a bunch of stuff in percentage and I was having a body else, nearer and dearer. Nothing is here in spite of the fact that we are suffering from summertime heat one day and freezing the next. Yeh, it's here and here to stay. Want to know how I know? Cause my jump bed is waxing strong and has turned over its first dividend already. Whoopee! LIGHTS OUT.

Observation of Peace Strike, Not A la Journalism

"No editorial comment," clamors the editor, so the reporter writes the story, presenting the facts in the old reliable—but sometimes stale—who, where, when, why, and what way.

Below are a few observations of a Kernel reporter at the peace strike convocation, which would never have appeared in the peace strike story even if he had written it—which he did.

The organist playing the "Songs of India" which may or may not be appropriate for the occasion. Necks stretch and tongues whisper "Is Prexy here?" In comes Cadet Colonel Elvis Stahr. All the R. O. T. C. men are taking front seats. Maybe just to see what kind of stuff these pacifists have on the ball. And again maybe not.

In comes Colonel Brewer. He gets a hand from the crowd. The seats are being filled rather rapidly. The crowd seems like that of the regular convocations.

In comes General Griffith, the Courier-Journal correspondent. There must be a story here somewhere. There's Professor Beaumont of the Psychology department. He's probably here to study the psychology of the situation. A Scabbard and Blade member takes a picture of the speakers. I'll

Hoi Pollui

However small the honor may be, the column is today dedicated to our dearest friend, Jack Gaitskill, who died at his home in Paris, Tuesday, following a brief illness of pneumonia. This sorrow-stricken comrade, stung by the blow, does not seek here to pay him tribute that would measure full estimate of his worth, preferring rather to leave that precious labor of love to others more gifted, at a time more opportune. Recollections of his friendly nature, his lofty spirit, and his loyalty will linger as a happy memory with his classmates down through the years, and serve as an inspiration to many of us who revered him for his many qualities.

And so at journey's end, when hands slip each from each, those of us who are left to tread the way alone, like Horatio to his knightly friend, would bear the mournful salutation:

"Goodnight, good prince, and flights of Angels sing thee to thy rest."

remember some day to stop looking at those flash bulbs. Several heads turn and several necks stretch. "Prexy is here," someone whispers. It is 11:45. I'm getting hungry. Well it's over. Some seem disappointed because there was no student demonstration. Well after all, it was a peace strike. Guess I'll go to lunch. Better not try the Commons though. It's been full since all last hour.

Alpha Delta Sigma, honorary advertising fraternity, will hold a luncheon meeting Monday, April 27, in the University Commons. All members please be present.

FOR DIGESTION'S SAKE...SMOKE CAMELS

Smoking Camels a Pleasant Way to Encourage and Aid Digestion

Hurry, worry, and strain tend to interfere with normal processes of digestion - actually slow up the flow of the digestive fluids. It is a scientific fact that smoking Camels helps to keep digestion on its proper course, through restoring and increasing the flow of the fluids necessary to good digestion. Dine well! Smoke a Camel!

You sense a comforting "lift," a feeling of well-being, as you enjoy the delicate fragrance of your Camel. Camels open a new world of pleasure, where mildness and rare flavor reign supreme. You can smoke Camels steadily. They never get on your nerves or tire your taste. Camels set you right!

HARD GOING? Intense studying puts an added burden on digestion. Smoking Camels eases the strain - restores your pep - and definitely promotes good digestion.

THE WINNER! Kelly Pettilo, first in the Indianapolis Classic, says: "Smoking Camels during and after meals goes a long way in helping to keep my digestion in good shape."

THE FLARE of the welding arc climbs to a temperature of 8700°! Dan Rafferty, master welder, says: "Smoking Camels during and after meals helps my digestion."

A RARE PLEASURE. Leisurely diners enjoying the continental brûlée at Jacques French Restaurant, nationally famous off in Chicago. Here soft lights and impeccable service give the perfect setting for such dishes as Baked Oysters à la Jacques and other specialties of the house. And Camels add the final touch to dining. "Camels are most popular here," Jacques himself observes. "They are clearly the favorite with those who know fine living."

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

Just about a year ago we took over the task of pounding out this copy twice weekly. Since that time some sixty-five or seventy issues have come off the press and as much water has flowed under many bridges.

Ben Willis was Kentucky's one-man track team and was getting out of breath hurrying from one event to another. At the same time, Dave Rogan, a freshman ineligible for varsity competition, was lowering the old Kentucky mile record by several seconds, just for the exercise.

Then to the Cincinnati Post for a summer with the vesters, the trials and tribulations of the Cincinnati Reds, country-clubbing as a tennis correspondent and sweating through Sunday nights as an amateur baseball page editor.

Back to the Bluegrass again and, according to the first Kernel of the year, the Wildcats are opening their campaign against Maryville. That was one day they looked good.

Then Kentucky came back to wallopp Tennessee's Volunteers in the Thanksgiving Day massacre and vindicate themselves for another season.

Scarcely had the gridiron festivities ended when Coach Rupp's court club took up the burden of supplying the sports scribes with material and after a couple of warming up tilts, posted Pittsburgh for the year's first major victory.

And after spring had once more sprung, Kentucky golfers got out and started to hack up the Lexington Country Club fairways and to date have won two matches while losing one.

Although the racket-wielders of Professor Downing's tennis team played but one match, they give every indication of being the finest group to represent the University in that sport in several seasons.

Coach Bernie Shively's track squad appeared strong in vanquishing Vanderbilt, and the spring footballers who finish their chores today or tomorrow, have been giving onlookers something to talk about.

And so ends another year and another column.

Deadline Is Set For Chi Delta Phi Literary Contest

All manuscripts must be given Dorothy Whalen on or before Tuesday. The contest is sponsored by Chi Delta Phi, national women's literary honorary.

Co-ed Interviews Major League Star

Thus we navigated down Main street. The radio man began to set the pace at a gallop. I galloped too, as best I could, but there is an end to everything. After all, ladies don't chase down Main street two jumps in the wake of ex-big league pitcher and frowning radio men.

Anyhow, Mr. Vance began to think I was trying to flirt with him. A traffic light caught him, and catching up, panting, I thanked him—smirked a smirk for the radio man and allowed myself to be left behind.

Yes, baseball players are all right, but deliver me from radio men. I haven't stopped blushing yet.

and Rochester, N. Y., and Montreal, Ottawa, Sudbury, Cobalt, Manitojlin Island, Theford, and Arlona, Canada, has been announced by Dr. A. C. McFarlan, head of the Department of Geology, University of Kentucky.

The party will leave Lexington on the morning of June 6, and will return about June 20. A wide range of geological phenomena is available in the territory to be visited, and 2,500 miles will be traveled.
