

BOARD ACCEPTS $327,000 GRANT ON PWA PROGRAM

Trustees Authorize McVey To Apply for Additional $60,000 for New Fieldhouse

A MEETING IS HELD SATURDAY MORNING Appointments and Leaves of Absence Are Granted At Special Session

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees held Saturday morning in President McVey's office, an additional PWA grant of $327,000 for the University's fieldhouse was awarded recently by officials in Washington, was formally accepted, and authorization to sign an application for an additional $60,000 grant through the PWA for the proposed field house was given to the President by the executive committee of the board.

The additional grant for the field house, if approved, will bring the total available for this project to $80,000. A sum of $20,000 has already been provided by Governor A. B. Chandler to aid in construction of the building. Under the present plans, the field house will be located east of the alumni stadium. It will contain two rooms, both with either dirt or tan bark floors, one of which will be 100 by 180 feet and the other 100 by 80 feet.

The larger room will be used as a winter football practice cage, for R. O. T. C. drills, as a band practice field, and for athletic events sponsored by the department of physical education. The other room will be used for handball courts, indoor tennis courts, and other fields of this type. Showers and locker rooms will also be provided near the rooms. No provision is made for a basketball floor in the present plans.

Appointments and leaves of absence were also approved and announced at the board meeting. Those granted sabbaticals leave for 1937-38 were Paul W. Walker, C. Herman, and Dr. Brooks Hamilton of the department of hygiene, J. E. Humphrey, field agent in animal husbandry, was granted a year's leave to accept a position in poultry husbandry with the United States department of agriculture.

Appointments were those of Miss Louise Foster as assistant to the Carnegie grant to the music department, and Joe Huddleston and Charles Brier as assistants in the department of physical education to take over the classes of Professor H. H. Hansen, who is on leave. The resignation of Dr. H. H. Thornberry, assistant plant pathologist, was accepted. Doctor Thornberry resigned to accept a similar post with the United States department of agriculture.

Members of the board present at the meeting included Judge Robert Gordon, Louisville, who presided in the absence of President McVey; J. B. Andrews, Newport; James Park, Lexington; Miller Holland, Owensboro; and D. H. Peck, vice-president, and the University.

Students Appointed To Be On Magazine

Miss Theo Nadelstein, Associate Editor of the Kentucky Kernel, in the department of journalism, has recently been appointed Southern region reporter for the "intercollegiate" national YWCA magazine. She is also appointed student editor of "News Letter," monthly bulletin of the YWCA which contains news of YWCA activities throughout the South.

Miss Nadelstein is president of Theta Sigma Phi, journalism honor society for women, and a member of the YWCA senior cabinet and is one of several students of the University who have been selected to be in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

SLADE SPEAKS TO AGRICULTURE GROUP

The poultry club held its regular monthly meeting at 7:30 o'clock Thursday, Nov. 5, in the Dairy building with Mr. Harold Blinkey, vice-president, presiding. Mr. D. D. Slade, owner and operator of the Kentucky Hatchery, led the group in discussions on different questions of the poultry world.

Plans are being made for a get-together banquet to be held at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday, Nov. 18, in the University Commons. This banquet will be held for those interested in poultry.

Completion Near On $65,000 Law Building Plans

Prof. E. B. Farris to Submit Drawings for Approval By PWA Director

Plans for the new law building will be completed this week and sent to Louisville for PWA approval. Prof. E. B. Farris of the College of Engineering announced today. Professor Farris stated that the project would cost approximately $65,000. If the plans are satisfactory the PWA will furnish 40 cents on every dollar and the school will supply 25 cents on every dollar.

The law building bids will then be advertised. The new building will be located on the plot of ground between the football stadium and the library. A portion of the building will have new glass block panel for indirect lighting. There will be two floors to the building. On the first floor there will be a lounge room, a small court room and some classrooms. On the second floor there will be a lobby, a recreation room, a reading room and some classrooms. The new building will be constructed of brick and stone, and will be landscaped in evergreens.

COLONEL ISHAM TO SPEAK HERE

Recognized Scholar and Soldier To Address Students December 3 on "The Boswell Papers"

Banker and bibliophile Col. Ralph H. Isham, formerly of the British army and now a resident of Lexington, will be the featured speaker at the annual address of the University at 4 p. m. Thursday, December 3, on "The Boswell Papers." By the use of tactful strategy Colonel Isham purchased these famous papers, long a desired treasure of a thousand collectors, from Lord and Lady Talbot in 1927. He has published the papers in a personal edition, costing $300,000 and showing unmatched skill in reproduction.

The Colonel is internationally known as an exemplary host and an outstanding literary scholar. Alexander Woolcott has labeled him "the greatest story teller of his time." The University's guest speaker has just returned from Europe where he observed and reported on political conditions. He recently completed a series of radio lectures over the Lexington radio station, and is on a national tour.

Colonel Isham attended Cornell University and was a member of the British army, where he worked on the staff under Robertson and Haig. He was given a permanent rank and the Order of the British Empire by King George.

Buckner Speaks At Optimist Luncheon

TRANSFER STUDENTS TO ELECT OFFICERS

The transfer club of the YWCA will hold election of officers at 7:30 o'clock Thursday, Nov. 12, in Boyd hall. All transfer women who wish to join the club are invited to attend this meeting. The club has been organized by the YWCA for the purpose of acquainting new women on the campus with faculty members, other transfer women, and to facilitate the entertainment of the next group of transfer women to be held here. Information concerning the club can be obtained from Elizabeth Cowan, YWCA secretary, at the woman's building.

GROUP VISITS EXHIBIT

Last Friday five of the instructors from the art department with a group of students visited a modern art exhibit at the University. Miss Irvine's work will consist in assisting in cooking classes sponsored by the utilities company, and in the demonstration of different electrical appliances for use in the homes. Miss Irvine is a member of the Home Economics club.

LANCES GET CERTIFICATES

Lances, men's junior honorary, is to have a certificate made for all its members. Professor Farris made the original drawing for the "shingle," the cut of which will be kept for future use by the organization. The present members gave the money for the plan and it will be donated to the chapter.

ROTC REGIMENT TO HOLD PARADE ARMISTICE DAY

University Unit and Band To Form at 10 a. m. Wednesday for March Day at Downtown

More than 150 women attended the second meeting of the AWS Popularity Club, held at 7:30 o'clock last night in Patterson hall, with Dr. E. F. Farquhar, professor of English as the guest speaker. Doctor Farquhar discussed "Pleasing Personality and How to Develop It." His speech was given in a series of four scheduled by the Popularity Clinic in order to aid women students in becoming more attractive and charming. Mrs. Frank McVey presented the opening discussion, and the third meeting, on "Staying in the Hair," will be held on Monday, Nov. 16, in Patterson hall.

All women students are invited to attend the meetings of the clinic, which will be continued during the year should enough women desire it. Composing the first of three divisions of patriotic organizations of Lexington to pay respects to the World War dead, the University ROTC Regiment and the University band will participate in the annual Armistice Day parade Wednesday, November 11.

Members of the R. O. T. C. unit and the band will be dismissed from class at 10 a. m. Wednesday to attend the parade. It was announced by the registrar's office yesterday. In the event of inclement weather, the parade will be cancelled and a pennant will be hoisted on the campus flag pole immediately under the National color not later than 8 a. m., indicating that the parade will be called off and the students will attend classes as usual.

PACIFIC IS TOPIC OF FORUM MEETING

Prof. E. Z. Palmer Leads Regular Discussion at Maxwell Church

"A national solidarity based on Christian love is the only effective defense against war," Prof. E. Z. Palmer, of the College of Commerce, told students at a forum held at 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening at Maxwell Presbyterian church. His subject was "Christianity and Military Preparedness."

The speaker explained that huge armies and navies tend to breed war rather than enforce peace. "Military victory is hollow and ineffectual when based on unbridled ostracism," Professor Palmer said. From history Prof. Palmer showed how Napoleon's triumphant march into Russia met with failure because the Russians were not amenable to his "iron hand" rule. Quoting from the Bible he showed how Christ used "passive resistance" rather than force.

91-Yard March Late in 4th Quarter Yields 'Cats' Goal; Johnson Tallies

Kentucky's Wildcats, hopelessly outplayed in the first three quarters, were defeated by Manhattan's Jaspers 13-7 Saturday afternoon on Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, before a crowd of 10,000 fans. For the first time this season, it was the poor playing of the line that led to the downfall of the Wildcats.

The Cats salvaged some glory from their defeat by starting a belated offensive in the last few moments of the game to march 91 yards for a touchdown. Kentucky stopped a Manhattan offensive late in the game on the 3-yard line. With Johnson Sands, and Davis alternating in carrying the ball, Kentucky advanced to the Manhattan 58-yard line. From that point, Johnson dropped back and whipped a beautiful pass to Bob Davis, giving the Wildcats a first down on the Jasper 10-yard line.

On the next play, Sands gained two yards but Manhattan was off-side. This gave the Kentuckians a first down on the 5-yard line. On the 13th down, Johnson dashed through tackle for a touchdown. Dameron Davis placed kicked the point after, but Manhattan then kicked off to Manhattan, but before another play could be run the game was over.

Except for this one offensive drive, there were few bright spots in the game from the Kentucky viewpoint. The best Kentucky backs never had a chance to get in the open during the first half. The heavy Manhattan line consistently out-charged the Wildcat line throughout the game. As in the Alabama game last week, Kentucky was forced to spend most of the first half in the shadows of its own goal posts. During the first half, the Wildcats had a net loss of three yards as compared to 15 yards gained by Manhattan.

Twice in the first quarter, Bert Johnson fumbled deep in Wildcat territory, and each time this fumble was recovered. On both occasions the Cats managed to stop the Manhattan eleven. It was a short yardage play, but it did lead to the first Manhattan touchdown. Kentucky placed 21 yards to Savage to recover the fumble. The Wildcat eleven was unable to stop. During the drive, "Big Jaspers" backs kept their feet on the Wildcat line time 7 y gain. An off-side penalty gave Manhattan a first down on the 5-yard line. Ed Byrne picked up five yards, and on the next play carried the ball over for a touchdown.

One of the most interesting occasions at the University in recent years was the celebration of the seventieth anniversary, September 25, of Dr. Thomas Hunt Morgan, '36, B. S., the Nobel prize winner in medicine in 1933. A morning convocation, the unveiling of a bronze plaque marking the birthplace of Mr. Morgan, and a dinner given by Sigma Xi were the outstanding features of the occasion.

Alumni will be interested in the following letter from Mr. Morgan:

"Many thanks for your kind telegram. I appreciated especially a message from the alumni of the University of Kentucky. If it had been possible I should have liked to have come back to meet again those of my friends who are still alive and to meet some of the new members of the University. Frankly, I am afraid I should have been terribly embarrassed by the kind but undeserved remarks that might have seemed appropriate to such an occasion, but hope no serious damage was done. You see my registry, not knowing what the occasion might call for."

Thanking you for remembering my birthday,

Very sincerely yours,
T. H. MORGAN

FOR DIGESTION'S SAKE... SMOKE CAMELS

Camels increase digestive activity - encourage a sense of well-being!

WITH healthy nerves and good digestion, you feel on top of the world. When you smoke Camels with your meals and after, Camels help in two special ways: Tension is lessened and Camels promote digestive well-being. So enjoy your Camels between courses and after eating. Strain eases.

ALL-AROUND ATHLETE FROM TEXAS. Miss Mary Carter says: "Since I've learned how pleasant Camels make my mealtime, I wouldn't be without them. Camels are mild - never get on my nerves."

AFTER THE GREATEST FINISH UNDER FIRE IN GOLFING HISTORY: Tony Manero gets set for eating by smoking Camels. The gallery went wild when Tony Manero scored a spectacular 28-4 strokes under the record - to win the 1936 National Open Golf Tournament. In spite of the long grind, Tony's digestion stayed the strain. Tony himself says: "For digestion's sake - smoke Camels! It's the ball on the nose. I enjoy my food more - have a feeling of ease - when I enjoy Camels with my meals. Camels set me right."

CHAMPION BOWLER. Johnny Murphy says: "Smoking Camels at meals and after works out swell in my case. Camels help my digestion. After a meal and Camels, I settle back and really enjoy life."

SEEING SPORT STUFF

By JOE QUINN
KERNEL SPORTS EDITOR

We did not attend the Kentucky-Manhattan matinee held last Saturday at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. Therefore, we will be unable to furnish any first-hand information on the activities. By talking to some of the participants and spectators we did manage to get a fair idea of the contest.

We also had a chance to read The Herald, The Leader, the Courier-Journal and the New York Times and New York Herald Tribune. Any information we furnish you this time will necessarily have to be something of a consensus of the papers, players and spectators.

The Players:

"We should have won that one. We just couldn't seem to get started."

"Those Jaspers were plenty big. Gosh, they looked twice as big as Alabama."

"We couldn't get the offense going. Maybe we didn't have the ball often enough."

"They were a tough club, but we've played better teams—and beaten them."

The Press:

"Only the last-minute touchdown, coming after the brilliant 91-yard drive, saved Kentucky from a rout."

"Manhattan's Jaspers scored their greatest victory by defeating the University of Kentucky..."

"The 13-7 victory of the Manhattan Jaspers over the University of Kentucky here today... was one of the day's upsets."

"Manhattan kept the ball in Kentucky territory for a major portion of the first three quarters, never allowing the Wildcats a scoring opportunity."

The Witnesses:

"Did I feel bad after telling the stranger next to me what Kentucky would show—before the game started."

"I don't know what happened to the boys. It seemed like they should have slapped the Manhattan team down. They looked good in the last few minutes, but I don't know why they couldn't look the same way all through."

"It was pretty tough for the mob of former Kentuckians who occupied a large section of the stadium. They had come to see the Wildcats go really wild and make their metropolitan debut an auspicious one. They were a disappointed crew."

"Maybe all that trotting around to the hotel, to a banquet and back to the hotel didn't do the club any good. At least the 'Cats didn't have much snap in their Saturday until the end."

Your Reporter:

All of which seems to indicate that something was wrong somewhere. Why the Kentuckys didn't get started earlier hasn't been explained anywhere that we've seen.

Those two unfortunate fumbles by Bert Johnson put the 'Cats on the spot, undoubtedly. They gave Manhattan possession of the ball in our territory early in the game and they were quick to take advantage of their good fortune. Just as Alabama got the jump and kept it, so did the Jaspers.

pers. The Kentucky spirit was naturally demoralized and was only rekindled in the last few minutes of desperate driving. That's one explanation.

During the past three or four days there has been a good deal of comment regarding the proposed field house for the University. At the moment, the situation is not exactly a clear one. Various reports, from different sources, appear to conflict.

We may be wrong, but from what we understand at this time, the proposed building will be used mainly for an indoor football practice ground. It will also have other uses, of course, but the principal one will be football. There has been no provision made for the basketball team, according to what we have been able to learn of the plans.

It is quite apparent that the present gymnasium is inadequate for the need. The seating capacity for a basketball game is not such that it can accommodate the crowds which the team has attracted.

Naturally, every basketball game played here does not fill the Alumni gym. However, when an outstanding attraction is brought here, people have been turned away, just because there was not enough room for them. The athletic department has given the student preference and after some 2500 students pile into the seats there are not much room left for outsiders.

Basketball, then, has been operating at a financial loss, for the most part, with the exception of the past two years. A little profit was shown, then, only because the Wildcats were attraction enough to draw huge crowds wherever they went.

It seems unfortunate, then, that a basketball court cannot be included in the field house.

At Xavier University, a memorial field house was erected at a cost of approximately $115,000. The Xavier plant would serve very well as a model for Kentucky. It has a movable floor, which covers a dirt surface, and permanent stands of cement. It is possible to put upwards of 7,000 spectators into the structure, comfortably, for a basketball game.

The football team practices indoors during the winter on the dirt floor and the basketball squad uses the wooden surface for its games, satisfying everyone. Kentucky courts teams could use Alumni gym for practice and the field house for games and not interfere with the gridirers.

As we mentioned previously, we may be wrong about the present situation, and our idea of the plans may be erroneous. We hope we are wrong.

Manhattan Beats Kentucky, 13 to 7

Coach "Chick" Meehan's gridirers received the next kickoff and marched to Kentucky's 40 before being forced to punt. The 'Cats started on the ball on their own 15-yard marker, and lost six yards on two plays. Davis then punted to Kentucky's 44-yard line where Manhattan took the ball.

With Byrne carrying the ball, the Jaspers marched to the Wildcat 7-yard line as the Kentucky line wilted under the attack. Byrne then hit the line twice and gained six yards. On third down, he smashed through the line for a touchdown. Finley's placekick of the extra point was wide. A few moments later, the half ended, Manhattan leading 13 to 0. In this initial half, the Wildcats failed to register a first down while Manhattan chalked up 10 first downs.

Manhattan received to start the third quarter, and twice came very near to scoring in the period, being held by the Wildcats once on the 3-yard line and again on the 9-yard line. Except for the Wildcats' last quarter offensive spurge, the game was a complete washout from a Kentucky standpoint.

Statistics show how badly the Kentucky eleven was outplayed. Manhattan made 14 first downs to Kentucky's six, and gained 224 yards by rushing to 77 yards for Kentucky. The Jaspers completed 3 out of 7 forward passes to gain 51 yards, while the Wildcats completed 4 out of 12 attempted passes to gain 17 yards.

The lineup:

Manhattan	pos.	Kentucky
Kurtz	LE	Blington
Morris	LT	Brewin
Moers	LO	Potter
