- About Anything -

By Corky Clarke and Jim Wood

It's the general conclusion of most onlookers who took in the little football tussle between the Sigma Chi and Pi Kappa Alphas Monday evening that the intramural referees should get on the ball and call the penalties instead of standing around with a whistle in their collective mouth.

This particular episode ended with two Sigma Chis and one Pi Kappa Alpha being injured: Ray Turley (Sigma Chi) received a broken jaw and Jimmy Bostie (Sigma Chi) came out with a badly bruised rib; Travis Duer (Pi Kappa Alpha) received a slight brain concussion and possibly a cracked inner-nasal bone.

Fraternity opinion is that if this sort of thing is not stopped, there will be no more intramural football competition in the future, so let's watch the game and call the penalties when they occur.

Professor Paulette Lager, the new French instructor from France, incidentally told a French class several days ago that it would be very unbecoming for a boy to come to class in a French undervest without wearing a complete suit consisting of a jacket and trousers.

The teams will be selected from each zone on the basis of a round by mail. The winning teams will be invited to Chicago for a face-to-face play-off on April 18 and 19. All expenses, of course, are borne by the committee.

Kentucky has been included in the Southern zone along with Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida. There are forty accredited colleges in our zone which means a team from the Southern zone along with Tennessee, Georgia, and Florida, are interested in winning a free trip to Chicago next spring or if any of you think you have the remotest chance of becoming Intercollegiate Bridge Champions, then come around and see me and I'll give you all the dope. I might get in the thing myself. I've always wanted to compete on equal terms with a woman but always despaired of ever doing so.

Spoke one wit in the class. "What if you don't have a suit?"

Now since it is very evident that all French students will some day take their four quarters of French or what have you and go to that country, we suggest that this student scrape up some money and buy a suit. Remember, in France do as the French do . . . or was that some other place?

Moe Oren took out a couple of dorm girls on the same night last week, and it is reported that when he returned them to said dorm he told them he has to abide by the tradition and kiss them both goodnight. What was that tradition, Moe?

Amours

Our campus Kilroy has hung his sign over the Zeta Tau Alpha door. Clarence Kilroy (that's his name actually hangs out the "Kilroy is Here" sign each night he visits the ZTA house. He's dating Anne Morrison and Annette Marshall.

Bashtful Mary Margaret Marks literally tore down the Kappa Delta house this week when she received a letter from "her man" in Georgia. Has anybody seen "her man"?

Helen Millman, Kappa Delta alumna, will hang out the ice sign when Sig Ep Alum Buddy Gwiltm comes to the campus for the week-end.

I would like to offer my humble apologies to that irate person who accused my poor cousin on the campus last week and gave him the very devil for calling Ledstone O'Voolie Lorna O'voolie. I don't know why my dear cousin is always being mistaken for me, but he is. And, naturally when he gets hawled out for something I did, he, in turn, gives me hell. As he put it, "If you're a journalist, I'm a Chinese aviator." I have a tremendous ego and you can just call my cousin Old Slant Eyes.

Anyway, I'm terribly sorry I wronged Schulman's incomparable heroine by mistakenly calling her Lorna.

Four Buildings Are Fire Traps, Dr. Donovan Says

"If fire started in any of four buildings on campus, it would be almost certain to result in disaster, one less of student life," Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University, stated this week.

"For more than a year the University has endeavored to secure fire escapes for Miller hall, Frazer hall, White hall, and the Agricultural building," Dr. Donovan continued.

The state fire marshal, who was on the University campus between seven and eight months ago, stated that fire escapes were needed. It has been impossible to get any firm to take the contract until a month or six weeks ago. It has now been let to a Louisville firm and installation will be made as soon as possible.

At some hours of the day there are from 1,000 to 1,200 students in each of these buildings—four to five times the usual load. The wooden stairways are jammed to capacity, and there is only one stairway in two of the buildings; the stairway providing an excellent trap for a fire.

The buildings have stood for 40 or 50 years without fire escapes, but never under the present load of not twice, but from four to five times the load ever carried before. "It's a wonder they have lasted as long as they have," commented Dr. Donovan.

The president of the University asks but one way to protect students and faculty members from danger: for students to take the responsibility. Urns of sand have been provided at entrances for cigarette butts to be put out before entering the building. Dr. Donovan is not opposed to smoking, but would remind students and faculty members: NO SMOKING by order of the Board of Trustees.

Dr. A. E. Bigge, head of the German department, located on the top floor of Miller hall, and Dr. Hobart Ryland, head of the department of romance languages, located in the same building both deplored the situation in Miller hall. As Dr. Ryland said in a statement about two weeks ago: "There is no fire escape. Efforts have been made to get one. Flames have no place to come but up the stairs." Dr. Bigge also expressed concern over a bad situation made worse by the greatly increased load on the buildings involved, requesting the cooperation of all students and faculty members in the building.

Of course you know . . . That a sleeping tom is a wolf out window preening . . . That big-hearted girls have hips to match . . . Sympathy is what one girl offers another in exchange for details . . .

Crowded Kernels Are Compulsory

The paper shortage at last has hit The Kernel. During the war years, the staff often didn't know where the next paper was coming from, but it always came. Now we don't know where the next paper is coming from again; we don't think it's coming at all.

A six page Kernel is not large enough to run all the news which you turn in to us. An eight-page Kernel hardly does it. But because we are not sure that you are going to have a Kernel through this quarter, and because according to present paper supplies you won't have one next quarter, we have to run on a six-page schedule. If paper gets too low, we will be forced to go to a four-page edition.

For this reason much of the news which you turn in never reaches the newspaper. Most of it is set up in type, but at the last minute it has to make way for more important news.

In order to give you as much of the news as possible, we are cutting weddings and engagements to who and when. Sports coverage will be cut somewhat, but not so as to give you incomplete information. Editorial page copy will be reduced to the smallest possible amount. But THE GOSSIP COLUMN WILL REMAIN, so don't get too worried. All news stories will be cut so that everyone will have at least a mention. Meetings which are run in the Kampus Kernels column will not be covered elsewhere in the paper. We're sorry to be forced to cut news, but until the paper supply is increased, we ask that you stay with us so that you may get a campus newspaper for the rest of this quarter.

WRIGHT Or WRONG

It seems the Intercollegiate Bridge equality. Tournament Committee will hold the First National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament in 1947. The committee consists of alumni interested in promoting contract bridge as a sport in which men and women can compete on an equal basis. Of course, you realize in most of the cases, you are not sure that you are going to have a Kernel through this quarter, and because according to present paper supplies you won't have one next quarter, we have to run on a six-page schedule. If paper gets too low, we will be forced to go to a four-page edition.

UK's Blue And White

By Harry Wright

What magic memories does the title "Blue and White Orchestra" conjure up in the minds of young men students? Memories of many say evenings certainly of soft music and a beautiful girl, or of real swing beaten out in a foot-tapping manner. However varied the thoughts may be, they are sure to be pleasant. Now, after three years, a bigger and better "Blue and White" is back in operation.

President H. L. Donovan has designated Bob Beldt and his Orchestra as the official "Blue and White" orchestra to carry on the great tradition of that organization. Tradition? Did you hear that? Freshman matter that he had never even heard of the "Blue and White" orchestra? You will, lad, you will, and so will all of you students, old or new. But getting back to that tradition business, how many of you know the background of the "Blue and White"? Did you know, for instance, that the original "Blue and White" orchestra was organized in 1922 to play two 30 minute radio programs a week from the university studios? In those days it was just a 9-piece outfit which included piano, drums, trumpets, trombone, saxophone (it was before string basses were used in dance bands), and saxophones. This first edition of the "Blue and White" carried on as a group for two years; and then, shortly as the original boys left, it faded.

But not for long, for in 1939 Bob Walker and his band took over the name. His organization had 12 pieces. Probably more students heard these boys, more often than any of the groups up to the present, for each evening for several months the boys provided music in the Student Union building cafeteria. In 1941 Bill Cross took over the band, and carried on until 1943. The organization disbanded at that time and remained inactive until this fall quarter.

Bob Beldt has a long standing background of band leading. It dates back to his high school days at Henry Clay in Lexington. In 1943 the Navy claimed his allegiance, but there was enough spare time in V-12 and V-5 to organize a band. By this time the Navy-Beldt music combination was pretty well clinched.

Bob was discharged a year ago and wasted no time in gathering together a group of boys to provide music for the Lexington area. Their first public appearance was a November 24, 1945, at the Paintsville country club. Stoner Creek country club was a great success for the boys, and decided them on further work to improve themselves and gain experience on the road during the summer.

Their engagements included stands at the Seabach hotel in Louisville, the Montgomery hotel, the Capitol hotel, Paintsville country club, Stoner Creek country club, Paris, and the Lexington country club. The band just finished a three-day engagement at the 12th annual Fall Festival and the 8th annual Tobacco Carnival at Park.

In designating Bob Beldt's orchestra as the official Blue and White orchestra, President Donovan gave the boys a great and well-earned boost. The new organization is now broadcasting every Monday night at 8:15 p.m. from the University studios, WBKY.

The personnel of the present Blue and White orchestra under Bob Beldt's direction includes Mory

Air ROTC Unit Established

Details of the Army Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps Program being established at the University were announced Tuesday by Colonel G. T. Mackenzie, professor of military science and tactics at the University.

Four officers and three enlisted men, graduates of a special school for Air ROTC instructors at Perrin Field, Sherman, Texas, will conduct the program at UK under the direction of Col. Mackenzie, according to a directive from Headquarters, Second Army, Baltimore, Md.

The air program will be under the ultimate control of the Air Training Command in Washington, D. C. The University PMS & T will be responsible for the administration and integration for instructional purposes of Air and Ground ROTC programs at U. K.

A four-year program, leading to a commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Reserve, will consist of a two-year elementary course and two years of advanced instruction, Colonel Mackenzie said. Tentative quotas set are 164 men for the elementary course and 203 for the advanced course. Elementary students will receive general instruction similar to other ROTC units, to give them a foundation of basic military knowledge. However, veterans of military service may receive special benefits with the approval of the professor of military science and tactics of the institution and its president, according to an announcement from the War Department.

These benefits include credit for the first year's training if the individual has had at least six months active duty in the military service. If he has served one year or longer he will be permitted to enter directly into the advanced course.

Advanced students will be taught the background, history, and various administrative, tactical and technical aspects of the Army Air Forces during the third year of the course, Col. Mackenzie explained. Fourth year students will receive specialized instruction to qualify them for definite duty assignments in the AAF, such as communication, engineering, or transportation officer.

Between the junior and senior year, Air ROTC students will attend a six-week summer camp and put Jones, Hobard Ryland, W. S. Ward, M. M. White.

When not otherwise included, the Dean of the University is an ex-officio member of each administrative committee. The first named member of each committee is designated as the chairman.

A four-year program, leading to a commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Reserve, will consist of a two-year elementary course and two years of advanced instruction, Colonel Mackenzie said. Tentative quotas set are 164 men for the elementary course and 203 for the advanced course. Elementary students will receive general instruction similar to other ROTC units, to give them a foundation of basic military knowledge. However, veterans of military service may receive special benefits with the approval of the professor of military science and tactics of the institution and its president, according to an announcement from the War Department.

These benefits include credit for the first year's training if the individual has had at least six months active duty in the military service. If he has served one year or longer he will be permitted to enter directly into the advanced course.

Advanced students will be taught the background, history, and various administrative, tactical and technical aspects of the Army Air Forces during the third year of the course, Col. Mackenzie explained. Fourth year students will receive specialized instruction to qualify them for definite duty assignments in the AAF, such as communication, engineering, or transportation officer.

Between the junior and senior year, Air ROTC students will attend a six-week summer camp and put Jones, Hobard Ryland, W. S. Ward, M. M. White.

When not otherwise included, the Dean of the University is an ex-officio member of each administrative committee. The first named member of each committee is designated as the chairman.

Nine Teams To Meet Next Week In Intramural Elimination Meet

By O. C. Hayward
An elimination tournament in division pitied in the competition, touch football will begin Tuesday in the tennis and golf tournaments.

The finalists are fighting it out for their trophies. Six teams—the top two in each division—are far enough out in front to assure themselves of positions in the play-off, but the No. 3 slot in each division is still a wide open battle. In all cases, play this afternoon will determine which other teams will gain entrance into the elimination tourney.

In Division I, the Sig Eps finished on top with the Phi Sig's just a few points behind. The No. 3 position in that division is still a contest between the Sigma Nu's and the Rookies. The Rookies beat the SN's earlier by a 19-13 score, but lost one easy one that may make the difference. The SAE's and Lambda Chi Alphas are undoubtedly the leaders in the second division with the SAE's figured by many to draw the No. 1 place in the seeding of the teams for final play. Again it is a battle between two teams for the third representative from the

That Guy Jones!

The outstanding end work of "Wah-Wah" Jones has evoked words of praise from two of the Southeastern's most noted coaches. Coach Wally Butts of Georgia calls Jones "one of the best ends I have seen this season. He is in our backfield all night. I only wish I had him." Frank Thomas, head football coach of Alabama's Rose Bowl champs, echoes Butts' statement, adds the Harlan wingman's defensive play last week and lauds that "he can really go after passes."

Against Bama, Jones caught four passes that gained a total of 119 yards, threw the Tide's great Harry Gilmer for his only loss behind the line of scrimmage. "Wah-Wah" was given honorable mention in the sports writers' poll for the "Southeastern conference's player-of-the-week."

Division. The ATO's and the Turles will have to wait until all play is in and percentages figured.

Division III offers possibly the keenest competition for the top three honors of any of the divisions. The Phi Deltis have proven strong and rank next to the Sigma Chi's with the DDT's and Pi Kaps struggling for third. The Deltis have a 25-2 victory to their credit over the Pi Kaps, but the Pi Kaps team has been strengthened lately.

Final drawings will be made Saturday morning, and the play-off schedule posted on the Intramural bulletin board. Boxing and wrestling has been eliminated from the fall program because of conflicts with basketball practice, but it will be offered beginning the first week of the spring quarter. Volley ball is still listed with the deadline date for registration November 5, and play starting November 11.

MORE INJURIES IN INTRAMURALS

Three injuries have been added to the list in intramural football. In the Pi Kappa Alpha-Sigma Chi game played at University high field Wednesday, Travis Duerr of Pi Kap suffered a brain concussion, and A. E. "Squeak" Thomas, another Pi Kap, bruised his hip severely. Ray Turley, playing for Sigma Chi, received a compound fracture of the jaw and lost a tooth.

Thomas can be seen limping around the campus, but the other two students' injuries were more serious. Duerr is confined to the infirmary with the concussion, which was first thought to be a broken neck. Turley will probably be in the Good Samaritan hospital for another week and will have his jaws wired for approximately six more.

Closer officiating must be done to minimize injuries, most students agree, or intramural players should wear some light equipment.

B's Beat Miami; Meet Vols There

Kentucky's Bee-Cats won another start last Saturday afternoon while their big brothers were having a tougher time of it with Alabama. The underdogs revented an earlier 2-9 loss to Miami B-squad, by setting it down 19-6, before a scant crowd of approximately 300.

With a record of three wins, one loss, and one tie to their credit, they remain idle this week-end and ready for an emergency call in the Michigan State game. However, they travel to Tennessee a week from tomorrow to give the Vols' B-outfit a taste of what its big brother can expect from the Wildcat varsity on November 23.

Engineering College Publication Admitted As ECMA Member

At the annual convention of the Engineering College Magazines Association in Chicago, October 11-12, the Kentucky Engineer, publication of the College of Engineering, was admitted to membership. Miss Betty Peters, Electrical Engineering senior and editor of the Kentucky Engineer, was official delegate from UK. Miss Jeannette Reynolds, mechanical engineering senior and associate editor, alternate, and Professor F. J. Cheek of the civil engineering department, faculty advisor, accompanied Miss Peters.

Also of special interest is the fact that the Kentucky Engineer invited the 1947 convention of the ECMA to be the guests of the University. The meeting will be held in Lexington sometime in October of next year. UK was chosen over requests by University of Minnesota, University of Colorado, and University of Chicago.

Professor Cheek said that the Kentucky Engineer has been working toward acceptance as a member of ECMA for several years. Application was made last February. ECMA is more or less an exclusive group due to the very high journalistic standards necessary for admittance. The association was established a number of years ago for the purpose of bringing publications of this sort up to a recognized quality criterion.

FENCING SQUAD NEEDS MEMBERS

Fencing, one of the pre-war minor sports at the University is slated to return to the campus this winter. Already a group of the blade thrusters are working out in the gym, and prospective swordsmen are invited to attend the next meeting which will be Monday afternoon at 5 in the gym locker room.

The team is being organized by Joel Ungerleider, and will be coached by Miller Holland, former SEC champion in saber. Joel was New York state champ for three years in epee.

Paul McBrayer, for nine years assistant to Adolph Rupp in producing outstanding Wildcat basketball teams, has been named head coach at Eastern State Teachers college.

McBrayer succeeds Rome Rankin, who has doubled for years as football and court manager. Rankin will remain as grid chief. The Maroons won the KMAC championship and tourney last year.

Before becoming aide to the March, McBrayer starred as a Wildcat netter, was captain in 1939.

Campus Cagers To Be "Shot" In RKO Film Short Next Week

By Tom Diskin

Coch Adolph Rupp announces that the RKO movie crew will arrive in Lexington Wednesday. Campus shots will be taken Thursday, Friday, Monday and Tuesday. The Wildcats basketball team will go before the cameras. Mentor Rupp says that he does not know how many of the basketballers would be used in the film. Forty-three candidates are working out daily.

The University's athletic office reports that two teams have been added to the basketball schedule. On November 30, Tulane will play here, and on January 1 Dayton will tangle with the Wildcats in Alumni gym. Each student will be entitled to see six games this year, and the games he will see depends on the number of his student activity book.

If his book number is an ODD number he will see the following games:

Nov. 29 - Tulane	Jan. 25 - Xavier
Dec. 9 - Idaho	Feb. 15 - Tennessee
Dec. 14 - Trans. & M. P.	Feb. 22 - Georgia Tech.
Dec. 4 - Ohio U.

Students having EVEN numbered activity books are entitled to see these games:

Dec. 2 - Fort Knox	Jan. 27 - Michigan S.
Dec. 14 - Trans. & M. P.	Jan. 30 - Georgia
Jan. 11 - Dayton U.	Feb. 17 - Alabama

The opponent for the Wildcats' first game on November 28 is still undetermined, but there is a possibility that Purdue university will be scheduled for that date. This first game and four others will be for non-student persons only. The three games to be played in Louisville, DePaul, Notre Dame and Temple, are in no sense regarded as home games. Kentucky students will have no privileges in connection with them not accorded to all other persons. For each of these three Louisville games, some 3,000 seats will be reserved for applicants from Jefferson and adjoining counties.

MUSING with Melton

Paul Cutchin, Kentucky's star left half and field general, is not only a triple-threat in the sense of passing, running and kicking, but in point of potentiality as well. He has tallied this fall by across-the-hole line gallops, punts after touchdowns and even kicked a field goal against Vanderbilt to give Kentucky its first Homecoming win in 20 years.

These are instances where he himself coined the markers. To no into superlatives "Cutch" could be called a quadruple-threat in tally tactics, for his passing accounts for many Wildcat six-pointers, is the Wildcats' most feared offensive weapon.

Has Scored 23 Points

Bryant's boys have tabbed 146 points to date, the Murray back has personally produced 23 of these, tossed for many more. He has scored in every game. In the Ole Miss opener he hit "Wah-Wah" Jones with a chuck into the end zone, kicked an extra point. Against Cincinnati he not only tally after touchdown, but passed the "Cats" downfield on several occasions. Viewers remember his great toe-work, for he converted no less than seven tries for extra points, also kicked across once. At Georgia he scored for Kentucky after only two minutes and 49 seconds on a line back added a second try.

His Homecoming exhibition outshine any previous effort, however, as he had a hand in all scoring, his field goal won the game. A pass had sent the Wildcats ahead, his extra point attempt was good. His consecutive scoring record was maintained in Montgomery last Saturday when he added a tally after Bill Chambers' 65 yard run. A dislocated finger received in his usual air game.

One of Kentucky's best backs before Army duty, Paul garnered quite a bit of grid glory while in service. He was commissioned at Fort Benning after advanced ROTC work here, played on the Benning team coached by Major Gene Myers, former UK freshman coach and ROTC instructor who is local sporting goods salesman now. A backfield buddy at Benning by the way, was Tommy Owen, Vanderbilt quarter-back who directed the Commodores' almost successful bid here two weeks ago.

Soldier Griddler, Too

Overseas Cutchin was a starter on the Third infantry regiment eleven based at Darmstadt, Germany, which won 10 straight schedules starts before losing to the 71st division, 20-6, in a post-season clash. Two pre-war gridriders, Dick Webb of Lexington and Harry Taylor of Cynthiana, were teammates at Darmstadt. Webb, enrolled in the University now but not participating in football, was a tackle. Taylor, a two-year letterman at a "Cent", also blanked on the team. "Names" on the squad were Tommy Mott, who coached the squad and who is now starring at Maryland, and Jack Mitchell, Oklahoma's great back who recently went the full 60 minutes against Army's grid squad.

The 71st division had won eight, best one and tied one in season play. Sam Bartholomew, Tennessee All-American, coached the eleven which listed such standouts as Mott.

'Hurlin' Harry' Stars In Tide's 21-7 Triumph; Chambers Runs 65 Yards For Only 'Cat Score

By Baxter Melton
Kernel Sports Editor

"Glimes" is a brief but accurate story of Kentucky's second defeat, for it was he who almost single-handedly engineered Alabama's 21-7 victory last Saturday in Montgomery's Cranton Bowl. A crowd of 22,500, largest ever at any sports event in Bama's capitol city, saw the contest in the home of the annual North-South attraction.

The somewhat facetious to call the Rose Bowl champions a "one-man team" but without Mr. G's offensive punch the Tide would be just another average Southeastern eleven doing its chores every Saturday. The Crimson line was better against Kentucky than Vanderbilt's rock-like forwards—that from no less an authority than Coach Paul Bryant—but "Hurlin' Harry" does all the passing, darts near all the kicking and a considerable share of the running. Against the Wildcats he tallied the first touchdown in the second quarter on a thrust through center to score standing up. A few moments later, with the ball on Kentucky's 37-yard line, he tossed to Hugh Morrow who ran across the end zone.

"Wah-Wah" Jones and Dick Hensley "ended" many Tide runs at the ends last Saturday, have starred on offense and defense all fall. (Photo by LoCoco).

Chambers Score

Coach Bryant converted the trio of tries for the extra points.

The "Boys in Blue" counted their only six-pointers when Bill Chambers intercepted a Glimer aerial on his 35, behind good blocking reared down the right side to score. Cutchin converted. Except for Glimer's great exhibition, the game was a brilliant defensive battle between the lines. End Ted Cook played a great game for the victors on offense and defense alike. He grabbed several Glimer tosses, brought many a "Cat" runner to earth. Lowell Tew and Gordon Pettus got away for nice gains. Norwood Hodges at fullback did little ball-toting, but starred in stopping "Cat" advances.

Kentucky, as Coach Bryant points out, played a better game in the second half. Freshmen like Bill Bolter, Carl Genio and Jimmy Babb were under great pressure in playing against veterans like the "Bama boys," turned in fine performances. Dick Hensley and "Wah-Wah" Jones were their usual good selves at the flanks. Jones caught several passes with Tidemen all around. The "Bear" was pleased with Wildcat kicking: Bill Blanda kept the Red Elephants on their side of mid-field many times with long punts. Jay Rhodemyre's pivot play was outstanding. "Wah" Serini was good at tackling. Phil Cutchin, Wildcat scoring ace, was injured early, saw little action.

Breaks Help Bama

Alabama deserved the victory, but two breaks played a big part in the win before he could stop himself.

Coach Bryant believes Kentucky's lack of good blocking—"We just didn't have any," he says—and tackling was the difference. Best development, he recalls, is that the Wildcats got better as the game progressed.

ter with Bama on its own 27. Gilmore quick-kicked on second down, the ball rolled to Kentucky's six, the "Cats" were so surprised by the strategy, had no man in safety. Blanda punted to the Crimson 49, Gordon returned to Kentucky's 39 to start at goal gallop.

The last Tide tally was set up by a "Cat" penalty for unnecessary roughness. Morrow had intercepted a Boller heave, returned to the Blue thirty-three. Glimer shot a bullet pass to Jim Corbit who ran to the eighteen. Glimer's next toss to Hodges fell incomplete, but Hensley ran into Hodges after the ball had fallen, thus the decision. Press box observers agreed that Hensley's momentum for an intended tackle of Hodges caused the incident, but the officials didn't see it that way. Hensley didn't tackle Hodges, ran into him before he could stop himself.

Coach Bryant believes Kentucky's lack of good blocking—"We just didn't have any," he says—and tackling was the difference. Best development, he recalls, is that the Wildcats got better as the game progressed.
