ALUMNI NOTES

B. W. Young, '99, is general manager of the New Netherlands American Mortgage Bank and the New International Mortgage Bank of Spokane, Wash.

Dr. Drew Lutten, '01, is a physician in St. Louis, Mo. He holds, also, the position of associate professor of clinical medicine at the Washington University School of Medicine.

Dr. J. Harry Clo, '04, is living in Baldwin, L.I. He is a physicist and consulting engineer.

Lauren S. O'Roark, '10, is assistant director of publications for the Bell Laboratories, Inc., New York City.

Guy A. Huguélet, '14, is attorney for the Consolidated Coach Corporation of Lexington, Ky.

Samuel J. Caudill, '16, is a consulting petroleum engineer in Tulsa, Okla. He received his M.S. degree from Pennsylvania State College in 1918.

Carl M. Bettinger, '16, is owner and director of the Casper Clinical and Chemical Laboratory, Casper, Wyo.

John H. Atkerson, '22, is county agricultural agent for Allen County, Ky. He lives at Scottsville.

Bart N. Peak is secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at the University. Bart is no longer an "ex," as he received his A.B. degree from the University in June.

Mary Cooper, '25, is head of the Math Department at Pikeville College, Pikeville, Ky.

Catherine P. Hanly, '24, is director of health education of the Central Dairy Council of Louisville, Ky.

Wayland Rhoads, '15, is with the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station as field agent in animal husbandry. He owns a farm near Lexington.

Charles Lee Morgan, '18, is head of the poultry division of Clemson Agricultural College, Clemson College, S.C.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Murphy (Joan Robinson '25) are living on Franklin Avenue in Lexington.

Miss Margaret M. Reynolds, '24, has moved to 408 West Short Street, Lexington.

Some of the class secretaries of the 3 and 8 classes have already started writing letters and urging classmates to return in June. The answers received have been very encouraging and we believe they will have a "goodly gathering" when June rolls around.

We hope that the members of the Chicago Club noticed that the Wildcat Basketball team plays in Chicago on December 30. All Chicago alumni should be interested in this contest. It is a real treat to watch Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcat basketekers in action.

Kansas alumni will be interested to know that the 'Cats will play Kansas at Lawrence on January 9.

The Agricultural Experiment Station

The University of Kentucky Agricultural Experimental Station at Lexington was established in connection with the College of Agriculture, in 1885 in accordance with an Act of Congress and an Act of the Legislature of the State of Kentucky, "for the establishment and maintenance of Agricultural Experiment Stations in connection with Agricultural Colleges established by the several states and territories under an Act of Congress approved July 2, 1862."

DEAN THOMAS P. COOPER
Director of Experiment Station

The University of Kentucky Experiment Station was supplemented in 1924-25 by the establishment of two sub-stations, one in western Kentucky near the city limits of Princeton in Caldwell county and one at Quicksand, in eastern Kentucky, consisting of 15,000 acres of land in Breathitt, Perry and Knott counties, a donation to the University by Mr. E. O. Robinson of Ft. Thomas, Ky. These property holdings in eastern Kentucky were supplemented shortly thereafter by a deed to ten acres of land comprising practically the entire town site of Quicksand, a gift of Mr. Miles Back of Quicksand, who "desired to give this land to be of benefit to the people of the mountain districts of Kentucky."

The western Kentucky Sub-Station now consists of 519 acres about one mile from Princeton, the location having been selected by the director of the Experiment Station 400 acres of which were donated by the citizens of Caldwell county. Much of the horticultural work of the Experiment Station has been carried on at this farm as well as extensive experiments in tobacco, grasses for pasture and forage and systems of effective soil building. The additional 119 acres on this tract was obtained through the purchase of 60 acres in 1925 and 59 acres in 1930.

Agricultural extension work is definitely allied with the Experiment Station and Sub-Stations at the University of Kentucky, and the 90 County Agents and 29 Home Demonstration Agents in the state not only carry the results of experimental evidence to many farmers, but in return bring to the Experiment Station the immediate needs of Kentucky agriculture.

The Experiment Station staff is composed of approximately 100 members including the Director at Lexington and the superintendents at Princeton and at Quicksand. Besides the administrative staff the departmental divisions at the Experiment Station consist of Agronomy, Animal Husbandry, Chemistry, Creamery License Section, Entomology and Botany, Farm Economics, Feed Control, Fertilizer Control, Home Economics, Horticulture and the Public Service Laboratory.

The Experiment Station farm in Lexington is composed of 570 acres offering a productive field for research and development, where farm management, cost of production, studies in marketing and the economics of production are worked out. The Experiment Station is maintained through federal and University of Kentucky was constructed in 1904 and an addition was made in 1913. Contained in this building are the offices, laboratories and library furnishing facilities for the work of the Experiment Station proper, also Agricultural teaching and Agricultural Extension.

An insectory and greenhouse just back of the Experiment Station is used by the departments of Agronomy and Chemistry for experimental work, while the Dairy Products building is used by several departments of the College of Agriculture and the Experiment Station. The Animal Husbandry group occupies the Stock Judging Pavilion while the serum laboratory contains the offices and laboratories of the department of Animal Pathology.

The Experiment Station at Lexington and the Sub-Stations at Princeton and at Quicksand have made excellent progress each year in the development of various experimental processes, and are offering the farmer a service which he could not, as an individual, afford to carry on.

In this day of increased agricultural competition and of an almost constant succession of new problems of soil, plant and animal life, farm organization and the economic phases of agriculture, research and investigation offer the only method of effective progress.

Thus the University of Kentucky, through its Experiment Station and Sub-Stations, uses practical application to illustrate to its citizens the advantages of new methods worked out through research and experience.

Editorials

EDITOR'S NOTE: Believing that much of the Student criticism of the Athletic Situation at the University may be justified, and that much good will result if the student requests are given the proper consideration, we reprint herewith the editorials from The Kentucky Kernel, student paper, so that interested Alumni may follow the developments.

ATHLETIC INVESTIGATION

In an effort to bring the athletic council and the athlete closer to the student body and to the university itself, The Kernel after a careful investigation of the situation, has determined to publish a series of constructive editorials. Dissatisfied with the aloofness and the alien attitude of those who mould the athletic destiny of the school, The Kernel desires to clarify the situation and place it on a student-owned basis.

It is with malice toward no certain individual or group that this action and investigation is being conducted. However, the impetus behind the inquiry may bring forth startling facts concerning the disassociation and lack of personal touch between athletics and the student body.

In perfect candor The Kernel wishes its position clearly understood. As the organ of the student body, it has the privilege of conducting such an investigation and bringing to light any alleged alienation of athletics from the school. The Kernel will play fairly and squarely. Watch for these editorials. From Kernel, December 2.

IN THE BALANCE

With the howl of "Wolves" attaining a death-thirsting pitch as they savagely circle their prey, with student opinion viciously divided concerning the soundness of the incumbent system of athletic management, and with associates and employees of the athletic department struggling vigorously in the middle of the fray, the university athletic situation has reached a crisis. At this time the issue cannot be avoided. Questions involved must be settled one way or the other.

With the publication last Friday of an editorial titled "Athletic Investigation" The Kernel announced its intention of beginning a series of utterances dealing with the athletic situation. Its policy, in opening this discussion was a constructive one, designed with the stated intention of bringing athletics and the student body to closer union.

Its writings were to be discriminate but impartial. And, at the time, no controversial statements were made.

With the publication of its initial discussion, however, The Kernel found its policy misconstrued and aligned through oblique logic with the sentiments of "Wolves" howling for the "kill" of Coach Gamage. Tuesday, therefore, The Kernel found it necessary to clarify the misinterpretation placed on its utterances, and, at the same time, to withdraw from the specific discussion which it had intended to promote.

Today, however, the situation is different. The turmoil centering about the head of Coach Harry Gamage cannot and must not be overlooked. The Kernel feels that, at this time an avoidance of its particular, and previously outlined editorial campaign is most wise. On the other hand, silence concerning the present issue would be less wise.

With this in mind The Kernel has determined to redirect the course of its previously planned campaign, seek out the causes and motives behind the much bruited charges of inefficiency, incompetence, and isolation of the present system of athletic management, determine the truthfulness, the soundness of the basis of these charges, and promote necessary reorganization of the athletic system. And this investigation will be pushed to its end.—From Kernel December 9.

PRESIDENT'S PLAN

An Editorial

Reflecting the present prime focus of student interest, The Kernel, Friday, in an editorial titled "In the Balance," determined to pursue its investigation of the athletic system. Only through such an impartial review of facts will the student body become aware of the true nature of the situation and be given sound basis on which to found their conclusions and exercise their judgment.

Doubtlessly there are deficiencies in the present organization of the system. If there are not, there would be no rumbles of discontent, no charges of incompetence and inefficiency bruited about the campus. But the true nature of these deficiencies, the seriousness of their import, and their ultimate correction can be brought about only by a ferreting out of facts and through the exercise of constructive recommendations realized as the result of such an investigation.

President McVey, meeting Monday with student representatives and members of the press, heartily endorsed The Kernel's policy, definitely assured students that an investigation will be conducted, and proposed the setting up of an impartial and authorized committee to handle the investigation. To the end that the student body might be made more clearly aware of the nature of that investigation and the athletic situation, the president has called a general convocation at 11 a. m. Thursday. Students interested in university athletics will be afforded an opportunity of hearing the matter discussed.

Whether discussion of the particular case of Coach Harry Gamage will be offered at this time is debatable. Unquestionably there is campus sentiment against the retention of Coach Gamage in his present capacity. Nevertheless, just how strong is this sentiment against Coach Gamage is questionable. Students attending the convocation not only may be able to learn of the president's plan but also may be able to determine the course of the University in its future dealing with Mr. Gamage.

Coach Gamage has a legal contract authorizing his position at the University. The Kernel will be one of the last agencies to ask that the University break its faith with Mr. Gamage. At the same time, if the matter is discussed, if students are allowed to voice their views, conclusions concerning Coach Gamage's particular case may be more justly drawn. Whether Mr. Gamage's particular case be voiced or not. The Kernel feels that the president's plan is most commendable, and that the student body might learn of his plan. It urges all students to attend the convocation.—Ky. Kernel, December 13.

MEN'S COUNCIL SEEKS TO RETIRE FOOTBALL COACH

A resolution asking that the athletic council of the university request the resignation of Head Coach Harry Gamage was passed December 12th by the Men's Student council. The meeting was called by John Ewing, president of the group and the resolution was presented by Harry Lair.

The resolution, which follows, asks the athletic council to call for the resignation of Gamage because of his policies and attitude toward the team, students, and alumni.

Be it resolved that we, the student council of the University of Kentucky, acting for the University in behalf of the student body, do hereby apply for the resignation of Coach Gamage from the team.

Be it further resolved that we hereby condemn the policy of Coach Gamage and respect the wishes of the members of the student body.

And, we believe that the student body will be made more clearly aware of the nature of that investigation and the athletic situation, the president has called a general convocation at 11 a. m. Thursday. Students interested in university athletics will be afforded an opportunity of hearing the matter discussed.

Whether discussion of the particular case of Coach Harry Gamage will be offered at this time is debatable. Unquestionably there is campus sentiment against the retention of Coach Gamage in his present capacity. Nevertheless, just how strong is this sentiment against Coach Gamage is questionable. Students attending the convocation not only may be able to learn of the president's plan but also may be able to determine the course of the University in its future dealing with Mr. Gamage.

Kentucky, feeling that we are acting for the best interests of the University, request that you, in behalf of the student body, apply for the immediate resignation of Harry Gamage as head coach of the University football team.

Be it further resolved that we condemn the policies followed by Coach Gamage in the past in respect to his attitude towards members of the team, the students, and alumni of the school.

And, be it further resolved that we believe that each additional day he remains in his present capacity at the University will react detrimentally to the welfare of the university throughout the state.

Coach Gamage has just finished his sixth year as head coach and has another year to complete a five year contract that he signed prior to the opening of the 1929 football season. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois.—Ky Kernel, December 13.

BROWN TO HEAD CITY FARM CREDIT BRANCH

John E. Brown, '03, Shelbyville farmer and president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, was named by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to be manager of the Louisville branch of the regional Agricultural Credit Corporation, according to a dispatch from Washington.

Mr. Brown, a former member of the Kentucky Legislature, is one of the largest general farmers in Shelby county. He introduced the Co-operative Marketing Act which provided the machinery under which the tobacco co-operative marketing associations and other marketing groups operate, while in the 1922 General Assembly. He is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and formerly was a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky.

OLD DOCUMENTS LOANED TO UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

Announcement was made recently that Miss Kathleen Mulligan had loaned to the University library books and miscellaneous documents from the collection of Judge James Hilary Mulligan.

Many old and valuable books are included in the collection. In addition to books and documents, the collection includes a pair of black leather slippers worn by Robert Louis Stevenson and given by Stevenson to Judge Mulligan. Judge Mulligan, while American consul at Samoa, became a personal friend of Stevenson.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following we offer the hunter to spend this money with us?

Favorable Climate

Pennsylvania is confronted with the same problems that Kentucky faces in regard to mines. Kentucky is particularly fortunate insofar as climate, feed and cover are concerned, and these three things are essential in the life of any living thing, be it man, beast, bird or aquatic life.

The trouble in Kentucky is the lack of co-operation among our people in trying to perpetuate our supply. Release a bear or deer in any county in our State and the chances are he will be dead before night.

Wild life in Kentucky is yours and mine. Let's all do our best to preserve it.

U. K. STATION FLOCK WINS HONORS

University of Kentucky sheep, raised on the Experiment Station farm, won two championships, two firsts, and several lesser awards at the international livestock exposition at Chicago, according to word received by Prof. E. S. Good, head of the department of animal husbandry of the College of Agriculture.

The championships were won on the yearling entries in the Cheviot and Hampshire classes. Other University awards were first and fourth prizes on Hampshire yearlings, first and third prizes on Cheviot yearlings and fifth prize on Cheviot lambs; second on Southdown yearlings, fourth on Southdown lambs, third on Southdown pen of lambs, and fourth on crossbred yearlings.

Twenty-five Southdowns, Hampshire Cheviots and crossbreds were entered by the University in the international exposition.

Last year the University flock carried off 21 prizes with 25 sheep entered. These included virtually all the major awards on Cheviots, and a number of high places in the Southdown, Hampshire and crossbred shows. In the past 10 years, the University has won a grand championship, two reserve grand championships, 15 championships, 17 reserve championships and a large number of first, second, and third prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton McConathy, Fayette county, are receiving congratulations on the birth of their third daughter, Martha Varnon.

By G. M. PATTERSON

A trip through Eastern Kentucky will convince any nature-loving individual of the wonderful opportunity we have in this section of our state, for the production of Big Game.

The terrain of this ideal territory is admirably suited for the production of the Virginia White-tail deer, the little Black Bear, and the Wild Turkey. The native deer has been exterminated, as has the bear, but we still have a few scattered droves of wild turkey in the following counties: Leslie, Clay, Owsley, Breathitt, Knott, Letcher, Perry, as well as in several other counties where they have been transplanted.

Wood-Loving Game

All of the above species of game, including the Ruffed Grouse (Native Pheasant) are lovers of wooded sections where they secure the major portion of their food, and where they find shelter from their natural enemies. Throughout this vast country, today, are thousands upon thousands of acres of cut over land, and innumerable patches of virgin timber where the woodsman's ax has not marred the magnificent giants of our forests. Leslie County alone can boast of having more acres of virgin forest than any county in the United States. With this golden opportunity at our door Kentuckians must not sit back and lose this heritage that has been enjoyed so long in our State.

When we glance over the records and see the progress that has been made in Pennsylvania in such a short time, it is hard to believe that during a thirteen day open season in 1931 there was a kill of ninety-three thousand deer in the Puritan state. What would this have meant to Kentucky? And how much revenue would it have left in Eastern Kentucky? We have thirteen million hunters in the United States, who will spend on an average of $50.00 each. What inducement can

Many Return For Homecoming

Despite the depression and a cold day, many old grads and former students of the University returned for Homecoming on November 12th. It will remain in our memory a gala day, one filled with happiness and excitement.

At 9 o'clock, alumni registered at the Alumni office. Many came in to sign their names and receive their Blue and White colors for the game. At 11 o'clock, many of them made tours of the campus and the fraternity houses to see the colorful decorations done in their honor. Alpha Gamma Rho and Kappa Kappa Gamma received the SuKy awards for the best decorated fraternity and sorority houses.

At noon, group luncheons were held. Many sororities and fraternities held luncheons honoring their alumni. Many of the alumni got together and held their own luncheons, recalling happenings of the past.

Then, at 2 o'clock, the game—and what a game! The Wildcats battled, fought, and held the mighty Tulane team until the last few minutes of play. All alumni felt that they had been amply repaid for their trip home when they saw Kercheval's beautiful 45-yard place kick put Kentucky in front of the Green Wave by a 3 to 0 count. But their hopes were crushed within a few moments, for Zimmerman, who received Kercheval's punt, made a touchdown on the next few plays. That was the best game the Wildcats played all year.

Immediately after the game, President and Mrs. McVey were at home to the members of the faculty and staff, the students, the alumni and friends of the University. This "at home" has come to be an annual custom at the University and one to which the alumni look forward.

At 9 p. m. the annual Homecoming dance was held in the Alumni gymnasium. Nearly a thousand alumni, students, and friends of the University attended this affair, which was most enjoyable. At midnight, festivities were closed.

Among those from out of town who attended the game were:

Jack Green, Mansfield, Ohio, '25; Hunter Green, Louisville, '27; Virginia Conroy, Mt. Sterling, '28; Henrietta Whitaker, Russellville, '31; James Lyne, Russellville, '32; Edward Rilev, Russellville, '32; P. W. Ordway, Murray, '30; Carlos Jago, Owensboro, '30; Bill Young, London, '31; Ken Larmee, Stearns, '31; Ed Hulett, Nicholasville, '29; Dorothy Linville, Versailles, '28.

HOMECOMING TEA

Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. McVey gave a beautiful tea Saturday afternoon at Maxwell Place, following the Kentucky-Tulane game.

Alumni, students, faculty and friends were welcomed by the hosts, who had with them in the receiving line, Gov. and Mrs. Ruby Laffoon, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Holman, Frankfort; Mrs. J. P. Nuckols, Madisonville; Dr. George Wilson, president of the Alumni Association, and Mrs. Wilson; Major and Mrs. B. E. Brewer.

Mrs. Paul McBraver, Mrs. Carey Spicer, Mrs. J. A. Estes, Mrs. Clifton Thompson Jr., Mrs. R. E. Proctor, Mrs. Elmer Gilb and Mrs. Birkett Lee Pribble presided at the candle-light tables, which held bouquets of pompom chrysanthemums.

Assisting in entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. James Morris and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Boggs, Huntington, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank McVey Jr., Misses Sarah Blanding, Betty Hulett, Helen King, Lulie Logan, Marguerite McLaughlin, Mr. James Shropshire, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Wavland Rhoads, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hillenmeyer, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Frankel, Mr. and Mrs. Maury Crutcher, Dr. and Mrs. G. Davis Buckner, Mr. and Mrs. Lee McClain, Mrs. T. R. Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Huguelet, Capt. and Mrs. Clyde Grady, Dean and Mrs. Edward Wiest, Dean and Mrs. W. S. Taylor.

FRATS DECORATE FOR HOMECOMING

The University of Kentucky Wildcats lost to Tulane, but homecoming day was a success. Despite defeat and frigid weather, alumni, former and active students of the University had a big time.

Through efforts of the alumni association, a full schedule of activities had been arranged for the entertainment of the hundreds of old grads who returned to their alma mater for the day's celebration.

Former students from as far north as New York state and as far south as Louisiana were among the thousands who agonized when the Green Wave rolled over the Wildcats.

In addition to the game, outstanding events of the day were the judging of the best-decorated Greek letter fraternity and sorority houses, the presentation of a silver cup to the longest-whiskered student, the alumni tea at the home of President and Mrs. Frank L. McVey at Maxwell Place, the president's home on the campus; group luncheons of fraternity and sorority members, and the alumni dance in the University men's gymnasium.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority house at 179 east Maxwell street, and the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity house at 331 Aylesford place were awarded first prizes for the best decorated Greek-letter houses in the contest sponsored by SuKy, University student pep organization. No sorority or fraternity was permitted to spend more than $20 in its decorations.

The Kappa house was transformed into the little red school house of the "school daze" era, with a wide board fence fronting the structure. Eccentric drawings, including animated cartoon characters, ornamented the house.

An effigy of Don Zimmerman, Tulane star, formed a toothsome morsel for a "Kentucky stew" brewed by cannibals at the Alpha Gamma Rho house. The cannibals were darkies, dressed in the style of the African natives, and a real fire burned under the brewing cauldron. Bones of past victims of the University Wildcats and caged Tulane players in green uniforms flanked each side of the steaming kettle.

Judges for the best decorated houses were Prof. R. D. McIntyre, of the College of Commerce, and City Manager Paul Morton.

Harold S. Ray, Independence, senior engineer at the University, had the distinction of growing the longest beard in the SuKy beard-growing contest. He was presented a silver cup and was given a free shave by Barber J. T. Shuck, 1111 Crescent avenue, on Stoll field between the halves.

Alumni to Sponsor Broadcasts

On January 6, 1933 the Alumni Association will begin a new custom—that of broadcasting to the alumni of the University.

For a long time, we have felt that our alumni should be in closer touch with their Alma Mater. We have tried to bring this about through our clubs, through the Kentucky Alumnus, and through numerous other channels. However, as the clubs and the Alumnus reach only a limited number of people, it was decided to formulate some plan that would be accessible to a larger percentage of former students. After due consideration, it was decided that the best plan would be to sponsor a series of radio programs, broadcast to the alumni of the University of Kentucky.

For these programs we have tried to choose outstanding faculty members and alumni, as well as people who are versed in the art of public speaking. We feel that the varied programs will be of interest to everyone.

Our first broadcast will be on January 6, when President McVey will speak on "Greetings to University of Kentucky Graduates Everywhere." The president's message will be not only to graduates but to all former students of the University.

On January 23, Dean F. Paul Anderson will give an address titled, "Word Portraits of Campus Personalities." Dean Anderson's talk will include such men as President James K. Patterson, Dr. Joseph Kastle, Mr. Joseph Dicker, Mr. Jack Neville, and others.

February sees Prof. George Roberts, '99, stepping to the microphone to talk about "Those Good Old Days." Professor Roberts proposes telling of the pranks that were played on the different profs, and the many things that happened in the good old days. Some of these stories will make the present day student think that his campus life is quite dull and uninteresting. Many of the younger generation will wish that they too could have shared in the fun of the "Good Old Days."

Mrs. Ben H. Collings (Bess Haydon) '10, of Louisville, will greet us on February 20 speaking on "My Campus and Your Campus." Mrs. Collings will talk of the campus of 1910 and compare it with the campus of today. This talk will include reminiscences of school days.

On March 6, James Park, '15, will talk on athletics at the University. His talk will contain reminiscences about football of the past and will tell of some of the present day players. This program will be of interest to all because it will be told in an interesting manner, with a dash of present day pep and philosophy.

Dean W. S. Taylor, '12, will conclude the series of radiocasts on March 20, when he will speak on "Alumni Loyalty." We know that there is no one person who can give this talk better than Dean Taylor for he is one of our most loyal alumni and he knows what faculties constitute loyalty to our University.

All of these programs will be given at 1 o'clock, central standard time, through WHAS, Louisville. This station is a powerful one and alumni throughout the country should be able to tune in on it. WHAS operates on a frequency of 820 kilocycles.

The Executive Committee and the speakers have given much time and thought to these programs. We hope that all of our alumni will listen in as they will derive some benefit from each talk.

VALUABLE PAPERS RECEIVED BY UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

Students and University graduates of Kentucky history will be interested in the announcement that the "Calk papers," including the journal kept by William Calk on his journey with four companions from Virginia to Kentucky in 1775, have been made available for photostatic reproduction to the University of Kentucky library by Mr. and Mrs. Price Calk and family, direct descendants of William Calk, who still lives at the old palace in Montgomery family where their pioneer ancestor settled.

The collection has been kept intact, and includes letters, accounts, contracts, notes, wills, land warrants and land grants, and is an invaluable and interesting collection. The University of Kentucky library has recently made arrangements with the family to make photostatic copies of these papers for permanent preservation, and they will be on display in one of the library cases in the near future. Mrs. Price Calk came to Lexington, bringing with her the old tin box in which these family treasures are kept, and personally supervised the photostating of the more interesting of the manuscripts.

In addition to the famous journal, the collection contains a plat of the town of Boonesborough, with a list of the lot owners, a copy of the petition drawn up by the settlers requesting that Boonesborough be made the permanent capital of the state, and the names of the persons subscribing funds for this purpose. Another journal, relating a trip from Boonesborough to New Orleans by boat in 1904, and "Rules for Training Horses," are among other interesting material.

Two documents stand out by reason of their human interest. One is a letter from Sarah Wiggenton, in Safford County, Virginia, to Mrs. William Calk, September 6, 1783, in which she says, "I should be mighty glad to hear from you, but much more so to see you; but the distances is so great that I never expect to see you again." The other is a contract dated January 10, 1803, between William Calk, Jr., and Jilson Payne, David Barrow and Jesse Daniel, Trustees for the Lulbergrad School, to teach at said schoolhouse "Reading, Writing, and Arithmetic," to such children as should be put in his charge. He was to be paid therefore, for one year, six dollars for each scholar, "one-fourth cash, the other three-fourths, cattle, sheep, pork, wheat or rye, linnen, sugar, salt, dressed flax or hemp, corn, leather." We read further that the "Standard for pronunciation shall be Sheridan dictionary and Webster spelling book."

The University library is fortunate in having been granted the privilege of preserving in a usable form these valuable old papers for the benefit of future students and users of the library. This was made possible by the acquisition this year of a photostat machine by which facsimile reproductions can be made at small cost. This machine was bought primarily for the use of the Registrar's office as an economy measure for the reproduction of student's records, but it is available for use by other departments of the University. More than 100 separate pieces of the Calk collection have been reproduced in this manner and are the property of the University library.

60 TO GET DEGREES AT MID-YEAR FINALS

Approxiamtely 60 students will receive degrees from the University of Kentucky at mid-year commencement exercises in January, according to Prof. M. E. Ligon, chairman of the commencement committee. The date of the exercises and the commencement speaker will be announced in the next few days.

Members of the commencement committee are Prof. Ligon, Dean Sarah Blanding, Prof. Ezra Gillis, Major B. E. Brewer, Prof. W. L. Roberts, Prof. R. D. McIntyre, Prof. Flora LeStourgeon, Prof. Eda Giles, and Prof. Brinkley Barnett.

CO-ED BUILDING IS NEARLY READY

The woman's building on the University of Kentucky campus, which will be the center of all co-ed activities on the campus, will be ready for occupancy about Dec. 15, Miss Sarah Blanding, dean of women, announced recently.

The co-ed center will be housed in the old Patterson residence, the home of the late Dr. James Kennedy Patterson, for 41 years president of the University. Following his death in 1922, Prof. Walter K. Patterson, the president's brother, occupied the house until his death last summer.

The house, a two-story brick structure, is being redecorated for use of the women students. President Frank L. McVey has appointed Miss Lillian Lindemberger as director of the house. She will be assisted by a committee of faculty women students.

President Patterson's home was built in 1882, one of the structures which went up at the time the first building of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky was constructed on the present campus. This house, together with the Administration building, White hall, and the old heating plant, composed the original building program. The Patterson residence is architecturally typical of the houses of that period, is substantially built and is located in the center of the campus.

The lower floor of the co-ed center will be devoted to general use by women students, and will be divided into lounge rooms, committee rooms and the Y. W. C. A. headquarters. The second floor will be used as meeting rooms by the women's organizations such as the Women's Student Government Association, Women's Administrative Council and others, while all the professional and honorary sororities will have meeting rooms assigned them.

AGENTS HOLD MEETING AT U. K. STATION

Agricultural and home demonstration agents from approximately 100 Kentucky counties attended the annual agricultural extension workers' conference at the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky recently. Field agents and members of the faculty of the College of Agriculture also attend-

Most of the conference was devoted to technical discussions of county and home agent work and of the extension program of the College of Agriculture. General sessions were held in the morning, but home agents met in separate sessions in the afternoons.

Dr. William J. Hutchins, president of Berea College, addressed the conference, speaking on the subject, "The Value of Education Is Never Depressed." He was followed at 10 o'clock by Dr. C. W. Warburton, director of extension work in the United States department of agriculture.

SAITO SPEAKS AT GENERAL CONVOCATION

Hirosi Saito, Charge d'Affaires of the Japanese Embassy at Washington, D. C., was the guest of the University of Kentucky, December 9, at which time he addressed a general convocation of students, met with faculty and graduate groups and was the guest of the International Relations class of the University at a dinner meeting. He spoke on the "Far Eastern Situation."

The convocation was scheduled for 10 o'clock in the morning, and the afternoon was given over to group meetings, while in the evening he addressed the International Relations class.

Mr. Saito is one of the ablest of the younger men in Japanese diplomatic service, and for a number of years held the important post of Japanese Consul General in New York. He has been head of the Intelligent Bureau of the Foreign office in Tokyo and also legal counselor of the Japanese Embassy in London, from which post he was recently transferred to Washington, to assume charge of the Embassy during the absence in Japan in Ambassador Debuchi.

STROLLER BANQUET

Stroller Alumni Association held its annual dinner meeting following the Homecoming game at the Lafayette hotel, when guests of honor were the cast and stage crew of "The Admiral Crichton," 1921 Stroller performance.

Mr. Winston Ardery is president of the active chapter, and the officers of the alumni are Mr. Herndon J. Evans, Pineville; Mr. Emory L. Frazier, Whitesburg, and Mr. Robert Mitchell, Louisville.

"SHIPWRECK" KELLY BACK FROM NEW YORK

John Sims ("Shipwreck") Kelly, former University of Kentucky football star, returned to Lexington recently from New York City where he had been confined by illness, which he incurred while playing professional football with the New York Giants. Kelly was confined to the Roosevelt hospital in New York by rheumatic fever.

KANSAS CLUB NEWS

(Editors Note: The following letter was received recently by President McVey from J. A. Yates, '90, Pittsburg, Kansas. We publish it in full.)

President F. L. McVey
University of Kentucky
Lexington, Kentucky

My dear President McVey:

A group of the Kentucky alumni who live in Kansas met on the evening of November 5 at the Jayhawk Hotel in Topeka, Kansas. We spent a most enjoyable evening talking over experiences at the University during our time as students and some later experiences.

A year ago we formed an organization, agreeing to meet once a year. This was our second meeting, and we had a number present who did not meet with us at our first meeting. Blakely, who is our president, graduated about '80, and the class of '90 was represented. These were the two oldest classes to be represented. Several different professions were represented, as teachers, lawyers, newspapers, and business.

The group placed upon me the duty of writing you, since I was the last one present to attend the University, to express to you our loyalty to our alma mater and to say that in our opinion the trying times through which the university is passing will soon pass by, and brighter days will come, and the University will move forward to a much larger service than it has yet been able to render.

The group also wish me to tell you that we greatly enjoyed Dr. Adams, who was with us last year, and to ask you or any of your faculty to stop and visit us, if passing through Kansas.

Our long distance from the University, and our comparatively small number probably binds us closer together and strengthens our love for our alma mater. Each of us earnestly wishes that it were in his power to be of some real help to it.

Very truly yours,
J. A. YATES

CHICAGO CLUB

On November 19th the Northwestern University Alumni Club of Chicago had as their guests the presidents of seventeen alumni clubs of the city. The alumni clubs of the following universities were represented: Illinois, Georgia Tech., Minnesota, Chicago, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Tulane, Purdue, Michigan, North Dakota, Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Kansas, John Hopkins, Ohio, Nebraska, and North Carolina. It fell to the lot of the secretary of the Chicago Alumni club of U. of Ky. to attend this splendid annual affair. The occasion was the Northwestern-Iowa game; the meeting place was the luxurious North Shore Hotel, located in Evanston, just around the corner from the University. Luncheon was served promptly at twelve o'clock. After the luncheon all were driven in special cars to Dyche Stadium where they sat in a body in the choicest seats afforded by the stadium. It was a crisp day, just right for football, and a wonderful time was enjoyed by all. We are very anxious that all Kentucky alumni know of the very nice spirit of the Chicago chapter of the Northwestern alumni in holding this annual get-together for the presidents of the different university alumni clubs in Chicago.

The Kentucky Society of Chicago, the Kentucky Society of Evanston, and the North Shore, the Kentucky Society of the South Side, and the University of Kentucky Alumni of Chicago held their annual dinner dance at the Knickerbocker Hotel on the evening of November 19. Entertainment was furnished by stars from radio station WLS chief among them being the famous blind pair of singers, Mack and Bob. Dancing and bridge comprised the balance of the diversions for the evening. The crowd this year was much smaller than in past years, but the evening was enjoyably spent, nevertheless.

(Signed:) E. B. BOSTEN,
Secretary.

UNIVERSITY GRADUATE HONORED BY SOCIETY

William Frazer, a university graduate, has been honored by the acceptance of one of his etchings, "The Vigil," by the Society of American Etchers, according to Prof. Edward Fisk of the University art department, who was Frazer's instructor.

The etching will be hung in the National Arts club exhibition in New York city together with the work of a number of American professional etchers.

William Frazer was a student under Professor Fisk here several years ago. Two of his etchings which were published in "Letters", university literary publication, last year, were awarded the prize offered by the magazine for the best contribution.

Two years ago Miss Mildred Shute, who also studied at the University under Professor Fisk, won national recognition when a work of hers received the first award in the College Art Association exhibit in New York.

TEACHER, EXPIRES

W. L. Pennington, mathematics teacher at the Louisville Male High school, died of a heart attack at 9:35 o'clock Saturday morning, December 10. Mr. Pennington, who was 60 years old, was stricken while having his shoes shined at the Re-Nu Shoe Shop, 662 South Fourth Street, and died in a police ambulance on the way to the City hospital. Identification was established by George T. Ragsdale, who is also a member of the school's faculty.

Mr. Pennington had been at the high school since 1920. Prior to that time, he was principal of the Mayfield High school three years, an instructor at the Owensboro High school seven years, and also taught in other schools in Kentucky and Georgia. He was born in Bigstone, Ky., and received a Bachelor of Arts Degree at the University of Kentucky in 1901, and a Master of Arts degree at the University of Indiana.

WILDCATS RECEIVE HONORABLE MENTION

Two Kentucky players, Ralph Kercheval and Joe Rupert received honorable mention on the Associated Press all-American football team. Kercheval and Rupert have been written up by many sports writers as two of the finest players in the South.

Kercheval and Pug Bach were among the high scorers of the South, according to an associated press dispatch.

In a summary of observations on the football season, George Kirksey says that Ralph Kercheval is one of the best punters in the land. Kirksey is sports writer for the United Press.

By NIEL PLUMMER

Coach Adolph Rupp, Kentucky's genial basketball coach, is once again busy putting together another polished Wildcat quintet to carry on the reputation of the University of Kentucky for brilliant basketball play. Practices are being held daily in the Alumni gymnasium on Euclid avenue and his squad of 15 players include some of the best talent ever to represent the University.

Headed by Capt. Forest Sale, all-American forward of last season, a majority of the candidates for this year's team, reported for practice in October, and these were joined in December by the players who took part in football. Rivalry for every position on the team is spirited, and each practice session brings out sparkling bits of basketball play.

However, the Wildcats will need every bit of talent they possess as they plunge into their 21-game schedule which finds them meeting two representatives of the Big Ten, one member of the West Virginia conference, one S. I. A. A. team, 14 Southern conference teams, playing two games with Creighton University at Omaha and meeting the national champions of Mexico at Lexington. This is one of the most ambitious schedules ever arranged for the Wildcats and it will take a lot of fight to maintain the Rupp-games during the last two years.

Last season Coach Rupp's team swept through 15 consecutive games, swamping all opposition until the last game of the season. At this point for the second consecutive year a "flu" epidemic hit the Blue and White camp and Vanderbilt came to Lexington to avenge a 61 to 35 licking that had been given them at Nashville by the Wildcats. The resulting 31 to 30 score was the only loss on the Wildcat card for last season. In the Conference tournament the Blue and White reserves aided the ailing regulars through into the second rounds where North Carolina snatched a last second 43 to 42 victory over the 'Cats. It is to be remembered that the 'Cats lost in the finals the year before to Maryland, 29 to 28, when Berger sank two goals in the last 20 seconds of play.

This year the Wildcats are asking only that the flu stay away until after the tournament. With any kind of luck they hope to bring the championship to Kentucky as did that famous team back in 1921.

One of the interesting features of this year's Wildcat squad is the number of all-American players on hand. In fact, Coach Rupp can start a team composed of four all-Americans and one all-Southern. This team would line up like this:

Darby—forward, all-American scholastic of Ashland

Lawrence—forward, all-American scholastic of Corinth.

Sale—center, all-American Collegiate, Lawrenceburg

Johnson—guard, twice all-American scholastic, Ashland

Yates—guard, all-Southern, Elizabethtown.

Both Johnson and Sale are also all-Southern players. Johnson captained last season's team and is regarded as one of the greatest leaders in the South. Yates won his all-Southern rating year before last but did not play last year because of illness. He is rapidly rounding into the condition that made him one of the sensations of the 1930-31 basketball season.

Another unusual line-up that Coach Rupp could start would give the Wildcats an average height of nearly six feet, four inches, which would be quite a flock of giants. As a matter of fact, only five of the 15 members on the Wildcat squad are under six feet in height, and two of these are five feet, eleven inches.

This giant lineup would read something like this:

DeMoisey—forward, Walton, six feet, four inches

Tucker—forward, Cynthiana, six feet, one inch.

Sale—center, Lawrenceburg, six feet, four inches

Yates—guard, Elizabethtown, six feet, four inches

Yates—guard, Elizabethtown, six feet, four inches.

Kercheval—guard, Lexington, six feet, one inch.

Yet with all this height, there is plenty of reason to believe that every one of the smaller players will see plenty of action.

For example, there is Darrell Darby, the Ashland flash. Reporting for practice after a brilliant season on the football field, Darby immediately showed that he had lost none of his basketball cunning and he is likely to hold one of the forward positions that was his last season. Ellis Johnson is another good bet for a starting guard, and Bill Davis, of Hazard, a sophomore, seems determined to take the other guard for himself. "Dutch" Kreuter wants a forward position and is fighting for it...and that's the explanation of the rapid improvement of the Wildcat play.

But this is enough of these generalizations. Here is your introduction to some of the principal members of this year's Wildcat organization:

Forest "Aggie" Sale—Captain, senior, six feet, four inches, forward or center, all-American forward, third highest scorer in South last season, dangerous shot, Lawrenceburg, Ky.

John "Frenchy" DeMoisey—Junior, six feet, four inches, forward or center, excellent shot, Walton, Ky.

Darrell Darby—senior, forward, five feet, ten inches, fastest man on squad and hits from any place, is an all-American scholastic forward, played on Ashland, Ky., high school championship team.

Ellis Johnson—senior, guard, five feet, 11 inches, "finest general I've ever seen on the floor," (Coach Rupp) led last year's team, is an all-Southern guard, and was twice named all-American scholastic guard while at Ashland, Ky., high school.

Howard Kreuter—Junior, forward, five feet, 11 inches, fast and a good shot, Newport, Ky.

George Yates—Senior, six feet, four inches tall, all-Southern center two years ago, named captain but was out of school last season on account of illness. Working for a guard position this year, Elizabethtown, Ky., is his home.

L. B. Davis—Junior, six feet, one inch, forward, a good shot and a member of last year's tournament squad, home town is Lewisport, Ky.

Bill Davis—Sophomore, five feet ten inches, very likely to be a regular on this year's team, very fast and a good shot, plays guard, "spark plug of the offense," Hazard Ky.

Jack Tucker—Sophomore, six feet, forward, shows up best against a zone defense, showing up good. Cynthiana, Ky.

Dave Lawrence—Sophomore, six feet, forward, trying hard to come through, handles the ball well, Corinth, Ky.

Robert Jackson—Junior, six feet, was out of the school last year and is a surprise find at guard this season... a fine prospect to work with Johnson at guard, Lexington, Ky.

Evans Settle—Junior, five feet, 10 inches, gained a lot of experience last season and is working hard this year, Crab Orchard, Ky.

John Morris—Sophomore, six feet two inches, forward or center, good scorer and can be counted upon to do some good work with the Wildcats, Lexington, Ky.

C. D. Blair—Junior, six feet, two inches, forward, played a great deal last season and may make the grade this season... good at long shots. Ewing, Ky.

Ralph Kercheval—Junior, six feet one inch, guard, this is his first year out for the varsity, was regular center on the freshman team. Lexington, Ky.

Coach Adolph Rupp—is a graduate of the University of Kansas and is starting his third year at Kentucky. At Kansas he played on the 1921-22, and 23 teams. The '22 team lost only one game and the '23 team won all games. Rupp came to the University from Freeport, Ill.

ALUMNI PLAY VARSITY

Who says that Kentucky alumni are not loyal? We are finding out all the time just how loyal they are. When you find a group of young alumni who will "come through" when they are needed, then you know that they are standing back of their Alma Mater.

And that is just what happened on Friday, December 9th. A group of University graduates who had not been in training for several years, who had not even held a basketball for quite a while, went out on the gym floor at the University and put up a stiff battle against the varsity team.

It came about in this way: several weeks ago Coach Rupp decided that he would offer his basketball team to play a game, the Alumni Association to be the beneficiary. The question of what team the Wildcats would play arose. We conceived the idea of having an alumni team play, if we could get enough players to make a team. This problem was quickly solved for there are eleven former Wildcats living in and around Lexington, and when they were asked to play in a benefit game, they came out on the floor and did their best.

Those who played on the Wildcat Alumni team were "Spooks" Milward, Pisgah Combs, Baldy Gilb, Bill Trott, Bill Kleiser, Big McGinnis, Little McGinnis, Paul McBrayer, Carey Spicer, Larry Crump, and Len Miller. These eleven men did not know about the game in time to get any practice; they were out of training and they knew that the morning after the game they would be stiff and sore from so much hard playing, but they came out and played and, had they been better on their shots, the score would not have been one-sided, for the floor work of that Alumni team greatly resembled that of the great teams of two, three, and four years ago.

The Alumni quintet was defeated 52 to 17. The fact that they came out and played for their Alma Mater and the Alumni Association when they were so badly in need gives those who are doing the work a sense of security for they know that Kentucky Alumni will always "come through."

The editor, the secretary, members of the Executive committee, and members of the Alumni Association wish to express their great appreciation to the alumni team, the varsity team, and the freshman team, and to extend our thanks to Coach Adolph Rupp for his splendid co-operation and his aid to us in our financial difficulties. We wish also to thank Coach Len Miller for lending us his freshman team for the exhibition game played with the "B" Varsity.

Following is an account of the games:

The Kentucky Wildcats opened their basketball schedule by defeating an alumni team, 52 to 17, after the varsity "B" team had finished trimming the freshmen, 21 to 17, in a preliminary. Both games were played for the benefit of the University Alumni Association and approximately 1000 persons saw the two games.

Members of the Alumni squad were willing, but they couldn't stand the pace after being out of college for two or more years. With the exception of the McGinnis brothers, who have continued playing basketball with independent teams, the Alumni players were pretty well tuckered out after warming up.

Nevertheless, they gave the Wildcats just the sort of workout Coach Rupp probably wanted. The two McGinnis boys showed they are just about as good as they were when on the varsity. "Big" McGinnis, one of the best guards Kentucky ever produced, led the alumni scoring with seven points. In addition to that he played a perfect defensive game. While "Big Mac" was in the tussle, neither Darby nor Kreuter scored a single point.

Lack of practice told on the alumni. They had plenty of shots at the basket, but the players who once thrilled Lexington basketball fans with their baskets failed to connect.

"Frenchy" DeMoisey, varsity forward, displayed the value of constant practice. The elongated junior slipped six of his famous flip shots through the hoop to give the Wildcats such a great lead that the alumni had no chance to overcome the margin.

KERCHEVAL'S 45 YARD KICK FEATURES HOMECOMING DAY

For the second time this season a game, hard-fighting Kentucky eleven November 12 battled its heart out for a victory over one of the south's greatest football machines, sensed the exhilarating feeling of triumph, only to have its hopes crushed by the individual brilliance of one great player—Don Zimmerman. The final score was: Tulane, 6, Kentucky, 3.

November 12 was homecoming day at Kentucky and approximately 7,500 persons didn't quite fill the McClean stadium as the two teams filled four periods with as thrilling play as has been seen in Lexington in a long time.

They saw the Kentuckians keep Tulane's great offense, conquered only once since 1928, fairly well bottled up for almost three quarters. They saw Kercheval surpass his best kicking efforts of 1931 which made him an outstanding punter in the country... They thrilled when he booted a field goal from the 35-yard line to put Kentucky ahead... They cheered as Zimmerman lunged into the line or skirted ends... And they marveled at his speed and shiftiness when he returned a kick-off 62 yards in the last few minutes of play. That was the play that paved the way to Tulane's triumph.

Six members of that 1931 Tulane team which startled the football world with its amazing comeback against Southern California last New Year's Day were in the Tulane lineup that Saturday. With five others, perhaps just as good as the other five in the Rose Bowl game, these six New Orleans players charged the Kentucky defense for more than three quarters without causing the Wildcat stronghold more than momentary anxiety.

Dutchman in Action

But the Kentucky defense was not equal to that last, wild charge of the "Flying Dutchman" from the delta country. With less than five minutes of play left, Zimmerman swept down the sidelines for 62 yards to put the ball on Kentucky's 34-yard line, giving the Green Wave the chance it wanted to sweep on to victory.

Zimmerman traveled with the same swiftness and a more chilling effect (to the Kentuckians) than the wintry blasts that swept the stadium. It was the great Don Zimmerman justifying the reputation that preceded him to the Bluegrass. Every stride he took drove chills to the heart of the Kentucky stands. But it was Don Zimmerman pulling the game out of the fire for Tulane, just as he did against Georgia Tech in Atlanta last Saturday.

Great as he was, Zimmerman faced a pair of backs who made fitting foes. They were Ralph Kercheval and Ellis Johnson, of Kentucky. Seventeen times Johnson called on Kercheval to kick, and Kentucky's great punter responded with punts that traveled 50 yards regularly, 57 and 63 at times, and turned in an average of 43 yards for the afternoon.

Johnson to Rescue

Statistics show Johnson lost more yardage than he gained against the Green Wave, but the figures fail to show the courage with which he drove into that Green forewall which averaged almost 200-pounds. And it was Johnson, the last man in Zimmerman's path on the Flying Dutchman wide dash who hit the speeding ball carrier just hard enough to knock him off balance and cause Don to fall on Kentucky 34-yard line.

Nor were those backfield stars the only ones on the field. Each time the ball was placed on line of scrim-maged two forward walls of seven men faced each other, and fought a terrific battle that those stellar backs appreciated more than anyone else.

Breaks helped the Wildcats along in the first three quarters, but in that final period the Kentuckians as well as Tulane, earned everything they got.

As the fourth quarter opened Kercheval intercepted Zimmerman's pass, intended for Richardson, on the Wave's 48-yard line and returned it to the 44. On the first play Johnson shot one of the 19 passes he threw during the afternoon to Kercheval and the Wildcats made it a first down on Tulane's 19-yard line.

Kentucky couldn't do anything with its passes, and after one five-yard penalty Kercheval dropped back to his 33-yard line for an attempt at a field goal. The ball carried straight, but low, toward the mark. Another exchange of punts found Kentucky back on Tulane's 26-yard line unable to gain.

Kercheval dropped back this time to his 35, and with Darby holding the ball, sent the oval squarely to its mark, 45 yards away.

Wave's Fury Breaks

Then the fury of the Wave broke. Zimmerman ran the kick-off back to Kentucky's 34-yard line. Roberts gained six yards at right end. Zimmerman attempted a pass to Richardson and it was Tulane's ball on Kentucky's 17-yard line when the receiver suffered interference.

Zimmerman circled Kentucky's left end for eight yards. There was no stopping of that Wave. Roberts found a hole and eight more yards at left tackle, placing the ball on Kentucky's two-yard line. There was no doubt about the ball game being over. It was only a question of who would carry the ball across the line.

VOLUNTEERS DEFEAT KENTUCKY, 26-0

The University of Tennessee Volunteers atoned for four tie games by rolling up four touchdowns against the University of Kentucky Wildcats on Thanksgiving day at Knoxville. It was the worst defeat Kentucky has suffered in years.

Outside of the fact that some of the key men on the team were injured, no one can account for the overwhelming defeat. In the words of a Lexington Sports writer, the "Wildcat's claws turned to butter, their fangs were like mutton tallow in a flame." The Tennessee men clicked on every play of the game. Brackett's playing was outstanding and his return of Kercheval's punts brought to crowd to its feet.

When the final whistle blew, the score was chalked up Tennessee, 26,

Kentucky 0. The only period in which the 'Cats held the Volunteers was the first quarter. After that, the Vols began their smashing attack and the Kentucky men cracked. Their line could not stop that attack, nor could Kentucky break through the Tennessee wall when the 'Cats had possession of the ball.

End of Rasputin

In 1916, the Russian Imperial Court, confronted with reverses at the Front, restless conditions throughout the country, needed a great leader, drew instead a charlatan, Grigori Efimovitch Rasputin.

Combination medicine man, "mughik," priest, petty politician and lecher, Rasputin had literally lifted himself by his own boot straps from a lowly palet in a sod cottage in Pokrovskoe, Siberia, to the most ornate and elaborate beds in Imperial Russia. Endowed with an amazing personal magnetism, and an almost supernatural power over women, both bodies and souls, he is reputed to have repeatedly cured the puny hæmophilic Tsarevitch, thereby gaining complete control over the Czarina. Russia, guided from behind the scenes by the miracle worker from Pokrovskoe, steadily sledged down hill, while opposition to Rasputin crystallized in a powerful group of the nobility.

As TIME, had it been printed in December 1916, would have reported subsequent events:

As most Russians were on their way to bed one night last week, a closed car came to a stop at the side entrance of Prince Felix Yusupov's palace. Two heavily wrapped men hurried inside. One, tall, with unkempt beard and hair, dirty stained cloak, was Rasputin, Russia's mysterious power behind the throne. The other, slight, dapper, well dressed, was Prince Yusupov, husband of Grand Duchess Irina, most beautiful woman in Moscow.

For many months, lecherous Rasputin had heard of the beautiful Grand Duchess Irina, was especially delighted at the possibility of a private meeting with her. As the two entered a small downstairs dining room the Prince explained to Rasputin that his wife was entertaining friends, would join them soon.

While Yusupov listlessly strummed a guitar Rasputin consumed a plate full of small cakes, and in them enough cyanide of potassium to fell a squad of cossacks. Every minute expecting to see the Siberian priest pitch headlong onto the floor, Yusupov became unnerved, excused himself saying he would bring his wife.

Quickly getting a revolver from a friend upstairs, the Prince returned, shot Rasputin through the chest, immediately rushed back to his friends to revive his ebbing courage with a strong drink. Returning later with his friends, he found the room empty. In the middle of the snow covered court yard they found Rasputin, crawling, a trail of blood behind him. Frenzied, they shot and pummelled him into unconsciousness, tied his hands and legs. Throwing him into a car they drove to the Neva River, unceremoniously dumped the body in.

Three days police searched for the body while Yusupov at first protested innocence. Finally the body was recovered, the lungs filled with water, showing that Rasputin was alive when thrown into the water.

Yusupov finally admitted, then proudly boasted, of carrying out the assassination, and many rejoiced, but on the lips of Rasputin's followers is his oft repeated statement: "So long as I live, the Imperial Family will live, when I die, they will perish."

So, too, would TIME have reported how Yusupov was dismissed without punishment by the vacillating Czar; how, 5 months after Rasputin's death, Imperial Russia ceased to exist; how chaos followed turmoil, the Bolshevik coup d'etat followed chaos.

Section 2.—The secretary and treasurer may be one and the same person.

Section 3.—The officers shall hold office for one year or until a successor is elected.

Article VI Executive Committee

Section 1.—There shall be an executive committee which shall be composed of 12 members in good standing, six elected and six appointed by the president.

Section 2.—Each elected member of this committee shall hold office for three consecutive years. Two members shall be elected at each annual election.

Section 3.—The presidents of all duly organized Alumni Clubs shall be ex-officio members of this committee.

Section 4.—The president, vice-president and secretary shall also be ex-officio members of this committee.

Article VII Alumni Fund

Section 1.—There shall be established by the members a fund which shall be known as the Alumni Fund of the University of Kentucky.

Section 2.—This fund shall be raised by voluntary subscriptions and by the payments of life memberships.

Section 3.—The principal of this fund shall be treated as a trust fund and only the income arising from the fund shall be used.

Article VIII Alumni Clubs

Section 1.—Alumni Clubs may be formed in any state, county, city, or town.

Section 2.—All Alumni Clubs must consist of at least five members who are in good standing and have paid their dues for the current year.

Section 3.—All Alumni Clubs shall be governed by this constitution and the following By-Laws.

BY - LAWS

Article I

Duties and Powers of the Officers

Section 1.—It shall be the duty of the president to preside at all meetings of the Association and he shall perform all the other duties usually incident to the office of president. The president shall be a member ex-officio of the Executive Committee.

Section 2.—The vice-president shall preside at all meetings of the Association in the absence of the president, and shall perform all other duties usually incident to the office of vice-president. The vice-president shall be an ex-officio member of the Executive Committee.

Section 3.—The secretary shall give all notice of meetings and keep proper records of the proceedings of the Association, the minutes of its meetings, and those of the Executive Committee. He shall keep a complete register of the members of the Association together with data concerning their respective degrees, residence, occupation and careers, and shall be custodian of all papers, records and reports of the Association and the Executive Committee. He shall perform all the duties assigned to the secretary in the Constitution and By-Laws and shall perform all other duties usually incident to the office of secretary. It shall be the business of the secretary to conduct all the business of the Association and he shall prepare and submit to the Executive Committee any and all reports covering the activities of the Association that the committee shall require. The secretary shall and must be a resident of Lexington or Fayette County during the time of his office. The secretary shall be a member ex-officio of the Executive Committee.

Section 4.—It shall be the duty of the treasurer of this Association to collect all monies and pay all bills of the Association, but no indebtedness, other than for the running expenses of the executive office shall be incurred unless previously authorized by the Executive Committee. The treasurer shall prepare and submit a written report of the financial condition of the Association at each annual meeting and at any other time that such a report shall be required by the Executive Committee. The treasurer may be the same person as the secretary.

Article II

The Duties and Powers of the Executive Committee

Section 1.—The Executive Committee shall have charge of the affairs, funds, and property of the Association. It shall have full power and it shall be the duty of the Executive Committee to carry out the purpose of the Association according to the Constitution and By-Laws.

Section 2.—At least four members of the Executive Committee shall reside in Fayette County.

Section 3.—A quorum of the committee shall consist of four members.

Section 4.—The Executive Committee shall meet in Lexington at least once a month for the prosecution of the business of the Association. The time and place shall be fixed by the committee or at the discretion of the president.

Article III Elections

Section 1.—Two nominating committees shall be appointed each year about February 1st. It shall be the duty of these committees each to prepare and submit a complete ticket for the election of officers and executive committee members. The nominations of each of the committees shall be handed to the secretary of the Association not later than April 1st.

Section 2.—It shall be the duty of the secretary to prepare a ballot bearing the names of the two sets of nominees and mail one each to every active member of this Association. These ballots must be voted and returned to the office not later than five days preceding the annual business meeting of the Association. The date of this meeting shall be announced on the ballot.

Section 3.—A plurality of votes shall elect.

Section 4.—Included in the ballots shall be an envelope marked "Ballot." The ballot shall be returned to the executive office in this envelope. A ballot committee, composed of three active members of the Association shall open and tabulate the ballots in the office of the secretary, who shall take a tabulation signed by each member of the ballot committee which is to be read at the annual business meeting of the Association. No ballots will be counted after this tabulation.

Section 5.—The ballots shall be held for 24 hours after the results of the election have been announced. Then, unless otherwise instructed, the secretary shall destroy them.

Article IV Meetings

Section 1.—Meetings shall be held as follows: The annual business meeting on a date not more than seven days before the annual commencement of the University of Kentucky.

"Singin' in the Rain"

I FORGOT my galoshes, but I'm going along in the rain... having a good time... smoking my Chesterfields.

Just downright good cigarettes. They're milder and they taste better.

Just having a good time. They Satisfy.
