REMINDER ON CLOSING POLICY

When classes are not in session and the University closes (or delays opening) the Library follows the University statement for University offices. If the University should close early or delay opening when classes are in session, the Library normally continues its regular schedule as an "essential service" with staff coverage as is maintained in public service units on nights and weekends (i.e., usually student coverage). This is the same policy that has been in effect in the past. (Individual staff members who do not wish to travel to campus when the Library is open are free to make arrangements with their supervisors to take vacation leave.
