Dear Teacher,

I cannot now answer your letter, as I have mislaid it, but will write you a few lines wishing you a very great many Happy New Years in your new home.

I am agitating the subject of your coming down here once a month. There is one young man ^(light Bago) and a most perfect gentleman who says (upon my proposition) that he will be one of six who shall give you two dollars per month for at least one year. He thinks a lady acquaintance (soprano) will be another, very self makes
