KENTUCKY TO MEET CINCINNATI SATURDAY

Coach Tigert Plans To Spring Some New Plays in Game

CHANGES IN LINE-UP

The University of Cincinnati football team, which has within the past four or five years come to be one of State's biggest rivals on the gridiron, will arrive in Lexington Saturday morning, along with two hundred loyal supporters, to meet the Wildcats in their annual contest. Each team has annexed two of the previous contests, thus adding intensity to the situation.

On "dope" and from the opinions of ment in a position to know, Kentucky should have little difficulty in taking the game, however, Cincy is always primed for this game and may spring a surprise in the local camp. Her line is practically the same as that which met and defeated State last year 14 to 7, but an entirely new backfield will be presented. The famous "Teddy" Baer is no longer in the ranks, nor is Goozman. Montgomery, who was chosen for this year's captaincy, has been ruled out of the game on a technicality. Palmer, a substitute half last year, was made captain in his stead, and has been showing up remarkably well.

Coach Tigert said yesterday, that in all probability, some changes would be made in the State line-up which will meet Cincinnati, from that sent against Sewanee last Saturday. The most likely change is that Brittain will be used at full a part of the game.

All of the men, with the exception of Rodes, who will be out of the game for several weeks, because of an injured shoulder sustained in the Sewanee game, are in good condition, even better than a week ago. They have been given some stiff workouts this week, and may also uncork several news plays, which have not been seen on Stoll Field this season.

Two hundred tickets have been sent to Cincinnati at her request. From this it appears that State's cheering section, as well as the team, is going to have some opposition.

Cincinnati treated State students fine over there last fall, and it is hoped they will receive just as hearty a reception. The treatment accorded the Sewanee men was all that could be desired. Many say that a more friendly spirit was manifested, than has ever been seen here.

Coach Tigert was especially gratified at this demonstration of hospitality. Every student is asked to come out Saturday and help the Wildcats give them a good "drubbing," however, also to make them feel that he is glad they were here for the dose, which from every indication they are bound to receive.

Another football rally will be held

STROLLERS AMATEUR NIGHT SURE TO BE A GREAT SUCCESS

All Entries Must Be Made
By First of Week To Complete Plans

WILL BE NO ADMISSION

The Strollers Amateur Night celebration, which will be held on the evening of November 5, will probably bring out a large number of young Thespians desirous of demonstrating their histrionic abilities. Already eight entries have been received, all of them boys. Several young ladies have signified their intention to come out, but none have formally entered as yet. The Strollers ask that the entries all be in by the first of next week at the latest as a great deal of work must be done by the organization in order to get things ready for the event.

Prizes will be awarded as follows: For the best single act (boys) $5; for the best single act (girls) $5; and for the best act with two or more participants, $10. Those who come out for Amateur Night will in all probability be taken into the organization. The awards will be made by impartial judges selected by the Strollers. In the event that a great many enter the competition, an elimination contest will be held before Amateur Night and only two acts in each class will be left on the program for Amateur Night proper.

The Strollers are much gratified by the interest which is being taken by the male students of the University in the matter and hope that the co-eds will demonstrate that they are as much interested as the boys. The large majority of those who have entered so far are men who have been in the University a year or more and realize the advantages to be derived from membership in such a live organization as the Strollers. See the stage manager, William Shinnick, or any other Stroller, at once concerning your entry. There will be a place for your act Amateur Night.

The acts which have been entered so far cover a wide range, from musical acts to dramatic and high comedy monologues. Several actors will pull off declamations, and the program will be a varied one. Admission will be free to the celebration, and a large crowd is assured.

in chapel Friday morning, and in all probability, the cadets will parade through the main sections of the city shortly before the game is called.

The officials for the game will be Littick, Ohio Wesleyan, now head coach at Central, referee; Bookman, Waterline, umpire, and Sibley, Vanderbilt, head linesman.

BRANCH RICKEY WILL SPEAK TO Y. M. C. A.

Manager of St. Louis Team
Expected in Lexington
Saturday

ALL SHOULD HEAR HIM

"Jim" Park, assistant football coach and local Y. M. C. A. secretary received a telegram yesterday from Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis American League team, announcing that he would be here Saturday for a visit of a few days. Mr. Park wired him asking to address the students while here and an answer was received that he would be glad to do so. It has been arranged for Mr. Rickey to address the students Sunday night in chapel at 6:30 o'clock, this taking the place of the regular Y. M. C. A. Sunday night service. Mr. Rickey is an eloquent speaker and his magnetic personality always makes an impression on young men. It is hoped that a large crowd will turn out to hear him.

Mr. Rickey will be in Lexington on a visit to his brother who is located in this city. While he did not say anything in his telegram as to his intentions it is believed that his object in coming to Lexington is partly to see Park in regard to signing a contract for next season with the St. Louis American League team.

FRESHMEN DEFEAT THE D. & D. TEAM 38 TO 0

The Freshmen team opened the season with flying colors by defeating the Danville Dummies on Stoll Field Friday 38 to 0. Although several star players were absent from the Freshie line-up, the team appeared in fine form and outclassed the deaf and dumb boys from the start.

In the first quarter Poindexter, the bright faced lad from Cynthiana, who was elected captain of the Freshman team several weeks ago, played the feature game. After the first quarter Poindexter was taken out. Schnyder and Peak then did the work for the first-year aggregation. Howard also showed up well in the back field. The Freshmen lined up as follows: Simmons, Rorer, Sallee, le, Hunn lt, Ragers, Park, lg, Clemmon c, Parker rg, Eubanks rt, Shaw re, Snyder qb, Howard lh, Peak rh, Poindexter fb.

Points scored: Touchdowns, Poindexter (3); Snyder (2); Peak (2).
Goals from touchdown: Poindexter (2).

Officials: Referee, Rodes; State; Umpire, Tigert; Linesman, J. Park.

KENTUCKY WILDCATS CLASH WITH SEWANEE TIGERS IN SPECTACULAR BATTLE WHICH ENDS IN 7-7 TIE

Offensive Work of Thompson, Brittain, Server and Schrader Proves Feature in a Game Where Honors Seem Divided.

KINNE REPLACES RODES IN SECOND QUARTER

After a lapse of six or seven years, State and Sewanee met on Stoll Field last Saturday afternoon and battled at football to a 7-to-7 tie, in a game in which Kentucky's fighting spirit, a famous asset of the Blue and White team, came to the rescue, and warded off defeat. The game was replete with spectacular playing, and honors were about even in every department when the timekeeper called "quits." The Purple men, of the University of the South, secured more yardage, by virtue of the clever returning of punts and kick-offs, by Herring, Clark and Sellers, while the Wildcats scored thirteen first downs to the visitors' nine.

Many say that Kentucky should have won the game. The last half belonged to her, undeniably; the first quarter was a toss-up, and Sewanee was master of the situation in the second period. A bit of over-anxiety on the part of a Blue man prevented State from winning the game by one point. Clark, of Sewanee, punted out after his team had scored a touchdown, and the ball was fumbled. However, one of State's men was off-side and this allowed Sewanee another try, which was successful.

To Kentucky's fast and aggressive line work is attributed her only touchdown. In the third quarter, after an exchange of kicks, "Big" Thompson tore through Sewanee's line and blocked a punt, recovering the coveted oval on the visitors' twenty-five yard line. Not to be denied their share of the honors, State began to rush things and by a series of line bucks by Schrader, Haydon and Grabfelder, the ball was placed on Sewanee's one-yard line. On the next play, Kinne, substitute quarter, pushed it over in a short quarterback plunge. Schrader kicked a perfect goal from an angle, tying the score.

Neither side was ever again in striking distance for a touchdown, though fear chilled the hearts of the five thousand fans, when, just after Sewanee had scored her touchdown, Sellers received the kick-off and raced through the entire Wildcat team for fifty-five yards. He had a clear field for the Blue and White goal line, but Haydon at a ten-second clip, overhauled the Sewanee quarterback.

The only serious injury incurred by either team was a dislocated shoulder sustained by "Doc" Rodes, State's able quarterback. Kinne was shifted to quarter, which responsible position he held creditably. Kelley, the only second string man to get into the game, replaced Kinne at end.

On two occasions triumph for the Wildcat forces rested with Captain Schrader, and on both occasions an attempted drop kick fell short of the bar. The first of these was tried soon after the opening of the fourth quarter, the other attempt being made shortly before the final blast of the whistle. This one went wide and with it went the Wildcats' chances for a victory.

Sewanee entered the game a 5-to-3 favorite, but it was soon evident that the big all-Southern tackles and the team in general had been over-rated, or else State under-rated.

More student spirit than had been manifested for some time was evidenced at Saturday's game. The student section was full of "pep" throughout. Between the halves, five hundred students executed a snake dance on the gridiron, at the close of which, the loyal supporters of the Purple team, who had accompanied them North, not to be outdone because of an overwhelming majority in numbers, did likewise.

The defensive work of the Blue forwards was undoubtedly the feature of the game. While it is hard to pick out individual stars from the fast charging State linemen, Server, Thompson and Brittain played great ball. Dobbins, the all-Southern tackle, was pitted against Server, and Little was seen of the Tiger star after the

COMPARISON OF FRAT AND NON-FRAT GRADES

The question is often raised as to the comparative scholarship standing of fraternity and non-fraternity students. The following record of the percentage of the grades A and B made during the year 1914-1915 for 215 fraternity students and 710 non-fraternity students which appeared in the Kentucky Alumnus will be of interest to those who wish to make a study of the subject:

H. E. DEPARTMENT IS PROUD OF WORK DONE

Eight Students Now Demonstrating Practicability of Course

Eight students from the University's Department of Home Economics are demonstrating the practicability of their course by doing actual teaching this year. Four of these students are graduates of last year's class, three of them are members of the present Senior Class and one is a Junior. The last four named are doing this teaching in addition to their regular school work, under the supervision of the heads of the department.

The last year's graduates who are teaching Home Economics are: Miss Elizabeth Moore, in the Louisville Public Schools; Miss Lois Bartlett in the Public School at Bradentown, Florida; Miss Katherine Bell, in the Harrodsburg Public Schools, and Miss Elsie Speck, in the Paducah High School.

The present students who are teaching Home Economics are: Miss Julia Van Aradell, who is teaching sewing in the Lexington Public Schools; Miss Elizabeth Farra, who is teaching at Newtown, and at The Crossings four and one-half miles from Georgetown; Miss Katherine Mitchell, who is installing the new Department of Home Economics at Sayre College in this city, and Miss Frances Giesel, a Junior, who is teaching in Georgetown.

The Department of Home Economics requires at least one term of practical teaching experience from its Seniors before graduation. The assignments to these positions are made by the head of the department and all the work is directly under her supervision. All lesson plans are formulated and criticized and reports are made of the work done in the practice teaching class, thus the actual teaching assumes the relationship of laboratory work to this class.

It has been found that this plan is of value both to the department and to the students themselves. The department can be much surer in its recommendations of the pupils for positions after they have had actual teaching experience. The pupil herself profits by the experiment because it offers an excellent means of testing out the practical worth of her knowledge; because, in an effort to present ideas to other minds, her own ideas are clarified and systematized; and because it facilitates her adjustment to her environment after leaving college since the practical application of her ideas to existing problems lessens the gap between pure theory and actual practice.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB

The Democratic Club is showing a great deal of party spirit this year. Every member is displaying unusual interest in the coming election and the prospects are that they will receive tickets to go home to vote. President Barker says every man who goes home to vote has a legitimate excuse from class work.

MOVEMENT ON FOOT FOR WOMAN'S BLDG. AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Lexington Alumnae Club Writes Letter to Federated Clubs in the State.

The following letter has been sent out to the Federated Clubs of the State by the Lexington Alumnae Club of State University as the initial step towards securing an appropriation of $100,000 for a woman's building at the University:

"To the Federation of Woman's Clubs of Kentucky:

"The Alumnae Club of the State University asks your help in its efforts to start a movement towards obtaining a 'Woman's Building' for the University.

"Our buildings have not kept pace with our constantly increasing enrollment. Our girls have been crowded out of the gymnasium altogether, and our splendid School of Home Economics is being seriously hampered by its present cramped quarters on the third floor of the Education Building.

"We, therefore, wish to petition the next legislature to include in its appropriation for the University the sum of one hundred thousand dollars for a Woman's Building, and to this end we earnestly plead for the active aid of the Federated Clubs of the State. When we think of the wonderful results obtained by them in their educational campaign of a few years ago, we dare hope for great things. For the sake of the daughters of the State won't you help us in this huge and most difficult undertaking?

"MARY E. CLARK,

"President.

"(Mrs.) CALLIE W. KASTLE,

"Secretary.

G. W. Dobbs, who was a Sophomore at the University and was athletic editor on the University paper, attended the game against Sewanee here Saturday. He is at present located in Louisville, and is in the newspaper game.

J. D. Bender, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who was a student at the University last year and is attending school at Tennessee this year, came up to see State put it over Sewanee Saturday.

game started, as the Ktuckian played him to a standstill. Brittain played one of the most liberal games ever seen on Stoll Field for a guard, smoothing the Tiger line drives and making tackles all over the field.

Captain Schrader hammered the line in the best form of his career, and Haydon divided honors with Grabfelder in advancing the leather toward the Purple goal.

For the visitors the terrific tackle bucks of Turner, and the clever end runs of Sellers, tells the story of "Sewanee's quarter," while on the defensive Scott was a tower of strength.

The Cats attempted three forward passes, only one of which was successful. Sewanee relied on straight football alone. Occasionally, when they did venture in to the realm of complicated plays, their double passes and split bucks netted comfortable gains.

The handsome "K" blanket offered by Frank Battalle, manager of the University Book Store, a graduate of State and one of her most loyal adherents, to the first man who should cross Sewanee's goal line, was awarded to "Doc" Rodes by the unanimous vote of the team.

Rodes will probably be out of the game for two or three weeks. The exact nature of the injury has not yet been determined. An X-ray picture will be taken. Meanwhile Kinne will be at the steering wheel for the Wildcat aggregation.

The young women of Patterson Hall have presented to the Maxwell Christian church an individual communion service.

The service consists of two hundred individual glasses and a handsome mahogany felt-lined tray. The congregation of the little mission will provide mahogany collection plates to match the service tray.

On next Sunday at the morning service the service will be formally presented to Doctor Fortune, the pastor of the church.

FOOTBALL REVIEW

As has been remarked before, this is a year of upsets in football, and last week the three big eastern teams, Yale, Harvard and Pennsylvania were the organizations which got "threw" on their respective ears and with quite a bit of neatness and dispatch at that. Cornell slipped up on Harvard and tied a 10 to 10 score to them, much to the surprise of Captain Mahan's warriors and supporters. The Washington and Jefferson school bewildered Yale by their open playing and mastery of the forward pass and won 16 to 7. Pittsburg was the team that done the dirty work to Pennsylvania and "ruin" their championship hopes. The other big eastern teams, Princeton, Army, and Navy won their games, the 30 to 7 score of Princeton over Dartmouth being especially notable.

Purdue who will appear on Stoll Field within a few weeks and for whom the wise ones are hoping for one of those contagious upsets, lost to Chicago, 7 to 0, in a game in which the Bollermakers showed wonderful defensive ability.

Poor old Cincy got handed another swift one, the final score in the U. C. Demison game Saturday, being 35 to 0, against Cincy. Their jinx is still on the trail of the red and black aggregation and they played the game Saturday with only two veterans in the lineup, Denser on end and Langenheim in the backfield, both of whom showed up well but were helpless in the midst of the inexperienced aggregation which makes up most of the remainder of the team. Saturday's defeat gives Cincy a record of having lost every game but one this season, and they will fight with the courage of desperation in their game against the Wildcats Saturday. In the Demison game they were played off their feet in the first half when all the scores were made, but in the second half came back and with a 35 point handicap outplayed the opposing team, although they were unable to score. This shows that they are not quitters and will probably put up a good game Saturday. Overconfidence has been the cause of the defeats in the State-U. C. games each year and it won't be safe for Kentucky to go into this game expecting a walkover or they might be tricked.

Mississippi A. & M. was defeated by Auburn 26 to 0 in a hard contest which cut down their Southern championship hopes in the pride of their youth. Another surprise was the big score rolled up by Vandy against Mississippi University, 31 to 0, and the close score to which Georgia held

NO STOCK JUDGING EXHIBITION THIS YEAR

Agricultural College Not to Send Out Usual Team.

As a result of another outbreak of "Foot and Mouth" disease in Illinois, there will not be any International Fat Stock Exhibition at Chicago, November 27 to December 4.

Owing to this, for the first time in six years, Kentucky will be unable to send out another stock-judging team that could not fail to bring back the trophies.

About twenty-five candidates were for the team, from which six were to be selected to represent the State at the exhibition and to visit Northern agricultural schools and fat-stock breeding establishments.

COLORADO TRIO FURNISHES

MUSIC AT MESS HALL.

Students who eat at the Mess Hall were treated to an impromptu cabaret one day last week, at noon, when a colored trio was induced by Manager George R. Smith to perform for the entertainment of the boys. The trio, which consisted of three men, one of whom played the guitar and sang bass, another who sang tenor and passed the hat, and the third, who played on a jug, the unusual method employed by the negroes of this section in producing the instrumental bass in their "orchestra," appeared on the campus shortly before the noon hour and remained for about an hour singing and dancing and gathering in a large collection of nickels and dimes. The singers had good untrained voices, and their "Ballin' the Jack" was well put on. No one could deny that their act had the "pep." A few days later they returned augmented by the addition of a man who played the "fiddle" and another guitar artist for a concert. Evidently, the Mess Hall looks like a good thing to them.

Virginia, in a game which was won in the last minutes of play when a scrub halfback Tibbetts, droppicked one between the posts, changing a 7-6 score to 9 to 7 in favor of Virginia, the heavy favorites.

Tennessee walked all over Cumberland to the tune of 101 to 0. Tennessee has not been scored on but once and has lost only one game, this season, which was when Clemson got next to them in a 3 to 0 game a few weeks ago.

The Spirit's Return.

Regardless of the fact that Kentucky outplayed her opponents in three out of four quarters and should have won by at least one touchdown, there is just cause for rejoicing over the 7-7 tie score with the mighty Sewanee "Tigers" on Stoll Field last Saturday.

It is an undisputed fact that Sewanee has one of the best teams in the South. She defeated Florida 7-0. Auburn also won from Florida 6-0 and defeated Mississippi A. and M. 26-0, according to which "dope" Sewanee is on point better than Auburn, and Kentucky is twenty-seven points better than A. and M., and twenty-seven points better than Transylvania.

A greater cause for rejoicing, we believe, is the return of old-time Kentucky spirit, which was manifested at Saturday's game. Everybody seemed full of "pep." The chapel hour rally on Friday was one of the most enthusiastic ever held on the campus. The bon-fire rally on Stoll Field, Friday evening, was a pronounced success. Speeches were made; yells were given; and to cap the climax, President Barker led the co-eds in a dance around the fire.

No less than the students did the faculty and alumni show the spirit, one member of the faculty and one prominent alumnus going so far as to make known their support in a substantial way.

But the big test came Saturday, when, after the end of the first half Sewanee had seven points and Kentucky had been unable to score. It was met gloriously. Instead of giving up to despair and gloom, the State "rosters" poured out upon the field and executed a giant snake-dance, showing the battle-worn "Wildcats" that the students were still behind them and believed in their ultimate victory. During the whole game the Kentucky cheers rolled across the field continually.

There is no denying that this enthusiasm and support were a big factor in the "Wildcats'" come-back in the second half. Its importance can hardly be underestimated.

The act of carrying the almost-victorious Sewanee players from the field marked a new era in Kentucky athletic sportsmanship and received favorable comment which will not only trumpet locally, but will carry our fame far into the South, helping greatly to establish a new and higher plane of relationship with rival teams.

State is to be congratulated upon this return of spirit. It means much, not only as it affects us who are here, but as it affects the thousands of outsiders who each year form their opinions of our University.

SQUIRREL FOOD

The Kentucky Colonel Says:
Some of oah college students love peace and quiet, suh. The othahs are afflicted with love, suh.

We take the liberty to be serious in this column for once, that we may congratulate the football team and the student body in general for their excellent spirit and gentlemanly conduct last Saturday. The old "pep" was in evidence, our warriors fought all the harder for the help they received from the stands, and at the close of an up-hill battle, Kentucky showed that she was as magnanimous to her foes—who are friends as well—as she was to her own sons.

The fighting qualities of the team cannot be too highly commended. Certainly it was an inspiring sight to see "Doc" Rodes, the sterling quarter back, stagger out on the field and fall because his injured body could not match his unbroken spirit. We speak of "Doc" because he was the only member of the team who was injured, and there can be no doubt the other members of the team were just as full of courage as he was and fought just as hard for Kentucky's honor. All hail the team; all hail the Blue and White, and all hail its divalrous supporters! Our hats are off to you.

Norbert Weiner, a nineteen-year-old professor in Harvard University, is said to be the youngest college professor in the world.

But the wurst is yet to ome.

"Squirrel Food" has information to the effect that the University of Cincinnati students have made arrangements with railroad officials for several cattle cars in which to make the trip to see the game Saturday. Kentucky hospitality demand that we meet them at the station with a few bales of hay and some corn on the cob.

Mrs. Microbe: No use to try to save anything this year, the children just must have new shoes.

Our Answer Department.
Our little son runs away and goes to the nickel shows. How can we stop this?—Fond Parents.
Give him a dime and let him go to the ten-cent shows.

How can I remove ink stains from a silk waist?—Clarice.
Take a sharp pair of scissors and carefully trim them out.

My husband snores terribly. What can I do to remedy this?—Distressed.
Administer him a generous dose of laudanum upon retiring.

My hairs persist in falling out. Please suggest a cure.—Ignatz.
Possibly they are stubborn. If so there is no remedy.

My husband stays out until 2 a. m. and always offers as his excuse that he has been to the club. How can I break him of this?—Patient Wife.
Keep a club at home.

A young man I do not like annoys me with proposals. What can I do to make him angry?—Popular Pauline.
Marry him.

Villa-Nous.
European soldiers were recently taken captive who declared that they had neither had a bath nor a change of clothing in six months.
Probably they were Mexican prisoners from the foreign legion.

Lucky?
Old Adam was a lucky hound,
With rage he ne'er was dizzy;
He never used a phone and found
The doggone line was busy.
—Luke McLuke.

But Cain was luckiest of men
In all that ancient land;
He never was caught far from home
Without his favorite brand.

Mess Hall Manners.
"State Hall opens at twelve-thirty every day for dinner. About five minutes before this the hungry boarders gather in front of the door and yell loudly to be admitted. When at length the door is open they rush in, run over or push aside the man who opens the door, and rush to their tables. The first man grabs the most popular dish and the others yell 'Check on it.' For about fifteen minutes there is a very busy scene, as the most affords the jaws good exercise."—Freshman English theme put on board in class room.

Once I saw within a student's room a pack of cards, some soiled clothes, a book or two, a "feed" from home, a pair of holy sox, upon the mantlepiece, all quite close together.

Let's have fifteen
For Arabella.
She never says:
Their team is yellow.

The greatest word I ever heard,
I'll tell without an animus.
Kentucky's lads will brook no fade—
We surely love "magnanimous."

Help! Help!
The woods are turning brown.
The leaves are falling down.
It breaks my heart to see them so—
I love their fragrant beauties go—
—G. A. H., '16.

The Ornrrey Pup.
(Apologies to Luke McLuke.)
An ornrrey pup is Henry Bunn;
He "rounds" an awful lot.
He'd like to be a German gun,
And all the time be shot.

An ornrrey pup is Jacob Dubb;
He's not half civilised.
He wants to be a student club
And be well organized.

An ornrrey pup is Johnny Benz—
He's send him to the coppers.
He goes around and tells his friends
He's always full of poppers.

As Wait Would Write it.
Once I saw within a student's room
A pack of cards, some soiled clothes, a book or two,
A "feed" from home, a pair of holy sox,
Upon the mantlepiece, all quite close together.

The Mastodonc Baby.
Of all various features of the parade one attracting most attention was several babies which were pushed in baby carriages by their mothers and heralded by banners, "Votes for Women."
One baby wheeled by its mother, occupied an open space half a block long. It was wildly cheered.—Lexington Herald.

Our Weakly Novelette.
For hygienic reasons the Dominican pat-pat has been recommended as a substitute for the Kiss.—News item.
"Give me just one little pat-pat," he pleaded passionately with salt drops brimming his eyelids.
The shivery moonlight trickled tantalisingly through the tall timber as she turned her thoroughly disinfected cheek toward the stars, and Percival eagerly planted a perfervid pat-pat upon its sanitary surface.
So they were married and lived happily ever after till she pat-patted him with a chair rung early one morning.
FINIS.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.
In striking contrast to the recent action of a more or less prominent merchant who displayed a spirit of active hostility to all things connected with the University was the spirit of co-operation shown by Mr. B. J. Treacy, manager of the College picture show, when he was approached last week in regard to some advertising.

In order to thoroughly advertise the big State-Sewanee game of last Saturday, Manager F. O. Townes thought

It would be advisable to have slides announcing the game thrown on the screens at the local motion picture houses. When Mr. Townes called on Mr. Treacy in order to make the arrangements to have this done at the Colonial Theater, Mr. Treacy was not only glad to do this, but offered to run the slides free of charge, in appreciation of the large amount of business which he receives from the students.

STUDENTS' FORUM

"WHAT IS SACRED?"

With ill-feeling toward no one and with all due respect to the dead Osiris, the Supreme Brahma and the religion of every one, we wish to put this simple question, "What is, or what constitutes sacredness?"

We are informed that our old assembly hall, heretofore used for any and all student convocations, ought not, or must not be used for football rallies; that the chapel should be held more "sacred." Perhaps it is through our own inability that we do not understand why the four walls of the above said hall are any more "sacred" than our laboratories and class-rooms, but we are honest. If rallies are "non-sacred" or undesirable, why hold them any place? If a building is "sacred" just whom should be permitted to wander therein lest they pollute it? there a common shrine on our campus "sacred" to the minds and hearts of all?

Again we say frankly that we may have the wrong conception, but our comment means to be honest and our intentions the best and we hope not to offend even the most sensitive. In a State University we would designate our "sacred" and "non-sacred" student functions and in so doing we would consult dame reason and have due consideration for the likes and dislikes, faiths and beliefs of the children of humanity.

Mechanical Department News

A. S. M. E.

The regular monthly meeting of student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will be held Oct. 29th at Mechanical Hall.

This promises to be an interesting meeting, as one of the subjects of discussion, relating to the microscopic study of cement, is a new departure in the engineering world. All persons interested are cordially invited to be present. The program follows:

Some Mechanical Features of the Hydratron of Portland Cement and the Making of Concrete as revealed by Microscopic Study.

Main Article—George L. Cherry.
Discussion—J. Wolf.

The Connors Creek Plant of the Detroit Edison Company.

J. D. Garrett.

Graphical Tables for Calculating Reciprocating Compressors.

M. S. Sullivan.

EDISON-JOULE

The Edison-Joule Society met in the Electrical Engineering room Oct. 20. J. M. Robinson made a talk urging the members to connect themselves with some branch of the Y. M. C. A. work. Several amendments to the constitution were offered by a special committee appointed for that purpose. As this was only the second meeting this year there was no regular program.

The next meeting will be Nov. 3. Mr. Joe Dicker will make a talk on "The Forge Shop."

Dean Talks to Engineers

Dean F. Paul Anderson, of the Mechanical and Electrical Engineering department of State University, addressed the members of the Westinghouse Society, the freshmen engineering organization at the university, last Saturday morning, on the subject of Westinghouse and his inventions.

Junior Will Teach

C. B. Dickerson, junior mechanical, has accepted a position as instructor of manual training in the Paris High School. He assumed his duties Tuesday. Mr. Dickerson will continue his college work, going to school in the forenoon and teaching in the afternoon.

JOURNALISTS PLAN MYTHICAL NEWSPAPER

Department To Make Interesting Experiment Next Term

The Department of Journalism is planning to "publish" a mythical newspaper during the latter part of the second semester, the staff to be composed of the seventy or more students in the department. The paper will be known as The Myth, and though it will never go to press, the editors and reporters will work as hard as if they expected to see their stories in print the following morning.

The Myth will "appear" once each week and all work from stock reports to the preparation of editorials will be done by the students. The publication of a mythical newspaper has been carried on successfully by the School of Journalism of Columbia University, of New York City.

The Seniors in the department will be the owners and editors of The Myth and will direct its policy. There are but two editors in this department, Miss Anita Crabbe and Herbert Graham, and the work of writing scathing editorials and political comments will be on their youthful shoulders.

The Juniors will do the proof and copy reading, headlining and handle most of the heavy work. The sporting editor, dramatic critic and managing editor likely will be taken from this class. The girls of the department will be in charge of the society and fashion pages of The Myth and also will do regular reporting.

The Sophomores and Freshmen will be the regular reporters and will cover the city and University news. After the paper is "published," the staff will assemble in the editorial rooms for a discussion of newspaper work over a cup of coffee and sandwiches.

TOM ZERFOSS MAKES GOOD.

That Tom Zerfoss, who played a star game at end on the Wildcat team in '13, is, while at Vanderbilt, living up to his former reputation, is shown in a dispatch sent from Nashville to the Atlanta Constitution, which in regard to the Vanderbilt prospects says: "Zerfoss, an all-Kentucky man two years ago, is making a strong bid for punting honors and looks like a certainty, either as first substitute to Rabbit Curry, or one of the halves."

Coach Hinton, of Vanderbilt, said after the game Saturday that Zerfoss's playing at end was a feature of the game. Tom is a brother to Karl Zerfoss, the well-known athlete who is now a Senior here, and George Zerfoss.

Y. M. C. A.

Weekly meetings are held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms in the Gymnasium Building each Sunday. These meetings begin promptly at 6:45 and close promptly at 7:30. Short and interesting programs will be prepared. The good old songs will be sung, talks limited to 10 or 15 minutes will be given and you are certain to enjoy and profit by these exercises.

Five Bible classes, taught by students, are being held on the campus at different times during the week. If you wish to enter one of these, you are sure to find one when you have a half-hour off. If you are interested see the secretary or J. W. Lindsay. These classes will not be "draggy"—"short and interesting" is our motto.

One of the greatest works of the Y. M. C. A. last year and this, has been that done along the line of social service. Sunday School classes are taught, trips are made to the Reform School, young boys' football teams are coached, gymnasium classes are conducted and boys, not otherwise reached, are helped in this way. Night schools for negroes are held, and many things of this kind—helping your fellowman—are waiting from lack of workers. If you can spare a few minutes or a few hours per week, give your name to either the secretary or Karl Zerfoss and you will enjoy the work once you are at it. We need men now. Let us hear from you.

JAMES PARK,
Secretary.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR FARMERS' WEEK

Unusual Class of Exhibits Is Expected To Be Here

The tentative program for the fourth annual Farmers' Week to be held January 4th to 7th, 1916, which has been issued by the Agricultural College and Experiment Station staff, is as follows:

January 4, meeting of Kentucky Beef Cattle Breeders' Association.

Kentucky Alfalfa Growers' Association.

January 5—Kentucky Poultry Association.

Kentucky Swine Breeders' Association.

Kentucky Bee Keepers' Association.

January 6—Kentucky Horse Breeders' Association.

Kentucky Corn Growers' Association.

Kentucky Horticultural Society.

In the afternoon these three associations will hold a joint session in chapel and discuss market problems.

January 7—Kentucky Sheep Breeders' Association.

Kentucky Dairy Association.

Kentucky tobacco growers will meet at the Experiment Station and probably form an association.

Mr. T. R. Bryant has been appointed secretary and general manager.

The meetings will be held in the morning beginning at 9 o'clock, and the heads of the respective departments will supervise them.

The Winter Poultry Show will be held January 5 to 9 in the Armory. Theodore Whitman, who judged at San Francisco last summer, will judge all exhibits.

There will be exhibits of corn, fruit and bee products at the Station, also a display of foods and drugs tested by that department.

There will be a dairy exhibit in the Agricultural Building and Home Economics exhibit on the third floor of the Education Building.

Premiums will be awarded in each of these exhibits.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

The Union Literary Society met Saturday night for the discussion of financial problems. Although the question was brought up the subject for the inter-society debate to be held soon was not definitely decided.

The Patterson Literary Society had an interesting meeting Saturday. There were many new men present which was indicative of the interest being shown this year.

4341 Arco Avenue, St. Louis, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mabel Ethel Sherman, and William Todd Nicoll, of Lexington, Ky.

Miss Sherman is well-known in musical circles, as the soprano at the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer.

Mr. Nicoll is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Nicoll of Lexington, and is a graduate of State University.

The engagement of Miss Nancy Robb, of Jessamine County, and Mr. William E. Jackson, Jr., of Anaconda, Montana, and Harrodsburg, Ky., has been announced. Mr. Jackson is a former State University man and a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. At present he is located in Anaconda, Montana, where he is engaged in the United States Forestry service.

The faculty of the University will entertain the student body with a Halloween dance, Saturday night, October 30.

The men can obtain tickets for the dance at the commandant's office, young women at the office of the Dean of Women.

Miss Austin Lilly will give a weekend house party at her home in Richmond. Misses Kathleen Sullivan, Robbie Douglas Wilson and Mildred Collins will be among her guests.

Miss McCheyne Speaks to Home Economics Club

Miss Gertrude McCheyne, head of the home economics extension work in Utah, addressed the Home Economics Club and its guests Monday afternoon on the subject of "Home Economics Extension Work in Utah." The talk was interesting as well as illuminating as to the home economic situation in Utah as compared to that in Kentucky.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Dance

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority entertained at the home of Miss Elizabeth Kastle on East Maxwell with a dance, Friday evening, October 22.

The fraternity colors were artistically used in the decorations of the home. During the evening ices and cakes were served.

The hostesses were the members of the Beta Chi Chapter—Misses Alice Gregory, Anita Crabb, Lavinia McDaniel, Elizabeth Kastle, Lillian Gaines, Carleton Brewer, Elizabeth Cary, Catherine Snyder, Elizabeth Rodes, Katherine Mitchell, Linda Purcell, Mildred Taylor, Nata Lee Woodruff.

The Lexington Leader of October 24, makes note of the fact that Miss Anita Crabb, Managing Editor of the Kernel, and Miss Mae Cornelison, Editor-in-Chief of the T. U. Crimmon Rambler, are pioneers in administering the affairs of co-educational institution publications.

Philosophian.
The Philosophian Literary Society held its meeting at Patterson Hall Wednesday. The evening was given over to welcoming the new members, who had applied for membership by writing papers on subjects given by the society. The society is yet open to any girl wishing to present a paper for its consideration.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. held its weekly meeting Sunday evening at Patterson Hall. Talks, telling about the trip to Blue Ridge, were made by Misses Ina Darnall, Mary Howard, Frances Geisel, Judith Beard and Jane Dickey, who were the delegates to convention last June.

Horace Mann Society.

The Horace Mann Literary Society held its regular meeting Thursday, October 21, in the Education Building.

Mr. G. C. Wilson opened the program with an interesting talk on "Practical Dreams," which was followed by a paper on the "Educational Value of the Moving Picture Show," by Mr. Tipton.

An instructive sketch of James Whitcomb Riley's life and works was read by Miss Miriam Horine.

Miss Michot gave Riley's poem "That Old Sweetheart of Mine."

At the business session of this meeting, Mr. C. W. Bailey was elected critic and Mr. Mills sargeant-at-arms.
