

MEMORIAL TO KENTUCKY SOLDIERS TO BE ERECTED AT THE UNIVERSITY

Progress to Erect on the Campus Magnificent Building Costing Approximately $300,000 to be Used for Student Activities—Student Body Takes Prompt Action.—People to be Asked to Help.

As to erect a state memorial at the University of Kentucky to the 2,900 Kentuckians who died in the war are being rapidly with Judge Edward H. ... of Louisville, chairman of Kentucky Council of National Delegates of the general state ... C. N. Manning, president of Security Trust Co., of Lexington act in an advisory capacity chairman and Professor W. E. ... will act as general manager ... P. P. Boyd, chairman of a committee for raising funds among the students and faculty, and by Enoch ... of the publicity committee. ... will be payable in five installments between November, 1919, and one year later. The pledge will read as follows: "For the purpose of aiding the construction of a State Memorial Building on the campus of the University of Kentucky in memory of those Kentuckians who lost their lives while in the service of their country during the Great War a consideration of the subscription of others, I promise to pay to the order of John R. Downing, treasurer of the State Memorial Building ... dollars."

Students Take Hold
Plans for the memorial as far as the student body is concerned reached their culmination when almost one hundred students met in chapel yesterday afternoon and expressed their willingness to ask every student in the University to contribute to the erection of this great building.

SUMMER SCHOOL TO COVER A WIDE RANGE

The Summer School of the University of Kentucky will be in session from August 23 to August 24, a period of two weeks. The work of the summer school is designed for teachers, students and persons seeking information and training. With the instruction to be given a number of features during the six weeks session. From the program of the school it will be possible to make up a course of work suitable for teachers in many fields. The equipment of the University is available for use, including laboratories, libraries and buildings. The faculty of the University of Kentucky for the summer session of 1919 has been largely enlarged. Work will be offered to satisfy the demands of teachers in every field of school activity. It is highly necessary for the high school teachers of the State, city superintendents and members of college faculties to leave the State for unity work during the summer. The University of Kentucky is meeting the needs of the State in Agriculture, Engineering and all the Arts and Sciences. Multiplication and standardization of high schools, enlarged curriculum of secondary schools and new emphasis on education demand teachers qualified in many subjects and trained in theories and practices of modern education. The summer school of the University is organized largely to satisfy this demand.

Every student in the University will be given opportunity to help in this matter. The plan is to see the student before the session closes and have him make his pledge which will assume the form of a note payable on November 1, 1920. The student is given opportunity of paying his pledge on the partial payment plan or is privileged to pay the entire amount when the pledge is made.

This is the most liberal offer that has been presented to the students in any welfare campaign with which the University has had any connection. The campaign committee insists that every student of the University, past or present, should realize the importance of this work and do his utmost because a contribution to this cause is a noble benefaction. The initiative taken by the students will be a deciding factor. The services which University of Kentucky boys have rendered is inestimable.

There will be no lack of publicity for this drive as a number of the students expressed their intention of adding their work when they have returned to their homes.

Detailed plans of the steering committee have not yet been completed but the purpose of the committee is to present the memorial project to every county in the state so that every citizen who contributes will feel that his contribution is a part of the noble purpose to enshrine in permanent memorial the young men of the Commonwealth who gave their lives to the cause of Democracy and at the same time produce a building that will serve a useful purpose in the education of other young Kentuckians who shall come after them.

Lexington is accessible from all parts of the State, and may be reached over the following roads: Queen & Crescent, Southern, L. & N., C. & O., L. & E. now under the management of the L. & N. Railroad.

In addition to the regular work for teachers in courses outlined in this bulletin, a number of popular and scientific lectures will be given free of charge during the summer session. President Frank L. McVey will deliver lectures of special interest to teachers. Members of the faculty will give popular lectures in their special fields. Music for the summer session will be in charge of Dr. C. B. Cornell who has had wide experience as a director of music and instructor in public school music and community singing. During the session there will be several lectures on community singing and music appreciation. Opportunity will be given for all students to take part in choral singing.

Beginning June 23rd Dr. Henri Charles Neel, Professor of Romance Languages, Syracuse University, will give a series of lectures on "The Most Notable Features of French Life." Dr. Julian Morgenstern, of Cincinnati, Ohio, will give the following lectures to students of the summer school:

Tuesday evening, July 1st—The Creation Story.

Wednesday evening, July 2nd—The Paradise Story.

Thursday evening, July 3rd—The Flood Story.

Dr. Henry E. Jackson of the Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., will give a series of lectures on the general subject of Community Organization which will deal with problems of reconstruction. These lectures will be of special interest to teachers and school administrators and are designed especially to help Kentucky principals, superintendents and teachers.

No entrance examination is required for admission to any of the courses, but instructors must be consulted concerning prerequisite preparation in some courses.

Students who have full entrance credits to the University will be given credit toward degrees for college work in the summer school.

Four semester credits will be given for one double course consisting of two hours a day for the session. Two semester credits will be given for a single course of one hour a day for the session.

No student will be allowed to make more than six semester credits in the summer school.

Exceptional advantages will be offered in the summer school to students who are qualifying to teach Agricultural and Vocational Education under the provisions of the Smith-Hughes Bill. Professor McNeal C. James will offer courses in Agricultural Education and in Educational Psychology which will especially fit students for the organization and presentation of vocational work in the high schools of the State. Courses are also offered in Horticulture, Soil Fertility, Animal Husbandry and Farm Crops.

Graduate work will be offered by special arrangement with the heads of departments and the Chairman of the Graduate Committee.

Patterson Hall will be open for women for rooming. Meals will be served in the University cafeteria at a minimum cost. There are several good boarding houses convenient to the University where board may be had at from $4.00 to $5.00 a week. Rooms may be had convenient to the University.

The work in the summer school is given in Double and Single Courses. A Double Course means that the subject is taken two hours a day throughout the session. A Single Course is taken one hour a day for the full session. The fees are as follows:

Single Course	$ 5.00
Double Course	7.50
One Double and One Single Course	10.00
Three Single Courses	10.00

CORRESPONDENCE COURSES TO BEGIN IN FALL

Correspondence courses in twenty-three subjects will be started for the people of the State next fall by the Department of University Extension of the University of Kentucky with a faculty of thirty-two professors and instructors as teachers. The object of the enterprise is to provide, at the least possible expense and in the most practical manner, the highest type of training possible for citizens of the Commonwealth who are unable actually to attend educational institutions.

Credit for courses taken in the correspondence school will be given to students who desire to enter the University, when sufficient work shall have been done to equal University requirements. Lessons will be assigned in the form of leaflets and textbooks will be used. With each lesson the previous lesson will be returned to the student corrected and explained. Some of the courses offered are: farm management, marketing farm products, road building and mining, animal feeding, art and design, botany, economics, education, English, French, German, Greek, history, Latin, mathematics, mechanical drawing, political science, psychology, public speaking, sociology and Spanish.

There are four bureaus in the department of extension. They are: bureau of correspondence, study; bureau of lectures; bureau of debating and public discussion and bureau of general information and welfare.

'LEAGUE OF NATIONS' PAGEANT, GREAT SUCCESS

The first open air pageant presented by the students of the University of Kentucky and given under direction of the English department brought to the campus one of the largest crowds the institution has ever entertained. Practically every department in the University assisted in the production.

Under the title of "League of Nations" the pageant was arranged by James Dixon, of Bowling Green; Roberta Thornton, of Newport; W. S. Soward, of Maysville; Ora Lee Jones, of Monticello, and Katherine Herrig, of Lexington.

The theme of the action was epitomized by three interpretative dances at the beginning of the performance. These dances represented respectively the spirit of the world before, during and after the war.

The main body of the pageant was in two parts. In the first there were scenes depicting the signing of Magna Carta, the triumph of Joan d'Arc, the expulsion of the Austrians by the Italians and the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

The second part told the story of the Great War showing Belgium sacrificed by autocracy, death and war and later rescued by the forces of Democracy, Liberty and Justice through the nations of the Allied cause.

The main characters in the pageant were: Spirit of the Age, Emery Frazier, of Lawrenceburg; Democracy, Ada Hardesty, of Fort Thomas; Justice, Margaret Ford, of Shelbyville; Liberty, Lilly Cromwell, of Lexington; Autocracy, Bernard Moosnick, of Nicholasville; War, C. E. Planck, of Lexington; Death, W. S. Soward, of Maysville; America, Nancy Buckner, of Shelbyville; France, Christine Hopkins, of Louisville; England, James Dixon, of Bowling Green; Belgium, Martha Politt, of Vanceburg; Italy, Frederick Jackson, of Versailles.

PATTERSON ELECTS OFFICERS.

H. B. McGregor, Lexington, was elected president of the Patterson literary society at its last meeting for the year, with Robert Warth, of Georgetown, vice-president; W. H. Peal, of Paducah, secretary; B. L. Hargrove, of Mayfield, treasurer, and D. C. Ross, of Sacramento, critic.
