

University To Have Program Of Music For Founders' Day

Transylvania, Four High Schools Will Participate In Ceremonies

By JACK THOMPSON

Musical organizations from Transylvania College and three local high schools will join UK in celebrating its Founders' Day Sunday. The program is expected to be far different from any conducted since the start of the event in 1944.

This year's program, celebrating UK's 88th birthday will be held at 4 p.m. in Memorial Coliseum. By scheduling the program as a regular event of the University's Sunday afternoon musicale, it is expected to draw more UK alumni and friends than any previous celebration.

Music will be stressed throughout the program with the only non-musical feature being a selection by Dr. Hollis Summers, novelist and assistant professor of English. No other address is scheduled during the program.

Guests To Participate
Visiting organizations which will take part in the celebration are the Lafayette High School Chorus, directed by Mrs. Harlow Dean, the University High School choir, directed by Mrs. Ruth Stallings, the Henry Clay High School chorists, under the direction of Mrs. Flossie M. Greene, and the Transylvania College Choir, directed by Harvey Davis.

UK will be represented by the University Glee Club, directed by Warren Lutz; the Women's Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Virginia Lutz; the University Chorus, directed by Miss Mildred Lewis; and the University Orchestra, directed by Dr. Edward Stein.

A melodic background will be provided by the various musical groups as Dr. Summers reads his dramatic narrative, "Here We Begin." The narrative traces the outstanding developments of the University since its founding.

Dean Elvis J. Starb Jr., of the College of Law, will preside at the program. Musical selections to be

Best Student Library Will Bring $25 Prize

Entries are now being received from UK students for the Student Library Award Competition. Dr. Jacqueline Bull, chairman of the Student Library Award Committee, announced today. Closing date for the filing of entries is noon, March 21.

An award of $25 will be given the student who is judged to have the best library collection on campus. This annual event owes its existence to the late Judge Samuel M. Wilson, a long-time friend of the University.

Judge Wilson would a sum of money to UK and specified that it be used to make awards to the winners in each year's competition which would be under the administration of a faculty committee.

The committee is composed of Dr. Robert L. Hooper, Bureau of School Service; Dr. Louis L. Boyarsky, Department of Anatomy and Physiology; and Dr. Bull, head of the Archives Department, University Libraries.

Bluegrass Artists Holding Exhibition

The 21st annual exhibition by artists of Lexington and central Kentucky is now being held in the art gallery of the Fine Arts Building.

The exhibition, which consists of paintings, drawings, and graphics, opened Feb. 8 and will continue through Feb. 24. Forty-four works by 27 artists from Lexington and other cities within a 75-mile radius are on display.

Also on display in the art gallery is a set of 27 large photographic panels which tell the story of the Mayan Empire which existed from the 4th to the 13th century in Mexico and Middle America.

The art gallery is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and until noon on Saturday.

UK Faculty Decides To Consider Appeal In L.3 Requirement

SGA President Says Move Enables IFC To Prove Capability

By RONNIE BUTLER

The University Faculty voted Monday to refer to the rules committee an appeal made by the Student Government Association concerning the L.3 scholastic requirement for fraternities and sororities.

Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, vice-president of the University, stated that the rules committee will hold discussions with fraternity and SGA representatives, and that its findings will be reported to the faculty.

Dean of Men A. D. Kirwan told the SGA last month that the rules had been passed because of widespread criticism of the low scholastic standing of fraternities, which was below that of the all-men's average.

Commenting on the action taken by the faculty, George Lawson, SGA president, said: "This action will give us a better opportunity to prove that the Interfraternity Council is capable of handling the problem of cadets with leadership experience. Also attending to the matter is the fact that the rules committee will assure every fraternity a chance to be heard—said to prove its case."

Improvements Cited
Lawson cited the following improvements as examples of steps taken by the IFC, including the reduction of the number of men on the dean of women's list, the reduction of the number of men on the dean of women's list, the reduction of the number of men on the dean of women's list.

Many tentative appointments are being made in the UK Army ROTC Regiment to provide a greater number of cadets with leadership experience. Col. Charles N. Mount Jr. said Monday.

In his dedication talk, Dean White answered the question, "Why is the University of Kentucky, through its College of Arts and Sciences, interested in the 1953 National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament at UK today at 4 p.m. in Room 128 of the Student Union."

The tournament is under the direction of Dr. N. B. Allison of the Engineering College.

Scores will be compared with other colleges in this area including the University of Alabama, Centre College, Davidson College, Duke University, University of Florida, Georgia Institute of Technology, University of Mississippi, and University of North Carolina.

Defending the national title will be Rice Institute, Houston, Texas. The 1952 tournament, held at Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont, runner-up.

A parade through Lexington preceded the program on the campus. The main ceremony of the day was conducted in a chapel located on the second floor of the Administration building. One Lexington newspaper described the new chapel as follows:

"The chapel, which is an unusual by large room or that purpose, having a capacity to seat over 600, was soon densely packed. The class rooms were crowded and the halls were dense with the surging crowd."

Of course thousands more than the 600 who "packed" the chapel in 1952 can be accommodated in the new Memorial Coliseum. However, Sunday's Founders Day presentation will be open to all just as was the

Finalists Are Chosen For Mardi Gras Ball

Finalists for queen of the New-Team Club's fifth annual Mardi Gras ball tomorrow night, and their sponsors, are Jean Skinner, ASPH; Pat Wheatley, LXA; Barbara Vane, SAE; Patsy Shaw, AGR; and Ann Smith, KD.

The queen will be crowned at intermission of the dance, with the four runners-up acting as her court. She will reign with Rex of the Mardi Gras, Virgil Christian Jr. of the College Commerce faculty, chosen most Popular Professor in a student poll last month.

Girls in residence halls and sorority houses have been granted 1 a.m. permission by Dean Sarah B. Holmes. The dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. and end at 12:30 a.m. The Troubadours from Frankfort will play.

Before the coronation there will be a parade of costume candidates nominated by campus groups. The award, presented by the Most Reverend William T. Mulloy, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Covington, was given by Pope Pius XII for "singular and distinguished service to the Catholic Church."

Miss McLaughlin, a member of St. Peter's Church, is a member of the parish Immaculate Conception Sodality, St. Joseph Hospital Aid Society, Tu Deum Forum, and president of the parish branch of the National Council of Catholic Women. She also is the public-relations chairman of the Covington diocesan branch of the N.C.C.W.

"Miss Margie," as students and friends know her here, has had several audiences with the Pope while on trips to Europe in recent years.

Miss McLaughlin was placed on a change-of-work status last year after having served for 37 years as a member of the teaching faculty in the UK School of Journalism.

Bishop Mulloy, in presenting the award, explained that it originated in 1893 as a memorial of the golden jubilee of Pope Leo XIII.

"It is my privilege to congratulate Miss McLaughlin upon receiving this award, which she so richly deserves," Bishop Mulloy said.

Bishop Mulloy acted as celebrant for each year's benediction after the presentation ceremony.

It was not until 1882 that Lexington was established firmly as the seat of the college.

The General Assembly's decision in 1878 to separate the Agricultural and Mechanical College from the old Kentucky University had brought loud howls from several Kentucky cities and towns demanding that the A. and M. College be moved from Lexington.

Frankfort had long wanted the state college and hurriedly proposed uniting it with a military institute in the Citizens of Harrodsburg and the college in their town, and Cynthia made a bid for the school, along with numerous other smaller cities and towns.

Chief inducement in West Kentucky came from Bowling Green, which offered a farm and a donation of $30,000 for the A. and M. College.

UK Station Dedicates New FM Transmitter

A new 2,300-watt frequency modulated transmitter was dedicated by Dean M. M. White, of the College of Arts and Sciences, at a ceremony broadcast Monday night over the University radio station, WBKY.

Carnes To Edit UK Law Journal

The faculty of the College of Law has appointed senior staff members of the Kentucky Law Journal for the spring semester. Prof. Frederick W. Whiteside, faculty editor, announced this week.

They are Charles N. Carnes, editor-in-chief; William A. Rice, associate editor; Mrs. Norma Bader Adams, note editor; and James F. Hoge, business manager.

The following have been added to the staff of the Journal: William J. Briggs, Paul E. Decker, Charles R. Hamm, Charles R. Doyle, Phillips Jean Skaggs, and James T. Youngblood.

Scholarship and creditable writing are essential for consideration before making appointments to the Journal, Prof. Whiteside said.

The Journal is published in November, January, March and May, and has a mailing list composed of lawyers, law libraries throughout the country, and people with professional interest in law.

Propaganda Being Spread About College Deferments

"Of young Americans between 18 and 22, it is a fact that by and large the richer boys are in college, the poorer are in Korea."

This statement appeared in a Courier-Journal editorial last week, and to us it represents a form of propaganda. It is an unwarranted assumption based on irrational thinking.

We were surprised to see such an irrational editorial in a paper of such high quality as the Courier-Journal. According to recent editorials and a cartoon this week, the paper is apparently trying to renew an old argument of the battle between the classes—the rich and poor.

If only rich boys go to college, then all boys now in college who work in the cafeterias, have downtown jobs, or are houseboys do it just for fun. They don't really need the money. They work to occupy their spare time.

The editorial went to this extremity of generalizing in order to put over the point that the present system on draft deferments is unfair. Assuming the system is unfair, no system can be devised which will not be called unfair by someone.

The Courier-Journal advocated the drafting of "all able-bodied young men at 18, or on graduation from high school." This would be detrimental to our future. Our today's youths are our tomorrow's leaders. If every boy graduating from high school is taken into service and not allowed to attend college, then in future years there will be a decade in which the educational level of the public will be lowered. Men will be unqualified to be our politicians and leaders. We must think of the future before we start throwing every eligible boy in the service, whether he has money or not.

"The boy who gets a deferment because his parents can afford to send him to college enjoys a benefit not open to poorer youths his age," the Courier editorial continued. This is as broad as it is long. Some boys are drafted who never go overseas and never know any real hardships. On the other hand, going to college is not the easiest thing in the world. It is hard to maintain average grades, and students now on college deferments must maintain certain scholastic standings.

College students today are furnishing many of the officers for the armed forces. All students, except veterans and the physically disabled, are required to take military training at UK and other land grant colleges for the first two years. Most of these students continue in advance ROTC, and upon graduation are commissioned second lieutenants. The service needs these officers. So why can't they be trained in college as well as in the service and at the same time finish their college education?

It has frequently been stated that boys go to college to keep out of the war. With a few possible exceptions, we do not believe this is true. Boys went to college before the war. It would be logical, therefore, to assume that a number of today's youths still desire to go to college for an education and not just to keep out of the war.

Although the present draft deferment system is termed unfair by some, we repeat that all our male youths must not be prevented from going to college or the future will pay.

Amount Of Effort Was Used In Founding State University

UK will observe Founders' Day on Sunday with a program in Memorial Coliseum. Founders' Day sounds like an empty word, but few know the worries, heartaches, and sweat it took to start an institution of higher learning in Kentucky.

In an address before the Filson Club on Dec. 2, 1946, President Herman L. Donovan quoted Dr. Ezra L. Gillis, head of the Bureau of School Service, as saying "more effort was spent to get the University started than has been spent to keep it going since it was established."

On looking back, nothing could be as true. Transylvania Seminary opened its doors in 1785 and became Transylvania University in 1798. It got public lands and donations from the state. Religious bigotry later played a large part in causing this great institution to be separated from Kentucky University of which it had become a part. The legislature established Kentucky Agricultural and Mechanical College in 1878.

Dr. Donovan said this separation set the University and the Commonwealth back many years and that it has never caught up with other universities.

Later the University again was left homeless because the land it occupied at "Ashland," old home of Henry Clay, was taken away because Kentucky University was abolished. President Patterson also was obliged to fight religious bigotry for many years to put UK on a rock-firm basis.

In 1922 President McVey won by one vote an argument in the legislature over whether or not UK would be "allowed" to teach scientific evolution. Dr. Donovan said that "again the issue was raised that UK was a Godless institute destroying the religious faith of its students. Propaganda of this nature retarded the growth and development of the University."

As religious bigotry hindered the development of UK, so does unfair charges and personal selfishness.

To again quote Dr. Donovan, "The University is charged by the state with many duties and responsibilities that protect society against those who would prey upon the public. In discharging regular responsibilities imposed on the University by the General Assembly, there must be men of courage in these positions, who will not compromise with wrong doing, and this sometimes brings on conflicts. There are frequently disappointed contractors, dealers in fertilizer, feeds and seeds, who would sell inferior products to the people, patrons who wish their sons and daughters to receive grades that they do not deserve, patrons for football games who cannot get seats on the 50 yard line, basketball fans who cannot be admitted for all games, and many other individuals who want special privileges that have to be denied. Sometimes these disappointed individuals attempt to even up the score by attacking the institution.

"A modern university is concerned with the welfare of the people of the state; it no longer concerns itself with students on the campus only. Its research programs and extension services reach all the people of a commonwealth."

Let's "we the students," remember these troubles Sunday when Transylvania joins with UK for this program. UK was hard to get started, and it's harder to keep going.—BH

New Programs Should Attract More Students

Planners for UK Founders' Day program may have hit upon an idea how to get more students to attend the programs. The program, which will be held Sunday in Memorial Coliseum, will be a musical and dramatic production.

Founders' Day programs have been unable to attract more than a handful of students, except for ROTC students who are required to attend. One of the chief reasons for lack of student interest in the programs have been the type of programs.

Although many fine and well known speakers have participated in the programs honoring the UK founders, most students just don't enjoy listening to speeches. Few things are more boring to students than speeches.

Several organizations will participate in Sunday's program. Groups include the University Band, Orchestra, Glee Club, Chorists, Henry Clay High School Choir, LaFayette High School Choir and Charmettes, University High School Choir, and the Transylvania College Choir. Dr. Hollis Summers, assistant professor of English, will read a dramatic script tracing the outstanding developments of the University. The various musical groups will provide a melodic background for the reading.

Scheduling this year's program on Sunday instead of during the week will allow more townspeople to attend the program. With the new type of program and new schedule, we believe this year's Founders' Day will be more a success than in the past.

The Frying Pan SS Building Is Obstacle Course Like Pentagon

By KATHY FRYER

People who claim it's easier to get lost in the Washington Pentagon than any other place in the world have never been in our Social Science Building. This cream-colored obstacle course is the daddy of them all.

From the outside it doesn't seem too complicated, but inside the identical green plaster board walls baffle everyone except the old pros who major in something there. You don't know whether you're on the first floor south or the second floor north unless you can recognize the relief posters.

Looking for the little room that wasn't there is hard for the unsuspecting ones who wander into one of the departments looking for an elective. The number that should be around the corner just isn't. Halls laid out like street intersections don't help matters.

By the middle of the semester people with a good compass and sense of direction have blazed a trail to their room and have no more trouble. The rest of us still get to class seven minutes late.

Personally, I'm convinced that the same guy who developed the maze tests used for white mice in psy labs had a hand in designing the SS Building.

To the average Arts and Science student the Engineering College is the short cut with the picture windows, patio, and wind tunnel.

True, but it is also where your haberdashery isn't complete without a slide rule.

High-paying employers come looking for you. An important little black book is in every hip pocket.

And where there is the only thing left at UK that resembles old-fashioned chapel programs.

Can You Remember When: You had a blue or red ticket book which let you in only half the basketball games?

The Fire Arts Building was opened? The fever over the jazz concert caused it to be called off?

The basketball team last lost a game on the home floor? Norwood Hall burned down?

Believe It Or Not: Certain Air ROTC courses are hard if you can't memorize easily (a contribution).

There is a way to get full price back for your last semester's books (ask Al Meyers, Phi Tan).

The cafeteria was as busy between semesters as it is now. The Farm and Home Convention was the reason.

Rose Street between Euclid and Lime is one of the streets the city is planning to resurface this year. Students who live around there would appreciate it if they'd toss in a spotlight at the corner of Columbia, too.

Faculty's Choice To Discuss 1.3 Ruling Is Wise Move

Although the University Faculty failed this week to repeal the rule requiring fraternities to make a 1.3 standing, it did act wisely in referring the ruling to the rules committee for further consideration.

We have already gone on record disapproving the rule because it seems unfair as it penalizes a fraternity man for being a fraternity man. A non-Greek student has only to make a 1.0 to remain in good standing, but a Greek must make a 1.3 to remain in good standing with the University through his fraternity.

Since the University Faculty has doubled its membership since the rule was passed last April, some of the faculty members did not fully understand the situation. Therefore, we are glad the group did not act too hastily and repeal the act.

The repeal was presented to the University Faculty by George Lawson, who, as president of the Student Government Association, is the only student member of the faculty. The Interfraternity Council received the backing of SGA last month when IFC representatives requested the Assembly to make an appeal to the Faculty concerning the ruling.

The Faculty's decision to refer the matter to the rules committee will give fraternities a better opportunity to present their cases. Lawson explained this week that the rule committee plans to discuss the matter with representatives of the various fraternities.

The problem is more serious and important than may be realized. Dean Kirwan says the reason for passing the rule was because of adverse criticism throughout the state on the low scholarship of UK fraternities.

On the other hand, IFC had already set about to remedy the situation themselves before the University Faculty ruling was passed. The Faculty did not know of IFC's actions at the time of passing the rule.

We believe the ruling definitely needs repealing or changing. When the issue is decided, Faculty members should bear in mind that the rule shows inequality between Greek and independent students.

Cords And Discords....

A bridge tournament will be sponsored on campus next week. Civil engineers should take notice.

The University of California humor magazine, the Pelican, recently was dealt the unkindest cut of all by the president of the Student Council. He said the jokes in the magazine were the kind that "can be found in any cheap pulp magazine."

Classified ad in the Daily Northwestern: "Lost—Beta pin. Last seen on a west-bound Alpha Chi. Finder may keep pin, please return girl."

Fraternity and dormitory men at Northwestern University staged a series of spontaneous snowball fights two weeks ago. When the fun was over, about 200 windows were broken.

The dean of men says repairs will be paid for by everyone concerned. Meanwhile, with as many as 64 windows out in one house, members are enjoying the fresh winter air.

A fraternity man at the University of Oklahoma now knows that you can carry this "tradition business" too far. He complained to a student court that after his pinning, fraternity brothers tossed him into a pool and assaulted and injured him.

They said the dousing was a post-pinning tradition. The student also complained that his "friends" took his clothes and left him in the pool. "I had to walk five blocks to the house in wet underwear," he said. "I was very embarrassed."

It's what you learn after you know it all that counts. Worry makes small things cast big shadows.

Eds And Co-Eds To Go All-Out In Celebration Of Mardi Gras

By ANN O'BRAKE. Mardi Gras, from French, literally means fat Tuesday, the day before Ash Wednesday and a time for confession preparatory for Lent. This day is called Shrove Tuesday or Pancake Day—however, in some cities, especially New Orleans and on the Canal section of the UK campus, it is celebrated as a great day of carnival and merry-making. The eds and co-eds of the Big Blue are going all-out this year in their celebrations. Not only will the Newman Club sponsor their annual formal dance in the Student Union tomorrow, but the Blue Marlinners are also presenting their water show in honor of the well-known occasion. To get the gay masquerade off to a roaring start, the Lambda Chi has planned a party in the French mood. This Apache fete will be held in their house and begin at 8 p.m. tonight. A "Still Trying" party is scheduled by Delta Chi's this evening at 8 o'clock. A Valentine's celebration will take place at the Kappa Delta house tonight. Cupid will unload his hearts and arrows at 8:30 p.m. sharp. Good cheer and fellowship will be shared at the PIKA buffet supper this evening. The food will be on at 6 p.m. at their house. At the ADPI house on Sunday afternoon there will be a faculty tea. The tea will be held between the hours of 3 and 5 p.m. The annual founders' day program will also be presented Sunday at 4 p.m. in Memorial Coliseum. Cage Teams Chosen For 2-Day Tourney

4 Quintets To Meet Here December 21-22

Athletic Director Bernie Shively announced yesterday plans for the sponsoring of an invitational basketball tournament on the UK campus next December with three nationally prominent teams competing along with the Wildcats.

The date for the "Kentucky Invitational" has been set for December 21-22 at Memorial Coliseum.

La Salle College of Philadelphia, defending National Invitational Tournament champions and currently ranked number four nationally, has already accepted. Negotiations with two other teams should be completed in the near future.

According to Shively, the plans were laid over a year ago on the basis that the proposal for the Christmas tourney with SEC teams competing to replace the SEC tournament was turned down.

Plans for the K.I.T. will have the three visiting teams and the Wildcats paired to play a double-header of the two nights of the tourney. A consolation game will precede the championship game on the final night.

The Lexington Chamber of Commerce is donating watches as awards for the players on all four teams and a large trophy to be given to the champion. In addition, the trade board is planning a banquet for the teams and their official party.

La Salle's Explorers are recognized as one of the East's major independent powers, mainly through their efforts last year in the N.I.T. when they overcame the underdog role they were placed in and beat Dayton in the finals. Their record thus far this season is 20-2, their only losses to De Paul. They were the first team to accept a bid to this year's National Invitational.

The Sells' Explorers are recognized as one of the East's major independent powers, mainly through their efforts last year in the N.I.T. when they overcame the underdog role they were placed in and beat Dayton in the finals. Their record thus far this season is 20-2, their only losses to De Paul. They were the first team to accept a bid to this year's National Invitational.

Duke, UCLA Late Entries

After the first part of this went down to the typewriters, it was announced that UCLA and Duke University had accepted their invitations for the tournament, to round out the field of four.

Duke and the Bruins both have been picked for their potential power next year. The Blue Devils are running in the top 20 this year despite the rebuilding they are doing as a result of the loss of All-American Dick Groat. Composed of mainly sophomores, they are expected to be tough next year. Their record this year is 15-6.

Football Rule Change May Be Good, Coach Says

By LESLIE MORRIS

As the new rule changes in intercollegiate football continue to furnish conversation for countless sideline "coaches" this off-season, the Kernel's dutiful roving reporter decided to contact Kentucky's own Bill McCubbin for his "expert" opinion on the matter.

McCubbin, who is an assistant professor of Physical Education and director of UK's intramural program, has had the advantage of being closely associated with both methods of play while at Kentucky.

He was a crack lineman for Ab Kirwan's 1937-38 one-plateau gridder, and has scouted and coached Bear Bryant in the late '40s. He noted that the rule changes, he commented, that he could throw some light upon the confusion which has developed since the unexpected banning of the two-plateau system.

McCubbin summed up the new rules as meaning that a player removed in either the first or third quarter is out until the next period begins, and in the other two quarters may return to play in the last four minutes if free substitutions are made. The rules, he added, necessarily call for a team of all-around performers, able to carry the load on both offense and defense. He also called attention to the fact that one of those extra points, the Mac Teannante of Ernie Allen, who was a teammate of Ernie Allen on the Wildcat '29 squad, recalled his play under the one-plateau system. "The rules then," he commented, "were very similar to those now changes, except rougher — we weren't allowed the four-minute concession." Coach Kirwan, he added, developed a pattern where one team played the first and last sessions and another eleven, the second and fourth periods. "This kept us fresher," McCubbin said, "and was fairly successful, but it produced some complications."

UK Tankers Down Eastern; Face Tennessee Tomorrow

UK Mermen will defend an undefeated season record of five straight victories as they meet the University of Tennessee at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Coliseum pool.

Roger Messick, freshman sensation who has broken records in five out of six swimming meets this season, was instrumental in UK's win at Knoxville when he won both the 50-yard and 100-yard sprints. He also cut the SEC record for the 50-yard event to read 2 second shorter as he covered the distance in 23.1 seconds.

In the last meeting between Kentucky and Tennessee tankers, UK won handily, 62-22, as Vol diving star, Gus, compiled points in the fancy diving contest.

Tennessee, in a meet with Eastern at Knoxville, beat the Maroons 52-22, but, in a later meet at Richmond, an improved Eastern squad won over Tennessee 51-33.

Adults and high school students are charged 50 cents and 25 cents, respectively. UK students are admitted on identification cards.

The remaining schedule: Berea, Feb. 25, there; Feb. 27, open; and March 2, Eastern, there.

In addition to the above scheduled meets, a new opponent has been scheduled in the open date. On Feb. 27, the UK swimmers will meet one of the best teams they have faced all year, the University of Louisville at the YMCA pool in Louisville.

Cats Win Fifth Straight, 56-28

A full house, around 200, watched the Mermen of Coach Algie Beece win their fifth straight meet as they submerged the Eastern Maroons, 56-28, last Saturday in Memorial Coliseum.

The UK 300-yard medley relay squad, composed of George King, Capt. Jack McDonald, and Dave Linkous, clipped the standing record in covering the distance in 3:18.8.

The Wildcats captured eight events while the Eastern Maroons won only two. Eastern's 400-yard freestyle relay squad of John Nolan, Don Combs, Bill Vendl, and Jess Reed captured a first place as did the Maroon's Gordon Fleck in the 150-yard individual medley.

Roger Messick failed to continue to break records but he turned in winning times in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle by covering those distances in 23.6 and 33.1 seconds, respectively.

UK Wins Broadjump Honors

Larry Jones, Kentucky broad jumper, leaped 22 feet, 3/4 inches in the broad jump division of the Michigan State relayals last Saturday to hand down third place honors. They were Kentucky's only points in the meet. Jay Wallace, Ray Jones and Doug Alanson, other Kentucky runners failed to place in the fast company from the Big Ten schools.

As yet, only Wallace has been nominated to participate in the Southern Conference indoor relayals next Thursday in Chapel Hill, N. C. Jay will probably run the 800, an event which he won last year at Kentucky's only first place. Dwight Ivce, captain of this year's team, probably won't go due to lack of training in the past few weeks. He has been away from practice with a sore of the foot.

The regular season won't get underway until late in March. This year's squad will consist mostly of returning veterans. Lost from last year are Skippy Whitaker and Al Wiley. Wiley was drafted and Whitaker was injured. The strength of Dr. Don Seston's squad will again this year depend on the field events. With football practice conflicting greatly, help from the footballers in the weight division is doubtful until late in the season.

The schedule which hasn't been completed will contain most of the teams from last year's schedule with four or five home meets and probably two road trips. The dash events will be in the same position as last year, sadly lacking.

Golf Future Looks Bright For '53 Squad

Prospects for the 1953 edition of the Kentucky golf squad are looking up with the addition of a service veteran, John Foster, who won a few tournaments while in the service.

Foster is a Lexington Lafayette product who just returned after three years in the service. Golf Coach Johnny Owens said that he expects to have a "pretty good team" this year. In addition to Foster and his number one and two men, Ches Riddle and Don Smith, returning, John Y. Brown, Jr. and Gay Brewer are expected to count heavily on the scoring. Both are well known in Kentucky golf circles with Brewer having made a name for himself on the national field, winning a few championships in the past two or three years.

Nine men reported for the meeting held Monday night in the Coliseum and three others sent word that they were interested in playing golf this year. The season is scheduled to get underway early in March with a tour of Southeastern Conference schools.

By LARRY MEYER

Coach Algic Beece's swim team is on the verge of an undefeated season, the second in the history of swimming at Kentucky. The first came in 1939 when swimming was only three years old at the University and had been recognized as a minor varsity sport for only one year.

That squad was captained by Herb Hillenmeyer and coached by a volunteer student, Lloyd Ramsey. James Shropshire was the faculty advisor in the youthful days of swimming at UK.

The 1939 team, led by Hillenmeyer, Sherman Hinkbein, Ramsey and Triplett, set many team records which are still standing in Kentucky record books and were undefeated in nine dual meets and the Kentucky State swimming meet. The team was not entered in the SEC meet that year.

This squad of "Poole's Wonders" as they were known, because Kentucky had no swimming pool, made the trek from Lexington to Richmond three times a week just to practice in the Eastern pool. Therein lies an interesting angle.

The latest victim to fall before the present swim team was Eastern, 56-25. Eastern will be the last team Kentucky will face this season in dual competition.

To add to the coincidence, Eastern is in the process of organizing a swim team. Last year, three boys, Bill Vendt, Hugh Brooks and Gordon Fleck, all students, got together and formed a team. The three are coach, captains and swimmers.

Far from being winter beaters this year, these boys and additions have won their share of meets and potentially looked impressive to us.

Despite the fact that Kentucky does not offer scholarships for minor sports as do other member schools of the SEC, it seems that these boys who swim for the Eastern team and for the Kentucky team just have love of the sport that is the basic foundation of inter-collegiate athletics. This is why they continue to put out time and practice with no financial assistance from the school.

It is a bright ray in these days of basketball scandals, cribbing and other sky darkening events in sports.

If you're wondering what ever becomes of old Kernel sports editors, you might be interested in knowing that Tom Diskin has been located in Cincinnati as publicity man for station WLW AM-FM-TV.

Chuck Tilley, who held down this post last year, is now assistant state editor on the Lexington Herald and Tom Easterling who graduated this past semester has taken a position on the sports staff of the Louisville Courier-Journal under the guidance of Earl Ruby. It is in itself, quite a feat for a new graduate of a journalism school to step right into a paper the size of the Courier.

In this year of Bevo Francesis, another basketballer, this time on the high school level, has set a record of his own. John Bogenrief, a 6'1" center scored 120 points as his Midway, Ohio, squad defeated Canaan 137-46.

This year of high scoring has apparently been brought about by the new one-plus-one foul rule which gives an offended player two chances at the free throw thereby creating a longer game.

According to Coach Rupp, he doesn't feel that this rule will be used next year and isn't taking it into consideration with his squad in this year of inactivity, schedulewise.

Two familiar faces are back on campus now that the professional football season is over. They are Vito "Babe" Parrilli and his favorite pass receiver in the 1950 season, Al Bruno. Babe played with the Green Bay Packers and ended as first string quarterback, doing a lot more running than he did while at Kentucky.

Al left the country last fall to play ball with the pro team in Toronto, Canada. This team went on to win the Canadian championship by beating Edmonton. Both boys will take part in the Alumni game this spring.

Another face showed itself for a couple of days but headed on south. Bob Gain, former All-American tackle, finished the season with Cleveland Browns and is headed now for New Smyrne Air Base in Tennessee for training, after a short stay in Lexington.

Max Mason, otherwise known as the Rocknart (Georgia) Flash, has re-entered school after dropping out during the past season due to scholastic difficulties. Max was one of the most sought after boys in high school circles. He made the Georgia All-State squad, the All-Southern squad and played in the All-American high school game. He should fit well into the split T formation in a day of 60-minute-men.

"Oxford" Man Reveals Weakness of Opposite Sex!

Once upon a time, there was a wealthy young college man who spent a million dollars a year on his wardrobe. But the gals all thought he looked "square as an ice cube."

One day, while cruising around the campus in his solid gold convertible with leopard-skin tires, he noticed a young freshman surrounded by a bevy of beautiful dolls. Slamming his foot down upon the steering silver brake pedal, he smoothed out the wrinkles in his custom-tailored suit and strolled over to this popular fellow.

"Tell me," he asked, "to what do you owe your great success with the fair sex?"

"Naturally," the young Casanova replied, "it's the shirts I wear." He pointed to the pale gray Oxford button-down he had on. "Everyone's bashing ears about Oxford shirts this year... and I have Oxfords in light blue, gray, yellow, pink, lavender... and of course, white. Roll collars, button-downs and those new short collars, too!"

The rich young man felt the luxurious Oxford fabric. "Your shirtmaker must charge a lot for shirts like these."

"Shirtmaker nothing," grinned the young fellow. "I get all my shirts from the friendly Van Heusen dealer right down the street. And the ante is only $3.95 apiece!"

The wealthy young man made a bee-line for the Van Heusen store. Since he was loaded (with money), he also bought a dozen deluxe Van Heusen Oxfords, made of high-count, tightly-twisted yarn, for $4.50 apiece.

His seven wives are suing for bigamy this month.
