Life, Liberty, and Pursuit

By Adele Denman

This apartment hunting has been for several good reasons which come a real problem, especially when it would be beneficial not to go around and is stuck with it. A boy and parking in cars in Lexington, for girl decided to commit marriage a while. Not that we care about the because of their common taste—in patine, but you will. Any more good Board? Planned to make information you want on the sub-married life a lost week-end once woman. Also it would be nice if one, just that they didn't even smoke. Land- lady beamed and all were happy, patrol the Botanical gardens at until the couple discovered that night. Announcement: The Tri Delt sorority did not have a professional decorator work on their floor, neither did a decorator from Meyer do it. Prom what I hear, the girls worked for two days on the thing, and would like to receive a little credit for it.

'Fustest With The Mostest'

In Sunday's Herald-Leader there were nine news stories about the University. Throughout the state people read about the May Day activities, the honors to be awarded, and commencement plans at UK. We were very happy. But there were five stories in the paper which had been held for release until Sunday rather than released for publication in Friday's Kernel. The reporters didn't slip up, they tried—it was just that large circulation of the Herald-Leader that beat The Kernel. We were very unhappy. Students pick up their school paper—what's new? Very little, 'cause the big events are reported in the Sunday dailies. Instead of the front page of The Kernel with three column headlines, it's the back section of the city paper that carries the important news of the University. Certainly the goal should be maximum publicity for the Herald-Leader, but the papers with the largest circulation. But if The Kernel is a glorified revise of week-old news the staff is not to blame. Downtown papers are the fustest 'cause they've got the mostest circulation!

What They Say About Sewance

Imagine men of one fraternity assisting other fraternities with their rushing! That is part of the system devised by Panhellenic at Sewance, The University of the South, in Tennessee, to promote cooperation among fraternities and fairness to the individual being rushed. A copy of an article outlining the men's rush system there was enclosed in a letter from Sewance. The article will be reprinted in a forth-

The Varsity Show

MANY PEOPLE have seen the current Guignol production, "There's a Family," but few have seen it in all of its glory. We are speaking in reference to last Saturday night's performance. The music was reaching a crescendo, a coda, and a what have you; the lights were dimming. A rush came over the audience; there was a moment of silence—a moment of darkness. The curtain opened. In place of the usual opening scene, there were no actors on stage! Like a bolt out of the blue, a giant rat ran across the stage with the speed of a frightened Assault, with not more than a length behind, Pat "Lord Roosevelt" Evans, making good use of her two-by-four whip. The rat ran the full length of the course before the curtain was plucked there down. After reviving the leading lady and some of the female stage hands, "Kash" Fisher, Guignol stage manager, opened the curtain on. This time, he was more successful; veteran-actor Larry Swencher started his lines, and the play was progressing as usual. And then, it was post-time for the outing issue of Banta's Greek Exchange. It outlines the difficulties of the eight frats in post-war reorganizing, and gives details of the system devised. Some of the rules set up might bear investigation by UK's Interfraternity council. Each Greek fraternity man on the campus was given a "date" card on which was scheduled a visit to each of the frats on the first night of rushing. After that, each fraternity was allowed to have one date with each rusher sometime within a three-day period. No rushers were allowed to be removed from the campus for rushing, and limits were specified for entertainments. The code set up included such rules as:

1. No alcoholic beverages will be used by any chapter to influence any prospective in making his choice.
2. No pre-rush period promises or pledges will be tolerated.
3. No prospective will be excluded from rushing privileges due to his social position either on or off the campus.
4. No Hell Week will be observed and no pledge hazing will be practiced by any chapter.

And there are certain other rules of propriety which must be observed in the chapter houses. At the end of rushing two-thirds of the veterans on the campus had pledged. If the plan was well-arranged enough to appeal to those who are likely to be most judicious and level-headed about such a step, it must have something to recommend it. This is a lesson University fraternities might well learn.

Vet About UK

Bob Conway, Ashland, a graduate of UK and former Kernel managing editor takes a look at UK after a two-year absence in the army.
 The last time we saw our alma mater it had all the appearances of being "Kentucky State College for Women." How often we dreamed about how we'd knock 'em dead on this manless campus—if only we finally made it, and incidentally, so have a few thousand other men. Still too little and too late!
 A certain building on the west side of Limestone is conspicuous by its absence. The Buildings and Grounds department was thoughtful to provide veterans with such an excellent souvenir of what they saw in Europe.
 On one June afternoon in 1943 we had a coke with a friend in a dormitory apartment. After that he boarded a train for Fort Thomas to begin our Army career. Yesterday we returned to the same dormitory to see our friend in the same booth where we left him three years ago. Time doesn't always march on.
 Don't know much about Kentucky's football prospects for this year but with old timers like Bernal Allen, Charlie Kuhn, Jesse Tunstall, and Jay Rhoademeyer back, the Blues should give someone a hard time. I'll never forget the day that Allen completed seven straight passes against Vanderbilt—the Commodores were losing their mind!
 I've told people that I came back to see the school and my friends here, but might as well confess that my real motive is to buy back a few shirts that I sold here three years ago.
 Always glad to give an old Compo a boy a plug. Pat Conley is back on campus and going with Marjorie Ann.
 It is nice when one can get pinned to one's roommate's brother. Helen Arnold is pinned to Bob Eyd.
 Another marathon has begun in the shape of Roy Cunningham and Sarah Hunt.
 Crusher Hays craves print again with a new woman, namely, Marjorie Ann.
 A relationship getting more relative is that of Jenny Meyers and Bob Gerzer.

May Day, Guignol play, Turley derby, toujours gai. And that's a poem, son. Things certainly have been popping on the campus lately. Everyone agrees that the May Day floats were terrific. But does everyone know that the lovely flowers used on one of the floats were stolen, along with the flowers from a local cemetery? Ghouliah, isn't it? Another interesting note is that the scantily clad girls who decorated Jewell Hall's Memorial Hall floats overheard a little boy yell "Look at the church, Mommy!" Another puzzling note was the appearance of an antique character who drove up to the University to make information you want on the sub-married life a lost week-end once woman.

Who is the Kappa Sig who was refused admittance to one of the sidewalks at the circus because he looked too young for that sort of entertainment? And precisely what is bothering the Phi Taus? Of course, it was very sweet of them to surround the dorms on Wednesday night, but after all, it was pouring cats and dogs; and it was 1:30 in the morning! Their vocal efforts if they were more widely appreciated if they showed up at an early hour.

PROBLEMS, JOE?
 Continuing a policy to give more service to the veteran on the campus, the University Veterans' club this week began an information and liaison service. The club office, located in the basement of the Administration building, will be open during school hours and someone will be on duty to give information and help veterans with individual problems. This service is not limited to club members. The committee in charge promises to help with any problem or refer it to the right agency at the University or elsewhere for action.

FROM THE GREEKS

By Janet Sulzer

All of the men on the campus will be guests for at least ONE open house this week-end, and many of them will attend more. The members of Delta Chi, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Tri-Alpha fraternities will be guests of the Thetas from 4:30 to 5:30 this afternoon. The ADPs will have an open house this afternoon in honor of the Alpha Gamma Rho, the Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Phi Kappa Alpha. From 4 to 6 tomorrow afternoon, the Tri Delta will have an open house for all men on the campus. Also Saturday, the Alpha Gamma will entertain the members of Phi Kappa Tau and Alpha Tau Omega fraternities—the time being 3:30 to 5:30. The Sigma Chi will be guests of the Thetas from 4:30 to 5:30 tomorrow afternoon. Yesterday afternoon, the Phi Tau and SAE's were guests at an Alpha Xi Delta open house.

Members of the University faculty will be guests from 4 to 6 this afternoon at a party given in their honor by the Kappas. The sorority house will be decorated with spring flowers. Freda Wade is in charge of arrangements.

Tonight, the Alpha Xi Deltas will entertain in the Fireside room of the Phoenix hotel. Bob Bleisli's orchestra will furnish the music. Pat Thomas is in charge of the dance and about 175 guests are expected. Sunday afternoon, the members of Kappa Alpha Theta will honor their graduating seniors with a picnic at Booneboro. Betty Leel, social chairman, is in charge of the arrangements.

The outcome of the Sigma Chi-sponsored style show met with a pleasant reaction at the Sigma meeting last week. Not only was one of their brothers found to be best-dressed man, but the best-dressed woman was pinned to a Sigma Nu, "Moose" Morse. Billy Mitchell, who had just returned from overseas duty with the Air Corps, was a guest at that meeting.

The Zeta Tau Alpha will entertain with a faculty tea Sunday from 3 to 5. Helen Gay is in charge of the arrangements.

Dr. J. Fern Van Meter, president of the Sigma Nu House Corporation and the chapter's faculty advisor, addressed the chapter at a recent meeting.

Lexington high school seniors will be guests at a number of UK sorority parties. The Kappas will entertain with a swimming party Sunday at Gentry's Old Mill in their honor. Lydie Gooding and Sarah Hall are in charge of the arrangements.

Also on Sunday, the Delta Zetas will entertain the prospective college students with a party at the chapter house.

From 3 to 5 tomorrow afternoon, the Zetas will entertain the high school group with their annual Hawaiian tea. Betty Robinson is in charge.

Beginning at four today, the Chi Omegas will have a picnic at the home of Carolyn McMeekin in honor of high school seniors. Seventy-five invitations have been issued.

The Alpha Gams will entertain the AGR's and the Phi Taus at an open house from 3:30 to 5:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Annette Faulconer entertained the members of Delta Zeta and their dates with a wicker roast last Tuesday week, at her home near Georgetown.

Rupp Second Named To Ky. Hall Of Fame

Coach Adolph Rupp, one of the top basketball coaches in the country, will receive another one of many honors a week from Tuesday when he will be the second occupant of the Louisville Toastmasters Club's Kentucky Hall of Fame. The presentation will be made for his success in bringing athletic fame to the state and the encouragement of the youth of the state to aspire to college training.

The first man to be so honored was Harry W. Schacter, for his foresight and leadership in promoting the welfare of the Commonwealth as President of the Committee for Kentucky.

Rated one of America's top mentors for many seasons, Coach Rupp this past campaign brought the National Invitational Championship as well as the Southeastern Conference crown to the University.

In 35 years under Rupp the fast-breaking Cats have won 283 games with only losing but 64, an average of .818 per cent and probably the best record of any major basketball team.

Coach Rupp who divides his time between basketball and farming, started developing winning basketball teams at Kentucky in 1910. In 1914, he was elected to the Helms Foundation Basketball Hall of Fame, an honor then accorded to only nine other coaches.

Since Rupp has been at the University, the Wildcats have lost only eight games on the home floor at lapsing two seasons, the Ruppmen Lexington. During one period, over 24 consecutive victories and over a five-year period, won 45 straight conference encounters.

Rupp is a native Halstead, Kansas, where he captained his high school basketball team. At the University of Kansas, from which he was graduated in 1923, he played under Dr. Phog Allen. After graduating he coached in the high school at Marshalltown, Iowa, one year, and then at Freeport, Illinois, for four years. His teams at Freeport won 72 games and lost only nine.

Tennis Team Plays Bellevue All-Stars Sat.

By Hal Yard

The weather man split with the tennis team this week. The Wildcats won two and had two routed out. Saturday's big game with Notre Dame had to be cancelled and Tuesday's return game with Georgetown had to be called off. Kentucky marked up a 4-0 victory over Tennessee Tech Friday on the Downing Courts before the rains came and forced cancellation of the rest of the match. It was to have been a seven-point match.

Kentucky traveled to Berea college Monday afternoon and took an 8-1 victory for their second win of the season over the Berea boys. Dick Meadows was the only Kentucky man to run into difficulty and to drop his singles point to Cooper (B) by the scores of 6-4 and 8-6.

In other singles, Captain Al Reynolds (K) defeated "Red" Little (B) in straight sets 6-love and 7-5. Billy Hedges, Kentucky's No. 2 man, won over Leroy Hunt (B) 6-1 and 7-5. John Meyerholz (K) got his point by beating Jimmy Gilreath (B) 6-love and 6-2. Carroll Doolittle won his point although he was on the sick list as was Reynolds. Both boys were having a little trouble with their stomachs. Pears beat Linzer Packard (B) 6-3 and 6-4. Tommy Aubrey added the fifth Kentucky point by beating Joe Bush (B) 6-2 and 6-love.

The No. 1 doubles featured Reynolds and Hedges (K) against Little and Hunt (B) with the Ruppians coming out on top 6-1 and 6-4. Meyerholz and Meadows (K) also won over Cooper and Gilreath (B) by the scores of 6-1 and 6-4. Aubrey with the help of Bill Long, manager, made up the third double doubles team and had little trouble taking the last Kentucky point from Packard and Bush, 6-1 and 6-2.

Tomorrow afternoon, if the weather man is willing, Kentucky fans will have one last opportunity to witness a Wildcat tennis match. He is Downing has scheduled an exhibition game with the Bellevue all-stars. According to Coach Downing, this will be the greatest gathering of tennis stars to appear on the Kentucky courts this season.

Bellevue's No. 1 spot will be filled by Tony Trabert, a 15-year-old lad, but No. 2 in the boy's national ranking. He was runner-up to Dick Moudoukou in the Southern Boys division. Bud Igel, another 15-year-old who also holds a high rating in all-star of the spots on the team. He is the second man. The No. 3 man will be Bob Qualey, 1945 Kentucky high school singles and doubles champion. He will defend his title this summer.

Another member of the team, Joe O'Brien, played on the freshman team at Kentucky in '34 and while traveling before the war played with Bobby Riggs, Gardner Mulloy, and Billy Talbot. His best win was over Don McNeill at Cleveland in the Ohio state championship. Roger Kleinke who is teaching at Bellevue and coaching the team will fill in all-star of the spots on the team. He is also a former Kentucky star, having made his numerals in 1939 as a

'The Lowe-Down'

The following article was clipped out of the New York Times of May 7 and sent to us by J. R. Hunter, a staunch backer of the Wildcats. He sent it to us since he thought it was on the credit side for Kentucky and thought we might want to make mention of it.

The article gives so much credit to Coach Paul Bryant that we thought we would print the article as it appeared in the New York Times.

By Arthur Daley

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 4.—Down in this land of the Blue Grass the horse is king but there are occasions when the hardboots get mildly interested in other sports. Some can even get slightly snafuted about them and the enthusiasm created by the superb University of Kentucky basketball team last season was as genuine and as violent an enthusiasm as you'd find in a fan from Greatpoint (Greenpoint) to the boys for the Doggies.

To date there has been little hoop-la over the Kentucky football team. For quite a few years it has had such a relatively high boiling point that it never has generated a full head of steam. But things will be different henceforth because the Wildcats are embarked on an ambitious program aimed at gridiron greatness and, oddly enough, the young man who has been handed the job is Paul (Bear) Bryant, who has been virtually hiding in the shadows all his life.

He started at the wrong end and, perhaps, he is new at the correct one. The end that the large Mr. Bryant used for beginning operations was right end, which was the wrong end—or is this getting too involved for you? Let's start over again. When Bryant graduated to the varsity eleven in his sophomore season at the University of Alabama was a junior senator patrolling the left end spot, a certain Don Hutson. Ever hear of him? At least it gives you a pretty good notion of the utter obscurity and anonymity to which our hero was forthrightly plunged. The other end from Hutson is manifestly the wrong end. It is all clear now?

To add to the Bryant difficulties, he was no Hutson when it came to catching passes. That obviously is a violent understatement because no one else is either. But Don was getting the headlines while the big, bad Bear was racking up enemy sacks, spilling enemy ball-carriers and raising Cain in general—all done with the abandon of a reckless, hard-as-nails operative whose lone pleasure in life was hurling his huge frame (215 pounds and 6-foot-3) at any rival remaining on his feet.

Personality Kid

Now he's tackling a newer and tougher job. As background he has experience as assistant to Frank Thomas at Alabama and Ed Sanders at Vanderbilt and, after a three-year hitch in the Navy, as head coach at the University of Maryland. This handsome, likable giant made such a tremendous hit there that the students even went on strike when he left—which may give you an idea of the personality he takes into this highly competitive coaching trade. On a performance basis—and how the hardboots go for performances—he wound up his career at Maryland against unbeaten Virginia with its record of sixteen straight victories and inspired his team to go from a 13-6 deficit in the last four minutes to a routing member of the freshman team, and letters in '31, '32, and '33. In 1933 Kleinke was captain of the Wildcat team.

So if the weather man is willing, there promises to be some good tennis on the Downing courts in 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Cats Lose 9-8 To Murray In Final Inning

James A. Baskett

A ninth inning tally climaxed the most exciting game of the current baseball season on Stoll Field Saturday as the "Thoroughbreds" of Murray State Teachers College edged out the "Wildcats." 9-8. Murray overcame an earlier lead of 8-1 with deluge of base hits combined with a series of walks, wild pitches and passed balls.

Vernon Jones, Kentucky pitcher, held Murray to one run until the seventh inning when a mild rain added to the already poor playing condition of the soggy field. Pitcher Floyd Wheeler went the rout for Murray and gave up thirteen hits.

In the final frame with the score tied at 8-8, Jones walked the first batter and was relieved by "Lefty" Jack Wellons. Another walk, an infield out and a hit allowed the winning marker to score.

Brilliant playing vindicated Coach Frank Moseley's decision to start Charlie Rose in left field. Rose collected four hits for five trips to the plate and turned in two very good plays. V. Jones contributed to the Kentucky cause by smacking two home runs over the left field fence. One of his homers cleared the fence by fifty feet.

The leading hitters on the 'Cats team this season are Rose with six hits for eight attempts and Dick Loranace with four hits for eight.

A scheduled game with Eastern Wednesday was rained out. The postponement Saturday will be the Cincinnati at Stoll Field in the first of a two-game series. The other game will be played at Cincinnati Tuesday.

Hoot Combs Appointed Publicity Sports Editor

By O. C. Habard

The University of Kentucky carried its rejuvenation of sports one step further last Saturday when they appointed Carl "Hoot" Combs to the Public Relations department as sports editor. This represents the first time that Kentucky has had a man working full time on sports publicity.

Although few people even know of Combs' appointment, he is already hard at work in his office in Alumni gym, and will take over full time June 1. Combs is a graduate of the University of Kentucky, having majored in Journalism and English. Since being discharged from the Army, he has been doing graduate work at the University in Journalism and part time work on the sports staff of The Lexington Leader.

The new sports publicity chief received a commission in the ROTC while attending school and was inducted into the Army shortly after graduation. He served 32 months overseas and was wounded in the Tunisian campaign while serving with the First Armored Force. Later he became a public relations officer with the Mediterranean Air Transport Service.

Combs entered Kentucky in 1937 after playing high school ball at Hazard and making all-State in basketball in his senior year. He played both varsity basketball and football for Kentucky. Ernal Allen, who plans to return to UK in the fall, is an old team mate of Hoot's in both sports. In one game that Hoot remembers, Allen completed 13 out of 13 passes to him. Noah Mullins is another old team mate of Combs'. It's very encouraging to us to learn of Mr. Combs' appointment, as it shows one step further in the right direction towards our goal of developing Kentucky in the sports world. He is young and we believe capable to handle the job, and if extended the proper co-operation—should be a great help to Wildcat teams.
