Collins—1942 The award of the Silver Star to Major Thomas E. Collins Jr., 24, of Lexington, was announced recently by headquarters of the Ninth Air Force, France. He is a P-47 Thunderbolt pilot and also in the fighter-bomber group commanded by Lt. Col. J. Garrett Jackson. His group has recently received the War Department citation for distinguished units. The group has also received several commendations for the part it has played in spearheading Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army in its thrust across France to the German border.

The citation which tells of his award reads: "The Silver Star Medal is hereby awarded Major Thomas E. Collins, for gallantry in action on July 28, 1944. On this date Major Collins led a squadron of P-47 aircraft upon enemy forces and installations which had been urgently requested by the ground forces. Although the flying conditions were extremely hazardous because of driving rain and limited visibility, Major Collins fearlessly led his squadron in a minimum altitude attack upon the enemy tanks which were vigorously engaging allied forces. Heroically attacking in the face of withering ground fire, the squadron, under Major Collins' brilliant leadership, was instrumental in the successes of the ground forces on that occasion. Prior to his entry into the armed forces in January 1942, Major Collins graduated from the University. He has flown more than one hundred combat missions and wears the Silver Star, The Distinguished Flying Cross, and the Air Medal with twenty Oak Leaf clusters.

The Low-Down

Sixteen major league clubs began the fourth wartime baseball season Tuesday before approximately 150,000 fans. It is a little early for predictions but it is concluded that it will be our all-star, Louis year. The Cincinnati Reds, favorites of most of the population in this part of the country, are supported by most of the sport's authorities as the probable winners of the National league battle. The Detroit Tigers, runners-up of the St. Louis Browns last year, are picked as the probable holders of the 1945 American league title.

This year as well as last year will bring many new names and faces to the grand American sport since the draft and war jobs as well as the old plague of injuries have deprived many clubs of the best material. Pete Gray, the one-armed wonder of the St. Louis Browns, has brought new life and spirit to the game. This player has overcome one of the greatest handicaps to become a better than average ball player.

The saddest part of the new season was the postponement of Monday's presidential game in Washington which, for the past 12 years, had been opened with President Roosevelt throwing out the first ball. The game has lost one of its greatest backers and enthusiasts.

Nation-wide resumption of horse racing by May 10 with certain limitations was an inspiration for the race followers although it was emphasized that conditions may arise to delay the reopening. The conditional go-ahead was announced Monday by the director of the Office of Defense Transportation but the date of the lifting of the ban has not been decided.

President Truman declared that he had no plans for the lifting of the ban against horse racing when consulted at his first news conference.

It was announced however, that all three of the classic races of the racing world, the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes, will be run, probably within the first month after the ban.

Churchill Downs officials are all set for the running of the annual Kentucky Derby and are awaiting only the official signal of resumption. The date has not yet been set but it is concluded that the Kentucky Derby will be run this year.

Coach Len Miller, athletic coach at Morehead State Teachers College, has been reported as critically ill in the St. Joseph infirmary at Louisville.

Coach Miller is a graduate of UK and a former assistant football coach at the University in 1932 and '33 under Harry Gamage. He has been connected with Morehead since 1935.

1918 Armistice
Leo M. Chamberlain has announced that the University faculty and student group will cooperate with the American Legion's community plan for the celebration of victory in Europe. The plan includes a general meeting on Stoll field or in Alumni gymnasium, depending upon weather conditions. As soon as the Man O'War post of the Legion completes its plans, the University will issue instructions to students and faculty about the campus procedure on V-E day.

General down-town celebration of the 1918 armistice was a frenzied celebration as described in the Leader. At 1:47 in the afternoon of November 11, 1918, the flash of the armistice negotiations was posted in the newspaper window. Christ church's chimes tolled the doxology, stens and bells in the police and fire stations sounded, railroad whistles from the Union station screamed. The Leader said, "The torrent of feeling, so long pent up in the hearts of the people, broke loose and ran riot for a full and glorious 24 hours."

General opinion of reaction to V-E day in this war does not seem to run toward displays of "pent up feeling." On the campus, at least, the downfall of Germany will be the signal for renewed effort toward finishing the other half of the world war and for making plans for a lasting peace.

Pat Burnett Chosen To Succeed Fisher
Pat Burnett of Lexington has been elected president of the Freshman club, to succeed Warren Fisher who has entered the service.

At the meeting Tuesday night, Dr. Alberto Server of the Spanish department will speak to the club on South America. The club is for all freshmen and ASTRP students on the campus. The meetings are at 6:30 p.m. in the Card room of the Union building.

World At War
Stubborn fighting remains ahead, but the control of Okinawa and its strategically vital airfields and harbors will soon be ours. Japanese cities have continued to be the targets of incendiary bombs. A raid reported Sunday is claimed to have burned out another 11 square miles of industrial Japan.

HE Produces "AIR SHOWS"
The man behind the scene at WHAS

JEAN CLOSS . . . Production Manager of station WHAS, is a Harvard man who studied to become a stock broker, and now supplies a large market of listeners with shares in his carefully executed shows. Directing the workshop of the air, hundreds of undefined details require Closs' attention. His day begins at nine, but it may, or may not, stop at nine that night, depending upon local issues involved.

Born in New York City, Jean Henri Closs had a wonderful boyhood, traveling about the world with his father, who was correspondent for the London Times. He learned to speak Spanish, in Cuba, before he undertook English . . . and has been equally at home in France, England, or Mexico. He doesn't remember Vienna, where his father was stationed before the outbreak of World War I.

Angular as a weathervane, Closs has a well developed nose for changing trends in radio. He may have learned this during his eight years on the New York Stock Exchange . . . or the New York Daily News, which he left in 1940 to enter the field of radio, as an announcer. Jean subsequently became, in rapid succession, control operator, newscaster, Special Events Director, Publicity and Program Director. Since joining WHAS in 1943, he has done outstanding work handling every type of show, from religious broadcasts to sports programs, including many from remote points.
