Trustees Approve Faculty Changes

Sprowles Appointed To Registrars Post

Among major staff changes approved by the Board of Trustees recently was the promotion effective July 1, of Dr. Lee Sprowles to the position of registrar.

Dr. Sprowles, who has been assistant to the registrar since September, 1948, succeeds Dr. Maurice P. Seay who since 1946 has held two administrative positions, dean of the University and registrar.

Dr. Seay will continue as dean of the University with general supervision of the all-University divisions including the registrar's office.

Dr. Dickey Appointed
Another major staff change effective July 15, is the appointment of Dr. Frank G. Dickey, assistant to the dean of the College of Education, as chairman of the department of school services, succeeding Dr. Charles R. Spain who has resigned the post to become dean of instruction at George Peabody College, Nashville. Dr. Dickey also was promoted from assistant to associate professor of Education.

Other staff changes involving department heads include the appointment of Dr. James S. Calvin as acting head of the department of psychology for 1949-50 and the appointment of Prof. Robert D. Hawkins as head of the department of general engineering. Dr. Calvin succeeds Dr. Frank A. Pattie who requested that he not be reappointed as head of the department in order that he may devote more time to research. The department of general engineering has not previously been under a department head.

It was also announced that Dr. Herbert Sorenson, department of psychology, has been named a distinguished professor of the University, an honor given to only a small number of faculty members who have distinguished themselves as scholars and teachers.

Other promotions, appointments, resignations, and staff changes approved were:

College of Arts and Sciences—C. Arnold Anderson, from associate professor to professor of sociology; Carl B. Cone, from assistant professor to associate professor of history; Jess B. Coffey, from assistant professor to associate professor of philosophy; Merton Englund, from assistant professor to associate professor of history; Thomas P. Field, from instructor to assistant professor of geography; William G. Haag, from assistant professor to associate professor of anthropology; C. W. Hokeness, from assistant professor to associate professor of physical education.

Maurice A. Halch, from instructor to assistant professor of psychology; Herbert R. Humphreys, from assistant professor to associate professor of psychology; Mildred T. Lewis, from assistant professor to associate professor of music; J. Ardy McCauley, from instructor to assistant professor of journalism; William McCubbin, from instructor to assistant professor of physical education; Ernest E. Nelson, from instructor to assistant professor of psychology; Rhea Taylor, from instructor to assistant professor of history; Paul K. Whitaker, from associate professor to professor of German.

Appointments: Guy T. Battie, Oscar O. Brackett, Richard Griffith, and Louis Budd, instructors in English; Nellie Jo Sager and Jack Jesse, part-time instructors in English; Adolph W. Goodman, associate professor of mathematics and astronomy; Robert D. Ward, visiting instructor in history for two months, effective July 1; Arthur Grove, part-time instructor in geography and director of the cartographic laboratory.

James S. Calvin, acting head of the Department of Psychology for 1949-50, Dr. F. A. Pattie having requested that he not be reappointed as head of the department next year; Maurice J. Terman, instructor in psychology; Mary Eades, assistant to the director of the library service for a period of three weeks, effective July 1; Ernest P. Edwards, instructor in zoology; V. F. Cowling, associate professor of mathematics and astronomy; Howard F. McGee, visiting instructor in library science for July and August; George R. Thomas, assistant geologist, Kentucky Geological Survey.

Leaves of Absence: Milo G. Kerner, assistant professor of physical education, granted leave from July 1 to September 1, to attend Army school for physical education training; William W. Brooker, instructor in physical education, granted leave during the months of July and August, to teach at the College of William and Mary.

Resignations: David Otis Kelley, professor and head of the department of library science; Ullman H.

ROTC Men At Camps

Col. G. T. Mackenzie, head of the department of military science and tactics, announced recently that a total of 196 ROTC students are now attending summer training camp at six United States military and air force installations.

Eighty-one students, largest single contingent of UK trainees, already have reported to Camp Campbell where they will receive instruction in infantry tactics.

Other groups and their training sites are 47 air force administration students, Langley Field, Va.; 42 air force engineering students, Chanute Field, Illinois; 23 signal corps students, Fort Monmouth, N. J.; two field artillery students, Fort Bragg, N. C.; and one engineer student, Fort Belvoir, Va.

In order to qualify for reserve commissions, advanced ROTC students must attend at least one summer training period. The UK students now in camp will receive their commissions upon completion of their final year of on-campus training.

A total of 101 students who attended summer camp last year were commissioned earlier this month.

Long, part-time instructor in English, College of Agriculture and Home Economics — Promotions: J. C. Barman, from assistant professor of dairy manufactures and field agent in dairy manufactures to associate professor of dairy manufactures and field agent in dairy manufactures; R. M. Forbes, from assistant professor of animal husbandry and assistant in animal husbandry to associate professor of animal husbandry and associate in animal husbandry; John S. Harrison, from assistant analyst to assistant agronomist; Lawrence S. Bradford, from associate professor of farm management to professor of farm management; O. M. Davenport, from instructor of forestry, in charge of forestry section, to associate professor of forestry, in charge of forestry section, in college of forestry science.

Appointment: Athena Yockos, assistant analyst, department of agronomy.

Leave of Absence: Howard W. Beers, head of the department of rural sociology, granted sabbatical leave of absence from August 1, to April 30, 1950, to serve as Fulbright visiting professor of rural sociology at the Superior School of Agriculture, Athens, Greece.

Resignations: Mrs. May P. MacDonald, home demonstration agent, Graves county; Mildred Dunn, home demonstration agent, Barren County; Mrs. Kathryn S. Calloway, home demonstration agent, Dales County.

College of Engineering — Promotions: David K. Blythe and James L. Leggett, from instructors to assistant professors in civil engineering; Nathan B. Allison, from instructor to associate professor of electrical engineering; Joseph A. Boyd and Earl T. Noble, from instructors to assistant professors of electrical engineering; William P. Savage, from instructor to assistant professor of mechanical engineering; Robert D. Hawkins, from professor of theoretical and applied mechanics to professor of applied mechanics and head of the department of general engineering; Clinton E. (Continued on Page Two)

The above book-shelf view of the bookstore melee is anticlimactic to most students after they have suffered through the agonizing terrors of the registration and classification lines early in the week. Realizing that the most grueling part of the semester is over, the students crowd into the bookstore eagerly, only to create a scene such as this.

Campus Is Scene Of State Meets During Between-Semester Holiday

4-H Club

Fifteen hundred members of clubs, county agents and home demonstration agents met here for the 26th 4-H Week June 7-11.

Under the direction of J. W. Whitehouse, state club leader, the delegates held agricultural demonstrations, a style show, judging contests, crop and livestock studies and election of state officers.

School Of Banking

The second annual Kentucky School of Banking was held June 12-16 on the campus. About 125 bankers from Kentucky, West Virginia and Ohio attended the school, designed to offer intensive professional training for junior banking officials.

The course was sponsored by University College of Commerce and the Kentucky Bankers Association. Members were addressed by prominent bankers and newsmen from Kentucky and other states, and the following University faculty members:

President H. L. Donovan; Prof. E. V. Stahr, dean of the College of Law; Dr. Clifford Bylton, associate professor of speech; and Prof. W. W. Haynes, Dr. Rodney Sullivan, Dr. L. H. Carter, Dr. J. T. Masten and Dr. H. W. Hargreaves, all of the College of Commerce.

Home-makers Meet

Almost 500 young homemakers gathered during the holiday for the fourth state meeting of the Kentucky Association of Future Homemakers of America.

Programs and speeches pointing to FHA's possible contribution to international good will and peace were featured.

New officers were elected and future policies of the group adopted at business sessions.

Alumni Name New Officers

J. Stephen Watkins, Lexington engineer, has been elected president of the UK Alumni Association for the coming year. It was announced at the University's annual Alumni banquet.

Robert H. Hillemeier, Cincinnati insurance executive, is the newly-elected vice president.

The two new officers were elected by approximately 4,000 graduates and former students of the University in recent nation-wide balloting conducted by mail. Watkins succeeds John R. Bullock of Cincinnati as president, while Hillemeier takes over the vice president's post from Bernie Shreve, UK athletic director.

It was also announced that two members of the Association's executive committee were re-elected to their positions in the recent balloting. They are William W. Blanton, Paris attorney; and C. Lee McClain, Bardonia, a former Alumni Association president.

Diercks Leads Choral Groups

A workshop in choral techniques and choral ballet began this week and will last through August 13, according to Dr. Edwin E. Stein, head of the music department.

Prof. Louis H. Diercks, director of the Ohio State University symphonic choir, is conducting the workshop.

In addition, Diercks will direct the University Chorus during the summer session and will conduct seminars and conferences with teachers and students of music.

Also on the music department's summer program will be a concert and marching band clinic for July 23-29. Guest teachers for the clinic will be Bernard Fitzgerald, concert band director at the University of Texas, and Hal Baran, nationally known marching band specialist from Lansing, Michigan.

Applications for the summer mixed chorus are still being accepted. Practice is being held from 2:10 to 3:10 p.m. Anyone interested in joining the class, which offers credit, can obtain further information by calling the Music Department, University extension 109.

50 Students Attend Camp

Fifty engineering students are at Camp Robinson, a 15,000-acre reservation in Breathitt, Perry, and Knott counties, for a six-week period of practical field work in surveying. An additional 50 men will leave in mid-July for a similar period.

Prof. N. E. Shaver, head of the department of civil engineering, and Assistant Professor David K. Blythe are in charge of the group.

Formerly a CCC unit, Camp Robinson has been used annually by UK engineers since 1937, when it was transferred to the University by the government.

Group Backs Moral Values

Groundwork of a program to re-emphasize moral and spiritual values in education were completed by a group of state educators here Monday.

A resolution stating the group's recommendations to formulate the re-emphasis program will be submitted to the State Department of Education, J. M. Twining, chairman of the department's committee on moral and spiritual education, said.

The proposals, designed by approximately 40 Kentucky educators, will recommend that "provisions be made in the structural organization of the State Department of Education for the development of emphasis on moral and spiritual values such as now exists for other fields of education."

In addition, the group will recommend that "a field supervisor in moral and spiritual values be added to the personnel of the department, and that plans be made for regular workshops for a continued development, emphasizing the moral and spiritual values in education."

Six previously selected pilot schools will experiment with the ideas and procedures studied in the workshop, it was explained, with the results to be used as the basis for further study next summer.

Thirty-three teachers from the six schools attended the workshop, which covered all phases of school curricula.

A grant of $1500 from the General Education Board was used in providing scholarships for the teachers attending.

Dr. William Clayton Bower, professor of sociology, was director of the workshop.

Workshops for librarians designed to provide practical assistance for persons with little or no previous training in library science was started Monday and will last through July 9.

Topics for the session include analysis, reader service, selection of library materials, organization of libraries, teaching the use of library, public relations, and evaluating library services.

Speech Expert Gives Lecture

Dr. Charles Van Riper, director of the Western Michigan College of Speech, conducted a lecture-workshop yesterday on "Helping the Speech Crippled." He explained such problems as delayed speech, stuttering and spastic speech.

Dr. Van Riper came to Lexington as a visiting lecturer for the speech clinic which opened at the University last week under the sponsorship of the UK department of English.

A second visiting speech authority, Dr. Lionel Crocker, chairman of the department of speech at Denison University, will be on the campus next week to assist a workshop staff which includes Dr. Clifford Bylton, associate professor of speech and director of the workshop; Dr. Herman Spivey, head of the department of English; Dr. Frank Dickey, assistant dean of the College of Education; Dr. J. Reid Sterrett, associate professor of speech; and Wallace Briggs, instructor of English.

Summer Registration Passes 37,000 Mark

July 2 Is Deadline To Apply For Summer Term Degrees

All seniors who expect to complete their requirements for graduation at the close of the summer term and who have not at a previous time made application for degrees, are requested to do so July 1 or 2.

This applies also to Graduate Students who expect to complete their requirements for graduate degrees.

All applications should be filed in Room 16 of the Administration Building.

Candidates for the bachelor's degree will be charged a graduation fee of $9.00. This will cover the rental of cap and gown, diploma fee, the Kentuckian and other necessary expenses. Candidates for advanced degrees, other than the doctorate, will be charged a fee of $17.00 which will cover the above with the exception of the Kentuckian and in addition the cost of the hood to be presented to the candidate.

Graduation fees are payable not later than the fourth day preceding the commencement which will be August 8.

New Yorker To Talk Here

Miss Mary Gould Davis, of New York, nationally famous author, will be the guest speaker June 24 for beginning librarians. She will speak at 2:30 p.m. in room 314, of the Margaret I. King Library. Her subject will be "storytelling."

Miss Davis will be accompanied by Miss M. Zimmerman, head of Berea College. Miss Gilbert was a consultant for the library workshop last summer.

Workshops Begin Session

Six nationally known educators are serving as consultants in two workshops which opened at the College of Education Monday, according to Dr. Frank G. Dickey, assistant to the dean.

Visiting consultants are Dr. H. L. Caswell, dean of Teachers College, Columbia University; Dr. E. B. Norton, president of Alabama State Teachers College; Mrs. Nell Winn McElhenny, administration and research consultant to the state department of public health; Dr. Helen Shacter, consulting psychologist, Northwestern University; Dr. Paul E. Blackwood, U.S. Office of Education; and Dr. Gertrude Whipple, supervisor of language education for the Detroit public schools.

The two workshops are for two and four-day sessions, respectively. The two-week session deals primarily with administrative problems of Kentucky schools, such as financial, personnel and public relations. The four-week workshop is concerned with the development of new concepts of leadership in elementary education.

College of Education faculty members on the workshop staff are Dr. Ralph W. Cherry, chairman of the Division of Administration; Mrs. May M. Duncan, head of the elementary education department; Lyman Gieger, director of the University training school; Dr. Charles R. Spain, chairman of the Division of School Services; and Dr. Dickey.

Covington Boys Recipient Of Largest University Grant

Don Hartford, was named the recipient of the 1949 UK Alumni Loyalty Fund scholarship. Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, chairman of the University scholarship committee has announced.

Hartford was graduated this month from Covington Holmes high school. He will enter the University in September.

The Alumni Loyalty Fund scholarship, established in 1948, is the largest single scholarship offered to UK students. It is valued at approximately $2800, with the funds made available at the rate of $700 a year for each of the four years the recipient attends the University.

Nominations for the scholarship are made by individual members of

List Is Incomplete; 3 Colleges Report

Registration of all University students stood at 37,466 yesterday for the summer session, according to a statement from the registrar's office.

Tomorrow is the deadline for entering registration classes, and late registrants, plus those enrolling for special short courses, are expected to increase the summer session total to considerably higher than the above figure.

Veterans' enrollment exceeds by several hundred the number expected for the summer session, according to officials in the veterans' office.

Enrollment for the special summer session in Mexico for Spanish and teachers for the Spanish language numbered approximately 20, according to Dr. Hobart Ryland, head of the department of Romance Languages.

This number includes 10 Kentucky students and at least two other students from out-of-state colleges and universities. Dr. Ryland said, Dr. Alberta W. Sever, associate professor of Spanish and head of the Mexican summer session, open the school in Pueblo Monday.

Dr. Ryland stated further that all University credit will be granted all students attending the Mexican session. In addition to regular classes, students will take at least five week-end trips to such nearby points of interest as the volcanoes, Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl, and the pyramid of Cholula.

Kentucky students enrolled for the Mexican session are Joe Kay-anough, Kitty King, Robbie Sue Orr, Sara Outland, Henrietta Redding, Leanna Cornelius, Mary Louise Covington, Berta Mae Miller, Mrs. Marilee McCown, and Paul Darvall.

The summer term here at the University will continue, with an Independence Day holiday July 4, and August 13. Summer commencement exercises are scheduled for Friday, August 12.

Chemists Join Staff

Two new faculty members have recently been added to the staff of the department of chemistry, according to Dr. Leo R. Dawson, head of the department.

Dr. William F. Wagner and Dr. Howard M. Zimmerman, Jr., will both hold the rank of instructor.

Dr. Wagner, a former Hanover College chemist, holds his doctorate from the University of Chicago and the Ph.D. degree in analytical chemistry from the University of Illinois. His professional experience includes five years as research analyst and research chemist with the Illinois State Geological Survey.

Dr. Zimmerman received his master's degree at Stanford University and a Ph.D. in theoretical and physical chemistry at the University of Oregon. During the war he served as an electronics officer in the U.S. Army and for the past several years studied theoretical chemistry at the University of Utah under a postdoctoral research fellowship offered by the American Chemical Society.

Commissions Awarded To ROTC Officers

Reserve commissions in the US Army were awarded to 53 advanced second ROTC officers, according to an announcement made by Col. G. T. Mackenzie, head of the department of military science and tactics.

President H. L. Donovan presented commissions to 40 prospective infantry officers, 12 signal corps men and one ordnance candidate.

Reserve commissions in the signal corps were awarded to Douglas Albert, Guy Brooks, Jack Carpenter, James Combs, Emory Dyer, Grover Ethington, Robert Kimberley, Merl Moore, William Sneed, Michael Yackobsky, Walter Eash, and Billy Gray. One ordnance commission was awarded to John L. Roberts.

In The Neck Again

Scores of veterans attending the University under terms of Public Law 346, the GI Bill, have learned with considerable amazement that, because of their failure to notify the veterans office that they would attend summer school, their subsistence checks will be several weeks late in arriving.

It seems that veterans were required to go to the campus veterans office sometime in May and signify their intention of continuing in training during the summer. Otherwise, subsistence payments would be stopped as of June 4. Those who did not thus make known their intentions were put through the bothersome red-tape of "re-entering" training this week.

The inordinately long time between the date of re-entry and the date the first checks arrive has always been annoying to veterans, and the fact that many of them will not be paid until about August 1, when summer school is practically over, is a circumstance which borders on the outrageous.

Now, the joker in this whole deal is that a great number of veterans were not advised of the necessity of reporting to the veterans office during the specified time last month. The only announcement made by that office is alleged to have been in the form of notices posted on various bulletin boards around the campus. Campus bulletin boards, which are generally so cluttered with absurd trivia that the word "bulletin" becomes a joke, are hardly acceptable media for the transmission of important information to the students. The Kernel, which in lieu of individual contact through the mails, would have been the logical organ for reaching the student veterans, did not receive a single straggle of information regarding the matter, although a reporter was assigned to cover the veterans office weekly.

Of course, the delayed receipt of subsistence checks is not, so far as we know, a matter of life or death; but this new evidence of bureaucratic failure is as irritating as it is discommoding. Many students bought and paid for their eligibility time with remarkably precious coin. The red tape with which they still have to cope will certainly cause many of them to question whether or not it was worth the trouble.

Vale, Deissicus Helenicus

The Kernel staff which makes its debut this week would be guilty of the basest ingratitude if it failed to appropriately note the retirement of one of the most distinguished editors of the newspaper's career.

No one could have been more unflatteringly diligent in pressing for the best interests of the University, the student body, and, consequently, of the community itself, than was Helen Driscoll during her tenure as the Kernel's editor. Even though the editorial stand she took may not have been the most popular at the moment, time, which has already vindicated many of her expressions, will surely vindicate the rest.

Associated with scholastic publications for seven years—four on the staff of U-Highlights and three with the Kernel—she steps from the editorial chair covered with honors. A great career of service awaits her.

The present staff, which experience has taught to be fish-eyed about most things, is compelled to admit that an associate who has so commanded our respect cannot but have fixed our attention as well.

Squirrel Visits Registration, Says It's A Human's Life

By Ruth Adams

Once again the Alumni Gym was the scene of frenzied, would-be students struggling to classify. The best way to prove the similarity between registration and establishing a beach-head is debatable but a letter this office received a day or so ago shows us the attitude an outsider has of registering. Here it is just as we received it:

Office of the Kernel
University of Kentucky

Dear sir,
My name is George. That's all, just George. In my community you don't need anything formal like a sir-name. Anyway, who's gonna call a squirrel mister? Yep, that's me. My home is the fourth tree on the right as you walk from Patterson to Boyd Hall. Our hole is not the best, but we call it home.

Yesterday I was sitting down on the ground sunning myself and noting that the hair on my tail was thinning in preparation for summer when I nearly got stepped on. Yeh, the nerve of some humans! They all seemed in a big hurry to get across the street (like always) so I yawned and tagged along. I had a pretty close shave. Had to scamper to get out of the way of some tin, shell-like things that had wheels. I decided maybe I ought to travel more—just for experience, I mean.

The humans were pouring in a building. I waited until I could sneak through the door unnoticed. I found myself a good seat over the door and took a slow look around.

It almost made me dizzy to watch 'em go around. The humans, that is. No wonder that fellow down there had water on his forehead like all humans do when they get excited. I thought, and paused to switch a fly off my head with my tail. I wondered where they were going. I saw some woman repeat the same circle three times and each time her expression grew more

Beard Signs Contract With Boston Braves

The Boston Braves front office announced Wednesday that Ralph Beard had been signed to a Braves' contract and would report immediately to their farm club at Pawtucket, R. I.

The UK 1949 graduate will play at second base for Class B New England League club.

Officials of the Indianapolis Olympians basketball team said that Beard's baseball duties will not hinder him from joining the National Basketball League team this fall as the baseball season will end a month before the basketball session starts.

Beard was signed after a tryout with the Braves team. Last Saturday afternoon 1948-49 Sports Editor Tom Diskin of the Kernel asked Braves' Manager Billy Southworth about the tryout and Southworth replied that Beard "had looked very good in the workout."

Beard had been the regular second sacker for the UK team until this season when his duties with the Olympians in exhibition basketball games prevented him from playing.

The first wistaria vine and minnow plant were introduced into New England by Lorenzo de' Medici, Italian fruit peddler who sold his wares to visitors at the governor's mansion on West Fifth Street.

Charles E. Whaley, Vice President Alben W. Barkley, and Miss Mary Sue McWhirter were the recipients of the Algonquin Sydney Sullivan Medallions at the June commencement. Whaley was selected as the outstanding man of the graduating class. Vice President Barkley received the award as the state's outstanding citizen, and Miss McWhirter, the outstanding woman of the senior class.

Sullivan Award Given Alben Barkley, Seniors

Vice President of the United States Alben W. Barkley received the 1949 Sullivan Medallion award, an annual presentation to Kentucky's outstanding citizen of the year, at the 82nd annual commencement held this month. Vice President Barkley, who was principal speaker at the commencement, was presented with the award on the basis of his outstanding service to the Commonwealth. Also receiving Sullivan Medallion awards were Mary Sue McWhirter and Charles E. Whaley, both members of the graduating class. Miss McWhirter, who received the Bachelor of Arts degree, has served as president of Chi Delta Phi, women's literary society; vice president of the Art Club; and was a member of Mortar Board, senior women's leadership society; the Student Union Board; YWCA cabinet; and Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary society. ### Fucci's .440 Clip Paces Cat Hitters

Dominic Fucci, hard hitting Kentucky catcher and outfielder, paced the Wildcats at the plate during the 1949 baseball season, records disclose. Fucci blasted the ball at a .440 clip during the year. Fucci gathered 33 hits in 75 trips to the plate during the year to become the only Kentucky hitter over the 400 mark—and to become the envy of the big league scouts who reportedly are offering him money in five figures to sign a contract. Allen Hamilton, Cat left fielder, followed Fucci's mark with a .348 average gained on 33 hits in 97 trips while Ben Zaranaka gathered a .297 average (17 hits out of 57) and Walt Hirsch hit 215 with 35 hits in 111 trips. Fucci also paced the Wildcats in runs batted in with 20 and tied for the lead in home runs with Dick Ramsey at five. Walt Hirsch paced the club in times at bat with 111, runs scored with 27, and hits with 35. Ray Mignerey was probably Kentucky's most effective pitcher although Roy Ford posted a better winning percentage. Mignerey won seven and dropped two for a .778 percentage while Ford won four and dropped but one for an .800 percentage. Mignerey worked the most games, 12, and pitched the most innings, 80. He also had the most strike-outs with 54. Ford pitched 52 innings and had 24 strike-outs against 20 passes.

A sponge was carried by Roman soldiers as a drinking vessel. As far as the Cats were concerned, the top moment of the tourney for them was Mignerey's two-hit shutout of Richmond. Sports writers at the game tabbed him as one of the collegiate players to watch. Summaries follow: June 9 Kentucky . . . . . 200 001 000 - 3 6 2 Wake Forest . . . . . 000 000 233 - 5 7 2 Hirsch and Fucci; Vanderclute, Mustian (8) and Batchelor. ### Cats Defeated In Final Game By W. Forest

The Sporting Scene was crowded with events during the school vacation and in case you missed a few of them here they are— The middleweight crown of the world changed hands last week when Jake LaMotta stopped Marcel Cerdan in the 16th round at Detroit. Cerdan hurt his shoulder in the early rounds of the match and was forced to continue one-handed after that. However, of almost equal importance, was the fight held over Wilmington, Delaware way this Tuesday. The Rock—Rocky Graziano—started his comeback trail with a convincing second round k.o. of one Bobby Claus. Rocky is back in good graces now and shouldn't be too long before he is battling once again for the middleweight title he lost once upon a time to that Gary boy, Tony Zale. Of course the biggest news, and one we're sure you didn't miss was the shooting of Eddie Watkins, Philadelphia first teacher, in Chicago by a love-sick nineteen-year-old girl, Eddie is still leading in the balloting for first base on the National League team. It reminded the old-time fans of the time Billy Jurges was shot in Chicago way back in 1922 by another woman. And speaking of All-Star balloting, Cleveland fans are having a hard time deciding what position to vote for Lou Bourdrea, the Indians manager. Lou seemed to have relinquished his shortstop post to Ray Boone and shifted himself to third base. And then, just as suddenly, Lou was playing first base, replacing Mickey Vernon who is in a batting slump. He'll probably be behind the plate pretty quick—and that is no joke as he has caught several games in the majors. Of more possible interest to Kentucky fans was the Kentucky-Indiana high school all-star basketball game played at Indianapolis last week. Kentucky almost pulled its second win out of the hat but faltered with the score knotted at 61-61 and with 57 seconds left. The Hoosiers dumped in five points in just a few seconds and it was all over. The Wake Forest team which stopped the Kentucky baseball club in the district three play-offs proved they have what it takes by winning their series with Notre Dame in the East in the NCAA finals. Kentucky gave them a battle all the way and at least have the consolation of knowing it took the Eastern champs to knock them out of the running. The Cincinnati Reds pulled a couple of the biggest trades in the majors during vacation time. The Reds got Walker Cooper for Ray Mueller and Harry Walker and Peanuts Lowery for Frankie Baumholtz and Hank Sauer. Powell Croser, Jr., Redler owner, proved conclusively that the Reds aren't afraid to pay somebody some money. The contract for Cooper which the Reds accepted calls for something like $28,000—a year that is—and those of Walker and Lowery are both said to be five figure salaries.

Continued from Page Two) perplexed. I decided her feet hurt. It occurred to me that a fellow could make a million with a soda fountain. Two fellows stopped beneath me and I heard one of them say that he couldn't get any classes without arguing himself blue in the face. He looked pretty normal to me. The other one said he had turned his cards into the dean or bean or something. I couldn't understand him very well for his voice was muffled by the handkerchief he used to mop off the water on his face. I just couldn't understand why some humans kept running up to those tables and talking with the calm, bored ones sitting behind them who just nodded and sometimes scratched a card with a sort of stick. The humans looked miserable if they couldn't get it scratched, yet they kept going back for more. It didn't make any sense to me so I slid down a pole and went back to my tree to relax with a few of last year's nuts. I told my wife, Annie, (she's a red squirrel from Bell County) how I had seen these humans carrying on but she wouldn't believe me. So I am writing to you like humans do when they have a problem. Will you write a little piece about what I saw and put it in your paper so I can prove to Annie that I wasn't hittin' the bottle again? Gratefully yours, GEORGE (Yes, George, we humans do act peculiar at times but we have to if we want to stay in school. All the hocus-pocus you watched is what we call religion and I'm afraid it is necessary. I hope this convinces Annie that her husband has not been coveting.)
