

STUDENT UNION BUILDING AT UK MAY BE REALITY

Additional Loan of $399,000 From Federal Government May Be Used for Long Sought Structure

SUM NOW HALF OF ORIGINAL REQUEST

Construction of New Buildings Will Begin in Mid-December

Approval of a $399,333 federal loan and a $165,000 grant was given to the University by Secretary of the Interior Ickes, Washington, last week. This allotment, with others, brings the total sum up to $765,000. The original sum sought was $1,300,000.

Buildings to be erected from the loans are a central heating plant, an engineering building, a student union building, and an addition to the law building.

The new heating plant, which will serve the entire campus, will be erected at the northeast corner of the storage warehouse, located on South Limestone street.

Maury J. Crutcher, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said that the heating plant will replace the old one, located back of the Administration building which was erected in 1892, and that several individual plants located in the various buildings will be abandoned.

A student union building, long the aim of the University students, will include the University book store, cafeteria, ballroom, lounging rooms, recreation rooms and possibly a swimming pool.

The new engineering building, the first step toward a centralized engineering college, will be located opposite the Wendt garage, nearly in the center of the campus.

Work on the proposed projects will start within a month and should be completed in a year.

Cats Given Even Break To Cop Thanksgiving Game; Stadium Is Complete Sellout For Classic

Vol Captain, Kentucky Guard Likely to Be Missing from Lineups

GAME WILL DECIDE SUCCESS OF SEASON

Bands of Both Schools Will Indulge in Battle Royal of Music

One of the most thrilling battles ever staged on any gridiron is expected Thursday when the University of Kentucky Wildcats and the University of Tennessee will clash in their annual Turkey Day game on Stoll field.

The two teams will go into battle with everything to win, and nothing to lose. Each club has won and lost four games this season and the outcome of the Thanksgiving game will determine which team will end the season above the 500 mark.

The Kentucky-Tennessee feud was started in 1899 and Thursday's battle will be the thirtieth fight between them. Tennessee won the first game by 12 to 0, and has had the upper hand since, winning 13 games to eight for Kentucky. The others resulted in ties. Kentucky's most thrilling victory was scored the last time the Cats handed the Volunteers a 23 to 23 triumph.

Although they have failed to defeat the Volunteers since 1925, some of the Wildcats' greatest achievements in football have been in the years since 1925. In 1925 and 1931 the Cat-Vol tussle ended in a tie. Each year the championship outfit was headed for a prominent coach and coach.

The Tennessee outfit was defeated by Vanderbilt last year for the first time in nine years and they are expected to come back with a rebound on Turkey Day. The Volunteers' slate shows that after each defeat suffered they fell the other come back in the following game to whip their foes.

Kentucky players also can be counted on to come back for a better after their heart-breaking loss last week to Tulane. Their workouts this week indicate they are determined to follow the Vanderbilt example of defeating the Vols.

The two teams are expected to crowd about top floors of the best condition they have been in since their opening battles. (Continued on Page Six)

GREETINGS

Thursday is the national day of Thanksgiving. The President of the United States issues a proclamation; every governor issues the same, and some states mayors use the opportunity for calling on the people to be thankful. I am, however, putting it from the opposite point of view, and trying to say why we should be thankful.

First, it should be remembered that we have had no floods, no droughts, and no serious epidemics in our commonwealth. Second, we are gradually recovering from the depression. Third, the student body has been well and fairly happy, and the University staff has done its part for purpose and determination. The University has been able through the financial support given it by the public to continue instruction and to hold up the standard. It might also be said that the University is thankful for the opportunity that it has as a state university to serve people.

The best keg was selected. But this was in the days of Prohibition, and the Anti-Saloon league, characterized by the pretenses of Carrie Nation, insisted that the use of a beer keg meant that the University had "water kegs" but the following year it was the "beer keg."

UK ORCHESTRA BIG SUCCESS AT SUNDAY VESPER

Near Capacity Audience Is In Attendance at Memorial Hall to Hear Groups' Initial Concert

FIVE NUMBERS ARE PLAYED AT SERVICE

Old Familiar Songs Included in Program of Orchestra

By DAVE SALYERS
Playing to another near-capacity vesper and encores, the University Philharmonic orchestra, under the capable direction of Professor Carl Lampert, presented the fourth program of the Sunday afternoon vesper music series Sunday in Memorial hall.

The orchestra, which this year is the most complete in its history, turned in another very creditable performance and reassured the tremendous popularity that it has enjoyed in the past few years. The very best of talent combined with the best possible style and cooperation was evident in every number presented.

The program consisted of five numbers: "Finlandia," by Sibelius; the first movement from the "Unfinished Symphony," by Schubert; "The Dark Madonna," by Donaldson; "La Media Noche" from "Hispania Suite," by Strossel; and "Waltz from the ballet 'Dornroschen'" by Tschalkowsky. Outstanding numbers were the "Dark Madonna," a futuristic number which brought every instrument into play, the popular movement from the "Unfinished Symphony," and the familiar waltz from "Dornroschen." As an encore, the orchestra repeated the number from the "Hispania Suite."

One of the best features of the program was the fact that each number was familiar and short. The program left many wishing that more numbers would be played, a feeling that is a fitting tribute to any presentation.

The next vesper program will feature the Old Harper Songs, an octet of well-known singing program of early American folk music.

The meet will get underway at Louisville at 10 o'clock, so that members of the squad will be able to return in time for the Kentucky-Tennessee football game in the afternoon. STUDENT OPINION

Dear Editor: There have been several articles in the editorial columns of 'The Kernel' concerning freshmen, traditions, and school spirit. A school that is rich in traditions is one to be proud of, but there are certain traditions that become antiquated in any school. It is no longer necessary to insult a freshman's intellect to prevent him from becoming a ruler of the campus. It seems to be an indication of fear on the part of the upperclassmen that they should attempt to heap petty restrictions and rulings upon the heads of the freshmen. The great majority of freshmen depend upon the upperclassmen for leadership and guidance, and respect them as superior students. When the upperclassmen flaunt their authority in the faces of the freshmen class, then they, the upperclassmen, have succeeded in destroying any tendency toward school spirit that the freshmen might have.

As a whole, the freshmen class is proud to be included in the student body of the University of Kentucky. They are willing to give everything they can in order to keep tradition alive on the campus, but they cannot succeed because of the actions that the upperclassmen take against them. School spirit cannot be forced upon a group of students. It must be offered them by the upper portion of the student body with all sincerity and respect. The lack of school spirit is not the fault of the freshmen; the fault lies entirely with the upperclassmen. The freshman is not an animal; he has a few sensibilities; he can sense the lack of respect for the University on the part of the upperclassmen. Only a short time is required for freshmen to become bitter and prejudiced when this limitation is placed upon him. He soon learns that sophistication is the order of the age, and that he will become an object of ridicule if he shows any trace of emotion. It is impossible to attend any student gathering and enter into any organization except for scathing comments.

After this discouraging introduction to the present day student's idea of school spirit, how can the freshmen be expected to have any degree of enthusiasm for the University? Then, when the upperclassmen attempt to force the freshmen, by the authority of the Student Council, to become imbued with school spirit, they are confessing their own disregard of traditions as they should be observed on any campus.

This article would have no more fitting conclusion than the following paragraph taken from President McVey's commencement address of June 6, 1932:

"A university is a place; it is a parish. . . . It is the center where ambitious youth gathers to learn; it protects the traditions, honors the new and tests its value; it believes in truth, protests against error and leads men by reasoning rather than by force."

SHOP SIGHTS

By BETTY EARLE

It really looks as if the holidays were creeping up on us now—what we all look at the Holiday House, streamers, and what not. But Wolf-Wile's is all ready for them, with their Holiday House of Christmas cards and wrappings established in the middle of the first floor. It seems early for this, but you know a month isn't a very long time, especially if you're planning personal printed or engraved cards, so take a look at the Holiday House. Don't forget that the wrappings are half the fun of Christmas, particularly if you save the ribbons! The trickiest bit I saw had a white background with black deer sprinting through silver pines.

Graves-Cox says this is Arrow Week, gentlemen, so this is a fine opportunity to write home for that extra bit. Great occasions must be celebrated! Tell the home folks about those swanky new rouch weave shirts, styled by Arrow, with wide button-down collars—Kent flair. However, don't be too enthusiastic or dad will probably spend your allowance on some for himself. Then there are wool ties to match—pair up a solid color with the dominant one in the plaid shirt you're buying. And bright plaid mufflers, wool gloves (each finger guaranteed to be a different color!) and, if you really want to be seen, try the new striped socks—but please, not all at once!

Hats are coming to the front! Flowers, veils, flat furs—in fact, nearly everything but the kitchen sink—and right in the front! Sometimes they have a little trouble getting it all in the front, so excess is put on top. Shipps has a new type they call Lucky Strike—a turned up bill effect of galaxy or astral-

Alumni News

By C. T. Hertsch

Mrs. Adam L. Estelle (Catherine G. Carmody, A. B. '07) drove down from Chicago with a party of five and her son Jack for the Homecoming Game and had the pleasure of meeting a number of classmates and old friends.

George T. Bogard, B. M. E. '08, was fatally injured in an automobile collision on U. S. Highway No. 31, near Elizabethtown, Ky., the night of Nov. 14, enroute to his home in Lexington, following a tour of Kentucky Utilities offices in western Kentucky. Mr. Bogard was vice-president of the Kentucky Utilities Co. in charge of maintenance and operations. He had been connected with the company since its organization in 1912 and was engineer in charge of construction of Dix River Dam. Mr. Bogard and family moved to Lexington from Louisville two years ago when the offices of the company were transferred to Lexington.

Paul Francis, B. M. E. '11, president of the Franco-Lexington Co., Inc., Tenn.; Frank T. Miles, B. M. E. '11, president of the M. L. Co., Pa.; Thomas and Albert E. Fisher, manufacturer of fire extinguishers, Ft. Thomas, Ky. (all B. M. E. '11) were back for the K. and Florida game and were as happy to be here as their old friends were to see them again. Fisher's impersonation of Walter K. in the Strollers' production of The College Widow and his hectic couch which never failed to scatter students of the prep. dept. were masterpieces and will be long remembered by his flow students.

James F. Corn, A. B. '16, is practicing law at Lexington, Tenn.

Iley B. Browning, B. S. in Geology '18, came to Cleveland to see the U. of Ky. and Florida game and meet old friends. Iley is a geologist with offices at Ashland, Ky. He became interested in oil and gas and prospecting immediately after graduation and has attained success in those fields.

William S. Moore, B. M. E. '17, and wife of Pittsburg, Pa., stopped over on their way to Louisville (Mr. Moore's Kentucky home) for a short visit with his classmates, Maury and Mrs. Crutcher (Vie Tolen name). Mr. Moore is with the United Cork Companies, Bessemer Bldg., Pittsburg, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Moore visited the Alumni Office with Maury and were pleased to hear about his old University friends and see the campus improvements.

Mr. Garland H. B. Davis, A. B. in Chemistry '21, has been promoted from Assistant Director of Research to Director at the "Ego" Laboratories of the Standard Oil Development Company, Elizabeth, N. J. Home: 19 Pinyng Place, A. B. 2.

Mervin K. (Blondie) Eblen, L. E. '21, is practicing law at Hazard, Ky. "Blondie" was the first president of the Student Council and has been very interested in campus activities. He was a welcome visitor at the Alumni Office recently.

Lloyd B. Averett, A. B. Com. '23, M. A. in Insurance '25, is on the staff of the Life Insurance Association

Bureau at Hartford, Conn. Lloyd had his induction in life insurance business in connection with the local branch of the Mutual Benefit Ins. Co. of N. J. Later, he was appointed instructor in insurance at the University and was instrumental in the establishment of group insurance for the University staff. Mrs. Averett (Margaret Van Meter, A. B. '25) will join him soon. His address is the Garde Hotel, Hartford, Conn.

Jack W. Green, Eng. '24, has a pair of keen eyes—Saturday at the Ohio State-Northwestern game he spotted Bob Zupke, coach of the Illinois team, scouting the contest. Jack is now sporting Bob's autograph which was written right under Coach Schmidt's picture on the program. Zupke by the way told Jack that Ohio looked "too good" to him. The grizzled old veteran smiled all over when Jack congratulated him on his recent victory in the west coast. Jack, manager of the Mansfield branch office of the Standard Sanitary Company, was president of Suky while on the campus and was active in campus affairs.

Clyde W. Gray, B. S. M. E. '25, who is now with the Superheater Company, East Chicago, Ill., has a brother, Francis, in the sophomore class of the College of Engineering. Clyde was president of his class and a member of the student council. In a letter to C. R. Melcher of November 15, he says: "Although I have not been closely associated with the University during recent years, I still look back with remembrance upon my pleasant associations during my tenure as president of the Student Council."

Ruth T. Melcher, M. A. in Psych. '27, is at the University of Vienna, Austria, attending the lectures and working in the psychological laboratories of Drs. Carl and Charlotte Buehler. After receiving her Master's degree from the University of Kentucky, she was research fellow at the Training School, Vineland, N. J., 1928; senior fellow, 1928-29; research assistant 1929-31; co-author of "Mental Deficiency: Due to Birth Injury" with Drs. A. E. Doll, E. A. Phelps; received Ph.D. Johns Hopkins, 1934, in Psychology, former Dean of Men at the University and now Professor Emeritus.

Mabel Graham, A. B. '28, was awarded first prize of $1000 in a contest for the best amateur photographs held by 64 newspapers throughout the U. S. Miss Graham is a teacher in the Lebanon, Ky. High School. Her "Portrait of Margaret," a picture of a laughing little girl in a great clutching balloon, was entered in the national contest by the Louisville Courier-Journal and a copy of it appeared in the pictorial news section of the Courier-Journal, Nov. 17, and also in the Time magazine, Nov. 18. Time says: "The judges were: Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President; Mrs. Emily ('Etiquette') Clark; H. I. Hull; Max Baucus; Lowell Thomas; Editor Kenneth Wilson Williams of the Eastman amateur publication; Mrs. Roosevelt and Post were unable to attend the final judging, but the other three took their work seriously. For two solid hours newshawks waited outside glass doors while inventor Maxim gesticulated with his glasses. Lecturer Thomas propped print after print on an easel. Editor Williams quizzed, argued, paced the floor. Finally the judges emerged, smiling amiably and announced their decision."

Miss Graham's University friends congratulate her upon her success.

Miss Charley Smith, B. S. '28, whose engagement to Mr. Donald B. Sutherland, Detroit, Michigan, was announced last week, was graduated from the University of Kentucky in the class of 1928. She was an English major in the College of Arts and Sciences and was one of the most outstanding girls in the University. She was president of the Women's Self-Government Association, sponsor of the band during her junior and senior years, and was May Queen in 1928.

Mr. Sutherland is a brother of Prof. D. B. Sutherland of the Department of English. He attended the University, class of '29, and was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. He is now associated with the J. M. and L. A. Osborn Co., manufacturers and distributors of sheet metal, of Detroit, Cleveland, and Buffalo.

Miss Virginia Nevis A. B. '32, has been named as supervisor of District 3, which includes Northern and Central Kentucky, for Writers Projects, an organization which will function as a part of the federal government's plan to produce an official American guide for all sections of the country.

Writers and research workers are being employed in each locality and the efforts of each will be assembled in the various district offices and eventually forwarded to the Louisville office of the WPA, where all material will be edited carefully before being forwarded to Washington for compilation into six volumes of 600 pages each representing the entire United States.

Harrison Elliott, A. and S. '34,

Martin, Ky., who wrote the first American folk opera, "Call of the Cumberland," will be in Lexington for the Thanksgiving game. He will broadcast over WLAP from the University studios a number of original folk songs.

THE KENTUCKY KERNEL

OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

Entered at the Post Office at Lexington, Kentucky, as second class matter under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Published on Tuesdays and Fridays

NORMAN C. GARLING Editor-in-Chief

HERE SHALL THE KERNEL ALL STUDENT RIGHTS MAINTAIN

ELECTIONS VOID!

Now that the smoke has cleared away and we can get a clear picture of what really happened last Thursday in the class elections which were declared void by the Student Council, it is generally agreed that the action of the governing body, although drastic, is most commendable.

In the past it has been the case that the members of the Student Council themselves were accomplices of the "crooked politicians," and not only allowed evident irregularities in the elections, but even aided in their accomplishment.

It was evident that something had to be done when it was disclosed that "ringers" had been voting under the guise of prominent persons on the campus in spite of the efforts of the members of the council and the challengers, which both factions had stationed in the polls.

It is the desire of the members of the council to formulate a plan which would eliminate all of the expense, work, and unpleasantness which are involved in the carrying out of an election.

THANKSGIVING HOLIDAYS

Thanksgiving at the University means two big things to the students—turkey and the annual Tennessee game. Of these two the latter is certainly the more important.

Likewise has another tradition concerning Thanksgiving at the University been handed down—namely that of a celebration following the victory.

However, it has been several years since such a celebration has been held, the reason being that it has been several years since Kentucky has beat Tennessee.

From the foregoing The Kernel feels justified in advocating a holiday on Friday and Saturday if we win Thanksgiving.

THANKS

In line with its policy of criticizing with the hope of bettering the situation where criticism is due, and bestowing praise when such betterment takes place, The Kernel wishes to compliment the various tobacco companies which have installed smoke-reducing equipment in order to eliminate the nuisance formerly arising from their plants during the redrying season.

Let's beat Tennessee and celebrate Friday and Saturday!

used to becloud the campus during the operating period.

These stokers were installed at a cost of approximately $25,000 and much praise is due the officials of the various companies who have shown their willingness to cooperate in making the atmosphere of the campus more desirable by riding it of this heavy, obnoxious smoke.

And so we say "Thanks" to these companies for permitting us to enjoy the full benefits of clean, fresh air, so beneficial to the health of the growing, normal American youth represented at the University.

YOUTH AND AGE

Frequently, we hear older persons, when discussing members of the younger generation who have come into positions of importance and responsibility, express the opinion that "he or she" is too young for the job.

We have never been willing to agree that those more matured years have been the only fitted for the positions of leadership and responsibility.

Thomas Jefferson, despite the fact that he did not become President until he was 57 years old, never did anything to compare in brilliance to the drafting of the Declaration of Independence, achieved at the age of 33.

Hertz was 23 when he discovered wireless waves. Already an assistant to the famous Sir Humphrey Davy, Faraday was well known as a scientific lecturer at the Royal Institute of London at the age of 23.

Elvis "Activity-Man" Stahr, otherwise known as "Huey Bechnut," must be losing his power.

Consistent advertising is the merchant's pledge of quality; it is visible proof that he has faith enough in his goods to back them with his name.—Stolen.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology has grouped those who contribute to its financial support into an organization called Research Associates of M. I. T.

Twenty Mount Holyoke College freshmen will be allowed to take only two courses this year under the rules set down for a unique educational experiment there.

Nineteen colleges and universities are giving prizes to those seniors who acquire the most interesting library during their college years.

Expansion at the University of Michigan undergraduate school is being made possible through the recent gift of $5,000,000 from the trustees of the Horace H. and Mary A. Rackham fund.

Three universities in Chicago are sponsoring a university for the air to be broadcast over five local stations. An extensive four-year course is being planned for this novel university.

The other evening we heard a woman ask what in the world would become of the younger generation. That's an easy one. They'll fall in love, get married, have children and trouble and all that sort of thing, and as they get older they will worry about what's to become of the younger generation.

Kentucky-Tennessee! Thanksgiving Day! These two institutions are almost synonymous...

Because of the geographical location of the two schools and the natural spirit that exists between them...

This year, as both teams are more evenly matched than at any time in several years...

For ten members of Kentucky's squad, this will be the last appearance in Wildcat football toggs...

whipped by a great Tennessee eleven, 26-0. The following year, the Vols came here after enjoying another highly successful campaign...

Now for the first time, the ten players who are to be graduated this year, find themselves with at least an even chance to break through the snell that the Volunteers have apparently cast over them.

Thursday's battle will be the thirteenth of the series. In games won, the Vols hold the edge having taken thirteen contests while the Wildcats have captured ten.

A tie game may be a moral victory in years when Kentucky seems to be hopelessly outclassed, but this season a victory seems to be the only way in which the Wildcats may bring a mediocre campaign to a fitting finale.

Cats Meet Vols In Turkey Day Game

(Continued from Page One) member of each squad is ailing and both these men are first stringers. Sam Potter, Wildcat guard, who has been in poor condition since the Ohio State game, is still ailing. He injured his trick knee in the Tulane game and has been hobbling about but is in no condition for football. He is a doubtful starter. Tennessee is likely to be without the services of their captain and right halfback, Toby Palmer. The Vol ball-toter was injured in the Vanderbilt game and like Potter is a doubtful starter.

Two Kentucky lads are rivals for Palmer's berth on the Tennessee eleven. Red Harp, former Pineville star, and Alvin Rice, ex-Ashland luminary, are doing their best to land a starting berth in the Thanksgiving Day melee. If Rice gets the call, something rivalling a civil war will take place. Rice and Bert Johnson, Cat ace ball carrier, were former teammates on the Ashland Tomcat eleven. They will be out to outdo the other and an interesting fight is promised.

Whether or not these two lads get together an interesting struggle is expected to take place. Red Harp first came to Kentucky and after a few days pulled stakes and joined the Volunteer camp. The Kentucky team members will be trying to make him regret this change.

This Turkey Day game will be the last time ten Kentucky players will get a chance to defeat the Tennesseans. Each will receive his diploma in June. They are Captain James Long, McMillan, Ayers, Symphon, Hay, McCool, Jobe, McClurg, Clah, and Potter.

The University athletic officials report practically every seat in the stadium has been sold, and a crowd of approximately 18,000 people is expected for the game unless unfavorable weather prevails.

Not only a football battle will be staged but a battle of music will be held between the halves of the game. The Kentucky band, or the "Best Band in Dixie," led by Drum Majors Stockton and Benneson and Co-ed sponsor Rosemary Clinkscakes, will battle the Tennessee band. The bands will stage separate and also massed drills. Something very unique in band formations will be shown the fans by both musical units. The Tennessee rodders will bring along the beer keg and a grand ceremony for its possession will be held by the team.

Campus Complexion Will Be Changed

(Continued from Page One) partment. This structure will possibly be erected in the area between McVeay hall and the Mining laboratory. The new central heating plant, which will replace the obsolete plant behind the Administration building, and the many individual plants scattered in buildings over the campus, saving the University about $12,000 to $15,000 annually on fuel, will be placed in the north-west corner of the building housing the Department of Building and Grounds.

As to the possible locations of the other buildings, Mr. Crutcher said nothing definite; however, he did dwell on his desire to see the erection of buildings along the Limestone street front of the University campus, that area now taken up as a parade ground. As soon as plans can be drawn up and bids taken, work will commence to eat into this sum of three-quarters of a million dollars. In the meantime work will begin on the central heating plant.

STREET NEARS COMPLETION

Work on WPA Project No. 393, the street widening project along Euclid, beginning at Limestone, to extend to Harrison avenue, has been progressing rapidly in the last two weeks of nice weather. Mr. Tut, foreman on the project, said that he hoped to have it finished in another month, weather permissive. However, he said he would leave the area, now being worked on, in condition to allow parking in that space Thanksgiving Day. Hard surfacing on that corner of Limestone was finished yesterday, after that street had been under improvement for over a year, and it was thrown open to traffic.

Sun-curing Turkish leaf tobacco. The tobacco is strung leaf by leaf and hung on long racks like you see below.

The aromatic Turkish tobaccos used in Chesterfield give them a more pleasing aroma and taste...

Every year we import thousands of pounds from Turkey and Greece

THE IMPORT DUTY alone is 35 cents a pound—but Turkish tobacco is necessary to a good cigarette.

The right amount of Turkish tobacco, blended with our mild, ripe home-grown tobaccos helps to give Chesterfields more aroma, helps to give them a more pleasing taste.
