Students' Voice Opinion of Black Market

By Mary Louise Patton
In asking the survey question this week—what do you think of the black market in the United States?—it was found that few of the students on this campus have ever had any contact with the black market.

Sanders Given Leave To Work As Attache

Professor Assigned To Work In Balkans

Dr. Irwin T. Sanders, professor of sociology at the University, has been granted a leave of absence for one year by the University faculty. He will do work for the State Department in the Balkans and will report on the situation there to Washington.

Report To Washington

Dr. Sanders will remain at the University until the end of the winter quarter and then will report to Washington to await transportation to Europe.

Dr. Sanders came to the University from Alabama college in 1940. He did his undergraduate work at Washington and Lee university and his graduate work at Cornell university. From 1929 until 1932 he taught Latin and English at the American College of Sofia, Bulgaria. Then he returned to the United States to do graduate work. In 1934 he became dean of the American college and taught sociology there until he again returned for graduate work at Cornell in 1937.

Research On Bulgarian Village

For his doctoral thesis Dr. Sanders did research work on the sociology of a Bulgarian village. He has made a detailed study of peasant life in the Balkans and of the Bulgarian language.

Dr. Sanders is an associate editor of the journal "The Journal of Agricultural Extension," which is now being printed at Columbia university. It will appear sometime in May. He has written works and numerous articles for chapters for several sociological journals. He is also a contributing editor to "Sociometry."

Numerous Activities

In the summer of 1944, Dr. Sanders was executive secretary of the conference on "Outlines of the Contribution of Extension Methods toward the Rehabilitation of War-torn Countries," which met at Washington. He was program chairman of the Kentucky Conference of Social Welfare. He is a member of the executive board of the Fayette County Council on Social Planning, secretary of the Lexington chapter of the American Association of University Professors, and a member of several sociological societies. At the University he is chairman of the faculty committee on student organization. He is an elder in the Maxwell Street Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Sanders and their two children will live in Providence, R. I.

Must Be Ralified

This amendment must be ratified in the March 2 election by a majority of the student body and approved by the University Faculty before it can be effective. If this measure does not receive a majority student vote the present Judiciary committee will assume its investigating powers and be composed of three faculty members and four students.

Election Included

Representatives to be elected include: Agriculture, lowerclass woman; Arts and sciences, one lowerclass woman, one upperclass woman, and one lowerclass man; Commerce, one lowerclass woman; Engineering, one lowerclass man; Law, one man at large.

Definition and objectives of the club are quoted from the organization's constitution to explain to prospective members its purpose.

The Veterans Club of the University of Kentucky is an association opened to all who have been honorably discharged from the United States Armed Forces, and who are enrolled at the University of Kentucky, and who show an expressed interest in the objectives of the organization.

(1) To provide such aid to its members as may be derived from mutual discussion and social contact. (2) To help and encourage the veterans to take advantage of the educational opportunities provided at the University of Kentucky, and to serve the public in all campus activities possible so that both he and non-service connected students may benefit from their respective experiences.

One sociology major of this group said she believed this market might be controlled to some extent by the appeal of the government to the people. "The danger of buying from the black market should be impressed upon us as the government impresses on us how little our losses are and how great our winnings are. The necessity of controlling the black market should be publicized so that war bonds have been," she reasoned.

Another coed of this group said that she felt that the black market is very difficult to control. "The only effective way I see," she said, "is to educate the people in the need for this control. In practice, too, there is a black market, of course, a lighter extent, but during this war people have become more conscientious than ever before and if the harm of the black market is shown to them control might be easier."

Two upperclass coeds made a good point by saying, "Well, it's easy to say you wouldn't buy from the

Cwens To Give Party In Union

Cwens, sophomore woman's honorary, will entertain with a card party at 4 p.m. Wednesday, February 22, in the card room of the Union building.

All University students are invited to attend. Tickets are 25 cents. Cigarettes will be affected and chances will be five cents each or 6 for a quarter.

Plans Made To Construct Fieldhouse

Will Also Build Residence Halls, Dining Unit

Tentative plans for the construction of a memorial fieldhouse, which will serve primarily as a basketball coliseum, were approved Saturday by the University board of trustees' executive committee.

To Draw Specifications

The tentative contract for the fieldhouse calls for the employment of three Lexington architects to draw plans and specifications for a $2,000,000 building to be erected as a memorial to Kentuckians who have participated in World War II.

As soon as the building materials become available, the construction contracts will be let.

Appropriated At Two Sessions

The money for the fieldhouse was appropriated at two legislative sessions. The 1942 assembly appropriated $500,000 for the biennium and the 1943 Legislature appropriated $2,000,000 for the construction of various public buildings, including the fieldhouse.

The women's hall will house nearly 200 students and the men's hall will complete the quadrangle of halls for men on the campus.

Dr. J. R. Meadow Appointed To Chemistry Department

The appointment of Dr. Jacob R. Meadow as associate professor of chemistry was approved at the meeting of the University board of trustees on Saturday. He will also serve as director of all freshman classes in chemistry.

Came Here In February

Dr. Meadow, who began his active service at the University on February 1, 1945, came here after resigning from a position with the Sucky Valley company in New York.

Worked For duPont

After receiving his doctor's degree, Dr. Meadow worked for the duPont Manufacturing company from 1933 until 1935. He then became a member of the department of chemistry at Southwestern college in Memphis. In 1941 he accepted the position with the Sucky Valley company. His earlier experience includes teaching at Arkansas from 1927 until 1929.

Attended Arkansas Colleges

Dr. Meadow attended the University of Arkansas and Arkansas college. He did his undergraduate work at Arkansas college in 1925, received his Masters degree at the University of Arkansas in 1927, and his doctor's degree at Johns Hopkins university in 1933.

Dr. Meadow and his family are living at 309 East Main street. His two daughters attend Ashland grade school.

Dr. McVey Outlines UK Growth

First Annual Founder's Day Is Observed

Outlining the development of the University over a period of 125 years, Dr. Frank L. McVey, president emeritus of the University, spoke on "A Background for Observance of Founders Day at the special Founders Day convocation held yesterday at 10 a.m. in Memorial hall.

"In our commonwealth the people have been working for 150 years to establish and maintain a public university," stated Dr. McVey.

Dr. McVey paid tribute to the many great Kentuckians, including John Bowman and Dr. James K. Patterson who helped build the present University. Dr. McVey also urged the building and expansion of the University.

Student Message Delivered

Betty Anne Ginochio, appointed to deliver the message from the students of the University, spoke on "Contemporary Builders."

From 3 to 5 p.m. a reception and tea was held for members of the staff, students, alumni and friends of the University in the lower lobby of the library. At 4 p.m. a portrait of Judge Richard C. Stoll was presented to the University by Mr. James Park in behalf of the Alumni Association, and accepted by President Donovan.

Second Meet Of Season

The second meeting of the season between the Bearcats and the Wildcats, Kentucky defeated the Bearcats 66-24 in Lexington on December 9. This is something of real significance.

The Bearcats, under Coach Ray Farham, have been doing especially well in rematches. Teams which have slapped them all over the center upon the first encounter have found them very hard to handle the second time around.

Harder Second Time

It was this way against Marshall College, which beat the Bearcats 75-27 and then took a 36-3 beating from the Wildcats. Marshall's Reddicks humbled the Bearcats 55-36 and then lost out 45-40 in a rematch. Coach Adolph Rupp of the Wildcats says, in effect, that he expects to have a really hectic time of it in stopping Cincinnati for the second time.

Looks Like Tactics

When interviewed, Coach Rupp said that he expected that the Bearcats would try the same tactics that worked so well against Marshall. "If the Bearcats try that," said Rupp, "the only thing we can do is to hope to get at least the same number of shots and then make good on a greater percentage of them."

Suky To Sponsor Masquerade Ball Tomorrow Night

A masquerade ball, sponsored by Suky, will be held from 9 to 12 p.m. tomorrow in the Bluegrass room of the Union building. A "turnaround" dance, men may ask women or women may ask men.

Tickets for the dance may be obtained from any of the Suky members or tryouts, or at the dance. The price of the tickets is 75 cents, stag or drag.

All soldiers on the campus are invited to attend and if arrangements can be made the Navy men from Beras will be present, according to Suky officials.

Field House Hopes Look Brighter—And We Can Dream

The picture is beginning to take on a realistic glow now—the huge $1,000,000 fieldhouse situated comfortably across the street from the football stadium, the unending line of cars parked up and down Rose and Euclid streets as far as the eye can see, and the thousands of Wildcat basketball fans as they pour into the spacious doors of the brand new structure.

Tentative contracts for plans for the construction of the War Memorial fieldhouse, the second memorial building on the campus, were approved by the executive committee of the University Board of Trustees. It will be dedicated to Kentuckians who have participated in World War II.

Even though tentative, the plans are taking great strides and the future looks brighter and brighter with each advancement. Maybe we can hope to ourselves—"It won't be long."

The incentive to push ahead and develop the resources already deeply rooted in the University has never died. And men are still striving to maintain that reputation. Recently two professors, both outstanding in their specialized study on the campus, have distinguished themselves to a degree of particular recognition and it is not out of line now to mention Professors Irvin Sanders and Grant C. Knight as such men of noted accomplishments.

Before he came to the University as professor of sociology, Dr. Sanders taught Latin and English in Bulgaria. He holds a Ph.D. degree from Cornell University, his dissertation being based on a study of peasant life in the Balkans.

However, this time he yelled for Kentucky until the crowd boomed Tennessee. He stood up and yelled "You poor sports" but he was completely ignored because his kind of answer could anyone have expected? I love to write about them.

'The Lowe-Down'

By Dick Love

Six points is not much, but it was plenty Saturday night as it served two purposes: (1) it defeated the Tennessee Volunteers; (2) it gave Kentucky undisputed possession of first place in the Southeastern Conference.

The Orange and White, official newspaper of the University of Tennessee, warned their players to keep off the street corners in waiting for strikers, taxis and buses. They gave no reason for this statement and the only conclusion one could draw was that they had a guilty conscience and were judging the good people of Lexington according to the courtesy their town showed our team on their recent visit to Knoxville. But contrary to their opinion of the Blue Grass region, we still retain our southern hospitality, and even shower it on the opponents that try to discredit it so.

Every one is proud of the way the Kentucky spectators controlled their emotions and displayed none of the bad manners that the Tennessee group credited us with having. I imagine after the Vols went back home and told the home town of the sportsmanship shown here, there will be a few heads hung in shame, if the consciences bother them. We won fair and square and there is no dispute over the victory.

In the Kentucky-Ohio U. game, Captain Jack Tingle ran his scoring total to 100 field goals, 34 foul shots, and 234 points. Jack Parkinson, who holds second place in the Wildcat's scoring, ran his total to 193 points by registering 16 points against Ohio U. Parkinson now has 84 field goals and 25 foul shots. Third place in the Wildcat's scoring parade is held by Wilbur Schu, who has 58 field goals, 33 foul throws for a total of 149 points. The Kentucky team has 441 field goals and 198 free throws for 1,080 points, an all time scoring record for Kentucky basketball teams. The Wildcat's opponents have tallied 294 field goals and 170 free throws for 738 points.

Athletic Director Bernie A. Shively has been appointed head football coach after Al Kiwan, at his own request, transferred from the athletic department to the history department.

Coach Shively's appointment lasts for the duration of the war and he retains all of his previous work plus the coaching job. His first problem will be the selection of assistant coaches and he said that they would be named as quickly as possible. He also announced that the 1945 Wildcat team would use the T formation and that he would need the cooperation of all the high school coaches in Kentucky.

If you intend to see the Southeastern Conference you had better make plans in a hurry, as the tickets are going fast, indicating a near capacity crowd for all the games. The teams are not as yet scheduled but the favorites to win are Kentucky, Tennessee and Georgia Tech, a team that may prove a dark horse. A lot depends on the outcome of the annual conference meet, Madison Square Garden would be a wonderful place for the Wildcats to finish the season.

Six Point Cat Victory Averages Season's Early Loss To Vols; Blues Defeat Bobcats 61-38

'Cats Pace SEC With 4 Victories; Vols, Tech Trail'

By Dick Love

With only one minute and 49 seconds of playing time left the Kentucky Wildcats put on a spurge to down the Tennessee Volunteers 60-34 at the Alumni gym Saturday night before a jam-packed house. From the tip-off to the final whistle the 3,200 spectators were in a constant uproar.

The game was a typical Kentucky-Tennessee contest: tough, rough, and with plenty of action as both teams fought hard throughout to subdue the other. The victory avenged the one-point loss to the Orange and White quiet at Knoxville earlier in the season when the Vols defeated the 'Cats in the last minute 35-34. The Wildcats took over the lead of the Southeastern Conference after the game since are undisputed leaders with a four win-one loss record.

Vols Lead Early
The Volunteers jumped to an early lead and held on to it until the first five minutes of the second half. The Vols looked much superior to the 'Cats during the opening minutes of the game as their set-up plays and distant shots went through the hoop whereas the 'Cats' shots would hit the rim and then bounce away. The visitors ran up a 11-5 lead after five minutes of play, but then the Big Blue went to work, trimming the lead to three points at the intermission, 23-19.

Captain Jack Tingle twisted his ankle in the first part of the contest and was relieved by Buddy Parker. Tingle, top-scorer of the Southeastern Conference, was held to five points and most of the scoring was left to Jack Parkinson, second high-point man of the team, who tossed in five field goals and six free throws out of seven tries for a total of 16. The most aggressive player on the floor was "Dutch" Campbell, who played as if he were fighting a personal grudge when he rebounded and outjumped his towering opponent and scored eight points by virtue of three pivot and two free throws.

Walthers Paces Tennessee
The one-handed orthodox shots by Paul Walthers came close to upsetting the 'Cats and if he had not fouled out the story may have been different. He paced the Vols' attack with nine points, tossing in four field goals and one free throw. Every member of the visiting team contributed to the cause but not enough to overcome the defeat.

The game was a close affair when the field goals were tallied; the 'Cats dropped in 12 to 11 for the Vols, with the margin of victory resting mostly upon the ability of the home team to hit the basket from the foul line. The 'Cats gained 16 points through this method whereas the Vols accounted for 12 of their score this way.

The traditional battle was a rugged affair with the officials calling 20 personal fouls, 23 against the Orange and White. There were several double fouls, the first of the season on the home court. Joe Gasparovic and Walthers fouled out for the Vols and Parker for the Wildcats.

'Cats Whittle Lead

The Vols started the action as Gasparovic and "Mild" O'Shields racked up four points in a hurry but then Parkinson shot a long one, and Campbell added a free throw. But Dan Thomas and Walthers went under for lay-ups and Bob Kemper dropped in a foul shot. After Campbell added another free shot, Thomas went under the basket again for a crisp and the Wildcats called time out as soon as Tingle and Parkinson scored from the foul line. As play resumed, the 'Cats settled down and slowly whittled the margin to two points 17-15 and then Tennessee called for a time-out. Bill Sturgill hit a long one from far out as the half ended with the Vols retaining a three-point lead.

Parkinson and Campbell opened the second half and from then on it was the 'Cats on the offensive and holding the lead except when Walthers tied the score at 28-28 with ten minutes of the game left, on a lay-up shot and a free throw. Schu accounted for three free throws and Tingle and Parkinson went under the basket for two fielders in the last battling moments of the game. The 'Cats threw the ball and then as the seconds ticked away they played the ball but the Vols were beaten and Parkinson had gained his revenge.

The Wildcats romped over the Ohio U. Bobcats 61-38 at Athens, Ohio, Monday night in a predicted close contest. Kentucky led all the way and the Bobcats' only threat in the final minutes, proved too little.

Second Victory

It was Kentucky's second victory over the Bobcats, and was more decisive than the 50-46 defeat handed them in Alumni gym January 6. The game brought the 'Cats record to 16 wins and three losses for the season.

Question Of Margin

During the second half the Wildcats got hot and ran the score to 44-28 before the Bobcats collected their wits. From that time on it was only a question of how much margin the 'Cats could gain before the final whistle.

Coach Adolph Rupp took no chances with the Ohio five and it was not until the last two minutes of the game that he pulled his regulars, letting his subs play. However, after the reserves came in, Kentucky's margin still continued to increase.

Completely outmanned, the Bobcats were up against too much basketball team. They were outreached by several inches at every position, and did not have the reserves Kentucky possessed, although they fought hard in a vain attempt for victory.

With Ken Campbell and Wilbur Schu controlling rebounds off both backboards, the Wildcats raced to a 12-2 lead, took time out to get their breath, and then ran the score

Schu and Jack Parkinson, the game's high-scorer with 16 points, were the prime factors in the scoring department during the first half, each collecting four field and Parkinson adding a brace of free throws.

Jack Tingle took over early in the second half and led an early drive that settled the issue. Tingle swished in four field goals in the second half to bring his total to 13 points; Schu, Campbell, Parkinson, and Bill Sturgill were good for two each.

Kentucky's height advantage was so great that they got at least two and sometimes three or four shots at the hoop every time they got possession of the ball—that is if their initial attempt did not work. Jim Mackey, 6'2" center, was the only man over six feet in the Ohio lineup.

Jack Parkinson, with 16 points to his credit, was the high point man of the game. Tingle and Schu followed with 13 and 12 points respectively. Savre's 10 points was high for Ohio university.

WAA Places First In Basketball Tourney

WAA Glamour Cats took first place in the intermural basketball tourney held in the women's gym during the winter quarter. The team had five wins and no defeats. Kappa Delta ranked second with four victories and one loss, and Alpha Xi Delta, Delta Delta Delta, and Chi Omega all tied for third place with two wins and three defeats. Kappa Kappa Gamma ranked fourth with no wins and five defeats.

Peggy Brunsell, WAA player from Morehead, was top scorer of the tournament with 138 points to her credit. Pat Shely, WAA, ranked second with 108 points, and Ruth Wilde, Kappa Delta forward, placed third with 71 points.

Overheard at an Alabama dance: Guy to his drag, "You may have a pretty mouth, my dear, but I'll put mine up against it any time."
