Clay's Home To Be Site Of Jubilee

Ashland, home of Henry Clay, located on the Richmond road, Lexington, Ky., will be the site of an old fashioned burgoon and barbecue affair to be held Monday evening, Aug. 2, under joint auspices of the Henry Clay Memorial Foundation and the University of Kentucky.

First announcement of plans for the event, also being called the "Henry Clay Jubilee," was made yesterday by UK officials and Louis Hillenmeyer, president of the Memorial Foundation.

Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones of Detroit, former president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and nationally known orator, will be the principal speaker. His topic will be "Henry Clay's Oratory."

According to yesterday's announcement, burgoon and barbecue will be "prepared in the famous Ashland manner." Music of Henry Clay's period will be presented, and hosts and participants, including Dr. Jones, will be in costume.

Also appearing on the program will be Dr. A. L. Crabb, author of the book "Home to Kentucky," who will read a poem on Henry Clay which he has prepared for the occasion.

Musical selections will be given by a local quartet, made up of Johnny Rogers, Gentry Shelton, Mrs. Edmond Henry and Mrs. Clyde Arnold. Their numbers will include Stephen Foster compositions as well as traditional melodies of Clay's period.

All interested persons are invited to attend the barbecue dinner, scheduled for 5 p.m. (daylight saving time) and tickets for the meal will be $1. Reservations must be made before noon Saturday, July 31.

Tickets have been placed on sale at offices of all University deans and at the UK Office of Information, Administration building.

Dr. Jones, the speaker, has been identified recently with the movement to preserve the Cane Ridge Meeting House in Bourbon county. He was minister of Central Woodward Christian Church in Detroit for 26 years, and he is now minister emeritus of that church.

He is known as a lecturer on many subjects and has been recognized especially for his work on Lincoln. Among his books are "The Royalty of the Pulpit," "Lincoln and the Preachers," "Lords of Speech," "American Preachers of Today" and "Sermons I Love to Preach."

Class Searches For Parasites On Field-Trip

"Each of these trips is a chapter in itself," James M. Edney, professor in Zoology remarked. He was referring to the recent trip his parasitology class took to Mt. Brilliant Farm and Elkhorn.

"We caught about 100 crawfish, and some minnows and snails on our last trip," he said. "Then we bring them back to the laboratory and examine them for parasites."

The parasitology class goes on these field trips about twice a week, and gets enough material to last for two or three days of laboratory work.

"This method of teaching is more effective than reading it in books," he explained.

DR. EDGAR DEWITT JONES

High School Seniors Receive Engineering Scholarships

Scholarships for the University's College of Engineering have been awarded to 18 recent Kentucky high school graduates by the Kentucky Department of Highways, and the highway industry. All will enter UK next fall.

Announcement of the awards was made recently by Daniel V. Terrell, dean of the College of Engineering.

Fourteen of the scholarships will be supported by the Department of Highways and the remaining four by the highway industry.

Under a plan by which the scholarships were awarded, all recipients will begin work on a full-time basis for the Department of Highways about next June 1 after completing two semesters of school. They will continue working until the following winter semester, or about Feb. 1, when they will return to the College of Engineering on leave without pay.

At least one student has been selected from each of the highway districts, and selection was based on examinations conducted by the Personnel Department of the University. The plan to award the scholarships was devised in 1948 by the Department of Highways to aid students interested in civil engineering, especially in highway development work.

Each student will pursue the regular assigned studies during the first school year and receive pay at the rate of $60 per month from Prof. Edney said.

"The idea behind the trips is that the students see the natural habitat of the parasites. They also see animals that may not be directly related to the subject, but are a part of the whole picture."

Concerning the trip to Mt. Brilliant, which is on the Russell Cave Road, Prof. Edney remarked that they were going to start selling tickets or take their equipment to the circus. "We have a war-surplus weapons carrier, and people turn around and gawk as we drive by," he explained.

which he will take care of his own expenses at the University.

An alternate plan offered the scholarship winners provides for the students to engage in ROTC training on the campus throughout their college career and work for the Department of Highways only in the summer and when such work can be fitted in with military requirements.

Students winning scholarships supported by the highway department follow:

Other scholarship winners and supporters of their awards are: Charles E. Black, Richmond, Kentucky Highway Contractors; Homer A. Schirmer, Bardstown, J. Stanley Dawson Scholarship; Gerald D. Cyrus, Georgetown, Harry O. Wyse Scholarship; Davis R. Legate, Clay, Plantmix Asphalt Industry of Kentucky.

Music Scores Filed In FA Library

Scores for nearly every musical arrangement from sonata to ballet have been stored in the Library of the Fine Arts building. Acquired during the past year were 452 orchestration, bringing the manuscript total up to 908.

Dr. Lampert, late head of the UK Music department, donated about 65 scores, with the Music Department faculty members and library exchange contributing approximately 40.

Hearing Program Aided By Kentucky Society

The University of Kentucky Speech and Hearing Center is the recipient of a gift of $15,092 from the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children with the grant to be used in the development and expansion of the center's hearing program.

Announcement of the grant was made last week following its acceptance by the executive committee of the UK Board of Trustees.

The Speech and Hearing Center, outgrowth of a project of the Lexington Council of Jewish Women, will use the grant in the evaluation of hearing, fitting of hearing aids and the training of hard of hearing individuals through auditory experience, lip reading and speech correction.

Under the agreement between the University and the Kentucky Society, $7,926 of this total is to be granted immediately and will cover the period from Sept. 1, 1954 to Aug. 30, 1955. The remaining portion will be paid to the University after evaluation of progress during 1954-55.

A non-profit training-service project, the Speech and Hearing Center is operated by the University through its Department of Psychology and the College of Arts and Sciences, in co-operation with and through subsidy by the following groups:

Lexington Junior League, Lexington Council of Jewish Women, Kentucky Society for Crippled Children and the Fayette County Chapter of the Crippled Childrens Society.

Ed College Extends Two Appointments

Two major appointments in the College of Education were approved last Friday by trustees of the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Arnold D. Albright, assistant director of educational administration at George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn., was named chairman of the Division of Educational Administration and director of the Bureau of School Service. He replaces Dr. Robert L. Hoppe, who has resigned to accept a position at Michigan State College.

Dr. Morris Clerle, principal of Highlands High School, Ft. Thomas, was appointed director of the University School and director of student teaching. He succeeds Dr. Lyman V. Ginger, who has been made dean of the new College of Adult and Extension Education.

A native of Virginia, Dr. Albright holds degrees from Milligan College, the University of Tennessee, and New York University. He has been a classroom teacher, supervisor, assistant state commissioner of education in Tennessee, director of research and chairman of the staff for the Tennessee department of education, and a teacher at the University of Tennessee, Teachers College of Connecticut, and the University of Utah.

Principal of Highlands High School since 1949, Dr. Clerle also has held school positions in Savannah, Pittsburgh Landing, and Lebanon, Tenn., and at Ft. Smith, Ark. He received degrees from Teachers College of Columbia University, George Peabody College for Teachers, and the University of Illinois.

Other official co-operating agencies are the Division of Education of Exceptional Children and the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation of the State Department of Education; Kentucky State School for the Deaf; and the State Department of Health.

In addition, many gifts have been received from other organizations and interested individuals for the procurement of necessary equipment and laboratories to perform work in the field of hearing.

Among these groups are the Lexington Women's Club, La Sertoma Club and several parent-teacher organizations.

According to Dr. C. F. Diehl, director of the center and associate professor of psychology at the University, the purpose of the center is twofold.

One function of the center is to train professional personnel in the field of speech pathology and audiology and in the related areas of psychology, education, sociology and physiology. Its second purpose is to evaluate, advise and give therapy to persons who have speech or hearing difficulties.

Dr. Diehl pointed out that any person with a speech or hearing handicap, regardless of age, sex, color, religion or ability to pay, is eligible for services.

At the present time, the center's summer program is in progress. It has been geared to service both children and adults with speech and hearing problems, and any resident of Kentucky who has first been examined by the center staff is eligible for admission to the summer program.

Currently the summer program is in operation Monday through Friday for a period of five continuous weeks. Each individual receives one period of individual and two periods of group therapy during a two-hour morning session.

Since financial assistance for this program has in the past come from the various groups, a registration fee of $10 is the only charge made.

However, parents are asked to make donations if they are financially able. Any enrolled University of Kentucky student is automatically entitled to any of these services, but no more than two individual therapy sessions per week are offered.

The gift from the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children was designated to go for employment of an audiologist, graduate assistant and clerical help. Persons working under this grant will spend full time at the center.

Students Are Generous With Million Dollar Gift

By DEE SHINNICK

This week the Roving Reporter asked a question contributed by Jane Nickol. "What would you do if you inherited a million dollars?" Here are some of the answers given. Beverly Broadbent, Education senior. "I would go to school for the rest of my life. It's the easiest thing I know of. I'd take all the courses I have ever wanted to take. It's earning a living."

Bert Cox, Graduate student. "I would give half to the church. Then I'd invest half of the other half. I'd give a fourth of the other half to the family, and live a secure life with the other fourth."

Naomi Dagen, Education senior. "Ooh, I'm so excited."

Jim Harris, Education senior. "I'd give it all away because the government would get 90 percent and I wouldn't be satisfied with 10 percent."

Judy Kilnestecker, A&S freshman. "I would go to the island of Mallorca in the Mediterranean and spend the rest of my life. The prices are cheaper there and champagne is only 15 cents a glass."

ED. note. A million dollars would go a long way at that rate.)

Bill Wilson, Graduate student. "I'd quit school and as a parting gift to my friends have the barracks air-conditioned."

COLONEL Of The Week

Miss Kaki Edwards has been a familiar figure around and about the Kentuckian office for the last two years. Last year Kaki was managing editor of the Kyian; and this coming fall she will take over as editor-in-chief of our beloved annual.

Kaki, who comes from Atlanta, Georgia, is pledge chairman of Chi Omega. She is a junior in elementary education. She was social chairman of the Y this past year. She also sports a Delt pin of which she is very proud.

For these achievements the Stirrup Cup hereby extends an invitation to Kaki to come in and enjoy any two of their delicious meals.

Grants Totaling $74,473 Are Accepted By U Of K Trustees

Grants totaling $74,473 were among gifts accepted for the University of Kentucky last week by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees.

Donors and their gifts were: Grayson Foundation, $47,000 for continued research by the Agricultural Experiment Station on equine virus abortion; Houston Endowment Inc., $5,000 for Jesse H. Jones and Mary Gibbs Jones scholarships; Consolidation Coal Co., $2,500 as its annual contribution to the College of Engineering research fellowship fund.

Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, $15,092 for development of a Hearing Center under the direction of the Psychology Department, the grant to be used over a two-year period beginning Sept. 1.

Spencer Chemical Co., $2,500 to the Experiment Station for use in a research project on fertilization; General Electric Co., $1,200 to the Gerard Swope Fellowship, awarded to William C. Swift for graduate work in mathematics during the 1954-55 school year; Chemargo Corp., $750 to the Experiment Station for research projects involving several products manufactured by the firm.

Eaton Laboratories Inc., $200 as the first payment on a grant of $750 to be used for the purchase of supplies needed in carrying on research with nitrofurans; Kentucky Broadcasters Assn., $150 to the Kentucky Research Foundation for the Charles C. Warren Memorial Scholarship; S. Headley Shouse, $81 to the Foundation as an addition to the Juliet Shouse Memorial Fund.

For forwarding work in the University's beef cattle program, John Vanier of Brookville, Kan., gave five registered Hereford heifer calves; Luther K. Rice of Paris gave one Shorthorn steer calf; and J. Douglas Gay of Pine Grove gave one Hereford heifer.

The late Alice S. Hallam of Erlanger willed the residue of her estate "after discharge of just debts" to the Department of History.

The Campi

At the University of Houston, the dormitory council issued the following regulations to govern necking on campus:

"1. Area outside of 'D' and 'E' dorm reception rooms approved for goodnight kisses only.

"2. Cullen boulevard, side of 'D' dorm, recommended.

"3. Cars in dorm parking lot only if we can see your heads showing over car seat.

"All other areas are taboo. Don't go about wrecking the necking by using the taboo areas."

The University has what is probably the youngest of all Kentucky Colonels in the form of eight weeks old Kevin Thomas Eviitts.

Kevin, son of Don Eviitts, UK sophomore, was presented with his colonelcy at the ripe old age of seven weeks.

Naomi Dagen, Education Senior has the distinction of being the only girl on campus with a crew cut. Her comment on the subject, "I saw it in Life Magazine and did it on a dare."

College of Commerce—Appointments: Elbert V. Bowden, Rue L. Beale, and Eugene C. Holshouser, research associates, Bureau of Business Research; Lewis C. Ball and Gloria Hansler, research assistants, Bureau of Business Research.

College of Pharmacy—Resignation: A. E. Slesser, professor.
