THE GRASS GETS GREENER

University students have waited impatiently for the final manifestations of spring, and now that the "grass gets greener all the time," they are finding many opportunities to appreciate the several shrines of nature which the campus affords them.

The University campus is an adequate example of the beautiful Blue Grass area for which it is famous. Many years of patient and careful labor, the activities of the department of buildings and grounds, and of the various colleges has resulted in a campus, the beauty of which rivals that of any other southern university.

The landscaping behind the Art Center, the rock garden of Dieker hall, and the Kentucky Botanical garden are only a few of the scenic spots where students may admire at their leisure the beauties of nature. It is unfortunate that college students must associate with the coming of spring, the necessity of turning to the intensive perusal of academic studies. Nevertheless, the two can be coordinated. Each can be an inspiration for the other. The student who realizes this will find his last month of the semester a valuable one.

SULLIVAN MEDALLIONS

The occasion of the awarding of the Algeon Sydney Sullivan medallions is always of the highest interest. It is one of the highest honors that can come to a student of the University. In 1927 the awards were established by the New York Southern society to be given annually to the man and the woman of the senior class and to a member of the state "to stimulate high thought and noble endeavor" and "in recognition of these qualities in the recipients."

We at the University can testify to the fact that all recipients have measured up to the high standards set by the donors of this award. The two selected this year have not been exceptions to this rule. Miss Dyer and Mr. Skinner are both well qualified to receive this very worthwhile honor.

Miss Dyer has been very active in the affairs of the campus. She is a member of W. S. G. A., Y. W. C. A., Su.Ky. Owens, president of Phi Upsilon Omicron, and last year won the popularity contest conducted by the Kentuckian. Besides these honors Miss Dyer has won several scholarships. In receiving the Sullivan medallion, Miss Dyer has brought to a close a very successful college career.

Mr. Skinner, the other recipient, has been equally outstanding in his work on the campus. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa,

Phi Beta Kappa, Cadet Colonel of R. O. T. C., and Scabbard and Blade. Also he has played an important part in the affairs of the University, having won the Gamage football trophy for the past three years. The kernel is glad to pay tribute to these two outstanding students and wishes them much success in their future endeavors in life.

CHECK ROOMS

"Get off my foot, you dog!" "Say, let go of my arm!" "If you don't mind, I'd rather have my coat in one piece, please!" "What is this anyway, a football game or a dance?"

The answer is, it is neither. It is merely a brawl in front of the check room which is a common occurrence following the dances in the gymnasium.

It is difficult to say just who is to blame for this situation. In fact it would be incorrect to say that any one is to blame; nevertheless, it is a wrong that should be corrected.

Everyone who has attended the University dances knows that it is Bill Hamber, the young man who has been given permission by the Athletic Council to run the check room, has done so honestly and to the best of his ability. He simply does not have the facilities for running it more smoothly.

In some manner or other, more space should be provided. Either a check room should be maintained at both ends of the gym, or more space especially provided for checking. It might be possible to construct a place along the inside east wall. More men can't be employed at present, because they would merely run over each other in the small room, and after all the opening to the room is only so large and more space can't be passed out at the same time anyway.

As the matter now stands, the dancers must be either a little more patient and courteous, or suffer the consequences.

TO YOU AND TO YOU

In the profusion of congratulations and expressions of commendation to the staff and their associates who were responsible for the turning out of the attractive yearbook, the Kentuckian, the fact that the Kernel plant did not receive its rightful share of this praise is obvious. For it is the Kentuckian, the beautiful color combination and the set-up of the book.

Many universities and colleges do not enjoy the advantage that Kentucky enjoys, of having a complete and modern newspaper plant. These fortunate schools are forced to rely on their annuals printed by outside commercial shops. The majority of students are not aware of the fact that it is a distinction to have such an up-to-date printing plant situated on the campus.

The fact remains that sincere congratulations are due the editors, the pressmen, and other persons who made the Kentuckian this year an outstanding example of what a university annual should be.

Jest Among Us

An idea for advertising the popular college rendezvous located on Limestone: "One of our ash trays can be found in every fraternity or sorority house in the Southland."

Dope fiend's song—"You're Getting to Be a Habit with Me." Headline—Journalism Class Submits Articles. Why doesn't some one write an advanced headline thus: Journalism Class Receives Carload of Rejection Slips?

Found—Roll of five dollar bills. Will the owner please line up in front of the Administration building at noon Saturday.

No dances, cigarettes, highballs or bridge games are allowed at Muskingum college. The president of the college is 25 years old and handsome as an actor.

A man will forgive and forget almost any offense, but he will not forgive except letting the salt shaker get empty.

Looking Back

By MARY JO LAFFERTY

May 7 Four hundred drafted men from Tennessee arrived at U. K. to begin three months' technical training prior to service in France, 1918.

May 8 Upon recommendation of President McVey, the Board of Trustees created seven new departments including: art and design, music, zoology, ancient languages and literature, and bacteriology. Several new instructors were hired, including Dr. Edward West, Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, and Prof. Carl Lampert, 1918.

May 9 The U. K. nine won a second game from Tennessee Vols with a score of 6 to 1, 1923.

May 10 The second annual Pan-Hellenic banquet, attended by eight members of fraternities was held, 1913.

May 11 At a meeting of the Athletic Council, tennis was made a minor sport. Dr. H. H. Downing was appointed coach, 1923.

May 12 The roller production "Miss and Men" was given at Frankfort, 1918.

May 13 A U. K. athletic writer declared that U. K. athletes were "clean" and challenged any school in the South to show that it had cleaner athletics, 1923.

May 14 A war code book was compiled by members of the home economics department under the direction of Miss Mary Sweeney, head of the department, 1918.

May 15 Plans were made for the installation of Alpha Theta chapter of Delta Gamma, 1923.

May 16 In the Southern Conference track meet at Birmingham, Bill Gess, captain of the Wildcat track team, set a new southern record for the half mile, winning the event in 1:55.8, 1928.

May 17 Eight students of the College of Arts and Sciences, having made an average of "A," set a new record in scholarship, 1923.

May 18 The second annual roller skating derby, promoted by the intramural department of the University, was held on Euclid avenue, 1928.

May 19 The first annual declamatory contest given by the Philanthropic society, literary organization for women, was held in 1913.

May 20 The Wildcat baseball stars defeated Kentucky Wesleyan nine, 7 to 1, 1918.

Casual Observations

By FRED H. SHEILS The annual four-months' Loud-st. Rascals contest opens with the advent of warmer days and nights. It gives some of us a chance to have our sets and our own blare away, but there are some of us who will use the wide open spaces of Loud-st. Rascals to demonstrate the power and volume of their sets. What a life!

Derby Talk Elderly lady to friend at races: "I've backed a horse that's sure to win, because he starts at 20 to 1 and the race isn't until one o'clock!"

"The best thing for you to do," said the doctor to the man with the frazzled nerves, "is to bury yourself in your work." "Wah-h-h!" Grogged the man. "And me an undertaker." -E. V. D. Scrapbook.

Black and White Have seen that our professional journalists selected some six or seven new men from The kernel staff in hopes that they will be of assistance in carrying on the traditions of the organization and our own Kampus Kat. QUIS VADIT? CRADDOCK

The featured poems this week are prize winning compositions of Mrs. Grace Dean and Helen Frances Jones. "Dogwood Mystery," written by Mrs. Dean, won first prize in the contest sponsored by Chi Delta Phi.

Who is this man who never studies for an exam, or who never is required to take any exam? Who is it that paws as much to get out of this institution as he does to enter it? Lucifer Craddock is the name—born by title—unemployed by profession.

Lucifer says that it would have been much better if the professors had pulled the wool over his whole body and plow through the furrows of his head, he doesn't worry about the future for he is an agriculturist.

Mr. Craddock is certain to reap a fortune when the world learns that he has discovered a new waterproof buttermilk.

Lucifer's fine advice to the freshman is to take the bit in his mouth and plow through the furrows of his head. Be careful, freshman, do not take more than one bit in your mouth and his fraternity got choked on two bits one time and who to take castor oil for two weeks. What is this muck?

The S. A. E.'s again. (One Sigalph from Duke told me that those letters simply meant "Sleep and Eat"). Sigalph Art Martin and Sigalph Marjorie Pieber have decided to leave the University. They are now wearing the badge of Arty's organization. Another one of Arty's letters related that his fraternity got a co-ed at Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky.

Speaking of pins. My ole pal, Marvin Wachs, planted his Phitap pin on the boom of Tri-Delt Virginia Young south weeks ago. I had planned not to mention this, but after being accused of "showing partiality to Wachs" I will mention it.

For the first time in five years our MTU's have a party to gain admittance to a fraternity dance. The Kay's dance Saturday night will be guarded by a doorman who will ask you for it, so it might be wise to take it with you.

Piecap "Chip" Chippory has lost pounds of weight staying up studying for these law exams after keeping on the pin yet. King Montgomery, I can't report on the pin yet...but rumor says it won't be long.

Alphax Edith May pulled a "May West" in The Kernel news room several days ago and smacked a pin. She says there isn't much difference in a pipe and a cigarette.

Some of those jumpy Sigmachms several days ago brumled Brother Walter "Champ" Alvas, tossed him out of the Sigmach lodge while he was minus his drillies. Then the good brothers proceeded to lock all the doors and windows and send the "Champion" to shiver for some time before he was again "swilling" and readmitted to the dwelling.

May Day Shorts—Did you notice that the four attendants to the May Queens are also E. O. C. Spongers? We wonder if the Kappa Queens will have won a cup for the first time with their Sigmach King Montgomery. I can't report on the pin yet...but rumor says it won't be long.

TOKENS OF AUTUMN The cool, autumn rush of the wind on my brow, The slush of wet leaves underfoot, The melody of colors that twine in the bough,

And oh, like the leaves that the winter has caught Must youth lose the verdure of spring; But after the glamour that summer has wrought Comes the color that autumn can bring.

Seen' The Kentucky Derby

Out-of-State Students View Their First Derby and Enjoy It Immensely

By JAY LUCIAN

This is the saga of two freshmen who crashed their first Derby. They had come to this school from a considerable distance and they eagerly crowded into the grandstand to see the Derby.

One had to see the Derby. What's more the "folks back home" expected them to last the week-end. They had their respective resources and found that they had only 75 cents each to last the week-end.

Undaunted, they set out, inspired by the memory of Andrew Carnegie who lived in New York with only a dollar.

Almost immediately they encountered a party headed for Louisville. After some haranguing they received a ride in the rumble seat. Arriving in Louisville they were greeted by their friends at the Brown hotel and established residence in two comfortable lobby chairs.

There they watched the celebrities. This soon became monotonous and they pressed getting conspicuous, they decided to "see the town". Seeing the beauties of the city street ministrants came along strutting, instruments, dancing and singing. Beautiful and gorgeous women went by. The ladies felt they were seeing life. Then came nightfall and the necessity of finding a place to sleep.

Their resources had fallen to 60 cents. They walked the streets. A cold wind began to blow and a drizzly rain to fall. They decided to try the park. After a three mile walk they came to the park in the center of which rose a gleaming white structure. This proved to be a canopy of stone and hastily gathered two benches they entered the park. There they discovered that they would have the dubious honor of starting the race with some of the eight "knights of the road" who already occupied the place.

Carefully trying their stiches and their chains, they tried to make themselves comfortable. Anyone who has tried that stunts realizes the impossibility of gaining that end. After an hour of desperate endeavor in which the only results were cramped joints and mottled curses, they decided to move again, partly influenced by the restlessness of their companions and the cold night wind. After another three miles of walking they reached the railroad terminal and there went to sleep in the chairs.

At dawn they awoke feeling as though they had been through a wash tub. They returned to their hotel (labeled "Brown Hotel") and found that they had a good breakfast. Saving 20 cents for car fare they bought two pounds of bologna and two loaves of bread. They ate with fierce abandon after dividing the food into ten sandwiches each. The repeat over, they attempted to catch a street car. This proved unavailing so they set out for the track, five miles away. A tremendous crowd flowed toward the park. On the way one of the ladies went into a store and nonchalantly gulped down a quart of milk.

Arriving at the track, they made their way to the grandstand. As they found the auxiliary entrances. These were controlled by friendly attendants who charged small "upkeep" fees. They started at a quarter a head, but they were not to be deterred. So they went down the line until they reached a place where a "cut-throat" guard had several hundred lined up who were entering at five cents a head. Polite as always

Roamin' the Rialto

By JOAN CARIGAN

Maurice Chevalier, after telling bedtime stories to the world's most beautiful dames in eight Paramount pictures, picks the prize baby of them all to tell "A Bedtime Story" to his little nieces. It's called "A Bedtime Story" and is now playing at the Strand theater. The cast features Helen Twelvetree, Edward Everett Horton, Adrienne Ames, and Baby Leroy. This one-year-old infant was picked from among thousands of competing youngsters on the Pacific coast. He's so cute that Maurice wanted to adopt him, and could you blame him?

"King Kong." Who is he? What is he? How were the scenes filmed? These and a hundred questions are being asked by the Ben All theater with Fay Wray, Robert Armstrong, Bruce Cabot featured.

Grand dame of the Paramount lot is Alison Skipworth, grand dame of legitimate stage of Broadway, too. For 32 years she has been standing eye right in the aisles in theaters and movie houses. Her right eye droops a little with the trickiest results as we notice in "A Lady's Profession," with Ronald Young and Sam Maritza, coming Thursday at the Strand theater.

Our betters! What do they think and feel? Constance Bennett knows and tells in W. Somerset Maugham's famous satire brought to the screen by RKO-Radio and opening Thursday at the Ben All. Constance Bennett, as London's most popular hostess, says it is silly to marry for love.

"Think of the people you know who've married for love. After five days do they care for each other any more than people who've married for money?" "They have the recollection," says a deserted wife.

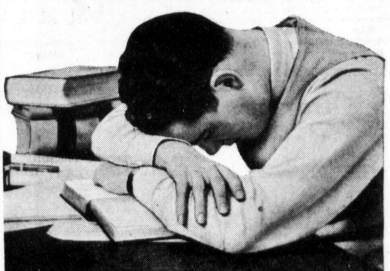

"Nonsense," snaps back La Bennett. "As if anyone remembered an emotion when he no longer felt it."

"Our Betters" fairly frolic with keen, sparkling dialogue that carries a lot of weight underneath. It is excellently acted by an exceptional cast and lavishly produced.

After a few races had been run, they were torn between the dilemma of staying where they were and getting their faces in the picture to be taken at the end of the Derby, or of crashing the stands. They decided on the latter. Going down the field they crossed the track and approached the stands. The grandstand did not even seem to be there.

They were watching the higher game, the clubhouse. After remembering they tried to enter by the rear at the end of the field. (Continued on Page Three)

Get going, Fella! HERE'S HOW

DRAG your feet to the nearest campus lunch bar. Say "Shredded Wheat and half-and-half. Make it a pair."

You'll be treating yourself well. For Shredded Wheat is one food that's VITALLY DIFFERENT.

It brings you all the proteins, carbohydrates, minerals, vitamins that Nature stores in her richest cereal, whole wheat. For it's whole wheat—nothing added, nothing taken away—whole wheat, crisp-baked for easy digestion. All the bran is there, as Nature intended.

Try it with milk or cream and the fresh or canned fruit you like best. It's delicious; it's easy on your allowance. And it helps you keep in trim to lick the world.

Salute Named Coach At Kavanaugh High

Forrest "Aggie" Sale, Lawrenceburg, junior in the college of Education, for three years a member of the Wildcat basketball team, and all-American and all-Southern center, was named Thursday as coach of the Kavanaugh High school net team.

Sale succeeds Paul McBrayer, also an all-Southern man, while a member of the Big Blue quintet who resigned to accept another position at the Lawrenceburg school the last two seasons but most of his team was lost by graduation and "Aggie" will have to build almost a new five.

Sale, retiring 'cat captain was recently declared by Coach Adolph Rupp to be the best basketball player he ever saw. He is the second Kentucky man to have been named on the mythical all-American five, the other player having been Louis McGinnis in 1931, and the only man ever to have been named two successive times.

U. K. Social Club May Be Revived Plans to revive the University Social club are being formulated by a group of the faculty members headed by Mrs. Frank McVey.

A dance will be given Saturday night, May 13 in the Patterson hall recreation room by the new Social club as the first social event. It is planned to organize the University Social club on an entirely new basis. During the next academic year four dances are planned, two each semester. A good orchestra will be obtained for these dances and refreshments will be served.

A get-together dance has been planned for May 13 of this semester. A good orchestra has been secured for the dance. Bridge tables will also be provided for those who do not wish to dance. The recreation room of Patterson hall will be open from 8 until 12 o'clock and there will be music from 9 to 11:45 p. m.

All members of the faculty are expected to be present with their

Derby Day is over, but it will be weeks before the smoke of contention as to the legal winner clears up.

Saturday was an eventful day, not only at the Derby, but here at the University as well.

Stuot, a diminutive boy who wears glasses, stepped the four laps of the mile in 4:32.2, which was more than two seconds better than Jake O'Bryan's mark of 4:35.2, set in 1931.

In the high jump meet, Schuette Barrett, Manual star, broke the existing records in the shot put, pole vault and high hurdles.

We thought that strong men were fearless, but from evidence recently uncovered by one of our operatives, one man at least is not so brave as he was believed to have been.

FROSH GOLFERS FACE BUSY WEEK

A busy week is in store for the freshman and varsity golf teams, according to the schedule released yesterday by Prof. J. C. Jones, who is in charge of both squads.

Manual High school of Louisville will furnish the opposition for the frosh team and on Wednesday afternoon the yearlings will clash with the University of Louisville first year team.

On Saturday afternoon at the Lexington Country club, both varsity and freshman teams will compete against teams representing Eastern State Teachers college.

Those who think Doug Parrish's mark of 15.3 in the high hurdles is quite good should read up Louisiana State has three timber toppers that have stepped over the boards in better times.

Track has evidently been neglected at the University, a sort of forgotten sport. About once a year the team has a good crowd at its meets and if this time, the student body invariably remarks, "What's the matter with the Wildcats?" Well, we can tell them this much. If they really cared for the sport they would talk it up, and whenever possible, have track athletes to come to school at the University.

MISS WADE SPEAKS TO HOME EC CLUB

Committee to Nominate Next Year's Officers Is Appointed

"Personality Clothed," was the subject of a talk given before the Home Economics club last night by Miss Gertrude Wade at the Women's building.

In order to dress well, one must cultivate certain traits, honesty, courtesy, cheerfulness, punctuality, enthusiasm, neatness, and cleanliness, according to Miss Wade.

The sum of all these is charm. Miss Wade illustrated her talk by having girls model the correct type of dress for various occasions showing what types exhibited different characteristics. The following girls modeled: Jane Dyer, Rosalie Seal, Elizabeth Anderson, Harriet Wilson, Amelia Ligon, and Hattie Mae Price.

One of the points which was brought out was that clothes must harmonize with surroundings and not flaunt characteristics. A flaming personality is not emphasized by flaming colors.

A business meeting followed the program and a committee was appointed to nominate officers for next year. Plans for a picnic were discussed after which tea was served.

SUPPOSE YOU TELL ME WHY YOU SMOKE GRANGER"

"Well, it's like this. Back in the old days, when men wore high hats and frock coats, they had plenty of time to think things out, and they had sense, too. They used to sit down on a log and take the time to whittle their tobacco from a plug, to be sure of having a cool smoke.

"In those days, a man named Wellman, right here in Quincy, Ill., made about the best tobacco you could get. He knew how to keep the flavor fine and mellow.

"Well, sir, the people who make this Granger Rough Cut acquired Mr. Wellman's method, and they must have known how the old boys used to whittle their tobacco to make it smoke cool. Yes, sir, this Granger is the real stuff. The same mellowness and fine flavor that Wellman used to hand out to his friends. And it's whittled into big shaggy flakes all ready for the pipe. 'Rough Cut' they call it—'cut rough to smoke cool' is the best way I can describe it.

TEN CENTS The Granger pouch keeps the tobacco fresh

"Regardless of price, Granger is about the best pipe tobacco I ever smoked. That's why I smoke it, and that's why they call it America's Pipe Tobacco, sir."

Now we wanted to sell Granger for 10¢. It was just a question of how to do it for the price. So we pack Granger in a sensible foil pouch instead of an expensive package, knowing that a man can't smoke the package. We give smokers this good
