Colonel Dick Redd Will Soon Reappear on University Campus

By Jess M. Laughlin
Colonel Dick Redd, Lexington's grand old veteran of the Civil War, is about due to reappear on the University campus this spring. Tradition has led the more uninformed of us to think that he might have been anything from a drummer boy to Lee's side-de-camp. What ever his status may have been, Lexington and its environs will always know him as the "Colonel."

At the last Confederate reunion Colonel Redd was forced to return home without his faithful charger, "Major." By popular subscription Lexington citizens paid for the thoroughbred's fare home. But this time the two old friends were reunited.

With the cheerful notes of the robin and the cardinal and a sunny sky above, all that is needed to complete the picture is for the Colonel to charge gallantly up the entrance drive, and rein in his steed in front of the flagpole with his inimitable rebel yell.

The Colonel, always dressed in a gray frock coat, red riding pants encased in puttees, a red officers' sash and a rebel slouch hat

Webb and Funkhouser to Begin Extensive Investigation Into Life of Ancient Kentucky Man Next Summer.

Dr. Funkhouser and Professor Webb have started an extensive survey into the life of the ancient man of Kentucky, having located a site for the work in Christian county, four and one-half miles northwest of Trenton, on a farm owned by Mrs. D. C. Williams.

Guignol Scores With Gioconda As Latest Hit

"Gioconda," which opened at the Guignol theater Monday for a run of one week, is, by far, the most ambitious attempt at production offered in this city that we have seen in any amateur group. It is an artistic triumph in every respect.

Frank C. Fowler has the role of Lucio Sertina, a sculptor, to whom his wife, Sylvia, played by Jeannette Kimberlain, is devoted. A woman out of Lucio's past arises to hold his favor and Sylvia sacrifices her own happiness and charm so that he might be contented in his life's work.

Miss Kimberlain does the outstanding feminine piece of work in the play as the wife. We have never seen a woman so perfectly interpreted in this role and in the last act when we see her living a life of poverty and the tragedy in her skillful portrayal.

New Building Is Not for Dean's Monkeys, Kernel Writer Finds

By Sara Elvove

For some time the University students, chancing to see the building under construction, have been wondering what this new addition to the campus is destined to contain. From the appearance of it now, it resembles a greenhouse. But perhaps as some one facetiously suggested, it is the new home of Dean Anderson's monkeys. Here are the real facts about it.

The College of Engineering has been endowed by Percy H. Johnson, president of the Chemical National Bank of New York, with a research laboratory for the purpose of carrying on the effect of sunlight on plants and animals. This is to be made in connection with the atmospheric comfort zone already established here by Dean Anderson.

During the years 1921 to 1924, there was developed by the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, what is known as the "atmospheric comfort zone for human beings" - that is, an idealism in atmospheric air conditions that will produce the greatest amount of human beings, and to segregate, may carry out this research work.

GREEK TO GREET GREEK IN SPRING ATHLETIC MEET

Olympics Will Be Rivalled by Intramural Clash Tomorrow

COMPETITION IS OPEN TO ALL BAR NONE

Entry Lists Close at Noon Today; Cup Will Be Given

By Laurence Shropshire

As was to be expected when mythology held sway among the learned Greeks, Achilles was the popular hero, the man of the hour. This gentleman, his feetness of foot were the medium by which he placed his name on the lips of the Greek philosophers and poets.

There is no doubt but that the Greek team will be the best in intra-mural history. The eligibility bans have been lifted and every one, including members of the varsity and freshman cinder squads at present, can compete. This was the first time that varsity material in training earlier and from the number of men working daily, this effort was most successful.

The entry list, which is a most important item in an affair like this, is closing at noon today. Most of the fraternities have already gotten their group entries in the hands of the officials.

The spring relay last year were won by the Sigma Chi fraternity by a narrow margin. Pi Kappa Alpha, including members of the varsity and freshman cinder squads at present, can compete. This was the first time that varsity material in training earlier and from the number of men working daily, this effort was most successful.

Not to be outdone by the varsity coaches, M. E. Potter, intra-mural director, has arranged a genuine, full-fledged track meet. Fourteen events comprise the program for the day and cover every field known to track and field.

A silver loving cup is the reward for the winning team in the relay. A larger trophy will be given to the victorious fraternity team and the high point man of the meet will be recognized for his success and prowess by another cup. Coach Shively and Bart Peck will head the list of timers, starters, and what not.

Dr. Herman Schneider, former dean of the College of Engineering and now acting president of the University of Cincinnati said: "The death of Professor Jenkins is a great loss to the University because of his personality and his wide knowledge of theory and practice in the field of mechanical engineering. He is known internationally as an expert in the finer and more intricate phases of machine design."

"Professor Jenkins was a man who had a most extensive grasp of all departments of mechanical engineering. His advice frequently was sought by engineering experts. ALUMNI GET JOBS FOR ENGINEERS

Thornton Lewis and William G. Hillen. Visit Campus to Engage Engineers for Work After Graduation.

Two alumni of the University of Kentucky, representing two large engineering concerns, were recent visitors on the campus of the University, interviewing senior engineering students with the view of obtaining the services of several after graduation in the spring. Both firms represented by the alumni employ several members of the graduating class each year.

Alexander Thornton Lewis, a life member of the Alumni Association, graduated from the College of Engineering with the class of 1906, and is president of the York Heating and Ventilating Corporation, Philadelphia, was one of the visiting alumni. Each year his company employs several graduates of the College of Engineering and today his force of engineers and salesmen is made up mainly of graduates of the University of Kentucky. This year he selected five men who will enter his employ as soon as they have received their degrees from the University.

William G. Hillen, who was graduated from the College of Engineering, now is a representative of the Carrier Engineering Corporation of Newark, N. J. The Carrier Engineering Corporation is another large engineering concern that takes a number of outstanding graduates from the University each year. The men selected by this corporation, receiving additional training in the specific work of that organization, receiving a salary at the same time.

The College of Engineering of the University of Kentucky, is known throughout the whole United States and graduates from this college always are in demand by the outstanding engineering and manufacturing concerns each year.

THE LIBERAL CLUB

A Liberal Club has been organized on the University of Kentucky campus. Sooner or later, such an organization appears on every campus. In every group there are persons who have tendencies so liberal that they can be classed as radicals.

This is a land of free speech and free opinions. The liberal element sometimes takes advantage of those opportunities. When they are reprimanded or criticized for expressing too radical ideas, they declare that every man has a right to opinion, and that tyranny exists if free speech is not allowed. They scream for the rights of the masses. The conservative attitude is branded as bigotry. When we argue that our personal and national and school affairs have progressed satisfactorily without their radicalism, they say we are "narrow-minded." Who is the bigot? Who is narrow-minded?

The Liberal Club on this campus followed as a direct result of a visit to the campus by Paul Porter, young liberal from Kansas. Dr. Porter spoke here. He said that the reason for education was to "avoid work," and that those in authority "escape work," and the subordinates do "the most work." The most educated men are those who accomplish most. The accomplishment of some is through direction of the work of others, it is agreed. But no one who avoids or escapes work reaches the high places.

The Kernel is not in accord with all of Mr. Porter's ideas. It is liberal inasmuch as it will fight to the last ditch for the God-given rights of the students. But it is law-abiding, and objects to immature minds organizing to criticize things that have been established by more capable persons than they.

PATRIOTISM IS NOT DEAD!

The University of Kentucky is a land grant college. As such, one of its requirements of its male students is two years of military training, afforded through the Reserve Officers Training Corps. There is no way to avoid the two years' training, except physical disability. The requirement is stated in the rules of the University, and a student agrees to abide by those rules when he enters the institution. After he has been enrolled in the military science class, he should not object at that late date to being "forced" into them.

A number of University students have expressed their antagonism to the rule requiring military training. To uphold their argument, they maintain that our nation should prevent war rather than prepare for it; they maintain that the requirement of military training is contrary to personal freedom and rights.

As to the first argument, there is no one who does not want to prevent war. War is all that Sherman said it was, and more. Preparedness, however, is accepted generally by students of military history and diplomatic affairs as probably the surest method of preventing war. That being the case, it hardly behoves college students who have not given the matter much thought to call the preparedness principle erroneous.

As to the second argument, the "personal rights" affair, personal rights are just only so long as they do not conflict with the welfare of society in general. When the student enters the University, he agrees to fulfill the requirements for graduation, such as two years of languages, gymnasium classes, hygiene, military training and many others. If he did not approve of the requirements, particularly that of military training, he should have attended some of the many other schools that do not have such requirements.

But so much for the dissenters. There is, in the University student body, a large percentage of young men who realize the value of military training to themselves and to their nation. It is not too much to prophesy that there will be more wars, sometime. These young men realize this, and they give with open hearts and open hands of their time and minds that they may best serve their country in times of need. These men have had more military training than the others, and they know best what a horrible thing war can be. Yet they leave to the others the talk of prevention of war, and devote their time to the labor of preparedness. They benefit both in mind and body.

Patriotism is not dead, though in peace time it slumbers! We are Americans, no matter what race or creed. "One nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

The echoing notes of the bugle, the flutter of the flag in the breeze, the parade of marching men at sundown, the martial music of the band. . . These are not mere showy ceremonies of peacetime! These are reminders of blood—the blood that was shed in making this the United States of America, our country.

And even with lulling the pleasures of peace taking from our attention the strife that has been, we should not forget that someday we will have to fight to preserve the nation. We should prepare. We should not begrudge our service to our native land—the land which gave us all that we possess.

Southwestern University claims the co-ed gum chewing champion of the world, and like Lindbergh, she refuses to endorse any certain brand of chewing gum. If the sticks of gum which this fair one has masticated were placed end to end they would encircle the world three times.

Stanford has adopted a new honor system. The old system of reporting cheaters was recently abolished by a vote of the student body and now when each student enters the university he must sign a pledge to leave the campus if he becomes guilty of dishonesty in academic work.

Dakota University reports that the popularity of students who work their way through the school is not injured. A well known varsity athlete and the most popular co-ed on the campus are putting themselves through school.

Count Liya Tolstoy, son of the great anarchist, has sailed for this country where he will deliver a series of lectures to college students. His first stop will be at De Pauw University. His ultimate reason in coming to the United States is that the people of Russia and this country may become better acquainted.

Illinois believes in starting education early. A seventy-two year old freshman registered at Chicago University last January.

Excessive drinking during the home coming celebration at Colorado College last month, has caused a ban on all formal social events except the junior prom, for the remainder of the college year.

Duke University is now less 14 fraternities which were padlocked by the local sheriff. The writ didn't carry a charge of vice, drinking nor any illegal proceedings, but simply "failure to pay rent." Duke University is a very, very rich school!

University of Louisville according to the U. of L. News has a "prize fan." Robert Cohen has been the first man in the gym for every game played on the home court this season, he occupied the same seat each night and "hollered" louder than anyone else. Maybe Kentucky has some "prize fans." Go to the games late and try to get a seat.

MY STAR

There is a little star
That twinkles just for me,
And from afar,
On lonely nights,
It shines that I may see.

So gently from above
It twinkles till the dawn—
This star I love,
That points for me
The way that you have gone.

ROBERT E. SHARON.

STRANGERS

Yesterday seems just a dream—
A dream that will not fade.
As tho' the hours I spent with thee
For just we two were made.

We met just as two strangers
Can meet in this old world,
But when we parted—very soon—
Our heads were in a whirl!

And then our hearts, they too
Became involved—and met—
Ere we were well acquainted—
Indeed, we are not yet.

But what does that matter?
I've never known such bliss
As when our lips met first
In a long and loving kiss.

Fen yet tho' total strangers
To the world as large, we are
Just for each other—so
Our happiness naught will mar.

Two strangers met, their hearts cried out
Each as to the other
And now for both, and so for each
There ne'er will be another.

Music, Stage and Screen

By Thomas L. Riley

Sunday will see the opening of two all-talking pictures along Lexington's radio and we are at a loss to determine which of the two will be the more worthy. They are both constructed along those well known lines of hokum and they are both melodramas, so take your choice. However, the last half of next week will boast of the most outstanding contribution to the art of the cinema, that has so far emerged from Hollywood. It is "Sunrise" and was directed by that foreign genius, F. W. Murnau. By all means see that picture.

"Strange Cargo" at Strand Sunday
As number one of the two all-talkers outlined above we offer "Strange Cargo," a Pathe picture, which opens Sunday at the Strand theater for a four-day run. From the title one gathers the information that some sort of mystery is to be unfolded and that is exactly the case. However, it is said that the deep secret divulged in "Strange Cargo" is one of utmost power in its melodrama. The picture is an all-dialogue affair recorded on RCA Photophone, which works on the same principle as Vitaphone.

"Conquest" at Kentucky Sunday
As number two of the talking pair to open Sunday we offer "Conquest," a Warner Brothers picture, which will appear at the Kentucky theater for the first half of the week. This picture stars Monte Blue and features H. E. Warner, Lois Wilson and Tully Marshall, and it is an all-dialogue production recorded via the Vitaphone process. The story of "Conquest" tells of a South Pole airplane exploration trip and of course Mr. Blue is cast as the erstwhile hero of the air.

The Ben All Program
The Ben All offered us a mighty good first half program with a good stage presentation and quite a good picture and it seems that they are going to follow this policy as they will open Sunday with another good picture, namely, Greta Garbo in "Wild Orchids." This picture was originally called "Heat," but for obvious reasons the title was changed. Lewis Stone, one of our very few favorite actors, and Nils Asther are cast in support of Miss Garbo in "Wild Orchids," which is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, directed by

No Blarney—they Satisfy!

The Blarney Stone still does business at the old stand. You tip the guide to hold onto your heels, lean far over the castle wall, and print a respectful smack upon the famous relic. Thereafter you can charm the birds out of the trees; you can talk anybody out of anything, even to swiveling his favorite cigarette.

Unfortunately, the writer has never had this privilege, and his effort to make you see the light and light a Chesterfield must limit itself to a plain quotation of cigarette fact, namely:

"We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price."
Lippincott's Magazine

If that isn't the last word on the subject of smoking, your correspondent engages to eat the Blarney Stone upon his very next trip to the Emerald Isle.

Special Committee Meets to Discuss Accrediting Plans

A special committee from the Association of Kentucky Colleges met Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the office of Dean Paul P. Boyd. Tabulation of the records of Kentucky high school graduates in Kentucky colleges and standards for high schools built on the six-six and the six-three plans were the subjects for the discussion of this meeting.
The purpose of the tabulation plan is to assist in the future accrediting of high schools. The high school plans involve standards for accrediting high schools in school systems, dividing the elementary and high school course into two periods of six years each, or of providing for six years of elementary work, three of junior high school work, and three of high school work.
Dean Boyd is chairman of the committee, and the other members are Prof. Charles A. Maney, Transylvania College; Dean Cooper, Eastern State Teachers' College, Richmond; Professor Heston, Asbury College; and Mark Goodman, State High School Superintendent.

IT'S REALLY A SHAME TO INTERRUPT THE PROFESSOR'S CHASE OF THE DIURNAL LEPIDOPTERA AND TURN THE BULL ON HIM BUT YOU HAVE TO BLAME THE ARTIST FOR THAT.

Obviously, few of us have the chance—or tomenty—to make ourselves out of ourselves. But even in the normal course of human events, there's nothing so welcome as a refreshing pause.
Happily there's a soda fountain or refreshment stand—with plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola ready—around the corner from anywhere.

TENNIS TEAM TO JOURNEY SOUTH

Coach Downing and Courtmen Have Five Games on Card During Easter Holidays; 'Bama' Heads List.

With men like Capt. Dwight Hamersley, Rawlings Ragland, Bruce Caulkins, Joe Kee and Earl Senif to form a nucleus for the Wildcat tennis team this year, Coach Downing has reasons to believe that this will be the best team he has ever handled.

When such performers as Jimmie McFarland, Buddy Steele, George Ragland, and others are considered this statement may seem strange, but the team this year is the most evenly-balanced one ever to report for this sport. Of course, one must admit that there have been better players at Kentucky but they never had anyone to go with them. "They were always by themselves when it came to winning all the matches of the day."

Ragland Is Star

Kentucky's team this spring will have boys on it that have really shown some class during their tennis days. Rawlings Ragland, brother of George Ragland, former racket winder for the Wildcats, boasts a record that is almost unbeatable. Three summers ago he won the Blue Grass championship, defeating Jimmie McFarland in the final match. The same year he was rated the fourth best tennis player in the South. The following season he romped over all comers in the meets in which he took part. Last year he only played while in school and lost one match.

Joe Kee is another Lexington boy, who last year established a name for himself as "the youthful tennis star of the Blue Grass." Captain Dwight Hamersley and Bruce Caulkins have records which speak for themselves as result of the great showings they have made during their two years on the varsity. Earl Senif, the blonde luminary from Mt. Sterling, is the other boy who really shows some class when he steps around on a tennis court. He played several bang-up games last year on the freshmen team.

New Men Try-out
Coach Downing has a new scheme by which he will give all men who wish a chance to try out for the team. The formula which he has planned is to have competitive matches among the new comers. When a man has shown he is of the class to beat out one of the regulars he will immediately be placed in that rank. No man will have a place cinched at any time so only those willing to work need report.

Coach Downing has already booked a five-day trip into the South during the Easter holidays. He has scheduled matches with the University of Alabama, Maryville College, Howard College at Birmingham, and Union College at Bourbonville, Ky. He has scheduled two meets, one at home and one abroad, with each of the following teams to be played during the season: St. Xavier, of Cincinnati; University of Louisville, Berea College, Georgetown College, Centre College, and Hanover College of Indiana.

The doubles team which he will probably use on the trip South, are: Ragland and Hamersley, Caulkins and Kee, with Senif as an ace in the hole to alternate for both teams. All freshmen who wish to try out for the frosh team must report for practice not later than March 25. Their schedule will include games with the best high school and freshmen college teams in the state.

WILDCATS MEET BUCKEYES TODAY

Devereaux's Protégés and Ohio State Nine Will Play Practice Games Today and Tomorrow.

The Wildcats nine will unofficially open their season in a practice game with the Red Sox this afternoon, action to begin about 3 o'clock. But don't be mistaken, this is not the famous big league team from Beantown, but Ohio State Buckeyes who have chosen the Blue Grass metropolis as their spring training ground.

The Ohio aggregation, with some twenty players and five officials on its roster, arrived here Monday night and have held two practice sessions daily. Another game with the Wildcats will probably take place Saturday after which the Buckeyes will entrain for their home grounds.

The northern squad, containing seven baseball lettermen, looked unusually good in their initial workout on Still field Tuesday and the Wildcats will have to step to win either of the contests. Coach Wright's men have had very little practice prior to this week but they are, nevertheless, in good condition. Several six-foot sophomores appear to be likely moundsmen.

Coach Devereaux and his charges have endured a most hectic week. The Wildcat mentor is hard put to replace the team that was hit so hard by graduation last year. He is continually shuffling the lineups in an attempt to round up nine men who have ability and talent in at least two of baseball's essentials—batting, fielding, and base-running. So far, in this effort, he has been unsuccessful.

One of the primary worries for the coach comes from the battery men, Covington and Rhoads, infielder and outfielder, respectively, by trade, are being used in the box to support McTrayer and McMurray, the only experienced twirlers on the squad. Dunigan, Cawood, and Grider have also received opportunities to show their assortment of curves and smoke balls. Barnes, Gearheart, Augustus, and Ray are dividing the duties of the catcher's department at present.

The biggest trouble with the infield seems to be plugging up the gap at the "hot corner" filled so capably last year by Captain Bill Crouch. Mauser, an outfielder, and Covington have been tried there and found wanting. Beard, understudy to Gilb at short, might possibly develop into a third-sacker, although he is handicapped by inexperience.

Johnny Cole and Kruger are working at first, Triebler and Toth at second, while a few lesser lights are filling in wherever necessary. The outfield berths are all still on the block, ready to be knocked off to the highest bidder. A galaxy of neat ball chasers have reported to the coach but their besetting sin is weak stick work. Anyone who can crash through with the willow is sure to earn a job patrolling the gardens.

The Wildcats do not look like a championship outfit at the present but they will develop and should have a pretty well balanced club in a few weeks. Coach Devereaux is one of the best coaches that could be secured. He has had a world of experience in professional as well as college baseball. Just give him a chance and with the little material that he has, he is sure to put a hustling and fighting ball club on the field.

MUSICAL DEGREE IS ESTABLISHED

University Music Department
Bachelor of Science Degree to Students Taking New Training Course.

Prof. Carl Lampert, head of the University music department, is rendering the public school music departments of the state an unusual service by offering musicians, who take the newly established training course for music supervisors, a Bachelor of Science degree in music. The object of the course is the training of men and women in the fundamental knowledge of piano teaching, glee club instructing, and band and orchestra leadership, in order that the smaller schools of Kentucky, which are unable to afford more than one man or woman in the music department, will be equipped to offer students a complete elementary course in each of the branches named.
The course includes a thorough preparation in the fundamentals of music, such as sight-reading, history and appreciation of music, public school music, harmony, counterpoint and composition. Much time has been spent during the last two years in practice teaching, the study of the methods of organizing, training and conducting glee clubs, orchestras and bands.
During the student's four years' training, he is a member of one or more of the musical ensemble groups at the University, such as the glee club, bands, Philharmonic orchestra or quartets. He receives practical knowledge and training along these lines, while at the same time he is majoring in the study of one specific instrument or voice.
Professor Lampert has had years of experience in concert work and instruction, having been on tour with the Redpath Chautauqua and on concert stage. He is the general supervisor of the course.

Smoker Tips 16 on Big Secret

Larus & Brother Company
Richmond, Va.
Gentlemen:
In the past twenty years I have been a consistent smoker, but no matter how often I tried to change my mind, I have tried all kinds of pipe tobacco, but not once was I satisfied with the taste, and until recently I gave my pipe another trial.
It was my luck to choose Edgeworth this time, with the results that I am still using it and will continue to do so. I only hope that you will continue to give that same mild, high-grade quality in the future.
I have started not less than sixteen men to start or give Edgeworth a trial, and they are still using that same unequalled non-biting tobacco to this day. I can recommend Edgeworth tobacco to anybody who enjoys a cool non-biting brand of good tobacco; and as long as I enjoy same, you can rest assured that you are going to be a good ad., and many a pipe smoker will be asked to give it a fair trial, and they themselves can judge.
I always give praise where praise is due. After I was faced of the wonderful quality of Edgeworth I could not help but tell you people the same as I have been telling and will be in the future tell others.
Hoping that you will continue with the same quality in Edgeworth, I am
Very truly yours,
(Signed) Joseph J. Stahl

'CAT TRACK MEN HAVE LONG DRILLS

One of Kentucky's aspiring Achilles came limping off the field yesterday and told a fellow sufferer of the cinder oval that he longed for the day of their first track meet, then he would have a day of rest. His words reflected the strenuous work that Coach Bernie Shively has served his men during the past two weeks in spite of adverse weather conditions.
The squad has just completed the period of slow steady training which must precede the bi-weekly trials when each man strains to his utmost to cut off that last second from his run or to add a few more feet to his throw. The men who will comprise the team have not been selected as yet.

Harris Leads Sprinters
The dashes are closely contested by Harris, Holt, and Weaver in the 100 and 220, and by Thomason, Jones, Milward, and Twaddell in the 440. Harris has obtained a slight edge in the 100 thus far and Holt seems to be the best bet in the 220. Thomason, veteran of last year, and his running mate to Bill Gess, has registered the best time in the half mile, with Zopf, Ruttenutter, Hamon, and Gunkle showing good form.

No definite choice for the mile and two-mile can be made this early in the season. These events will be handled by the veterans Young, Owens, Cochran, and Johnson, with the aid of Hamon and Twaddell of last year's freshman team. Maxon, Weiman, and Gibson will be the hurriers this season. The relay team will be selected from the following list of runners: Owens, Jones, Thomason, Milward, Zopf, and Twaddell.

Strong in Field Events
Supremacy in the field events results only after long, tedious, objective practice. The trend of the first two weeks of work shows Captain Kavanaugh, Urevig, and Epps leading in the discus and shot. Kavanaugh and Urevig are about evenly matched. Harris, Smither, and Zopf are getting good distance with the pole vault considering the length of time they have been out.

No real material has appeared for the pole vault to date. This event seems to be the weak spot of the squad this year. McLane, West, Twaddell, and Harris are contending for the broad jump with McLane leading. Gibson and McLane have shown the best results in the high jump.
Coach Shively has devoted his time entirely to track since March

4. His efforts are rewarded with a well rounded squad of considerable strength which should repeat the success of the team last year. No try-outs of importance have been staged but the intra-mural meet tomorrow will be an occasion for most of the men to display their wares. All are eligible for the meet except the four letter men, Captain Kavanaugh, Owens, Thomason, and West.

Dr. Ruza Lakavaska-Stuerm Speaks at Relations Meeting

Dr. Ruza Lakavaska-Stuerm, of Czechoslovakia, noted authority on International Relations, spoke to the International Relations Club last Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the McVey hall lecture room.

The subject of Dr. Lakavaska-Stuerm's talk was based on the international relations of Central Europe in regard to the Austria-Hungary controversy. The impossibility of drawing a boundary line on national groups was stressed by the relationship of Czechoslovakia with Austria-Hungary. The speaker was much in agreement with the opposition that her country seemed to have concerning the return to Hungary of the Hapsburg monarchy.

Dr. Lakavaska-Stuerm is the second foreign speaker entertained here under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

IN DEMAND—College Men With a Knowledge of Aviation

MORE than any other industry today, aviation offers you a real opportunity. The rocket-like growth of aviation to a place along side the automobile industry has created an unprecedented demand for young executives. Men with a college education and a sound knowledge of the flying business are the kind that are wanted.

Aviation offers you as a college man an immediate outlet for your talents. Unlike other professions or businesses, it imposes no long years of struggling to get recognition. Aviation is growing so fast that the men who go into it today must be the executives a few months from now. The only requisites are that you be trained mentally and physically and that you give aviation all the application and industry you would give any other profession.

Here is a future you can be enthusiastic about. Here is an opportunity to show your ability as a young, thriving industry.

A few months at Parks Air College will give you the training that you now lack and start you on your career in the most fascinating, romantic and profitable business open to a young man today. Send in the coupon now.

From a place in the cockpit, it's then an easy jump for the college man to a position in the executive office and unlimited opportunity.

College men are coming to Parks because it is the largest non-military flying school in the world, because it uses only the latest type planes and equipment, and because its corps of instructors has an enviable reputation both as pilots and classroom teachers.

A degree from Parks Air College will mean as much, if not more, to your future than your university degree will. It will mean that you have successfully mastered the subjects of aerodynamics, airplane design, rigging, airport management, aerial photography and all the subjects an aeronautical executive must know. It will mean that you have completed a thorough shop course in powerplants, from the big Liberty, the Wheland and Fairchild-Camczek to the little Velle engine.

Get your flying school training now. A vacation spent at Parks Air College will be the thrill of your life. Plenty of flying, outdoor life, novel recreation and a training that will bring you a substantial salary when you graduate.
