Commissary Gives Goods To Hospital

The Cardinal Hill Convalescent Hospital for Crippled Children is the recipient of all groceries, other supplies and cash left by the Coopers-town Commissary following liquidation of the store in the University of Kentucky housing project earlier this week.

Announcement that the store's inventory would go to the hospital was made jointly Friday by Frank D. Peterson, UK comptroller, and Miss Louise Sanford Cardinal Hill administrator.

The donation to the hospital is the result of plans established in 1951 when the commissary was reorganized as a non-profit institution. A charter drafted at that time designated that Cardinal Hill would receive all cash and remaining supplies upon liquidation of the concern.

Originally, the store was opened as a co-operative in 1948 by students living in Cooperstown. It was operated as a co-operative until the reorganization in 1951.

Food and supplies transferred to the hospital were estimated by Peterson to be worth approximately $450. A "sizeable amount of cash" will go to the hospital upon closure of all grocery accounts, he said.

Hollywood Test Offered To Co-Ed Contest Winner

A Hollywood screen test will be offered to the winner of the College Queen Contest to be held at Convention Hall, Asbury, N. J., Sept. 10-12, 1954.

All college girls between the ages of 17 and 25 years are eligible. The screen test and film audition is to be supervised by Ida Lupino, head of Filmmakers Production, who avidly believes that many of our future stars will be culled from the campuses of the nation.

In addition to the screen test award, the forthcoming Broadway musical production, "Good News" will offer an audition to the winner, should she possess musical or dancing ability. Producer Leonard Karmar hopes to fill his cast with many co-eds who have majored in dramatics at college. A total of $5,000 in prizes will be awarded the winner.

Entry blanks may be obtained by writing to College Queen Contest, Convention Hall, Asbury Park, N. J. Complete contest details will accompany entry blank forms.

State college queen finalists will be offered transportation to and from Asbury Park, N. J., to compete in the grand finals and will be supervised at all times by committee members of the women's club there. Entrants must compose an essay on the subject, "What College Education Means to Me."

Boston Claims First Railway

Historians claim that the nation's first railway (the first use of rails) was in Boston—a pair of rails carrying small cars that trundled earth from a section of Beacon Hill to the marshes at its foot, that were being filled in for a real estate development. The date was 1800.

Original Dorm Plans Were Made In 1944

The new women's dorm behind Patterson Hall may be news to many students on the University of Kentucky campus but the Dean of women has been thinking about it for a long time.

Except for minor changes the blueprints for the dorm were drawn 10 years ago. "We planned then to build a dorm on Harrison and Euclid Streets," said Miss Jane Haselden, Assistant Dean of Women, "but we found that it was not feasible to build at that time."

The dormitory, which was started in June of this year, will house about 940 girls, Dean Haselden explained. All bedrooms will be two-girl rooms with private baths for every two rooms. Each girl will have her own closet and a built-in dresser with a mirror. The girls will have a double desk with shelf space provided.

"There are no dining room facilities in the new dormitory," Dean Haselden said. There will be a service kitchen off the main lounge to handle refreshments for parties, and small kitchenettes on each of the other three floors, however.

"The girls can cook in the small

Kyians Are Here!!

The 1954 Kentuckians are now being distributed to June graduates and to subscribers.

Students who did not leave mailing instructions may pick up their copies of the 416 page book at room 116, Enoch Grehan Journalism building. A few copies will be offered for sale at $6 each.

This year's Kentuckian, one of the largest volumes in the more than half century history of the publication, was edited by James R. Perry. It was printed by off-set process on The Kernel Press on the ground floor of the Journalism building. The book carries at least one third more photographs than any previous volume.

Dr. Niel Plummer and Mrs. Mary Anne Good of the School of Journalism staff are distributing the books. Approximately 1,000 copies were sent through the University Post Office during this week.

Meanwhile preliminary sketches and plans for the 1955 Kentuckian are now being made, and photography for this book will begin next week.

kitchenettes if they want to," the dean explained.

There will be a grill in the recreation room in the basement. A large laundry room with washers, dryers and ironing boards will also be located there.

The new dormitory will be for upperclasswomen only. Freshmen will continue to live in the old dorms and eat in Boyd Hall, but the decision about where the upperclasswomen will eat will be decided later, Dean Haselden said. The new building will not be connected to the other dorms.

Each floor of the new hall will have three study rooms for the girls of that floor. There will also be a sundeck on the roof.

"I held out for the sundeck," Dean Haselden said with a smile. "I knew how much it meant to the girls in the halls, and Jewell can't hold them all."

"It is estimated that the dorm will be completed in 200 working days," she continued. That means that it should be completed in time for the fall semester of 1955.

When it is completed, "the barracks will no longer be used, and there won't be three girls in any room that was not built for three girls," according to the Dean.

She described the architecture of the building as being "more traditional than modern." The architects and engineers are Frankel and Curtis of Lexington.

Seniors may look at the new dorms with some regret, since they will not be able to enjoy its benefits, but incoming freshmen, sophomores and juniors should watch the progress of their dormitory of the future with great interest.

Kappa Delta Pi Announces Activities

Summer dates and activities of Kappa Delta Pi, Education Honorary, have been announced by Olive E. Barrett, chairman of publicity. They are as follows:

July 1, membership meeting and social, 3:00 p.m. Central Standard Time, University School Library.

July 14, membership meeting, 3:00 p.m. Central Standard Time, University School Library.

August 5, initiation picnic, 5:00 Central Standard Time, Blue Grass Park.

New Point System Becomes Effective In Fall Semester

By GEORGENE DUCKWORTH
The University Faculty has passed certain regulations which change the University marking system, requirements for graduation and probation procedures. This new system will be effective for all students with the beginning of the fall semester of the 1954-55 academic year, Dr. Robert Mills, University Registrar announced this week.

The Faculty also passed a motion making the new regulations concerning graduation requirements effective for all students entering the University at the beginning of the fall semester of the 1954-55 academic year or at any time thereafter.

Since these requirements are very important, it is recommended that all present and prospective students understand these changes which are:

1. Any student with the exception of the Colleges of Law and Pharmacy who fails to pass nine semester hours of work during the regular semester (or five semester hours during the summer term) or fails to attain the following designated standing shall be placed upon probation by the college in which the student is enrolled.

Freshman—average of 1.4 quality points

Sophomore—average of 1.6 quality points

Juniors and Seniors—average of 1.8 quality points

Probation shall continue until the student attains the scholastic standing specified for his classification in the University. Any student failing to meet the specific standards for two consecutive semesters shall be dropped from the University.

2. The new marking system will be that an A is worth four points for each credit; a B is worth three points; a C is worth two points; a D is worth one point; and an E is worth no points.

3. The standing of a student is defined as the ratio of his total number of points to his total number of credits.

4. In computing standings for all University purposes a WF shall be treated as an E and WP shall be ignored. An I or X shall be counted as an E for purposes of computing graduation standing, but shall not be counted in computing probation standing until the final grade is entered. An I, X, or E grade will not be counted in computing standing for graduation if the student has repeated the course and made a passing grade.

5. To be eligible for graduation from any under-graduate college of the University, a student must have completed the requirements needed for graduation and must have a standing of 2.0 with 256 quality points.

Students who entered the University before the fall semester 1954-55 and does not have a 2.0 standing needed for graduation under the new system, those students standing will be computed under the old system so that they may be eligible for graduation.

Pioneer Players To Stage Comedy

Eight players, led by blonde Isa Childers, will present this week the Pioneer Playhouse production of "Miranda," the comical story of a misplaced mermaid.

The leading supporting roles in Peter Blackmore's fantasy will be taken by Fred Scott Downing, Lexington's young acting veteran; Barbara Benziger, a Tennessee native in her first year with the playhouse; and Jane Gregory, who starred in "The Moon Is Blue" two weeks ago.

"Miranda," directed by Ian Kirk, will be staged at the outdoor theater at Sunnyside Park in Danville at 8:30 p.m. (CDT) Wednesday, and at Cumberland Falls at 8:30 p.m. (EST) Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Another Lexingtonian, Yvonne Neubauer, like Downing a Transylvania College student, will make her first playhouse appearance in this play. Other parts will be taken by Carol Robby, Louisville; George Allen and Ronnie Fletcher, both New York performers.

The play, set in England, involves the result of an unusual demand made by a French-coast mermaid (Miss Childers) upon an English physician (Downing) as payment for saving his life.

It was the basis for the movie, "Mr. Peabody and the Mermaid."

Lutz To Head Music Clinic

Warren Lutz, instructor in music at the University of Kentucky and director of the UK "Marching 100," has been selected to direct the Clinic Band and Seminar at the East Texas State Teachers College in Commerce, Texas.

Announcement of Lutz' selection was made Saturday, July 3. He already has gone to Texas and will remain there through July 10.

The Clinic Band will be made up of outstanding high school musicians from throughout Texas, and the seminar group in current band problems will include high school and college band directors from that state.

Lutz has been associated with UK since 1949, and for the past four years he has directed the nationally known "Marching 100." Under his direction, this group has appeared at the Sugar Bowl, Cotton Bowl, Kentucky Derby and at other sporting events throughout the South.

He is at present vice chairman of the Southern Division of the College Band Directors National Association and is a member of Phi Mu Alpha and Kappa Kappa Psi, music fraternities.

WORK PROGRESSES ON NEW UK DORMITORY—Brick work has begun on the University of Kentucky's new residence hall for men. The $1,711,000 dormitory has been designed to house 365 students and to provide dining facilities for 1,200. It is being financed through a $1,400,000 loan from the federal government and an allocation of $311,000 by the Kentucky Property and Buildings Commission. Work is expected to be completed in January, 1955.

"But Judge, I'm just a crazy mixed up college kid."

Two UK Graduates Aid City Manager

Two graduate students in public administration at UK, Hilda Bolling and John Runyan, have been employed to assist the Greater Lexington Committee this summer in its work on a study of community problems.

City Manager Herbert D. Fritz, who met yesterday with GLC representatives, the two students, and Fontaine Banks, administrative assistant for the summer, said Miss Bolling and Runyan would be paid $1 an hour for their work. Banks, who is with the Southern Regional Training Program at the University of Alabama will be paid $900 for the summer. He began his duties Monday.

Oberst Made Prexy Of UK Professors

Paul Oberst, professor of law, has been elected president of the University of Kentucky chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

Other officers elected for 1954-55 are Merton England, associate professor of history, vice president; H. D. Haun, professor of commerce, treasurer; Leonard Meece, professor of education, director for a three-year term; and Ralph Weaver, professor of bacteriology, director for a one-year term.

The office of secretary, which is appointive, is held by Ruth McQuown, research associate in political science. Directors who will remain in unexpired terms are Aubrey Brown, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics, and John Redman, associate professor of farm economics.

Glady's Kammerer, associate professor of political science, is the retiring president.

High School Musicians To Meet At UK

The All-State High School Summer Orchestra, sponsored by the Department of Music, will meet on the University campus from July 19 through July 23.

Approximately 160 junior and high school musicians from all sections of Kentucky will attend the meeting. During the week the members will rehearse and present programs, receive help in special problems and prepare for further work in their respective communities.

The co-chairmen for this year's orchestra, Marvin Rabin and Warren Lutz, will be assisted by Dr. Edwin Stein, head of the Department of Music, Gordon Kinney and Frank Prindl, members of the department, and Bernard Fitzgerald, visiting professor from the University of Texas.

There will be practice sessions for 60 young string players from Lexington and Fayette county elementary schools scheduled in connection with the orchestra. These youngsters will appear on the final program of the week, along with the large symphony orchestra.

Ralph Rush of the University of Southern California will be guest conductor during the affair. He is past president of the Music Educators National Conference and is nationally known for his work with high school string and instrument groups.

A concert Friday, July 23, in Memorial Coliseum by both the high school group and elementary orchestra will climax the week's activities.

M. J. Rabin Holds Youth Symphony

Marvin J. Rabin, assistant professor of music, served last week as conductor of the Southwest Texas Youth Symphony which met at the University of Texas in Austin, Texas.

He also served as a special consultant for the Orchestra and String Clinic held at the University of Texas school for all public school music supervisors and teachers in Southwest Texas.

Rabin has been elected to the board of directors of the American Orchestra League.

Mr. Rabin, along with Warren Lutz, will be co-chairman of the All-State High School Orchestra which will meet on the University campus July 19 through July 23.

Gallery To Show Paintings Of Two UK Graduates

Paintings by Friedly and Thurman, UK graduates of '49, are now on display in the Art Gallery of the Fine Arts building.

Friedly, a graduate in History, studied two years in the Art Academy in West Berlin as an exchange student. Following that, he returned to this country and entered the Army. His residence is now in Arizona, where most of his pictures were painted.

Thurman, an Art graduate, continued his studies at the University of Louisville, from which he received a Master's degree. Following that, he studied under Ulfert Wilke, noted German born artist. At present, Thurman is art instructor at Parkland Junior High School, Louisville.

COLONEL Of The Week

Jim Perry is Mr. 1954 Kentuckian to the undergraduate population of the campus. Long hours he gave to earning his title all last fall and winter. The results are now at hand . . . in mountains of 1954 Kentuckians stored in the School of Journalism where staff members are packaging and mailing the 416-page annuals to graduates and subscribers.

Jim's 416-page Kentuckian is something of a record in size in the long history of UK annuals. Produced by off-set process, each page of the book had to be carefully planned and pasted up under Jim's supervision.

Jim deserves and needs sustenance, and The Stirrup Cup is happy to invite him to enjoy any two of their delicious meals on his next visit to the campus.

"America At Its Best," German Journalist Says Of Kentucky

Suppose you were a leading European editor who in your seventy-odd years had roamed the world, and now at last you set yourself to write an article about the University of Kentucky, Lexington and the Bluegrass. What would be the impression you would want to impart to your readers?

Erich Dombrowski, chief editor of three leading German newspapers—the Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung, the Wiesbadener Tageblatt and of the Darmstaedter Tageblatt, has done this, and to him the Bluegrass is "America at its best." In a full-page article in the Allgemeine Zeitung on June 19, Mr. Dombrowski told his German readers about his visit to Lexington, April 19-22, under the United States Education Exchange program.

While in Lexington Mr. Dombrowski, accompanied by his wife, was the guest of President Herman Lee Donovan and of Dr. Niel Plummer, director of the School of Journalism. The veteran German journalist was especially interested in the work of the School of Journalism.

"This School of Journalism is also a school of democracy," he wrote in the Allgemeine Zeitung, "a school of understanding, of man to man . . . One should almost like to begin once more thus, and go into the unknown of the ever surprising future of journalism."

He viewed the School of Journalism building as "almost palace-like. It is not only supplied lavishly with classrooms, a library, and reading rooms in which everything in the way of newspapers and magazines is supplied, but it contains also a complete printing press on which students also are trained technically."

Mr. Dombrowski reviewed early Kentucky history, noting marks of European relationships. He wrote about the tobacco and horse industries, and of the vast bluegrass fields—"meadows upon meadows, as far as the eye can see, columns of trees, floating little woods in the distance, everything so clean and clear, so well arranged in the silvery atmosphere: America at its best." Here, he observed, horses enjoyed themselves "as in paradise."

The article closes with a discussion of Henry Clay. "His political testament," Mr. Dombrowski wrote, "he expressed in these words, as though it were written only yesterday: 'We try to help other people to gain and preserve freedom in order to create a peaceful world among equal nations. May the day come on which they will arise determined to throw off all burdens of taxes which serve today only for the maintenance of armies, to achieve peace, understanding, and cooperation of all people.' And this peace," Mr. Dombrowski concluded, "the sunny landscape of Kentucky radiates like a spring breath of future good times . . . when an American speaks of it, his heart becomes warm, his face radiant."

The Kernel wishes to thank Prof. John H. Ubben, Department of Modern Foreign Languages, for a translation of Mr. Dombrowski's article.

A FEW NOTES: Summer school is a little more taxing for both professors and students due to the longer hours, heavier amounts of work, and repetition of classes... the fourth of July displays presented by various clubs, and organizations, may be expensive but are equally entertaining for both adults and children... the recent spread in Time magazine on John Sherman Cooper was interesting but the author assigned several expressions to Kentuckians which nobody seems to have heard of. We are such homely folk.

Les Brown, who appears at Joyland, Friday, is one of the few big jazz bands that has managed to retain a continuous popularity in the musical world... most of the others including Kenton, Herman, Goodman, have all been forced to fold almost annually, but Brown goes on and on, with same progressive sounds...

This beauty contest for college queens should attract some of our own little dolls, such as Diane Hunt who is representing Lexington at the Miss Kentucky contest this week in Louisville; Rose Gayle Waterfield, Ann Smith, Lynn Applegate, etc., all of whom are ably qualified... Jo Ann Caudill who won the Miss Dixie Contest at Daytona Beach recently come addition to our group, ma'm... Ronnie Butler late columnist for this rag, and future editor made an appearance at the Kernel office and offered absolutely no help with the little copy we have... Mr. Butler is working for the A and P in Louisville. He says it's the Associated Press.

MOVIE: The High and the Mighty is a flick that has some decent dialogue, a fair plot, and a bit of suspense. John Wayne, Claire Trevor, and Jan Sterling head a cast that includes several other name stars. The heat has got me—goodby and good luck.

Girl: what any woman over forty calls another.

UK Law Journal Prepared In Honor Of Former Dean

The current issue of the University of Kentucky "Kentucky Law Journal," due for publication this week, has been prepared as a symposium in memory of the late UK Law Dean Alvin E. Evans, who died on June 17, 1953.

Announcement of the release of the Journal, legal publication of the University College of Law, was made Tuesday by Prof. Frederick W. Whiteside Jr., faculty editor. This issue of the magazine is the fourth and final issue for the 1953-54 academic year, he said.

According to Prof. Whiteside, the symposium was designed to bring together outstanding legal writing in the field of wills and administration of estates in memory of Dean Evans.

Among guest writers for this issue is Prof. Bertel Sparks of New York University School of Law, a former student of Dean Evans, who has written on the history of the law of contracts to devise or bequeath property.

Several articles on practical problems in the administration of estates are included. Among these are a check-list for use by attorneys in the settlement of estates, provided by Bart A. Brown of Louisville, manker and lawyer; and a discussion of statutory priority in the right to administer estates by Pierce Livy of the Kentucky Bar.

Of special interest to Kentucky lawyers is a survey of recent developments in the Kentucky law of wills and intestate distribution, in which Prof. Whiteside and James S. Kostas of Fort Mitchell, student editor-in-chief, have collaborated.

Past ROTC Head Commands Troops

Col. Edward G. Davis, formerly a Professor of Air Science and Tactics at the University, was commander of troops at the recent change of command ceremonies in Korea.

The ceremony saw Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson turn over his command of the Korean based Fifth Air Force to Lt. Gen. Roger M. Ramey.

Colonel Davis is now serving as a command staff officer at Fifty Air Force Headquarters.

Northwestern Dean Speaks At Education Conference

Dr. E. T. McSwain, dean of the School of Education at Northwestern University, will be the principal speaker at the University of Kentucky's fourth annual Summer Conference on Moral and Spiritual Values in Public Education, scheduled for Monday, July 12.

Announcement of the conference was made Saturday by Dr. Sillis F. Martford, chairman of the Division of Foundations of Education at UK.

Topic of the main address by Dr. McSwain will be "The I and You in Teaching Moral and Spiritual Values." The program, scheduled for 9:20 a.m. (Central Standard Time) in Memorial Hall, will be open to the public.

All school administrators, teachers and parents interested in this general subject are especially invited to be present. All UK classes also have been invited to attend.

A native of South Carolina, Dr. McSwain has been associated with Northwestern University since 1935. Prior to accepting the deanship there he served as principal and superintendent in schools in both North and South Carolina.

He is a graduate of Newberry College and holds both master and doctorate degrees from Columbia University. In addition to the rank of dean of education, he is director of the Summer Session at Northwestern.

The guest conference speaker has taught at Columbia University during that institution's summer session. He is co-author of "Evaluation in the Elementary School" and has written several other books and articles in the field.

Speakers for the three preceding conferences have been Dr. William H. Kilpatrick, Dean Donald P. Cottrell and Dr. V. C. Ward.

Board Approves Water Tower Site

A request from the Lexington Water Company for permission to construct a water tower on the Experiment Station farm was approved this month by trustees of the University of Kentucky.

The tower will be located at a high point on the east side of the experimental farm and will connect with the main line which was laid across the farm 12 months ago. Officials of the water company had said that better service to consumers in the south end of Lexington would result.

A previous request from the water company was rejected by the trustees. Under terms of the agreement approved, the Lexington Water Company will pay the University $25,000 for right-of-way easement to the 150-square-foot site. This will be earmarked and restricted for purchase of additional land for the use and benefit of the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Late Figures Show Enrollment 2,345

Final tabulations released by Robert L. Mills, University registrar, show that a total of 2,345 persons have registered for UK Summer Session.

According to the registrar's office, this is an increase of 149 over last summer's registration figures at a similar date.

Registration will continue each Monday during the Summer Session for special short courses and workshops scheduled later in the term. More than 200 persons are expected to register for these courses.

The Personnel Office reports that 464 veterans are enrolled in the University this summer under government benefits. This includes 277 Korean veterans and 187 veterans of World War II.
