Board Studies Centennial Preparation

Donovan Predicts Larger Enrollment For Universities

President H. L. Donovan has been directed by the University Board of Trustees to appoint a committee of 15 faculty members to prepare a study of "what the University can and should look like" at the time of its centennial celebration of 1965.

The committee will be expected to report through the president to the trustees periodically and to make its recommendations on how the University should proceed to meet the challenge of the next decade.

In a statement to the Board of Trustees Dr. Donovan said that "a phenomenal growth in enrollment can be predicted for any university that is prepared to receive it and the increasing responsibility and demand on the University of Kentucky for the education of personnel to man industries and commerce and the professions is a problem that grows more complex and acute with each passing year."

He further said "A university in the future will be much more concerned with the continuing education of our adults. What adjustments will the University be compelled to make to meet this challenge and how can the programs be provided? These are but a few of the complex and pressing problems facing the trustees, faculty and administration not only of our University but of every university in the land.

"Already some of our more progressive and alert universities are appointing committees to take a look at the future and to make preparations to meet it with an intelligent program. We must not drift into the future but plan for it."

UK To Get Med School — If State Provides Funds

Formal establishment of a College of Medicine at the University of Kentucky, to be opened when the General Assembly provides funds for the project, has been approved by the trustees of the University.

In 1952, the General Assembly directed the Legislative Research Commission to make a "careful and impartial study of the desirability and steps necessary for the establishment of a state-supported medical school at the University."

The study was completed and a report made to the General Assembly this year with this recommendation: "The committee recommends that a School of Medicine be established in Lexington as a part of the University of Kentucky as soon as the Commonwealth's finances permit and assure the construction of an approved 'Grade A' medical school."

In answering inquiries as to why the University "does not take the initiative and indicate its interest" in the establishment of a school of medicine, President H. L. Donovan stated, "Our response to such inquiries has been that the University is ready to establish a school of

Dr. Ginger Named New Extension College Dean

Dr. Lyman V. Ginger has been named Dean of the new College of Adult and Extension Education.

The new school will become effective July 1, as authorized by the trustees of the University.

A native of Ballard County, Dr. Ginger received the bachelor of arts degree from Kentucky Wesleyan College and the master of arts degree from the University of Kentucky.

In recommending Ginger's appointment as dean of the new college, President H. L. Donovan said, "I do not know of any person better qualified to undertake a program of adult and extension education as Dr. Ginger.

Some of the functions of the College of Adult Extension Education will be:

1. Operation of the Northern Extension Center at Covington.
2. Direction and management of all correspondence courses.
3. Operation of the Bureau of Audio-Visual Materials, including the management of all film services both on and off the campus.

4. Planning and management of all University services to the high schools of the state, including music, speech and drama festivals, and other activities of a related character not previously organized under a different jurisdiction.

5. Management of club and community services such as those now being made available by the Department of University Extension, and others that may seem desirable.

The new college will not have a faculty of its own except for the full-time instructors required at the Northern Extension Center or in any other center similarly operated.

New Summer Staff Named For Kernel

Louie Pritchett, Morganfield, and Hank Mayo, Paintsville, have been appointed co-editors of the summer edition of the Kernel.

Donna Villevik, Louisville, will serve as News Editor for the summer edition, and John Moremen, Frankfort, will be Chief Reporter and Columnist.

Pritchett served as Sports Editor of the 1954 Kentuckian, and is a member of the Henry Watterson Press Club.

Mayo, also a member of the Henry Watterson Press Club is a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity.

A member of Chi Omega sorority, Miss Villevik is also a member of Blue Marlin and has served as secretary of the League of Women Voters.

Moremen is a transfer from Washington and Lee University.

Terrell Awarded Honorary Degree

Daniel V. Terrell, dean of the University of Kentucky College of Engineering, has been awarded an honorary Doctor of Engineering degree by the South Dakota School of Mines and Technology.

A citation accompanying the award praised Dean Terrell for "pre-eminence in the field of engineering, contributions through design, and consultation to state and national highway problems . . . and devotion to the furtherance of engineering education."

Summer Registration Tops Last Year's Mark

IBM Card System Used First Time

Summer session registration has reached the 2,218 mark according to Robert L. Mills, University registrar.

This is an increase of 86 over last summer's registration at the end of the second day.

A few more students are expected to enroll late, but the number is not expected to be significant.

Classification tests and physical examinations were held for all new students on Monday, June 21, and registration for all students was held on Tuesday.

The new system of registration by IBM cards seemed to run smoothly and instructors and students were insured that once they became familiar with the new system, it would facilitate faster and more efficient registration, grading, and accounting.

As students signed up for each class, they were given a card with various meaningful holes punched in them. These cards will be fed through the University's IBM's, and separated.

Newton Neal Elected Head Of UK Alums

Newton W. Neal, city engineer of Henderson, has been elected president of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association for the coming year, it was announced at the association's annual banquet and meeting on June 3.

The Henderson city official will succeed R. R. Dawson of Bloomfield as president of the alumni group.

New alumni vice president is Homer L. Baker of Louisville.

Neal attended the University from 1921 to 1924. He is director of the Kentucky Municipal League, member of the Kentucky Water Pollution Control Commission, member of the UK Alumni Executive Board, and a member of the Henderson County Alumni Club.

Baker, the new vice president, is a native of Midway. He has been general sales manager of the Louisville Cement Company, Louisville, since 1946. He has served as a member of the Executive Committee of the UK Alumni Association and is a member of the Jefferson County Alumni Club.

Richard Cooper of Somerset, one of the new executive committee members to take office this year for terms of three years, was graduated "with distinction" from the University in 1938. Currently, he is general manager and part owner of the Somerset Stone Company.

Herdon J. Evans of Pineville, the second new executive board member, was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1921. He has worked for the Associated Press and the Courier-Journal and moved to Pineville in 1923 as editor of the Pineville Sun. Currently he is president of the Sun Publishing Company, and he is an alumnus member of the UK Board of Trustees.

The third addition to the committee, Gerald Griffin of Pikeville, received the A.B. degree from the University in 1922. At the present time he is chief of the Courier-Journal's East Kentucky Bureau.

Mr. Curtis Phipps, in charge of registration for veterans said that 243 Korean veterans had already registered for the summer term, and that he expected the number to double before the term is ended. World War II veteran registration is down from 359 in the 1953 summer term to 178 for this summer's registration.

One hundred forty-four new students have been tested by the Personnel Office, according to Dr. Robert North, head of the Personnel Testing Office. This includes both new students and transfer students, he said. However, this does not necessarily mean that all students completing the tests actually registered in the University.

UK May Give Board Reports To Newsmen

The Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky has taken under consideration the question of admitting the press to its meetings and after a discussion of the subject the following policy statement was issued on this question:

"In order that the citizens of the Commonwealth may be fully informed as to the actions of the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky and of the actions of the Executive Committee of the Board, the following procedure shall be followed:

"Prior to each meeting of the President of the University shall prepare and make available to the press an agenda of the matters to be taken up at the meeting.

"At the conclusion of each meeting the President shall be available to the press for questioning as to the various subjects discussed or acted upon by the Board.

"In furtherance of this policy, the President may at his option prepare or have prepared news releases to furnish to members of the press who may not be able to attend the aforementioned press conferences immediately following the meetings.

Seminar To Study Desegregation

Desegregation in the schools will be among topics to be examined in a Seminar in Inter-Group Relations to be held during the University of Kentucky's Summer Session.

The seminar was announced jointly by Dr. M. M. White, dean of the UK College of Arts and Sciences, and Dr. Frank G. Dickey, dean of the College of Education. Actual dates of the seminar are June 22 to August 3.

Sponsored by the University, with the co-operation of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the seminar is designed to assist school administrators, teachers and community leaders in their efforts to improve relationships among various groups with different interests and backgrounds.

Dr. Gordon W. Lovejoy, educational consultant for the National Conference for Christians and Jews, will be loaned by the organization to the University as a visiting professor during the summer session and will serve as director of the seminar.

Commencement Week Festivities Highlighted

By DONNA VILLESVIK

Eight hundred University of Kentucky graduates and guests at the 87th annual baccalaureate service on May 30 paid tribute to the memories of approximately 1,150 Kentuckians killed during the Korean conflict.

The baccalaureate exercise was held jointly with a memorial service for Kentucky's Korean War dead, and several hundred relatives and friends of these men were special guests at the program.

Dr. Homer W. Carpenter, minister eccumenical of the First Christian Church, Louisville, was the principal speaker at the service. The topic of Dr. Carpenter's address was "The Likeness of a King." Voicing the sentiments of the graduates and guests, he declared that "we stand in eternal gratitude in the presence of the memory of those lofty souls who gave their lives in the defense of freedom in the Korean War."

"Some of these would have been members of this graduating class today except for the accident of circumstance," the minister said. "And, some of you who sit here, except for the accident of circumstance, would be among the marching dead who so gallantly gave themselves in full measure of devotion for you and me."

The Louisville minister likened the deaths of heroes in Korea to that death suffered on Calvary. He quoted a Toronto clergyman in saying:

"Today I see two Calvaries. One back there in the long ago on a hill outside a city wall. The other down here on the crimsoned hills of Korea."

He offered the graduates four names which arise today out of the past. They were Charles Darwin, "eminent scientist;" Karl Marx, "eminent socialist;" Frederick Neitche, "eminent scholar;" and Jesus of Nazareth, "a name that is above every name." In concluding, Dr. Carpenter quoted Rupert Brooke in saying: "Thank God who has matched us against an hour like this."

Names Placed In Coliseum

The names of those who lost their lives have been gathered by the University's War Memorial Survey and have been placed in wall cases in Memorial Coliseum near those containing lists of men killed in World War II.

The exercise was open to the public and UK President H. L. Donovan presided.

The music for the program was provided by the UK choristers and the University Orchestra. The playing of taps concluded the program.

The baccalaureate exercises formally opened the Commencement Week activities at the University. The actual commencement program was held on Friday, June 4, at 8:00 in the Memorial Coliseum.

Included in the program was the awarding of honorary degrees to two Kentucky natives, Joseph Manuel Hartfield, New York attorney, and Stephen Augustus Rapier, also of New York City, electrical export manufacturer.

Among other events which took place during the week was the annual commencement luncheon. The principal speaker was Harper Gattson, University trustee and executive vice president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

ROTC Graduates Commissioned

Another major function of the week was the commissioning ceremonies for both Army and Air Force ROTC graduates. The principal speaker was Maj. Gen. Gordon B. Rogers, commander of the Third Armored Division. Fifty-five of the cadets were commissioned into the Army, and the remaining eighty-four became Air Force officers.

Dr. Virgil M. Hancher, president of the State University of Iowa spoke at the commencement program where 832 students received degrees.

This year's class, the 87th UK graduating class, includes graduates from 107 Kentucky counties, 26 other states, the District of Columbia and eight foreign countries. He added that 22 doctorate, 124 masters and professional degrees, and 686 bachelors degrees were awarded.

Degrees awarded by the respective University colleges are as follows: Arts and Sciences, 176; Agriculture and Home Economics, 122; Engineering, 107; Law, 26; Education, 120; Commerce, 116; Pharmacy, 35; and Graduate School, 120.

Communism, Democracy Compared

"The Long View" was the topic of the talk given by the Iowa educator, Dr. Virgil Hancher. He warned the 1954 graduates against accepting the "luxury of a smug complacency." A portion of his address was devoted to a comparison of communism and democracy. He advised the graduates: "... If any lesson comes to us from behind the Iron Curtain it is that we shall need education in the future more than we have ever needed it in the past."

In remarks aimed directly at the recipients of degrees, he maintained that commencement is "a good day for taking stock." It is the end of one segment of life and the beginning of another and "... is a fitting time for the backward glance and the forward look.

According to Dr. Hancher, there is no greater tragedy than that of a "... man or woman who is unprepared when the great opportunity comes." He also advised this year's graduates to prepare for "... years of quiet growth and development."

Husband, Wife Receive Doctorates

Among the 20 persons who received Doctor of Philosophy degrees were Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Lafferty who took their undergraduate at Western Kentucky State College. Lafferty graduated with the Ph.D. degree in physics, while his wife, Jeanne Payne Lafferty, was awarded her doctorate in English.

The doctorate degree recipients plan to remain in Lexington through this summer since Lafferty will be teaching in the UK Department of Physics. Lafferty holds two degrees from UK. He was awarded the B.S. degree in electrical engineering in 1950 and the M.S. degree in 1952. Mrs. Lafferty was awarded the M.A. degree in 1952.

Among the honors bestowed during the commencement exercises were the Sullivan awards. Mr. Lewis F. Allen, part owner of the Farm Supply Stores in Bowling Green was awarded the University of Kentucky's 1954 Sullivan Medallion, a presentation made annually to "an outstanding citizen of the commonwealth".

Two Graduates Receive Awards

Two members of the graduating class of 1954 were also awarded Sullivan Medallions. They are Miss Elaine Moore and Diogenes Allen, both of Lexington.

The Sullivan awards were established in 1925 by the New York Southern Society in memory of Algernon Sydney Sullivan, New York lawyer of the post-Civil War period.

Miss Moore and Diogenes Allen were both graduated from the College of Arts and Sciences.

COLONEL Of The Week

Ronnie Butler, editor-elect of The Kernel, will be dropping into Lexington almost any day and will be seen lurking around The Kernel editorial offices to ascertain that these summer session editors aren't wrecking the place.

Summer students ought to know Mr. Butler and, therefore, as a public service, we are hereby printing a reasonable likeness. A high ranking student, an amateur scientist, an avid reader of an amazing variety of fact and fiction, and a columnist of note, Mr. Butler is spending the summer writing for the Associated Press in Louisville.

The Stirrup Cup will be pleased to have Mr. Butler come in and enjoy two of their appetizing meals free.

Trustees Approve Budget Increase

An increase in the current budget of $24,144 has been approved for the University of Kentucky by the Board of Trustees. The full budget of $4,650,114 for the 1954-55 fiscal year is now in effect.

This does not include funds for operation of the Agricultural Experiment Station and the Agricultural Extension Service because Congress has not yet acted on the request of the U. S. Department of Agriculture for such appropriations.

Of the money budgeted for educational and general purposes $3,485,850 will come from state appropriations. The remainder will be made up of student fees, sales and services, and federal grants.

The Campi

Registration with its pitfalls of academic redtape will always be the topic of conversation at the opening of a school year and the summer session was no exception.

This year an experiment in the IBM mathematical manipulation of schedules seemed to add to the confusion and it impressed us simply as a few more cards to lug from one filling station to another but there was undoubtedly a reason. The IBM slogan is not simple like "milder and better tasting" or "it takes the sting out of hops" but instead involves the magnanimous word THINK.

Well we thought and thought and thought and decided that they resemble nothing more than a piece of paper similar to a government paycheck—only without the money that accompanies it.

The woman situation seems to be greatly modified not only in numbers but in location for all of the sororities have settled themselves in the ADPI house which permits us to have an excellent focal point. The girls themselves will be chocked full of conversation on dates, for their living conditions prevents gossip about other sororities. The Wednesday night meetings will still be the same. Each girl meditates in her room for five minutes.

IT WOULD BE NICE IF: the ratio of girls to boys was about three to one . . . beach parties were credited courses . . . people wouldn't say "if" when playing golf . . . classrooms were air conditioned . . . we could smoke in class . . . you could get sunburned without being out in the sun . . . UK had the same kind of architecture for all of its buildings . . . Light Horse Husbandry was offered at a later hour, it's now at 7:30 or some such. How can a person ride a horse at that hour . . . McCarthy would lose his voice . . . summer was longer . . . we were all millionaires . . .

BEST MOVIE OF THE WEEK: "A Walk in the Sun," vintage of about 1945. A TV reissue, it portrayed the story of a platoon of infantrymen in Italy with the wittiest, saddest, most realistic dialogue we've heard in the movies. Look around for it again in about 1968.

Cincinnati Operas Expect Outstanding Performances

When the lights are darkened and the curtain opens in the Outdoor Theatre at The Cincinnati Zoological Gardens on Saturday night, June 26, the thirty-third season of the Cincinnati Opera Association will be under way.

The Outdoor Theatre which has been enlarged and modernized has been completely sold out for the first performance which will be "Lucia" starring Roberta Peters. Robert L. Sidell, managing director of the company, reports that not only are all the reserved seats sold out but the general admission tickets as well, however, there are still good seats available for the other performances of the first week. He strongly advises music lovers who wish to enjoy performances this season to order their seats early, not only to secure choice locations, but to be assured of any kind of seats.

The list of performers to appear in forthcoming weeks contains some of the most famous names in opera, concert, and television with the second night of opening week presenting the Opera's most beautiful soprano, Lucia Evangelista in Verdi's "La Traviata." Co-starring with Miss Evangelista in the musical version of "Camille" are David Pogliani and Frank Guarrera. "Traviata" will be presented on Sunday, June 27 and Wednesday, June 30.

On June 29 and July 2, Dorothy Kirsten, who has thrilled audiences all over the world in the title role of "Tosca" will make her return to the American opera in an interpretation of that dramatic role. These will be the only two appearances Miss Kirsten will make during the season in Cincinnati. Fausto Cleva conducts with Eugene Conley and George Chapliski co-starring.

The spectacular music drama of the French Revolution, "Andrea Chenier," which has been produced only one time before in the last twenty-five years on the Zoo stage will be presented on July 1 and July 3. The big stage spectacle calls for a cast of top-flight singers headed by Herva Nelli of the Metropolitan, Joan Francis, George Bardl, Cesare Bardelli, and the Ballet starring Lydia Arlova and Lucien Prideaux.

In the second week of the season starting July 4, Dolores Wilson, sensational new Met find stars as Gilda in "Rigoletto." Jan Peerce and Claramae Turner join Herva Nelli and Cesare Bardelli in the second special production of the season "The Masked Ball" on July 6 and 9. Brenda Lewis, who is vacationing from Broadway's hit musical comedy makes her debut as "Carmen" on July 8 and 10.

Following these features, "La Boheme" will be presented on July 11 and 14; "The Bartered Bride" on July 13 and 16; "Faust" on July 15 and 17; "The Barber of Seville" on July 18 and 21; "Aida" on July 20 and 23, and "Madam Butterfly" on July 22 and 24.

Conducting this season will be Cleva, Anton Coppola, Thor Johnson, Richard Karp, and Nicolas Rescigno, among others.

Tickets for all performances may be purchased at Shackleton's, 147 E. Main Street, Lexington. Check or money order, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope must accompany mail order requests. They may be sent to the Cincinnati Summer Opera Association, Fifth and Vine Streets, Cincinnati. Prices for Sunday performances range from $1 to $4.50, with reserved seats going from $2.00 to $4.50. Prices for daily and Sunday performances are 65c to $3.50; reserved seats range from $1.50 to $3.50.

Receives Award

Richter H. Moore a graduate student in political science at UK has been selected as winner of this year's Samuel M. Wilson Library Award.

The Lexington student won the $25 cash prize after submitting his library of approximately 2,500 books, which he has been collecting since he was a boy.

In addition to his excellent collection of drama, Moore is the owner of a first edition of Somerset Maugham's "A Writer's Notebook."

Miss Virginia S. Hanly of Frankfort, junior, has been awarded a prize by the UK Department of Physics for being selected the outstanding student in one of the school's physics class.

She was presented a copy of "Handbook of Chemistry and Physics" offered by the Chemical Rubber Company of Cleveland, Ohio to the top student in the course, "Physics III, Beginning Physics."

Shannon Will Do Research In Norway

Dr. Jasper B. Shannon, professor of political science at the University of Kentucky, has been awarded a Fulbright research grant for a year's study at the University of Oslo at Oslo, Norway.

The grant provides for study by the UK political scientist from September 1 of this year until June of next year.

While in Norway, Dr. Shannon will be engaged in research on the topic, "The Influence of Money in the Selection of Political Leaders." He will teach at UK during the coming Summer Session and will leave Lexington in August for Norway.

During the academic year 1952-53, he served as visiting professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin, and he held a similar position there in the year 1942-43. He was an honorary fellow in the Department of Political Science at

Trustees Approve Haggin Award

The University of Kentucky trustees have approved the establishment of a $5000 Haggin Fellowship Award to be made available to the author of an interpretive book on the culture or origins of Kentucky. The trustees also selected a Haggin Fellowship Committee which will consider candidates for the fellowship and make the final award.

Plans call for the University Press to publish the chosen work, and selections will be based upon ability, learning, and insight displayed in developing a subject.

A total of $5500 will be allotted for the project with $500 of this amount to be used for preparation of brochures, travel by committee members and other expenses.

the University of Wisconsin in 1931-32.

In 1943 Dr. Shannon was named head of the section of legislative analysis for the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and in 1944 and 1945 he served as assistant director of the Graduate School of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.
