Rev. Dr Langdon

President of Harvard Coll.

Northampton June 15. 1747

Indeed my Dear I find it is strany I have not writ to you long since & that now it can scarce be half a page but I did not delay one post to sollicite the Conf^o of Mr Wood in the most pressing Manner I was able. I rejoice that God made those Sollicitations successful & rejoice so much the more as I hope you dear Madam whom I am convinced by sad Experience that I cannot do any thing considerable to help my self in him a more effectual Comforter. Indeed your last good me & discourag^d me not a little. I fear you are still indulging Depressions which you ought to banish in the Name & Strength of God & perhaps reading & meditating & praying you self out of a World which you might otherwise bless by a longer Continuance in it. As for me I am almost wearied out of Labours & I must add to sorrow too on acct of the Breaches God has lately made upon us by of small pox yet many joy & Comfort are brought to see. My Friends at Norwich are dear to me & I have a desire of my Obligations to them but I cannot see them tho I shall go willing be within 20 Miles. It would affect me too much in present Circumstances for if Death of those two incomparable Friends Mr Gardner & Mr Scott have brought a Soreness on my Heart so it will never out grow it's late afflictions increase. I want more Love for my dear Wife who is as serene while so many are falling on her Right Hand & her Left as if she were herself.

Miss Scott

Norwich

her self involuntarily. Pray for us I believe your prayers are more effectual than you imagine. There are some times force to be called Prayers; but such as they are you have your frequent share of them. A Crowd of Company at the close of the Year frequent calls of Business abroad. Hence if I should not rather say Streams of Letters that must be writ of yet large bundles remain as yet unalter'd add'd to of Labours & Care of the Academy the pulp of the Congregation & the Prep throw me sometimes into a kind of wild State in which I imagine my self like a Ship at Bay that knows not which way to run.
My chief concern is that amidst so many things it is difficult to do any thing well yet God gives me more success than I could expect amidst so many Imperfections. Oh that you knew the Ground of Business that now divides me between this House & Home when I am to set out for Worcester which is the first of the three Journeys into my Vacation is to be divid'd. Let us I beseech you dear Madam have your prayers & accept our united Compliments of the good Serenity, Tenderness & Respect to your self & my other Nephew. Friends especially dear Miss Harmer. What has her Mother's Health suffer'd Difficult as the Scene would have been to me I wish my self to her & if condition in its right view you will find no little Demonstration of Friendship. Mr Lincoln will tell you how things stand here. poor Master Pullet I sometimes with my Head over not quite so soft as my Head a little stronger. But what I want above all things is more Love to you more Submission to his will more Superiority to every dearest Creature & more Tenderness for the Innumeral Souls of Men that are committed to my Care. Pray dear Madam that the most valuable of all Blessings may be united to your very insignificant but very affectionate Grand & Son P. Doddridge

when you write to my worthy Friend Mr. Baker at Denton assure him of my affectionate Remembrance but tell him that I am afraid I can do him no Service by any thing I can write him ever. I will send him a Letter of Congratulations tho' I set up all Night to write it as you said hear he is divid'd into the Church. My best Respects attend him his good Study & his dears. My wife advises you to marry. I think no man on Earth worthy of you & have attempted no Intreaty in persuading you to accept one that is not. And for my self I have no objection to what ever is to be scarce so much. Mr Lincoln proves an excellent path. My Expectations of him are raised very high. I thought I had writ on gilt paper but you'll excuse my Mistake I wish you had not much more to pardon than of want of such a Letter
