New York. Dec. 22. 1826.

Alexander M. Cumming (the complainant, in whose suit a subpoena is now served on the Chancellor) is the assignee of the Board of Mortgage lately held by Col. S. Briggs & Co. -

The Chancellor, it is hoped & believed, will at least excuse the Solicitor of Mr. Cumming for the commencing this suit, when he remembers that this Solicitor has delayed ^{the suit} nearly two months from the day on which he received positive instructions to proceed.

Should the Chancellor at any time wish to stop the suit, I am instructed to say that on receipt of the interest due on the mortgage & the expenses of the suit, it will be immediately stopped. I am very respectfully, the Chancellor's obedient servant

Chancellor Jones. -
