with the datum.

The largest quantity of beef soup
ever made in England, at one time, was when Henry the Eighth ~~was~~ dissolved the Pope's bull.

I expect you will send me an answer in return for this

..... therefore, I thought in justice to have some other honour,- in Hospitality she must in right of her sex turn out a good "dresser" and her benevolent nature would be gratified in serving out the soup. By the way, talking of soup, does your historical knowledge suffice to remind you at what time the largest quantity of beef soup was ever made in England?

I am sure it does not (never doubting your erudition at the same time), and therefore, my dear Sis, I will refresh your memory with the datum.

The largest quantity of beef soup ever made in England at one time was when Henry the Eighth dissolved the Pope's bull.

I expect you will send me a silver ladle in exchange for this.

Yours Dear Mistress Sissy (C)
